FIRES.

All Fires Must be Reported, Buildings Inspected and Incendiary Fires Investigated.

Insurance Commissioner James R. Young is sending notices to the various chiefs of police and sheriffs in the State in regard to fires.

All fires must be reported, all incendiary fires investigated, and all buildings inspected.

The notice is as follows:

'The Insurance Commissioner of the State desires to call the attention of the officers and all citizens of the State to the law (Chapter 58, Laws 1899 and amendments thereto) requiring that all fires be investigated by the chief of fire department or chief of police in the cities and towns of North Carolina, by the sheriff when the fire occurs outside of an incorporated city or town, and that the result of such investigation be reported to the Insurance Commissioner at Raleigh.

Under the law the officers are required within three days to examine into the origin and circumstances of each fire occurring in their city, town or county, and within one week to report to the Insurance Commissioner such facts as are called for by the blanks furnished by the Department.

'Where there is any reason to suspect that any fire is of an incendiary or careless origin, the officers must fully investigate the same, and send the facts obtained to the Insurance Commissioner, who will look fully into the circumstances and cause the arrest of any person guilty of arson.

'Under the law the town officers above named are required to examine all premises in their cities or towns and have therefrom all combustible material or inflammable conditions dangerous to the safety of life and property. They have the right to enter all buildings and premises for the purpose of making such examinations.

'Penalty—Any officer who refuses or neglects to comply with this law is liable to a fine of $200. Read the law.'

He congratulated the Democracy of the county upon such an assemblage and pointed out to the delegates the importance of doing their duty well.

M. T. Spier, of Pactolus, presented the name of J. J. Satterthwaite.

A. G. Cox, of Contentnea, presented the name of E. R. Cotton.

Proclamation by the Governor.

$100.00 REWARD

State of North Carolina
Executive Department

Whereas official information has been received at this department that W. H. Harrington Jr. late of the County of Pitt stands charged with conspiracy and assault upon W. J. Tell, and whereas, it appears that the said W. H. Harrington Jr. has fled the State or so conceals himself that the ordinary process of law cannot be served upon him.

Now, therefore, I, R. B. Glenn, Governor of the State of North Carolina, by virtue of authority in me vested by law, do issue this my proclamation, offering a reward of One hundred Dollars for the apprehension and delivery of the said W. H. Harrington Jr. to the Sheriff of Pitt County at the Court house in Greenville, N. C. and I do enjoin all officers of the State and all good citizens to assist in bringing said criminal to justice.

Done at our City of Raleigh the 16th day of July, in the year of our Lord one thousand nine hundred and six and in the one hundred and thirty-first year of our American Independence.

of troubles that robbed E. H. Wolfe, of Bear Grove, Ia., of all usefulness, came when he began taking Electric Bitters. He writes: "Two years ago Kidney trouble caused me great suffering, which I would never have survived had I not taken Electric Bitters. They also cured me of General Debility." "Make Hay While the Sun Shines."

There is a lesson in the work of the thrifty farmer. He knows that the bright sunshine may last but a day and he prepares for the shadows which are so liable to follow. So it should be with every household. Dysentery, diarrhoea and cholera mucus may attack some member of the home without warning. Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, which is the best known medicine for these diseases, should always be kept at hand, as immediate treatment is necessary, and delay may prove fatal. For sale by J. L. Wooten's, druggist.

Modest Claims Often Carry the Most Conviction.

When Maxim, the famous gun inventor, placed his gun before a committee of judges, he stated its carrying power to be much below what he felt sure the gun would accomplish. The result of the trial was therefore a great surprise instead of disappointment. It is the same with the manufacturers of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. They do not publicly boast of all this remedy will accomplish, but prefer to let the users make the statements. What they do claim, is that it will positively cure diarrhoea, dysentery, pains in the stomach and bowels and has never been known to fail. For sale by J. L. Wooten's

FOR THE LITTLE ONES.

Spiders Are Intelligent Insects—How They Spin Webs.

Spiders are not only among the most poisonous insects, but they are seemingly the most intelligent. There are very many varieties of them. They have eight legs and generally eight eyes. Some say they can be educated. They display wonderful strategy in trapping and carrying off their prey and in building their nests. The silk they spin is formed by an apparatus situated in the back part of the undersurface of their bodies, which consists of several vessels twisted together and ending in very little openings (so small they have to be seen with a microscope) at the end of the tail. The gluey matter thrown out by these pores hardens in the air, forming threads of the finest description. It takes many of these to form a single strand of a spider's web. Different spiders have different colored webs. A Mexican spider has a beautiful web of red, yellow and black threads. It is said that 10,000 threads of a common garden spider would not be as thick as a single human hair, while others form threads so strong they will catch birds.

What Is an American?

The term American is used to designate, specifically, a citizen of the United States, and yet some strict constructionists hold that it might just as reasonably be applied to citizens of South America or of Central America, as they are Americans too. And they say the same of the two countries. To call the United States America, however, and its citizens Americans is so well established as a custom that the terms would not be understood if you used them in any other way. There has been some discussion of this question recently looking to the selection of a better specific term for citizens of the United States, but it is not likely that a change will ever be made.

Celluloid Not Explosive.

There is a widespread belief that celluloid is explosive, but it is not, in spite of the fact that it is made largely of gun cotton. The material is the cellulose of cotton cloth, or raw cotton, which is treated to a weak solution of nitric acid. This has the effect of making a cotton pulp much like paper pulp. The acid is then washed out by a water bath, and after the pulp has been partially dried gum camphor is mixed with it. The final step is to roll it into sheets and dry it on hot cylinders, when it is ready for the market. Steam softens it, but it hardens again when dry. If flame be applied to it it will burn about like sealing wax.

Jas F Davenport,

Phosphorescence.

Decayed wood and especially peat have occasionally been observed to evolve a faint light, and even some flowers have been remarked to give out brilliant flashes of light during a warm summer's evening. This light, emitted without apparent heat, is termed phosphorescence. Various animal substances become luminous before putrescence has begun and especially the flesh of certain fish, of which the most remarkable are carp and sole. Herring, lobsters and crabs often emit a phosphorescent light. Most familiar of all phosphorescent objects to boys and girls is, however, the phosphorescence of living animals, such as the firefly and glowworm. The hundred legged worm, found in decayed poplar wood or under lime, bricks and pots in the garden, emits flashes of light when irritated by a little water.

A Keen Witted Woman.

Lord Waterford used to tell some good stories of his experience as an Irish magistrate. One of them referred to the case of a woman whom he had to sentence for a breach of the peace. He let her off on condition that she found two securities of £10 each that she would keep the peace for six months.

"Thank you, my lord," said she, moving toward the door.

"No, no," said Lord Waterford; "you must name your securities that I may see whether they are satisfactory."

"Faith, and who would I name," she answered, "but your lordship's self? Yer good enough for two," a retort which not only showed the sprightliness of the Irish character, but in addition the feeling of friendly confidence which the Irish peasantry who knew him cherished for the lord of Curraghmore.—Pearson's Weekly.

"Captain Ab." Lost a Chance.

Several years ago there lived in Miltown, N. B., a unique character who always went by the title of "Captain Ab." His greatest peculiarity was that he was always on the opposite side, no matter what the question was. At a town meeting one day after the chairman had called for the yeas, which showed the vote was almost unanimous, he called for the "contramindeed." John Farnham, one of the citizens, rose and said, "Mr. Chairman, he has just gone out." The captain had left the room a moment before.

A HUMOROUS PATIENT.

Surgery has much to gain from spinal cocaineization, says Robert Jones, a Liverpool surgeon, in the Medical Press. He advocates this process in cases where patients cannot or will not take other anaesthetics.

Mr. Jones tells of an operation in which he cocaineized the spine. It was that of a big man, who as soon as he had taken two or three whiffs of chloroform jumped off the operating table and scampered away. This happened twice, and Mr. Jones tried cocaineization, injecting cocaine into the cerebro spinal fluid.

CHOOSING A BRIDE.

A Gay Custom in Russia That Has Its Merry and Sad Aspects.

An ancient custom is yet maintained in Russia at the Christmas season, in which the festivities of the day are made to play a permanent part in the lives of those who are chief in the frolicking.

Some person of importance in the district announces that the annual fête will be held at his house. Thither, at the appointed time, hasten the young men of the countryside; thither come, no less eagerly, but with decorous tardiness, the maidens of the place.

The hostess is supplied with long strips of broad cloth, and with this she straightway muffles each and every maiden. She twists it deftly over and about the head until hair and features are hopelessly veiled; she winds it about the neck, the shoulders, the waist and on until the sprightly and lissom figure of the girl is merged in the rude outlines of a papoose.

This is the preparation. The action follows, when one by one, in an order determined by lot, the young men of the party enter the room. Each in turn approaches the veiled row of loveliness and examines it. Eyes and ears are useless; touch is everything.

It is the law of custom that this twain should become man and wife. If the custom is broken a heavy forfeit must be paid by the unwilling person. But it is rarely that happiness fails in the result.

FLY TIME WITH TRUST.

There is an old saying that the "cow wants her tail in fly time." Some years ago there existed in this State what was known as the Blackwell Durham Tobacco Company. It fell into the hands of the American Tobacco Company and the latter hurried off to New Jersey and incorporated it under the trust breeding laws of that State. This move was doubtless to enable the trust to do pretty much as it pleased in North Carolina without being amendable to the laws of this State, so it never domesticated in this State. Recently a new Blackwell Durham Tobacco Company of North Carolina was organized and obtained a charter from the Secretary of State. Forthwith the new company entered suit against the American Tobacco Company to restrain the latter from doing business in North Carolina under the name of Blackwell Durham Tobacco Company of New Jersey. Now the trust comes around and applies to the Secretary of State to be domesticated in North Carolina and the matter is referred to the Attorney General. The latter denies the trust the privilege of domesticating on the ground that a charter has been granted to another company by the same name to do business in North Carolina. So much for shunning the laws of the State and not domesticating at the proper time.

A gentleman from another town in which are located railroad shops and several factories with large weekly pay rolls, told us that in his town the merchants hardly know such a thing as a dull week. There is money in circulation all the time and a certain amount of trade from the wage earners can always be looked for. That is a condition the Reflector wants to see in Greenville, and why we keep urging the business men of this town to organize a chamber of commerce and work together to secure such enterprises as will give employment to people and have large weekly pay rolls. These things do not usually come to a town without some effort being made to secure them, and the longer Greenville waits to get active in this direction the longer it will be without these needed stimulants to trade.

So North Carolina is about to strike oil. May it be a regular gusher.

GOVERNMENT RESPONSIBLE.

In an address at Cumberland, Md., Sunday, Secretary of the Navy Bonaparte laid down the sound propositions that anarchism is the product of two conditions which prevail, to a greater or less extent, everywhere among the less enlightened classes of modern civilized society, namely, the decay of religious faith and a measure of superficial, and therefore unsound, popular education. It follows, then, that he who would undermine the religious faith which men hold is an enemy of the human race, and that the education of the people should be sound in quality, based upon the principles of morality and teaching the lesson of good citizenship — Charlotte Observer.

As regards the decay of religious faith, the government itself is largely responsible for that in the laxity of laws regarding the Sabbath. Divine laws are very emphatic on Sabbath observance, but the government allows any and all kinds of business to be engaged in on Sunday's just like on any other days. Nothing will sap a man's religious faith quicker than Sabbath desecration, and he no sooner disregards Divine law than he begins to have contempt for human law and would overthrow those who by administering it offer any restraint to his inclinations. Hence disregard for law breeds anarchism.

Today closes the contest so far as nominations for county offices are concerned. There are many who got left, of course, but there should be no heart burnings or dissatisfaction about it. The other fellow just had the most votes among the delegates; that's all the reason. Now let those who failed in their aspirations give loyal support to the winners in the contest, and do nothing to create dissension in the ranks of the party.

It is no use to tell people that boys have no business with guns. They just cannot be educated to it, so we may continue to expect such accidents as occurred in Mecklenburg county where a boy was cleaning a gun he "didn't know was loaded" and killed his little sister.

The women cranks are pursuing the president even to Oyster Bay.

USE CHRISTMAN'S OINTMENT
For all Skin Diseases on Man or Beast.

This Ointment has been used nearly two hundred years with the most wonderful success in the treatment of nearly every form of Skin disease, and in many instances, it has effected cures where other remedies had failed. While we do not claim that this Ointment will cure everything, we say a fair trial will convince any reasonable person that it is equal to any, and superior to most of the remedies for skin diseases on the market. This Ointment is made by the Christman Ointment Co. Greenville, N. C. and is for sale by druggists at 25 and 50 cts per bottle.

The two revenue officers who brutally assaulted Editor Deal, of the Wilkesboro Chronicle, and were convicted and sentenced to the roads—one for three and the other for six months—applied to Governor Glenn for a change of sentence to fine. The governor advised them that they got off light and he would not interfere with the sentence of the court. They will have to take their medicine.

CHRISTIANITY AND ISLAM.

In Their Origin Both Religions Are Asiatic and Semitic.

In their origin Christianity and Islam are both Asiatic, both Semitic, and Jerusalem is but a few hundred miles from Mecca. In regard to the number of their adherents both have steadily increased from the beginning to the present day. But Mohammedanism has been practically confined to Asia and Africa, while Christianity has been the religion of Europe and the new world, and politically it rules now over all the world, except China and Turkey.

Mohammedanism has been identified with a stationary civilization and Christianity with a progressive one. There was a time—from the eighth century to the thirteenth—when science and philosophy flourished at Bagdad and Cordova under Moslem rule, while darkness reigned in Europe. But Renan has shown that this brilliant period was neither Arabic nor Mohammedan in its spirit or origin, and, although his statements may admit of some modification, it is certain that, however brilliant while it lasted, this period has left no trace in the Moslem faith unless it be in the philosophical basis of Mohammedan law, while Christianity has led the way in the progress of modern civilization.

Both of these are positive religions. Each claims to rest upon a divine revelation which is in its nature final and unchangeable. Yet the one is stationary and the other progressive. The one is based upon what it believes to be divine commands and the other upon divine principles—just the difference that there is between the law of Sinai and the law of love, the Ten Commandments and the two. The ten are specific and unchangeable; the two admit of ever new and progressive application.—Contemporary Review.

Tan and Freckles.

A lotion of one part good Jamaica rum to two parts lemon juice and a little glycerin is one recipe for removing freckles. Another one, which is prepared easily, requires one ounce of alum, one ounce of lemon juice and one pint of rosewater. Rosewater and lemon juice are excellent for removing tan, one spoonful of lemon juice in a half pint of rosewater.

Kerosene For Cleaning.

When washing woodwork if kerosene is put in the water instead of soap fly specks and grease will come off quicker and easier. A good quality of kerosene cleans windows and mirrors best, but a poor quality or oil with dregs in it leaves the glass streaked. Soap must not be used with kerosene for glass.

Game of Fish Pond.

The pond is a portion of the table bounded by a slip noose, and the fishes are the fingers of the players.
The noose is fastened to a rod held by the fisherman. At an unexpected moment the fisherman cries, "Out of the pond," and at the same instant raises the rod quickly, thus drawing up the noose and catching such fish as have not been nimble enough to escape to dry land.

The captured fish must pay forfeits to be released.

Camping Out.

Last summer we went
To live in a tent.
My father and mother and I,
And when I would choose
To take off my shoes
I could wade in the stream close by.

At night in the dark
I would lie still and hark
To the frogs that were croaking so near,
And all the day long
I could hear the sweet song
Of the birds singing out their good cheer.

Our breakfast we ate
At half after eight
On a cloth spread out on the ground.
We had little fishes
In birch bark dishes,
And wild sweet berries I found.

One evening I heard
A remarkable bird
Singing high in a hickory tree,
And its song was, "Who, who!"
And I said: "I know you.
I am Tommy K. Jinks. Don't you know me?"

THE ATOMIC THEORY.

A Mathematician's Proof of the Immortality of Man.

Dr. Ivan Slavovskii, the eminent Russian mathematician, who died in St. Petersburg in December, 1887, left, among other curious and valuable papers, one entitled "The Atomic Theory—A Mathematical Proof of the Immortality of Man."

The learned doctor starts out by taking the position that the whole universe is made up of atoms and that these atoms are not "innumerable," but it can be shown that their number is limited. He further declares that the words "infinite" and "innumerable" are only used to cover ignorance, because it is impossible for our minds to form a proper conception of a vast number of units. After making the above and other broad statements he sets himself to the task of proving that the atoms of the universe are constantly undergoing changes and that the time will come when all possible changes, combinations and permuta-tions will have been exhausted. Spencer, Helmholtz, Thompson and many other distinguished men, living and dead, believe and believed this queer doctrine. Thompson says: that when these changes have been exhausted the universe will be at rest. When that day comes, the sun will cease to shine, the planets will stop revolving on their axis, and all the vast systems of worlds will hang perfectly dead and lifeless. But no. Dr. Slavovskii does not propose to have a grand finale "wind up" at that stage of the game.

He declares that when these atomic permutations have been exhausted nature will return upon its tracks.
In other words, when the pendulum has swung to its utmost limit it must return again. If all the positions of the atoms of the universe must again repeat themselves Slavovskii argues that there must come a time when all nature will again be in the track now occupied.
The earth will again undergo its geographical periods, and man will again appear, each individual being precisely the same individual he is now. He will be born of the same parents, be reared under the same circumstances that he now lives and with those with whom he now lives and will finally die, as he will die in a few years from now. After another untold age of cyclic changes he will "live again" just as in his former lives. This is immortality.

AROUND THE WORLD ON FOOT

Nicholas Georgis is a Roumanian traveler now in Africa, who is going around the world on foot. He carries a book signed by the various lignitaries of the places through which he has passed, and among others are portions in Arabic, Greek, Abyssinian—one page written by the Emperor Menelik, with whom he dined—besides numerous European languages. The traveler made his way through the Sahara desert, carrying eighty pounds of water on his back, and when this was exhausted he had to exist for many days upon roots alone. On the Sudan-Abyssinian boundary he was pursued by three lions and kept up a tree for three days, while farther back, at Nhamdiah, through mistaking the White and Blue Nile, he lost his way and was attacked by cannibal pygmies. In the Sudan he found the sun's heat so unbearable that he traveled only at night, while during the day he lay with his water bags in a pit.

Elevated Road Hangs in Air.

To relieve congested traffic conditions in Berlin it is proposed to erect a monorail suspended electric railway, such as has been for some time in successful operation between Eberfeld and Barmen, Germany, writes Dr. Alfred Gradenwitz in Technical World Magazine. The passenger cars in this system hang down from a single overhead rail and have no support whatever underneath. Advantages of the system are its perfect safety, the fact that the superstructure is comparatively simple and does not shut out the light and air, as does an ordinary elevated structure, and the further fact that in operation the monorail cars are almost completely noiseless. It seems probable that the monorail suspended system will be adopted in the German capital.

Side Lights on the French Census

France does not take its censuses as seriously as this country, though some Parisian wits are now paying lines for the gayety of their answers to the enumerators' queries. Some towns and villages set about swelling their population. Marseilles and Lyons were jealous about the second place among French cities.
Whether they padded the returns or not does not appear, but Cassoulet-sur-Lot, a little town in the south, was anxious to bring its population up to 20,000, so that its magistrates could have their salaries increased by $125. As only a few score of people were wanted, the affair was comparatively easy. Cassoulet jail was made the workhouse of a whole district, but entry was obligatory, not permissive, for all the tramps in the neighborhood. This drafting of citizens was successful.

The Solemn Back Bay Butler.

Some Boston editor intimated that Back Bay butlers made love to the housemaids. One of them has replied in defense of his class, and incidentally he shows how far culture has got down the back stairs of Boston society. He writes:

"I do not flirt with any of the female members of the household, and it is no exaggeration to say that I am not better than the average butler of the Back Bay, so far as morals are concerned. I have educated my boy in France and England and am now giving him a postgraduate course at an American college. Our feelings have been hurt by the article to which I refer, and we have undergone a great deal of mental suffering from the annoyance unwittingly caused us."

Killing Wild Ducks in China.

One Chinese method of killing wild ducks consists in placing calabashes on the water in great numbers. After awhile, when the ducks have become used to their presence, the hunter puts one over his head with holes, so he can see, and, with the rest of his body under water, approaches the ducks. Seizing one of them by the legs, he quickly pulls it under water, wrings its neck, fastens it to his belt and takes his next victim.

FOR THE LITTLE ONES.

A Clever Trick With a Handkerchief and a Coin.

All that is necessary to have in order to perform the trick are a handkerchief, a ten cent piece and a piece of soap. With a knife cut off a piece of soap about a quarter of an inch in diameter and stick this piece of soap on the hem of the handkerchief in one corner. Place the dime in the center of the handkerchief, which must lie flat on the table. Take the corner which has the soap on it and fold it over, placing it gently on the dime; now fold the other corners over, placing each corner on the dime. The corner that has the soap on it is the one to your right. When the corners are folded the handkerchief will be in the form of a diamond, with one of the points toward the performer.
Place the thumb and forefinger of each hand at the point of the diamond nearest to you. Pick it up, letting the four corners fall apart, at the same time sliding the right hand to the corner where the dime is. Shake the handkerchief and show that the dime has disappeared.

About Steel Needles.

It is said that steel needles were invented by the Spanish Moors. Before their introduction thorns and fish bones, the latter with a hole pierced for an eye, were in use.
The first needles used in London were made by a Moor in the reign of Henry VIII., and in Queen Mary's day steel needles were sold in Cheapside, says Home Chat. After this time the manufacture increased rapidly, many Germans going to England and establishing needle works in various places.

Now is the Watchword.

"Now" is the syllable ticking from the clock of time. "Now" is the watchword of the wise. "Now" is on the banner of the prudent.
Whenever anything presents itself to us in the shape of work, whether mental or bodily, we should do it with all our might, remembering that "now" is the only time for us.
It is a sorry way to get through the world by putting off till tomorrow, saying, "Then I will do it." "Now" is ours. "Then" we may never have.

A Davitt Story.

The Tribune of London in speaking of Michael Davitt gives this characteristic story of the Irish patriot while in prison: "This high strung and keenly intelligent man was put to a task for which he was physically unfitted, that of pulling trolley loads of stone through the quarry, and many a time a poor, wretched criminal, sympathizing with the one armed man, would give an extra pull to spare his disabled chum. A few months ago Davitt was passing down Ludgate hill and was startled to see this Christian criminal selling pennyworths at the kerb. Needless to say, Davitt bought his whole stock and a day or two later set him up in business with a new and better stock. 'I have kept straight, Mr. Davitt, so help me, God,' the poor fellow protested."

The Empress of Byzantium.

Apropos of the Spanish queen's new title, Queen of Jerusalem, there is a claimant to that designation living in London, Princess Christo-fero. She lives quietly in West-Kensington and is married to an Englishman and has sons in the English army. She calls herself Queen of Jerusalem and Empress of Byzantium. Although not rich, she keeps up a certain state and receives her adherents seated on a dais and with a canopy above her head. The members of the various royalist societies know her well. She attends the special services at the old chapel of St. Mary-in-the-Wardrobe, in the city, and heads the Jacobite procession, which once a year deposits wreaths on the statue of Charles I.

Greek Athletics.

The recent Olympic games aroused such interest in Athens that two wealthy Greeks, Messrs. Bostovits and Tsanakles, have given $50,000 to the government for the building of a gymnasium at Athens. The building and equipment will be personally superintended by Crown Prince Constantine. The Swedish system of gymnastics will be largely followed, and, if present plans are carried out, officers of the Swedish army will be employed as instructors. During the first three year-the running expenses will be defrayed by the two founders.

CONDENSED STORIES.

A Characteristic Story of the Great French Diplomatist.

Talleyrand, the illustrious diplomatist, one day found himself between Mme. de Stael and Mme. Recamier, both intimate friends, both celebrated.

"You say charming things to us both, but which do you prefer?" said Mme. de Stael suddenly.

"Madame, such a question is a veritable ambush. Take care, the penal code!"

"Prince, no subterfuge here! Which do you prefer—my friend or myself? Come, speak, is it the brunette or blond?"

"It will be her who will deign to honor me with a look."

"What, still diplomatic! Well, I will put the question in another form. Suppose while sailing on the

"SUPPOSE THE PERIL TO BE EQUALLY IMMINENT."

Seine this evening the boat should upset and we should be in danger of drowning, which one would you help?"

"Both at once, or the one who was Gold and Silver Bugs.

The most remarkable gold bugs in the world are found in Central America. They belong to the genus plusiotis, and one might easily imagine a specimen to be the work of some clever artificer in metal. The head, and wing cases are brilliantly polished, with a luster as of gold itself. To sight and touch they have all the seeming of metal, and it is hard to realize that the creature is a mere animal. Oddly enough, there is another species of plusiotis from the same region, which has the appearance of being wrought in solid silver, freshly burnished. One of the most beautiful bugs in the world is a small beetle known to science as the blue hoplia. Its back is an exquisite iridescent sky blue, and the under part of its body is of a bright silver hue. The notion that it contains silver is widely entertained, and attempts have frequently been made to extract silver from it.

Don't Scowl.

Don't scowl. It spoils faces. Before you know it your forehead will resemble a small railroad map. There is a grand trunk line from your cowlick to the bridge of your nose, intersected by parallel lines running east and west, with curves arching your eyebrows, and, oh, how much older you look for it! Scowling is a habit that steals upon us unawares. We frown when the light is too strong and when it is too weak. We tie our brows into a knot when we are thinking and knit them even more tightly when we cannot think. There is no denying there are plenty of things to scowl

And He Lost Out.

It had been all over between them for nearly thirty-seven seconds.

"Well," he queried, "why don't you give back the ring?"

"Oh," she answered, "I shall retain it just to keep my hand in."

Parental Consideration.

"Bliggins says he values his opinions because they are the children of his brain."

"Well, in that case he should realize the impropriety of trying to get everybody he meets to adopt them"

Homemade Cement For Mending Broken Glassware.

The best kind of glue for clear glass is made from a solution of two ounces of isinglass and half a pint of gin poured into an open mouthed bottle and set in the sun until it dissolves. It should be shaken well every day and before being used should be strained through a clean lawn cloth. When ready for the gluing the broken glass pieces should be well washed in hot suds, especially on the edges, dried, and then with a small camel's hair brush the cement should be put on the edges of both pieces, and when they are nicely fitted together rubber bands or clean strips of cloth should be bandaged tightly around them to hold the edges well together until the glue dries. If the cement has been properly made the break should really not be visible when dry, for the reason many cracks look jagged when mended is because the edges have not been well joined and, bubbles of air getting in, reflect the light, making the ragged, broken lines glaringly apparent.—Boston Traveler.

Care of Linoleum.

To keep linoleum nicely have a pint bottle, in it put a quarter of a pint of turpentine and three-quarters of a pint of linseed oil; mix both together thoroughly and always shake the bottle before using. Apply a very little of this to the linoleum and rub it in thoroughly. Then polish with dry, clean dusters. Constantly wash out the cloth used for applying the oil or there will be no polish. Never wash linoleum. If it gets dirty, rub it over with a damp flannel only.

Polish For Steel.

One tablespoonful of turpentine, one tablespoonful of sweet oil; mix the turpentine and sweet oil together, stirring in sufficient emery powder to make the mixture of the thickness of cream. Put it on the article with a piece of soft flannel, rub off quickly with another piece, then polish with a little emery powder and clean leather.

Looked the Same to Him.

A well known author, who was recently exploring a remote part of the east end of London, found himself beset by the pangs of hunger. Entering a small restaurant of somewhat doubtful aspect, he ordered a mutton chop. The waiter after a long delay returned bearing a plate on which reposed a dab of mashed potatoes and a much overdone chop of microscopic proportions and with a remarkably long and slender rib attached. Clapping this down briskly before the famished author, the waiter started off to attend to another customer without further ceremony.

"I say," shouted the author, "I ordered a chop."

"Yes, sir," answered the man; "here it is."

"Oh, my dear man—that's true," returned the author, peering at it closely. "But what is that crack in the plate?" "Weedy,"

COTTON'S INVISIBLE LACING CORSETS

The Corset is The Foundation

Upon which all women should build their appearance. Those who desire to make the best appearance possible are most careful in selecting their corset, realizing that the best results can be attained only when the corset is right, right in fit---right in shape. The gown may be handsome and stylish in itself, but it will never show to best advantage over an ill-fitting, poorly constructed corset.
