

POWER OF THE SUPREME COURT.

In England one-third of the revenue is derived from the superfluities of the very wealthy by the levy of a graduated income tax and a graduated inheritance tax, increasing the per cent. with the size of the income. The same system is in force in all other civilized countries. In not one of them would the hereditary monarch venture to veto or declare null such a tax. In this country alone the people, speaking through their Congress, and with the approval of their Executive, cannot put in force a single measure of any nature whatever with assurance that it shall meet with approval of the courts; and its failure to receive such approval is fatal, for, unlike the veto of the Executive, the unanimous vote of Congress (and the income tax came near receiving such vote) cannot avail against it. Of what avail shall it be if Congress shall conform to the popular demand and exact a "Rate Regulation" bill and the President shall approve it, if five lawyers, holding office for life and not elected by the people shall see fit to destroy it, as they did the income tax law? Is such a government a reasonable one, and can it be longer tolerated after 120 years of experience have demonstrated the capacity of the people for self-government? If five lawyers can negate the will of 100,000,000 of men, then the art of government is reduced to the selection of those five lawyers.—Hon. Walter Clark, in Watson's Magazine.

SERIAL STORY.

The Reflector has complied with the request of some of its readers and is going to give them a serial story. This story which will begin next Monday will appear in both the daily and semi-weekly editions of the paper. Of course it costs us money to give our readers such a story, but if they want it and appreciate it we will make such stories a feature of the paper hereafter. If you enjoy the story let us know it. Also tell your neighbors about it and ask them to become subscribers to The Reflector. We will keep a few extra copies of the paper containing the story so those who subscribe after it begins can get all of it. Now help us out.

ANOTHER LAUGHINGHOUSE BILL.

Mr. Laughinghouse was unanimously renominated for the House in Pitt. He will doubtless introduce a bill making real reduction in passenger rates on the first day of the session, press it through the House and give the Senate time to deliberate so it may help the House meet the demands of the people. Before February the railroads will be kicking themselves because they did not accept the modified Laughinghouse bill that passed the House two years ago.—Raleigh News and Observer.

Watch for the opening chapter of "The Refugees" which begins in The Reflector next Monday.

On Friday's tobacco break some price went as high as $52 per hundred.

Let us remind you to keep your eye on Greenville.

BOARD OF TRADE.

EDITOR REFLECTOR:

The Reflector continues to reflect, but with all of its reflections it does not seem to cast the rays of reflection sufficiently strong upon the business portion of Greenville's anatomy to interest enough to organize and establish a board of trade. Really it is a great reflection on the town that there is not a board of trade among the business men of the town. The town does not enjoy the respectful consideration of the outside world that it should and would were there a good board of trade. Twice has the writer been asked by people at a distance in less than a week what sort of board of trade Greenville had, and with much regret the answer could only be in truth none at all, except a tobacco board of trade which effects a special interest.

It is indeed humiliating and mortifying that with such a business citizenship as the town of Greenville has, and we are proud of her citizenship, that they do not formulate themselves into a strong and effective board of trade. Many advantages would be realized and much good would come to the town and the people. Business men from abroad are often wanting information that should come well digested from a sound, sensible and well formed body of sensible business men. Such information would be of weight and value. Many plans and specifications and projects would be discussed and set on foot by the getting together of those who are interested in pushing forward the town's interest, and great results would inevitably follow. That there is skill, ability and good means there is not a doubt, and when concentrated the influence would be felt to a much greater degree than can be imagined.

Because there never was one is no reason why there should not be. There was no railroad until 1889 and there is no one who would like to see the railroad stop and run no more. There was no tobacco market until 1890, and all know what it has done for the town. The telegraph, the telephone and many other things could be mentioned that we do not wish abolished. A good board of trade would be a great strength and protection to the town. We had no banks for a long time, now we have three. Several plants of various kinds, all doing good for the growth of the town. Do let the best men of the town get together and organize a strong board of trade and in two years the results will be so wonderfully astonishing that the people will wonder why they have been asleep with Bip Van Winkle so long. Negro Prisoner Escapes.

A negro escaped from the county chain gang a few nights ago. The strangest part about his action is that his sentence was nearly out and in a day or two he would have been released. Now if he is captured he will get another sentence for escaping.

The excursion to Richmond Monday will afford a delightful trip at little cost. A large crowd is going.

PROCEEDINGS OF

District Meeting No. 3 I. O. O. F. Held in Aurora Aug. 9th, 1906.

The district is composed of the following lodges: Bethel No. 142, Eclipse No. 32, Covenant No. 17, Ayden No. 208, Hamilton Star No. 92, Phalanx No. 10, Aurora No. 108, Belhaven No. 223.

Owing to the busy season several of the lodges were not represented, unfortunate indeed it was that they were not present to enjoy the glorious meeting held with the Odd Fellow of Aurora. The meeting was in every way a success, every one present seemed to enter into the real spirit of Odd Fellowship. Some of the most beautiful thoughts and splendid ideas of the teaching of the order came from the lips of many of the brothers present.

First, the address of welcome by Brother W. A. Thompson, one of Aurora's beloved sons, a beautiful talk indeed it was that he made, his cordial welcome made every one experience the greatest comfort.

The address of welcome was ably responded to by F. C. Harding of Covenant Lodge No. 17, in his usual easy and graceful style. Brother Harding is well known throughout Eastern Carolina, being one of the leading attorneys of the Greenville bar, for 20 minutes he held his audience spellbound with his eloquence. Then came that well known Odd Fellow Dr. D. L. James, of Greenville, with a beautiful and very helpful speech for the good of the order, it has been the good fortune of many Odd Fellows throughout North Carolina to listen to Brother James on former occasions, we always look for something good from him and have never been disappointed. He is at all around Odd Fellow.

We had the pleasure of listening to other splendid remarks by the following Brothers: D. G. Berry, R. W. Smith, J. T. Smith, Jr., Fred Buhmann, of Ayden Lodge No. 208, D. C. Moore, J. White and Stephen Wooten, of Covenant Lodge No. 17. Also several brothers of Aurora.

The meeting was ably presided over by Brother E. G. Cox, of Ayden. The following officers were elected for the ensuing year.

- E. G. Cox, N. G. Ayden, 208.
- W. H. Hooker, V. G. Aurora, No. 138
- Dr. D. L. James, R. S. N. G. Covenant No. 17.
- J. T. Williams, L. S. N. G. Aurora No. 138.
- Stephen Wooten, R. S. V. G. Covenant No. 17.
- L. D. Wingate, L. S. V. G. Aurora No. 138.
- D. G. Berry, Warden, Ayden No. 208.
- R. L. Jones, Conductor, Aurora No. 138.
- E. E. Griffin, Sec. and Treas. Covenant No. 17.
- Executive Committee.
- D. C. Moore, Covenant Lodge No. 17.
- D. G. Berry, Ayden Lodge No. 208.
- J. C. Smith, Eclipse Lodge No. 32.

A vote of thanks was extended to the people of Aurora for their splendid reception and entertainment. Our time of meeting has been changed so that we meet on 1st Thursday in December, April and August.

The district meeting adjourned to meet with Ayden Lodge No. 208, December 6th. Let every lodge in the district bear in mind the place and date, and rest assured that there will be a nice program arranged which will be carried out in an interesting and enjoyable manner.

Let every Odd Fellow put a shoulder to the wheel and keep the meetings up to their present high standard, and if possible make them a greater success.

With best wishes for our future meetings, I am yours to serve,
E. E. Griffin, Sec. and Treas.

"Make Hay While the Sun Shines"

There is a lesson in the work of the thrifty farmer. He knows that the bright sunshine may last but a day and he prepares for the showers which are so liable to follow. So it should be with every household. Dysentery, diarrhoea and cholera morbus may attack some member of the home without warning. Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, which is the best known medicine for these diseases, should always be kept at hand, as immediate treatment is necessary, and delay may prove fatal. For sale by J. L. Wooten, druggist.

Modest Claims Often Carry the Most Conviction.

When Maxim, the famous gun inventor, placed his gun before a committee of judges, he stated its carrying power to be much below what he felt sure the gun would accomplish. The result of the trial was therefore a great surprise instead of disappointment. It is the same with the manufacturers of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. They do not publicly boast of all this remedy will accomplish, but prefer to let the users make the statements. what they do claim, is that it will positively cure diarrhoea, dysentery, pains in the stomach and bowels and has never been known to fail. Among other results of the Algier conference France has come to a consciousness of her real power in the world at large. An English financier had already said that if the French people continue to live on the principle, "Where you have four sous spend only two," they will end by having in their possession all the coined gold in the world. The great portion of it, which they already possess, and the distress caused to German finance and industry by the patriotic refusal of the united French banks to allow their gold to be drawn until peace was secure had a great and probably decisive influence in the happy termination of this entangled affair of Morocco. The floating of the latest Russian loan has since come to show yet further the riches of France, to which tourists alone, it is estimated, add 2,000,000,000 francs in gold each year. This money power and money need should tend to the keeping of European peace more than all the theories of the pacifists who clamor for a disarmament impossible to obtain. In favor of France should also be added the unwieldiness of parliamentary government in case of sudden war.—Stoddard Dewey in Atlantic.

Who Are the Real Owners of a City?

It has been predicted that the task of rebuilding the city of San Francisco would be hindered and made difficult by labor union restrictions. It has been remarked as unfortunate that organized labor now has control of the city's government. Emphatically I dissent from these pessimistic opinions. I regard it as in the highest degree fortunate, for the masses of the toilers who must supply the labor that will rebuild San Francisco, that their representatives will have something to say about how the work is to be done.

I look to them to prevent the duplication of many miseries inflicted upon the poor of the city, as upon the poor of all great cities, through huddled and insanitary housing in narrow, dark, neglected back streets. There is a dawning general consciousness in this world that a city belongs not to the few who take its revenues, but to the many who build and inhabit it; that, at any rate, the few who take the revenues are not solely to be considered; that the many have some rights which must be regarded.—Frank Putnam in National Magazine.

Summer Diarrhoea in Children

During the hot weather of the summer months the first unnatural looseness of a child's bowels should have immediate attention, so as to check the disease before it becomes serious. All that is necessary is a few doses of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy followed by a dose of castor oil to cleanse the system. Rev. M. H. Stockman, pastor of the First M. E. Church, Little Falls, Minn., writes: "We have used Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy for several years and find it a very valuable remedy, especially for summer disorders in children." Sold by J. L. Wooten.

Jas F Davenport,

FOR THE LITTLE ONES. Why Certain Beasts and Birds Are More Clever Than Others. Why do you suppose squirrels, elephants, parrots, monkeys and opossums are clever? They certainly are not much alike, but there is one power they all have that most animals have not. It sounds rather like the old riddle: "Why is an oyster like a cow? Because neither of them can climb a tree." But this isn't meant to be a riddle. There really is one great power that all these animals have. It is the grasping power. Elephants can pick things up with their trunks and feel the shape, parrots grasp with their claws, monkeys with their hands, feet and tails, opossums with their hind feet and tails and squirrels with their paws. And so all these animals who have not, like dogs and horses, had the advantage of living with men, have nevertheless grown wise in the woods and jungles.

Water In Grinding. Why is water used on a grindstone in sharpening a knife? That is one of the questions asked on the porch of a summer hotel recently, and, although several well informed men and women were in the little gathering, the only one who could answer it satisfactorily was a fifteen-year-old schoolboy. Here is the explanation he gave: The object in using water is to secure a better contact of the blade with the stone, so that the entire edge of the blade may be smoothly sharpened. The application of water not only fills the little spaces between the particles of stone, but it softens them and thus makes a smoother surface. If a dry stone were used, the edge of the blade would be rough, for the friction would be unequal.

FREAKS OF GOLF BALLS.

Have Killed Birds on the Wing and Caused a Sheep to Drop Dead.

It does not often happen that a bird falls a victim to a golf ball in its flight, although such a mishap has occurred in two or three instances, says London Tit-Bits.

Not long ago an incident of this kind was reported from Raynes Park Golf club. It took place in the course of a bogie competition.
One of the players, a Mr. Crocker, having driven off at the eleventh tee, his ball created some astonishment by coming in contact with a lark in midair and literally knocking off its head.

A similar incident happened last season at one on the ground of the Birkdale club. Two members were playing a round when one of them made a brash shot. The ball was in full flight when a bird of the wagtail species was seen crossing the line of flight, and the next moment both objects came into collision at a distance of about forty paces from the striker.

The consequences were fatal to the unfortunate bird, which was not only killed, but decapitated. As for the golf ball, its flight was stopped by the impact, the ball falling to the ground within a few yards of its slaughtered victim. The incident had the further object of losing the player the match, he having to make an extra stroke or two to cover the distance short covered, thus costing him the game.

A still more extraordinary freak of a golf ball resulted in a tragedy on the Balcomie links in Scotland.
In the course of a match one of the players, in his drive from the sixth tee, put so much vigor into it that the ball struck a sheep on the head with such force as to cause it to fall dead on the spot.

A very different, but no less interesting, story was reported from another links in Scotland about the same time. In a foursome match, played at North Berwick, one of the golfers drove his ball against a wall.
It rebounded into some rough grass and for a few minutes could not be traced, but ultimately the caddie found the ball lying in a lark's nest, in which were four eggs all unbroken. For a ball to drop into a nest of eggs without breaking any was surely an extraordinary occurrence.

It is not long since a player at Woking in approaching the hole landed a ball on the top of the clubhouse. This little incident did not, however, upset his equilibrium very much. As nimbly as he could he followed the ball to the roof and from that coign of disadvantage played it so well that he was successful in securing a half of a hole which everybody considered irretrievably lost.

A similar scene was once witnessed on the St. Andrews links in the course of a three ball match.
One of the players happened to drive his ball on to the corrugated iron roof of a shed and, in the belief that he had consequently given up the hole, the other two calmly proceeded with the match. But they had reckoned without their host, for the next moment there was a great clatter of feet on the iron roof. Barely had the warning cry of "fore" reached the players' ears when a ball whizzed on to the course close by. It was that of the other player, who had mounted to the roof and played it from that unexpected corner.

THE REFUGEES

BY A. CONAN DOYLE

Creator of the Famous Sherlock Holmes Stories

Every reader of fiction is familiar with the work of this writer whose stories have fascinated and entertained people of every nationality.

The Refugees

Is one of his most famous productions, said by many to be the best he has ever written. It is a stirring tale of the troublous times when the Huguenots were driven from France. The scenes are laid in France and America, then the newly founded home of the free and oppressed from all climes.

Beginning in the court of Louis XIV, detailing the life of the vacillating and pleasure loving king, exploiting the intrigues of the leisure class about him, the story carries the reader to the shores of the new world where a band of brave refugees have thrilling experiences with ferocious Indian warriors and find peace at last when they reach the English provinces about New York and Boston.

By the Barrel.

She was rolling a heavy barrel along

"What have you there, Annie?"
"The hash barrel, sir."
"The what?"
"The hash barrel."
"Great Scott! I knew we ate a bought it by the barrel."

"Oh, ye-es," remarked Ketchley

Sound him where you please and you will find Governor Glenn all right.

With large tobacco breaks and the price high, more money ought to get in, circulation.

Don't hold your money. Pay what you owe and enable other people to pay what they owe.

The Republicans of the eighteenth Illinois district have renominated Joseph G. Cannon for the eighteenth time, and gave him a boost for the presidential nomination.

A young lady in Hartford, Conn., held her skirt so high in making a muddy street crossing that a detective standing near recognized a stolen garment and arrested her.

South Carolina has followed suit again. A negro was lynched in that State in spite of the governor's presence and his pleading with the mob to desist in their murderous purpose.

The Brookline Rapid Transit railroad company is now having trouble of its own. It has made enough trouble in the past for people who dabbled in its stock, and doubtless the victims are not crying over the turn of the tide.

We thought from its name that High Point must be a high town. But the town was so flooded with a tremendous rain the other day that a young lady came near getting drowned on the street and people were driven from their offices by the water. So it looks like the name means nothing.

OVERDOING THE THING.

The attempt to make the men who lynched the men at Salisbury residents of other counties than Rowan is being overdone. The people of Rowan are as good as their neighbors and no worse and no better. In the mob there is no doubt that there were men from other counties than Rowan but why put upon the people of neighboring counties the blame that chiefly belongs to Rowan? It has been shown that the best people in Rowan did not approve the lynching and the men arrested were not in any sense representative men, but the attempt to transfer the wrong to citizens of adjoining counties is being sadly overworked.—Raleigh News and Observer.

The next Englishman who comes over and wants to hiss Old Glory should bear in mind the $25 fine a New Jersey judge imposed on a Britisher for this indiscretion. Old Glory don't take hissing on this side of the pond.

REDUCING THE SERVICE.

Some weeks ago the Postoffice Department ordered the discontinuance of rural delivery route five from Wilson. The Times criticized that order, the people signed a petition against the wrong, and Hon. Claude Kitchen took up the matter with the department with his customary earnest desire to serve his constituents. The result was that the order was cancelled but the route is changed to a thrice a week route. Half a loaf is better than no bread, but the day of tri-weekly mails has gone by. Daily delivery is as necessary today as a weekly Star route was twenty years ago. About the only return the people of this State in the rural districts get for the big Federal tax they pay (much heavier than State tax) is free rural delivery. They are entitled to as many routes as Indiana or Wisconsin and should have them. Rules that reduce this service while not reducing the service in a more thickly settled section, ought not to be put in operation.—News and Observer.

WILMINGTON'S EXAMPLE.

There is progress and development going on in nearly every section of the State. Those sections that do most to advertise their resources and advantages attract most good settlers, and the attraction of most capital. The towns and cities are growing most rapidly are those that do most to let their progress and the chance to succeed there be widely known.

Some years ago, Wilmington our chief city, seemed content to grow slowly. Recently it has grown rapidly. Why? Because it is letting the world know what it has. The land in the country has more than doubled in value in the last year or two because of its adaptation to truck growing.

Its business men now propose to send to the next State Fair an exhibit of the resources of the county. It will be attractive and accelerate the prosperity of the town and city.

Wilmington's example is one that business men of other live places could adopt with profit.—Raleigh News and Observer.

USE

CHRISTMAN'S OINTMENT

For all Skin Diseases on Man or Beast.

This Ointment has been used nearly two hundred years with the most wonderful success in the treatment of nearly every form of Skin disease, and in many instances, it has effected cures where other remedies had failed. While we do not claim that this Ointment will cure everything, we say a fair trial will convince any reasonable person that it is equal to any, and superior to most of the remedies for skin diseases on the market. This Ointment is made by the Christman Ointment Co. Greenville, N. C. and is for sale by druggists at 25 and 50 cts per bottle.

NEW HOPE FOR COTTON GROWERS

There has been no recent publication better calculated to encourage Southern cotton-growers than yesterday morning's dispatch which announced the arrival in San Francisco of a prominent Japanese with the information that while Japan last year used over a million bales of cotton only one-fourth of it came from the United States, whereas the great superiority of American cotton over that of India and Asia is now recognized and "all first class cotton weavers are coming to use it. The export of cotton from the United States to Japan," this visitor adds, "is bound to increase enormously in the next few years." Cotton manufacture in that country is increasing rapidly and we have in the dispatch referred to a strong intimation that the South will soon be furnishing the great bulk if not practically all of the raw material. If, in addition to this, Japan would quit dallying with the matter and would let the United States into Manchuria, an immense impulse would quickly be given to the American cotton trade in the East. The larger demand for the great staple world of course mean higher prices. The Southern farmer may hope.—Charlotte Observer.

Fancy Table Ways.

We are getting dead swell in this good town. We eat ice cream with a fork. Some time ago we learned to make salad at the dinner table. Then we served coffee in the library after dinner. We have had finger bowls some dozen years. We are beginning to use them even when there is no company. One family has finger bowls at breakfast, after fruit and before bacon, even when there is no guest at the house. That's dead swell. We have drunk soup out of a teacup and put grass on the fried chicken, and now we eat ice cream with a fork. Why not? These little evidences of social progress are commendable.—Columbia Herald.

Relic of the Constitution.

A valuable relic of the historic old frigate Constitution has been dug from the river bed of the Delaware by the crew of a clam dredger off New Castle, Del. It is a china water urn presented to the famous old fighting ship of the American navy by the city of Philadelphia in 1797 and long ago lost and forgotten. How the urn came to be at the bottom of the river is a mystery. On one side of the receptacle is the coat of arms of the state of Pennsylvania, while on the other side is the inscription, "Presented by the City of Philadelphia to the Constitution—1797."—Philadelphia Press

ALL OVER THE HOUSE.

Directions For Making Dill or Dutch Pickles.

Take a big stone jar that will hold at least four gallons, or a keg without a head. Select cucumbers from six to eight inches in length, wash and wipe carefully so as not to bruise. Add two pounds coarse salt to three gallons of water, boil and skim, replacing the water that evaporates so as to keep the same quantity. Put a layer of cucumbers in the bottom of the jar, with one small African red pepper, a bunch of dill seed in stalk and a layer of green grape leaves to cover. Proceed in this way until the vessel is filled. Then cover with a layer of cabbage leaves. On the very top put a good, big flat stone. Pour in the hot salt and water and let the vessel stand while a quiet fermentation takes place. In two or three weeks the cucumbers are done and should be transparent like amber, with a subacid flavor.

The Kitchen Sink.

Whether a kitchen sink be iron, enamel or stone it should stand on four legs with all its drainpipes exposed to full view. A very clever physician once said, "If I am called in to a case of diphtheria the first thing I look at is the kitchen sink." The danger arising from a badly kept sink cannot be exaggerated, nor can any degree of care in avoiding it be considered extreme. The waste pipe from a kitchen sink should have boiled water and ammonia or washing soda poured down it each day. At least once a week it should be treated to a dose of some good disinfectant, such as chloride of lime.

Apple Chutney.

Put into the preserving kettle one quart of vinegar, one cup of seeded raisins, two green peppers and two onions minced fine, rejecting the seeds of the peppers. Two cups of brown sugar and two tablespoonfuls each of mustard seed, ground ginger and salt should then be added. Simmer two hours, then add sixteen tart green apples peeled and chopped and cook gently another hour. Put into small bottles and seal.

A New Window Screen.

It is said that a fly never walks downward. Acting on this hint, a clever housekeeper has devised a window screen designed to conduct all the flies out of doors. The screen is divided in two halves and the upper laps over the lower with an inch space between. A fly lights on the screen and travels upward till he walks outdoors. Not being able to walk down, he has no way of re-entering the room.

Callouses on the Feet.

Put a good handful of dry mustard into your foot tub and dissolve in cold water, then put in hot water until it is hot as the feet can bear it. Keep the feet in until the water becomes quite cool, then the hard part of callous can be pared off little by little, taking off a little more after every bath until it is all gone. If it ever reappears take more foot-baths, and it will soon disappear again.

To Toughen Glass.

When you buy new tumblers, wineglasses, decanters, etc., you should never use them until you have "toughened" them as follows: Place the tumblers, etc., in a large pan, pack them round with hay and then fill with cold water. Put the pan on the fire and bring it slowly to the boiling point; then remove from the fire and stand aside until cold.

The Sewing Machine.

A new mucilage brush to clean a sewing machine is very satisfactory. Lifting the head, insert the brush into every crevice and crack, paying particular attention to the region beneath the needle bar. All this, of course, before oiling it. Then wash the brush and put it in the sewing machine drawer for future use.

Fireproofing Cloth.

To render cloth fireproof the following process has been used by a French chemist: Saturate the textiles in a solution composed of chloride of ammonium, 8 parts; sodium hyposulphate, 2.25 parts; sulphate of ammonium, 10 parts; borax, 4.5 parts; water, 75.25 parts. Hang up to dry without wringing.

WHY WE DO SOME THINGS.

Certainly Not Because We Look Pretty When We Do Them.

A man does not take off his hat to a lady because he looks nicer without it. The instance of bald men would be alone sufficient to upset such an explanation.

He does it because you must positively do something when you meet a lady or your whole civilization goes to pieces, and taking off your hat is easier than taking off your necktie or lying face downward on the pavement.

The primary point is that you must do something, not that you must do something beautiful. And as long as cultivated people cannot grasp this fact they will find their efforts quite futile in dealing with what they often consider the dullness of the middle classes or the vulgarity and morbidity of the poor.

In so far as the bourgeois thinks it more important to wear a Sunday hat than a becoming hat he is perfectly right. It is more important; the religion of the tribe is more important than the pretty appearance of Mr. Jones.

In so far as the charwoman thinks it more important that her husband should have a "proper" funeral than a pretty funeral she is perfectly right. It is more important. Decorum is as permanent a human sentiment as art and a much more pressing one. Any healthy savage would understand the charwoman's sentiments exactly and perhaps alarm her with demonstrations of barbaric approval.

He would also understand perfectly the sentiment of a Sunday hat. I believe in savages myself. I think that in a great many matters they represent the enduring common sense and moral minimum of humanity. There is nothing which I so sincerely respect in savages as their widespread and generally ascertained disposition to wear top hats.—London Illustrated News.

A good story is told with reference to the publication of a certain Biblical dictionary. The editor is said to have given the article on the deluge to what he considered a safe hand, but when the article was sent in it was found to contain views which would certainly have shocked orthodox readers. What could be done? The volumes had to be published forthwith. In this dilemma he put in his dictionary, "Deluge—see flood." This, at any rate, postponed the difficulty, and the article on the flood was given out to a writer who it was thought could be better trusted. But when this second article came in it was found to be worse than the first, and another postponement was necessary. The new volume contained another reference, "Flood—see Noah," the bewildered editor trusting that by the time Noah was reached he would succeed in finding a man who would be able to mingle science and orthodoxy in due degrees.—London Tit-Bits.

Prayed For More Snakes.

In a rural town in Michigan lived a family named Beaver noted for their hardihood in all manner of naughtiness. They were the great torment of the minister's life. Finally one of the boys was bit by a rattlesnake and sent for him. He found the lad greatly scared and very penitent. After some conversation the reverend gentleman closed the interview by prayer. "O Lord," he began, "we thank thee for rattlesnakes. We thank thee that a rattlesnake has bit Jim. Send another, we pray thee, to bite Tom and one to bite Joe. And, O Lord, send the biggest kind of a rattlesnake to bite the old man, for nothing less than rattlesnakes will bring this Beaver family to repentance."—Metaphysical Magazine.

Arctic Birds.

It has been a source of interest and wonder to arctic explorers to find such quantities of singing birds within the arctic circle. They are abundant beyond belief. But the immense crops of cranberries, crowberries and cloudberry that ripen in the northern swamps account for the presence of the birds. The berries are preserved in the snow, which begins to melt about the time the songsters appear, and then they feast royally on the crystallized fruits nature has so marvelously kept for them.

NO CURE FOR THIS DISEASE

"Medical science has not yet penetrated the secret of spotted fever," said Dr. W. W. King, passed assistant surgeon in the public health and marine hospital service.

Dr. King has just returned from a several months' study of the disease in the Bitter Root valley of Montana.

"There are many baffling characteristics about spotted fever," said he. "In the first place, the disease is only known in a few valleys in the west. It is exceedingly dangerous, but not even prevalent where it occurs. For instance, in the Bitter Root valley there were ten cases this year, with eight deaths.

"A peculiarity of the disease is that it appears only on the east side of the Bitter Root valley. People on the west slope have never been affected.

"Many theories have been advanced regarding the transmission of spotted fever, none of which has been proved. For instance, some of the people maintain that the wood tick spreads the disease in the same manner as the mosquito does yellow fever. Others believe that it is caused by drinking water contaminated by the refuse of sawmills."—Washington Post.

The Big Locks at the Soo.

The greatest attraction at Sault Ste. Marie is the locks which raise the vessels from the level of Lake Huron to that of Lake Superior. Fifty years ago the first lock was opened. It was a small affair compared with the present canals. On the American side two locks are in operation. The larger of these is 800 feet long, 100 feet wide, deep enough to permit the passage of vessels drawing twenty-one feet of water and big enough to permit four large vessels to pass through at once. On the Canadian side there is also a lock, greater in length, but of less width, and of sufficient dimensions to allow three vessels to be raised or lowered at once. All the shipping from the upper to the lower lakes must go through these three locks. The commerce passing through these canals is by far the greatest in the world. In 1904 the Suez canal passed approximately 12,000,000 tons of shipping. In the same year the canals at Sault Ste. Marie carried 31,546,106 tons. Yet all the business in the "Soo" must be done in seven months, while the Suez canal is in operation all the year round.—Four Track News.

A Valuable Invention.

A poor man went about in Nebraska looking for work. He obtained a job in a village sawing wood. The sawyer interested his employer and finally confessed the reason of his poverty. He was an inventor and had spent his substance on a device to keep horses off barbed wire fences. The idea seemed promising to the Nebraskan, and he finally paid $2,000 for the right to sell the device in his state. The sample was sent later. It was a signboard to be hung on the fence and read as follows:

NOTICE TO HORSES.
Dangerous—Keep Away!

With the signboard came a pair of spectacles for the use of nearsighted horses.

Scarcity of Hickory Wood.

Hickory, one of if not the most valuable of our native woods, has become so scarce that many substitutes have of necessity been found for it. The wonderful increase in the demand for buggies and carriages of the finer class had much to do with the virtual exhaustion of the great American hickory forests. England, Germany, China, Australia, South Africa and the South American countries made strong requisitions on the American supply. Years ago the supply of this fine wood north of the Ohio river had been exhausted. Have The Foundation Right.

The Corset is The Foundation

Upon which all women should build their appearance. Those who desire to make the best appearance possible are most careful in selecting their corset, realizing that the best results can be attained only when the corset is right, right in fit--right in shape. The gown may be handsome and stylish in itself, but it will never show to best advantage over an ill-fitting, poorly constructed corset.

OUR CORSET DEPARTMENT

Comes to your aid just at this point by offering you a large variety of styles and makes, the kinds that have been tried and found satisfactory, and the selection is so great you may easily choose the the right shape, the one best suited to your needs, the one that will insure comfort and a stylish figure combined. We would like to show you the new "Invisible Lacing," and explain the many advantages it possesses over other kinds. Our corset department is very popular--there's a reason--Let us show you.
