It appearing to the board that the records in the office of the register of deeds concerning land titles are in need of properly indexing, and that the indices already in said office are not satisfactory or convenient and that some new, modern arrangement should be made to enable the public to investigate said records, it was ordered that said records be reindexed, and the clerk of the board was directed to ascertain the new methods for such indexing and report the result of his investigation to the board for further direction.

Operated on Turkey Gobbler.

Dr. J. F. Bunn, on yesterday, performed an operation on a turkey gobbler belonging to Capt. J. M. Odell, by cutting into his first stomach and extracting therefrom an accumulated mass, consisting of wheat, corn, gravel, glass, hay, rags, etc., weighing eleven pounds. This mass has been accumulating there for the last three or four months. The turkey as soon as released from the table, to show his strength, began fighting another gobbler that was loose in the yard. He is doing well.—Concord Tribune

AMUSING INCIDENT

At the Liberty Warehouse.

Quite an amusing incident took place at the closing of the sales of the Liberty Warehouse Wednesday afternoon, in which a very pretty woman and a handsome gallant buyer took prominent parts.

The very last tobacco on the floor was about to be sold when a very pretty, fine looking young woman appeared on the scene and announced that that lot of tobacco was hers, and whoever the purchaser was purchased her with that lot. At once all the young men among the buyers pricked up their ears and began to hustle. Everybody was all attention and interest. The sale began and such lively bidding has not been seen on the Greenville market. High prices were insignificant but the handsome and gallant Mr. Williamson, with his peerless eyes, tall, graceful form and winning manners allowed no opposition and became the purchaser of every pile, and with many blushes and bows characteristic of this splendid type of manhood won the beautiful prize. But in the confusion and excitement, the charmer selected her check and hid away to the bank for the cash, leaving the gallant Mr. Williamson waiting. Further this deponent sayeth not.

Thus ended the first chapter. More anon—the Liberty does things up right.—SIFAX.

THE CHARACTER OF ALBERT WHAT EDUCATION IS DONE FOR BAIRD CUMMINS THE SOUTH.

Few men have paid as dearly for political honors as has Governor Cummins of Iowa. Five years ago he was in the enjoyment of a large and fast increasing income derived from a general practice of the law. He was conceded to be at the head of the bar of his State and the peer of any lawyer in the Northwest. His home life was well-nigh ideal. As dispensers of hospitality, Mr. and Mrs. Cummins had (as they still have) no superiors at the State capital. Surrounded by troops of friends, his professional services in demand beyond the limits of his power to respond, he exchanged the highest honors of his chosen profession, and with them the pleasures of social life, unmixed with political complications and partisan antagonisms, for a career inevitably involving pecuniary loss, a position inviting him to laborious days and an infinite variety of annoyances and cares. In the fierce light which during the recent campaign was thrown upon his official career, the minutest inspection did not bring out a single suggestion or motive for holding office other than an ambition to serve the public faithfully and efficiently, and a purpose to push forward to completion the reform work so vigorously begun by him. It has been charged that the Governor still cherishes his early ambition to enter national politics. Possibly, but if that be an unworthy ambition, few men in public life can be held to be altogether worthy. Far from regarding himself as the only man in Iowa who could lead his party to victory in the coming campaign, Governor Cummins earnestly urged his political friends to unite upon some one who would take up his work and carry it on to conclusions. But his influential supporters were found to be united in insistence that the successful inaugurator of reforms could best carry them on to conclusions, that the people looked to him for definite results that would not let the fetish of the two term precedent stand in the way of his second re-election.—From "The Governor of Iowa: A Sketch of Albert Baird Cummins" by Johnson Brigham, in the American Monthly Review of Reviews for September.

Miss Blow Returns

Miss Lottie Blow, who has been spending the summer at her home in Greenville, will return to day and reopen her class in music. Miss Blow's skill as a musician needs no comment, having been thoroughly demonstrated by the progress of her pupils and the pleasure her music has always given to her many friends.—Washington Messenger, 4th.

THE WEATHER.

Fair tonight except showers in western portion. Friday showers.

Arvin Dupree has gone to the A. & M. College at Raleigh.

K. C. Barrett, route agent of the Southern Express Company, was here today.

Miss Bettie Gray Sutton, of LaGrange who has been visiting her grandmother, Mrs. Alice Harper, returned home today.

The wonderful opportunities that the South offers will inevitably attract from the outside a good deal of fresh capital and not a little sturdy labor, both American and European. Nevertheless, for the most part, the development that the South is destined to make in the next twenty five years is going to be brought about through the efforts of the people now living in the South, with their sons and daughters, applying their own energy and skill, and using their own modest accumulations of productive capital. Of these people now living in the South, nearly ten million belong to the colored race. Whatever future, every one must know that for a long time to come these colored people must continue to do a large share of the hard work that goes with Southern economic advancement. They will till the soil, build the roads, fell the forests, work in the mills, dig in the mines, and labor at many trades and handicrafts. In any progressive region the largest item in the list of productive assets is the energy and skill of the workers; and this must be true of the South. The training of the rising generation is more essential than anything else to the growth of the Southern States in all that is desirable by way of material progress. It is more important to train the white race than the black, because the white race is dominant, and upon its well-being depends the maintenance of conditions under which other races may also hope to improve and prosper. If it were possible to do only the one thing and not the other, then it would be better for the colored race that all educational effort should be concentrated upon the training of white children. For any one who understands the problems of the South must know very well that to concentrate educational effort upon the children of the colored race, and to neglect meantime the white children, would be not only harmful to the negroes, but disastrous. The dominant race must be well trained, or the race that is inferior in numbers and positions will suffer deeply in a hundred ways. It happens, however, that there is no need to neglect the colored race while training the white children, and the disposition on the part of a few people to divert the policy of certain Southern States in such a direction is strongly condemned by the controlling forces of public opinion. Everywhere the Southern States are providing for negro education. The present wealth of the South is not so great as to render it easy to raise the taxes necessary for the support of two sets of schools. All the more credit, therefore, is due to the Southern people for the manner in which they are endeavoring to provide education for the colored children.—From "What Hampton Means by 'Education,'" by Albert Shaw, in the American Monthly Review of Reviews for September.

BRYAN COMING TO THIS STATE.

Will Make Speeches at Several Points.

While the details of the trip are not yet accurately known it may be stated with positiveness that William Jennings Bryan will be in North Carolina a part of the week beginning Sunday, the 16th of September, and will make speeches at Winston-Salem, Greensboro, Salisbury, Raleigh, in all probability and doubtless other points within the State before leaving for Columbia, South Carolina, where he will speak on Thursday of that week.

Mr. Bryan will enter the State from Virginia on Sunday evening, the 16th, when he will arrive at Winston-Salem from Roanoke, Va., where he will go to enter his daughter as a student at Hollins Institute. He will speak at Winston-Salem on Monday morning, will go thence to Greensboro where he will speak in the afternoon and on the evening of the 17th will proceed from Greensboro to Salisbury, where he will deliver a third address on that day.

So much of Mr. Bryan's plans in North Carolina may be stated with definiteness.

While it is not yet positively arranged if it is considered entirely probable that, leaving Salisbury, the Nebraskan will come to Raleigh and deliver a speech at the capital on Tuesday, very probably speaking at other points near Raleigh the same day, and leaving for Columbia, South Carolina, on the morning of Wednesday, the 19th.—Raleigh News and Observer.

A HUMOROUS PATIENT.

Surgery has much to gain from spinal cocainization, says Robert Jones, a Liverpool surgeon, in the Medical Press. He advocates this process in cases where patients cannot or will not take other anaesthetics. The resulting insensibility to pain lasts more than an hour, but the patient often develops abnormal loquacity.

Mr. Jones tells of an operation in which he cocainized the spine. It was that of a big man, who as soon as he had taken two or three whiffs of chloroform jumped off the operating table and scampered away. This happened twice, and Mr. Jones tried cocainization, injecting cocaine into the cerebro spinal fluid. By this means a troublesome operation of cutting out bones in the leg was safely carried out. The man, an old poacher, meantime regaled the doctors with stories of his art, only once interrupting, when the surgeon was chiseling a bone, to ask, "What is that knocking?"—London Mail.

Fall of the Bicycle.

In one of the principal streets, where the tide of commerce flows strong, the sign "Bicycles Stored" stands out from the wall of a building where bicycles were much stored eight years ago. "Yes," said a man in charge, "there was a time when we kept the wheels of business men and clerks during the day, and it was a paying thing too. Our regular customers paid us by the month, and there were over 200 of them. Then every day we took care of the wheels of from twenty to fifty transients. How many do we have now? None—exactly none. The men who rode on bicycles to and from their offices never ride wheels downtown and, as far as that goes, rarely ride at all. It's all off; nothing doing."—Philadelphia Record.

Some People Expect New Shoes

HURT

And they are seldom disappointed: They buy that kind. The fact that a shoe should feel comfortable from the start is unknown to them because they have never felt the luxury of putting on a rightly made shoe.

The Hanan Shoe

offers more real comfort when new than their kind of shoes offer after months of wear—it starts out a smart, stylish shoe and ends just as smart and stylish.

There are not so many such people as there used to be. We know this because we sell so many more Hanan Shoes than we used.

COUNTY CONVENTION

RUSSIAN VERSUS TURK.

A Contest in Which Ivan Won With Little Ease.

Some years ago a Russian and a Turkish officer were having a dispute as to the superiority in discipline of their respective soldiers.

"I can prove it on the spot," said the Russian, "how perfectly our men are trained." "Sir," "Go to Mehemet's, buy me a pound of tobacco and come back at once."

The soldier saluted, turned on his heel and went out. "Now," said the Russian officer, taking out his watch, "my orderly is walking straight to the next corner, where he must turn; now he is turning; now he is opposite the white mosque; now he is crossing the maydan; now he is at Mehemet's; now he is buying the tobacco; now he is coming back; now he is on the block below us; now he is at the door; now"—And the Russian called out, "Ivan!"

"Sir."

"Where's my tobacco?"

"Here, sir."

The Turkish officer, showing no sign of surprise at the precision of this Russo-tobacco movement, promptly broke out:

"Ho, ho! My soldier can do that every day in the week," and he called, "Mughtar!"

"Sir."

"Go to Ali Effendi's and see that you bring me a pound of tobacco. My pipe is empty."

"Instantly, sir."

Following the tactics of the Russian officer, the Turk pulled out his watch and went on: "Mughtar is in the street; now he is passing the pal-pooch bazaar; now it is noon and he is saying his prayers; now he is drinking at the stone fountain; now Ali Effendi hails him and asks him about my health; now Mughtar is paying for the tobacco; now he is coming back by another way; now he is on our street; now he is at the door; now—

"Mughtar!" shouted the officer.

"Sir."

"Where is my tobacco?"

"I haven't found my shoes yet!"

Feiled.

"Did you hear about Samuels?" asked Mrs. Cravens's husband.

"No, I didn't hear about Samuels," the lady answered. "When you have anything to tell, why don't you tell it?"

"Yes, dear. Well, Samuels was going home the other night when a footpad shot at him and the ball hit a latchkey in Samuels' vest pocket, and his life was saved. So you see what good a latchkey is."

"Indeed! If Samuels had been going home at a reasonable hour he would not have met any footpad. Secondly, he carries £1,000 insurance, payable to his wife, and if it had not been for that latchkey she would be a rich widow now. So if you are hunting around for a latchkey you will have to bring back a better story than that one. That's all. I'm going to bed now, and if you want to read you'll have to go to the kitchen, and don't waste the coal."—London Express.

By direction of the Republican County Executive Committee for Pitt county, a convention of the people of Pitt county is hereby called to assemble in the court house in Greenville Saturday Sept. 15th, 1906 at 12 o'clock for the purpose of nominating candidates for the various county offices and to transact such other business as may come before the convention. The people are requested to meet at the several voting precincts of the county on Saturday the 8th, day of September, 1906, at 3 p. m. to nominate candidates for Justices of the Peace and Constables for their respective townships and to appoint delegates to attend the county convention. It is suggested that all citizens who desire to affiliate with the Republican party in this campaign, and see to a good opposition county ticket in the field, be invited and requested to act as delegates from their respective townships to the county convention.

The time has come, when two well organized and active political parties in Pitt county is essential to the proper administration of public affairs and the preservation of the independence and rights of the people. Prominent speakers will address the convention,

EDITORIAL NOTES.

(By Occasional Contributor)

The general impression throughout the South will be that Nelson got just what he deserved at Goldfield for not drawing the color line in the fistic world.

H. G. Wells, the English novelist, says that draw poka is a dull game. This would indicate that Mr Wells had never experienced the suspense that ensues on waiting to see whether he has gotten something to fill a bob tail.

The Czar of Russia might save himself a good many sleepless nights by disguising himself as a member of the deceased Duma.

Hereafter in all probability bank depositors will take more stock in time locks than in revival meetings as a safeguard for their funds.

The vital statistics announce a striking increase in the number of suicides in Chicago. Easy remedy Don't live in Chicago.

About the only change that seems contemplated by the new rate law is that the courts will have to reverse the interstate commerce commissions findings instead of merely failing to confirm them.

From the past weeks hearings it would seem that the department of agriculture was not much stuck on the packers' old labels.

So long as a country is Chile, no wonder it suffers from shakes.

A tariff that must not be revised by its enemies and is not going to be revised by its friends, looks like something of a political fixture.

Secretary Shaw had better get a little more in touch with the vagaries of the grain exchange before he goes to electioneering in Kansas.

There is no indication that either of the political parties will have a barrel as even a part of their wardrobe in the present campaign.

Reports from Wisconsin seem to indicate that both parties are making a desperate effort to get all there is out of the La Follette election law before they repeal it.

Speaker Cannon is convinced that the tariff should be revised to the extent of dropping the final 'f.'

The chances are that in a week or so the president will do something else that will cause the people to forget that he ever championed mere spelling reform.

Chicken Snake is Found in Lady's Bureau Drawer

Tuesday afternoon Mrs. A. L. Jackson, of Grifton, having occasion to go in her bureau drawer for some linens upon removing the things with her hand uncovered a great big chicken snake that had crawled into the drawer and coiled up for a nap. The lady was badly frightened, of course, and her screams attracted others as the reptile was killed. Mr and Mrs. Jackson's home is a beautiful little cottage on a hill, in Grifton, which makes the snake's appearance there the more unusual.—Kinston Free Press.

GREENVILLE COTTON MARKET, REPORTED BY
J. B. & J. G. MOYE,
Middling 9 1-4

It's Dangerous!

To carry money around in your pockets.

When you sell your cotton and tobacco, you should leave the money with the National Bank, and take a check book.

When you pay an account with a check, the check acts as a receipt and can easily be traced.

When you have your money in the Bank you cannot be robbed of it on the highways.

It costs you nothing to carry a bank account, and it is certainly the cheapest and best insurance against loss of money.

We want your account, and will extend to you every accommodation consistent with Good Banking

The National Bank of Greenville,
Interest paid on time deposits.

Directions For Making Dill or Dutch Pickles.

Take a big stone jar that will hold at least four gallons, or a keg without a head. Select cucumbers from six to eight inches in length, wash and wipe carefully so as not to bruise. Add two pounds coarse salt to three gallons of water, boil and skim, replacing the water that evaporates so as to keep the same quantity. Put a layer of cucumbers in the bottom of the jar, with one small African red pepper, a bunch of dill seed in stalk and a layer of green grape leaves to cover. Proceed in this way until the vessel is filled. Then cover with a layer of cabbage leaves. On the very top put a good, big flat stone. Pour in the hot salt and water and let the vessel stand while a quiet fermentation takes place. In two or three weeks the cucumbers are done and should be transparent like amber, with a subacid flavor.

The Kitchen Sink.

Whether a kitchen sink be iron, enamel or stone it should stand on four legs with all its drainpipes exposed to full view. A very clever physician once said, "If I am called in to a case of diphtheria the first thing I look at is the kitchen sink." The danger arising from a badly kept sink cannot be exaggerated, nor can any degree of care in avoiding it be considered extreme. The waste pipe from a kitchen sink should have boiled water and ammonia or washing soda poured down it each day. At least once a week it should be treated to a dose of some good disinfectant, such as chloride of lime.

Apple Chutney.

Put into the preserving kettle one quart of vinegar, one cup of seeded raisins, two green peppers and two onions minced fine, rejecting the seeds of the peppers. Two cups of brown sugar and two tablespoonfuls each of mustard seed, ground, ginger and salt should then be added. Simmer two hours, then add sixteen tart green apples peeled and chopped and cook gently another hour. Put into small bottles and seal.

A New Window Screen.

It is said that a fly never walks downward. Acting on this hint, a clever housekeeper has devised a window screen designed to conduct all the flies out of doors. The screen is divided in two halves and the upper laps over the lower with an inch space between. A fly lights on the screen and travels upward till he walks outdoors. Not being able to walk down, he has no way of re-entering the room.

She is the sink of pretences. Girls be careful of your complexion. None should believe in "make up." Take Hillister's Rocky Mountain Tea; 'saves make up.' Tea or Tablets, 35 cents. Wooten's Drug Store.

Modest Claims Often Carry the Most Conviction

When Maxim, the famous gun inventor, placed his gun before a committee of judges, he stated its carrying power to be much below what he felt sure the gun would accomplish. The result of the trial was therefore a great surprise instead of disappointment. It is the same with the manufacturers of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. They do not publicly boast of all this remedy will accomplish, but prefer to let the users make the statements, what they do claim, is that it will positively cure diarrhoea, dysentery, pains in the stomach and bowels and has never been known to fail.
