RENSTON ITEMS.

RENSTON, N. C. Sep. 20, 1906—

Bancroft McGlohon and sister Miss Annie, spent Saturday and Sunday with relatives near Grifton.

Miss Lucy Belle Langston has been on the sick list for the past few days.

Miss Bessie Harris, of Ayden, is visiting Miss Allie Dail.

K. T. Langston and family, of Grainbers, spent Sunday with his brother, C. H. Langston.

J. A. Jarrell spent Saturday and Sunday with friends near Farmville.

Misses Kate Chapman and Hattie Kittrell, of Winterville, visited Miss Eva Langston Saturday and Sunday.

Jerome McLawhorn went to Greenville yesterday.

G. L. Carr, of Snow Hill, was in the neighborhood Tuesday.

Henry Langston and sister, Miss Eva, are away attending the F. W. B. T. S. of Ayden.

Exum Dail went to Snow Hill Monday and returned Tuesday.

Misses Hattie Sutton and Carrie Smith spent Saturday and Sunday with Misses Mary and Vesta Worthington.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Beaman, of Snow Hill, spent Sunday with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Eli Craft.

Haywood Jones, of Wharton, after spending a few days with his sister, Mrs. E. D. Braxton, has returned to his home.

Miss Maud Hollowall, who has been spending sometime with her aunt, Mrs. E. E. Dail, has returned to her home near Aurora.

Shoot at Negro.

Mr. T. L. Bland, proprietor of hotel Cutareil and Herbert Muhead, colored, were before the mayor Thursday. Mr. Bland had ordered Muhead to keep off his premises several times, as the latter had persuaded Mr. Bland's hotel help to leave him. Mr. Bland finally told him if he caught him on his premises again he would shoot him. Muhead again went on the premises and Mr. Bland proceeded to put his words into execution. He fired twice, but neither shot took effect. The mayor bound both parties over to court under a $75 bond each—Rocky Mount Record.

Will Move to Wilmington.

Dr. H. O. Hyatt will move from Goldsboro to Wilmington on Oct. 1st, to establish an office there. He has bought the record books of patients, practice and good will of Dr. W. C. Galloway, the eye, ear, nose and throat specialist, who will retire to his farm in Edgecomb county.

Universalist Convention.

The Universalist State Convention will convene in the Delphia Moyer Chapel, in our city, on the 5, 6 and 7th of October. The public is cordially invited to attend all the services. The Universalists desire us to say, they will appreciate assistance in entertaining the delegates. There will be about fifty of them. If you can help, phone to Mrs. W. M. King.

COLE BROTHERS CIRCUS.

Unsurpassed in the Show Line.

A very large crowd attended Cole Brothers' United Show in Greenville Thursday, and the verdict of all is that it was the cleanest and best circus that has been here. It does not seem possible that this aggregation of performers could be surpassed. The bareback riders, acrobats, tight wire artists, trapeze performers and trained animals were marvelous in their feats. There were a number of clowns and their capers was a source of constant amusement. The menagerie was large and some of the specimens very rare and valuable, and a finer lot of horses are never seen.

The system of handling such a circus is wonderful. It is managed strictly on business principles. There is a place for every man and each one is exactly in his place at the right time.

Mr. Mitchell, the press agent of the circus, is one of the cleverest of clever gentlemen. He not only calls on the newspaper people and extends them every courtesy, but takes pleasure in showing them around and explaining interesting points in the handling of the great show.

With such a record as Cole Brothers are making everybody will want to see their circus if they come this way another season.

More Courtship After Marriage

Some men seem to consider their marriage certificate as a sort of fully paid-up policy of happiness. They act as if the courtship days were those of paying premiums of compliment, cheerfulness, courtesy, consideration and chivalry, and that marriage cuts off all these premiums of lover-like attention. The only way to get an absolutely guaranteed insurance on matrimony is to keep paying the premiums. Many first-class matrimonial policies lapse just because of these suspended payments.

There is a tendency to assume that this love is known and recognized, so why of it? This is a dangerous taking for granted of what should be made real, pulsing and vital in thought, word and deed. There is little danger of over-telling this story; it is often the wine of life and inspiration to one hungering and thirsting for the little tenderness of affection. There are more people on this great, big, rolling earth hungering for sweetness, tenderness, and words of appreciation, genial confidence and generous affection than are starving for bread. With husband and wife the delicate messengers of affection cost so little—but it is the thought that is all.

Continued courtship after marriage preserves the lover in the husband and the sweetheart in the wife. But courtship is not so rare; like a quarrel, it requires two to make it a success. It is not the wife alone who needs the gracious sweetness of concentrated comradeship, for husbands who are built on the right lines have the same hunger for loving kindness and kindly loving.

Courtship is a vessel of promise that is often wrecked on the shoals

AYDEN ITEMS.

Newsy Notes From a hustling Town.

Ayden, N. C. Sept. 21, 1906

D. S. Moore and Elmer Gardner have returned from where they have been.

Miss Helen Quinerly is attending the present session of St. Mary's at Raleigh.

We are in attendance upon court in Greenville and if we are a little short in our items, please don't think us altogether short. If this judge ever lets us off will tell you all about it. This courting business has always been a darn short thing with us, but we are afraid the present case is an exception to the rule, anyway it ain't the kind of courting we are used to.

We are glad to note many of our farmers will have their cotton, corn and fodder as a clear surplus of this year's product owing to the fine prices received for their tobacco crop. Then surely under these conditions they can hold their cotton for any reasonable price.

Miss Lena Denton, of Greene county, came over Tuesday and left here on the morning train to attend Littleton Female college.

R. H. Garris came home from Washington Wednesday where he had been to visit his sister, who is very sick. He reports her condition rather serious.

Misses Cora Long and Pauline Burnett, of Oak City, are visiting Mrs. O. C. Noble.

Mrs. J. N. Alexander and children left this week to visit relatives at Ahsokie.

Signs of Deterioration of Character.

When you are satisfied with mediocrity.

When commonness doesn't trouble you.

When you do not feel troubled by a poor day's work, or when a slighted job doesn't hurt you as it once did.

When you are satisfied to do a thing "just for now," expecting to do it better later.

When you can work untroubled in the midst of confused, systemless surroundings which you might remedy.

When you can listen without a protest to indecent stories.

When your ambition begins to cool, and you no longer demand the same standard of excellence that you once did.

When you do not make a confident of your mother, as you once did, or are ill at ease with her.

When you begin to think your father is an old fogey.

When you begin to associate with people whom you would not think of taking to your home, and whom you would not want the members of your family to know that you know.—Selected.

After missing sales a day for the circus, the tobacco warehouses had about all they could handle today.

of matrimony. Courtship means two mates without a captain; marriage sometimes becomes two captains without a mate.—From the October Delineator

SUPERIOR COURT.

September Term in Session.

The following cases have been disposed of since last report:

John Lewis Williams, assault with deadly weapon, guilty.

Ed Avery, assault, pleads guilty, judgment suspended.

Ed Weathington, burglary, pleads guilty.

Dock Daniel, assault with deadly weapon, pleads guilty, sentenced to jail 3 months to be assigned to roads.

Jedro Miller, carrying concealed weapon, pleads guilty, sentenced 4 months in jail to be assigned to roads.

Josh Williams, assault with deadly weapon, pleads guilty sentenced to jail 3 months to be assigned to roads.

Bill Phillips, larceny pleads guilty.

Laura Murphy, larceny, guilty, sentenced 60 days in jail.

W. G. Lyman and Eddie Barnhill, affray, plead guilty.

James Taylor, assault with deadly weapon, pleads guilty, sentenced to jail 6 months to be assigned to roads. In another case judgment was suspended during good behavior.

Dink Hedgepeth, larceny, guilty, sentenced to jail 4 months to be assigned to roads.

Spicer Brimmage, assault with deadly weapon, pleads guilty, sentenced 2 years in jail to be assigned to road. In three other cases against him judgment was suspended during good behavior.

William Rives, assault on high way, guilty of simple assault.

Sylvester Vause, peddling without license pleads guilty, fined $25 and cost.

T. B. Cherry, assault, pleads guilty, sentenced to jail 6 months to be assigned to roads.

THE WEATHER.

Fair tonight and Saturday, except showers Saturday in western portion.

This is the day after.

Red Men meet tonight.

Last night was as hot as July.

Days and nights now of equal length.

According to the almanac summer ends today.

If you missed the circus there is another one coming.

There was very good order on circus day.

The weather will change first thing you know. Getting time of year for it to do so.

Elder Sylvester Hassell, of Williamston, will preach in the Delphia Moyer chapel here on Sunday night.

Court is moving along briskly on the jail cases and small offenses. The white cap case will be taken up Monday.

The dispensary receipts were about $675 on circus day, but with that much whiskey afloat there was very little drunkenness.

PERSONAL MENTION.

Of Those Coming and Going

Edgar Beck has returned from Petersburg.

Miss Fannie Moore left Thursday for Greensboro.

G. W. Cox has moved his family here from Ayden and occupied the Sutton house.

Miss Annie Harris, of Washington, D. C., who was visiting Misses Lillian Carr and Sophia Jarvis, left this morning.

Mrs. F. G. Whaley, of Shermardine, was here Thursday returning home from a visit to Miss Sallie Cotten at Cottontale.

The Union Conference was held at Bethany last week, and quite a number from many points in North Carolina were present.

STATUE TO MEMORY OF WIVER

Governor Glenn Requested to Inaugurate This Movement.

Greensboro, N. C., Sept. 19.—The following address to the people of North Carolina was issued today:

To the people of North Carolina: Charles Duncan Melver, foremost in many things that make up for the upbuilding of our State, has finished his work. He has given himself to us, and his unselfish life will long be an inspiration to our children. In view of all that he has done, and all that he has been to us, we believe that a grateful people should take immediate action to perpetuate his memory. Let us cast in bronze his noble form and face, and let his statue keep guard over the institution which he brought into being and made great.

We respectfully request the governor of the state to appoint a committee to take in charge plans for the making and creation of such a statue, and we request the newspapers to receive and acknowledge subscriptions to a fund to be raised for this purpose.

The Kiss.

A kiss is a peculiar proposition. Of no use to one, yet absolute bliss to two. The small boy gets it for nothing, the young man has to steal it and the old man has to buy it. The baby's right, the lover's privilege, the hypocrite's mask. To a young girl, faith to a married woman, hope, and to an old maid, charity.

County Canvass.

The county canvass will begin early in October. The campaign will be short but interesting. Several men of State reputation will speak in this county.

Saved His Comrades Life.

"While returning from the Grand Army encampment at Washington City, a comrade from Elgin, Ill., was taken with Cholera Morbus and was in a critical condition." says Mr. J. E. Houghland, of Eldon, Iowa. I gave him Chamberlain's Colic Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy and believe saved his life. I have been engaged ten years in immigration work and conducted many parties to the south and west. I always carry this remedy and have used it successfully on many occasions. Sold by J. L. Wooten.

Summer Diarrhoea in Children.

During the hot weather of the summer months the first unnatural looseness of a child's bowels should have immediate attention, so as to check the disease before it becomes serious. All that is necessary is a few doses of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy followed by a dose of castor oil to cleanse the system. Rev. M. H. Stockland, pastor of the First M. E. Church, Little Falls, Minn., writes: "We have used Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy for several years and find it a very valuable remedy, especially for summer disorders in children." Why Certain Beasts and Birds Are More Clever Than Others.

Why do you suppose squirrels, elephants, parrots, monkeys and opossums are clever? They certainly are not much alike, but there is one power they all have that most animals have not. It sounds rather like the old riddle: "Why is an oyster like a cow? Because neither of them can climb a tree." But this isn't meant to be a riddle. There really is one great power that all these animals have. It is the grasping power. Elephants can pick things up with their trunks and feel the shape, parrots grasp with their claws, monkeys with their hands, feet and tails, opossums with their hind feet and tails and squirrels with their paws. And so all these animals who have not, like dogs and horses, had the advantage of living with men, have nevertheless grown wise in the woods and jungles.

Water In Grinding.

Why is water used on a grindstone in sharpening a knife? That is one of the questions asked on the porch of a summer hotel recently, and, although several well informed men and women were in the little gathering, the only one who could answer it satisfactorily was a fifteen-year-old schoolboy. Here is the explanation he gave: The object in using water is to secure a better contact of the blade with the stone, so that the entire edge of the blade may be smoothly sharpened. The application of water not only fills the little spaces between the particles of stone, but it softens them and thus makes a smoother surface. If a dry stone were used, the edge of the blade would be rough, for the friction would be unequal.

Romenyi's Route.

On one of his early concert tours of the west, before the famous violinist, Eduard Romenyi, was thoroughly familiar with the railway routes of the United States, he inquired in Chicago concerning the best way to reach a town in Illinois. "C. B. and Q.," replied the hotel clerk without looking up.

Romenyi was quite dazed. But, says the contributor of the story to the memoir of the violinist, his sense of fun carried him through. "Ah!" he said gravely. "Then I will go D. A. T."

It was the clerk's turn to be puzzled.

"What does that mean?" he said, looking up this time.

"Well, what did you mean?" demanded Romenyi.

"Chicago, Burlington and Quincy, of course."

"Ah! I meant day after tomorrow."

Sermon Stealers.

"Sermon stealers," said a minister, "ought to be careful. They ought to read over several times the sermons that they steal before delivering them."

"I know a young man of twenty-one or twenty-two who preached a stolen sermon he had not read over, and in a most impressive part he found himself declaiming, 'My friends, when I first came among you more than forty years ago these thin, white locks were thick and brown and this bent back, etc.'"

"Another sermon stealer, preaching in a village of about 100 souls, said, before he could check himself, 'In the teeming streets of this great metropolis.'"—London Mail.

Mark Twain's Best.

After Mark Twain had spoken for half an hour or more at one of his lectures years ago, says the Boston Record, he concluded to take a brief rest, and without a word of explanation he stopped talking and sat down. The audience hardly knew what to do. After awhile some one more bold than the rest got up, strode down the aisle and went out. Some one else followed, and in a few minutes the hall was empty. "Very good lecture, Mr. Clemens," said a local dignitary, who was trying to be polite. "You mean the first half of it," was the reply. "The second half has not been delivered." "Not delivered?" almost shrieked the local dignitary. "No," said Twain, his composure not in the least disturbed, while the usual merry twinkle was seen in his eye, "but we have the money for the whole, and I don't see why we need to worry if they only take

ORIGIN OF WEDDING CAKE.

Roman Maidens Carried Three Ears of Wheat to the Altar.

When in ancient or imperial Rome a maiden was wedded according to confratration she always carried three ears of wheat in her hand, while over her head was broken a simple cake of far and mola salsa as a presage of plenty and an ample abundance of the good things of life.

In this primitive custom, then,
we see the germ from which grew the elaborate plum loaves and daintily ribbioned boxes of luscious richness that form so conspicuous a feature of our marriage feasts today.

The bridal wreath of an early English bride was likewise fashioned of bearded (and sometimes gilded) wheaten spikes, while on her return from church corn and other cereals were showered upon her and then carefully gathered up and consumed by the wedding guests. In this also we recognize a rude ancestor of a modern fashion—that of sending a newly married pair off in a small blizzard of hard, snowy rice.

In the course of time, however,
the golden grain was ground and
made into large, thin, dry biscuits, which were gayly shattered above
the blushing maid's flowing locks and then distributed among the bystanders. To this day, too, in some portions of highland Scotland it is still customary for the best man and first bridesmaid to break an oatmeal cake over a young wife as she crosses the threshold of the first house entered after the marriage ceremony.
This bannock is then partaken of by all the assembled friends and washed down with the Scotch whisky in which they drink the health of the bride and bridegroom and of their respective clans.—Lippincott's

GREENVILLE, N. C.

COUNTY CONVENTION

By direction of the Republican County Executive Committee for Pitt county, a convention of the people of Pitt county is hereby called to assemble in the court house in Greenville Saturday Sept.
15th, 1906 at 12 o'clock for the purpose of nominating candidates for the various county offices and to transact such other business as may come before the convention.

The time has come, when two well organized and active political parties in Pitt county is essential to the proper administration of public affairs and the preservation of the independence and rights of the people. Prominent speakers will address the convention,

R. C. Flanagan,
Chm. Rep. Ex. Com.
W. E. Murphrey, Sec.

STATE OF NORTH CAROLINA,
Department of State.

CERTIFICATE OF DISSOLUTION.
To All to Whom These Presents May Come—
Greeting:

Whereas, It appears to my satisfaction, by duly authenticated record of the proceedings for the voluntary dissolution thereof of the unanimous consent of all the stockholders, deposited in my office, that The National Salvage Company, a corporation of this State, whose principal office is situated in the town of Greenville, County of Pitt, State of North Carolina, (Charles T. Munford being the agent therein and in charge thereof, upon whom process may be served), has complied with the requirements of Chapter 21, Revisal of 1905, entitled "Corporations," preliminary to the issuing of this Certificate of Dissolution.

Now, Therefore, I, J. Bryan Grimes, Secretary of the State of North Carolina, do hereby certify that the said corporation did, on the 9th day of August, 1906, file in my office duly executed and attested consent in writing to the dissolution of said corporation executed by all the stockholders thereof, which said consent and the record of the proceedings aforesaid are now on file in my sale office as provided by law.
In Testimony Whereof, I have hereto set my hand and affixed my official seal, at Raleigh, this 9th day of August A. D. 1906.
[Seal] J. Bryan Grimes,
aug. 14 Secretary of State.

NOTICE TO CREDITORS

Having qualified before the Superior Court Clerk of Pitt county as administrator of the estate of H. G. Nobles, deceased, notice is hereby given to all persons indebted to the estate to make immediate payment to the undersigned, and all persons having claims against said estate must present the same to the undersigned on or before the 25th day of August 1906, or this notice will be plead in bar of recovery.

This 25th day of August 1906.
W. L. NOBLES,
Admin. of H. G. NOBLES.

Greenville has had an electric light system in operation for nearly a year and a half. It is a good system and the wires are located conveniently around the depot, yet it is noticeable, and people have frequently been heard to speak about it, that the Atlantic Coast Line continues to use old smoky lamps in the waiting rooms instead of putting in electric lights. If some of the officials of the road could be here these evenings when trains are behind time, notice how late the lamps are lighted and that they look about like lightwood torches when lighted, they would be convinced that the passengers waiting around the depot are entitled to something better. The railroad should be public spirited enough to put electric lights in the depot.

THE COOK! THE COOKS!

Leaving out Hon. William Jennings Bryan and his idea of government ownership of railroads and the price of cotton, we believe the cook question comes in for more discussion than any other. In the social circle, at the front gate, on the trains, in the newspapers and almost everywhere, people are discussing cooks. It seems that those who employ cooks are in constant dread of losing them, and it is reported from various quarters that the cooks have formed some sort of a league, or society, prescribing how they shall treat their employes—that they will not go before certain hours in the morning, and will bear an attitude of perfect independence if the employers have anything to say about their coming late. All of which impresses the employers of cooks that they are at the mercy of the cooks, and must say nothing or be prepared to roll up their sleeves and do some kitchen turns themselves. But why keep agitating this question so much unless you can remedy it? What good would it do to send all your neighbors word that you have a painful "bone felon" on your finger? Better send for the doctor and have your finger lanced. Then why not the housekeepers hold a convention to handle this cook question?—Scotland Neck Commonwealth.

This is the idea exactly. Just why housepeepers will submit to this trouble, take all the time out in complaining and do nothing to remedy it, is what puzzles most. Of course the cooks are organized, and most of them come and go at will and do about as they please. If the housepeepers and property owners (those who have houses for rent to colored people) and the employers of colored labor would do a little organizing in their own interest, the whole trouble could be stopped inside of a week, and this thing of cooks walking out of their jobs without notice would be at an end.

Seaside Seamen.

Bitter complaint is made by a French naval journal because the modern training of French naval officers and seamen does not sufficient by habituate them to the sea. On the voyage of the Jaureguiberry from Toulon to Brest that battleship had to lose a steam in the bay of Biscay when it penetrated no fewer than 700 holes and a large number of officers. In the Russian fleet at the battle of the Japan sea there was a similar state of affairs. It is urged, that there be more cruising at sea in all weathers and a period of some years' service in torpedo craft for officers, with the object of giving the personnel of the French navy its sea legs.

She Had to Apologize.

This from Berlin: A well known woman Socialist agitator, Frau Tietz, recently visited the adjacent town of Kopenick, a place known as "Berlin's wash kitchen," on account of its numerous laundries. At a public meeting there, mainly attended by washerwomen, Frau Tietz stigmatized laundry owners as "pashas." This remark, with all it meant, was regarded as libelous by the owners, who took action against the lady, and she was condemned to eight months' imprisonment. Frau Tietz, to escape punishment, has agreed to insert an apology in the press to the effect that the laundry owners are not pashas.

An Unbiased Judge.

A professor in a western university one day while walking with a friend in San Francisco became involved in an argument as to which was the handsomer man of the two. Not being able to arrive at a settlement of the question, they agreed in a spirit of fun to leave it to the decision of a Chinaman who was seen approaching them. The matter being laid before him, the oriental considered long and carefully then he announced in a tone of finality, "Both are worse."

A Natural Question.

The young hopeful had just returned from the Sunday school and his mother was busy catechising him on the afternoon's lesson. "You know, mother," he exclaimed, "don't believe Solomon was as rich as they make out."
"But, darling," expostulated the fond parent in pious horror, "you know what the Bible says?"
"Yes, I know it says 'Solomon slept with his fathers.' If he were so rich, why didn't he have a bed to himself?"

A LIQUID GOLD CURE
—AND—
LAXATIVE COUGH SYRUP

The Red Clover Blossom and the Honey Bee on Every Bottle.

"A Cold or a Cough nearly always produces constipation—the water all runs to the eyes, nose and throat instead of passing out of the system through the liver and kidneys. For the want of moisture the bowels become dry and hard." Nearly all other cough cures are constipating, especially those containing Opium. Kennedy's Laxative Honey and Tar moves the bowels, contains no Opium.

LAXATIVE
HONEY AND TAR

Relieves Colds by working them out of the system through a copious action of the bowels.
Relieves Coughs by cleansing and strengthening the mucous membranes of the throat, chest, lungs and bronchial tubes.
For Croup, Whooping Cough, La Grippe, Influenza, Bronchitis, and all Coughs, Colds, Lung and Bronchial affections no remedy is equal to Kennedy's Laxative Honey and Tar. Children like it.

OLD FASHIONED FOLKS.

The Kind of People One Hardly Ever Meets Nowadays.

What has become of the old-fashioned man who carried a shot bag in his pocket to keep change in?

Who wore barn door trousers?

Who kept a bootjack to pull off his boots?

Who had his trousers lined with unbleached muslin?

Who wore a long linen duster when traveling?

Who carried an old flat carpet-bag?

Who greased his boots on Sun Day?

Who wore a shawl?

Who wore a watch cord with watch key-fastened to it?

What has become of the old-fashioned woman who kept a bodkin in her workbasket?

Who baked custard for tea when she had company?

Who made impressions around the edges of pies with a key to make them look fancy?

Who wore calico sunbonnets with pasteboard slats?

Who wore Shaker bonnets?

Who seasoned apple pie with all-spice?

Who used indigo to blue the water when washing clothes?

What has become of the old-fashioned people who poured tea in the saucer and blew on it to make it cool?

Who drink sassafras tea in the spring to purify their blood?

Who had to learn to like tomatoes?

Who saved old rags to trade off to the tinware peddler?

What has become of the old-fashioned novelist who always described heroines as having dark auburn ringlets hanging down their alabaster necks?

Of the old fashioned elocutionist who read "Widow Bedot Papers" at entertainments?

Of the old fashioned little girls who wore long nankin pantalets?

Of the old fashioned woman who gave catnip tea to babies?

Of the old fashioned young men who greased their hair with bear's oil scented with bergamot?—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

Some Big Families.

The record in family numbers is believed to belong to Scotland. It is that of a Scotch weaver in the seventeenth century, whose wife bore him sixty-two children. Only twelve died in childhood, forty-six sons and four daughters living to be twenty-one and upward. This almost incredible record is said to be fully and absolutely authenticated. Sir John Bowes and three other gentlemen each adopted and reared ten of this prodigious family.

The Latest Arithmetic.

A tramp hires out to a farmer for $14 per month. He gets a boss dinner, works for an hour and then skips out. Counting the dinner worth 30 cents, did he make or lose? Counting the three bites he got from the farmer's dog while making his skate at 20 cents a bite, was the dog, the farmer or the tramp ahead?

A father pays $260 to educate his daughter in music, $50 to enable her to say "good day" in French, $150 to give her lessons in painting and $100 to teach her how to dance. She then marries a young man getting a salary of $9 per week. How much will she save by doing her own kitchen work for the next five years, paying herself at the rate of $3 per week?

It takes twenty blows of a hammer in the hands of a woman to drive a tenpenny nail one inch, and she misses the nail three times where she hits it once. In striking 500 blows, how far in is the nail driven and how far can she be heard when she strikes her thumb instead of the nail?—Chicago News.

A Wily Answer.

Sir Acquin Martin was at the head of a firm of civil engineers in Calcutta, a post which eventually led to a business trip to Kabul and to an intimate friendship with the late Ameer Abdurrahman. His highness, who had a low opinion of the truthfulness of the average man and woman, was greatly impressed by the Englishman's frank manners. "Did I ever tell you a lie?" Sir Acquin once asked the ameer. The potentate rolled his eyes and replied, "I never found you out in one."—London Tit-Bits.

ANIMALS' ILLUSIONS.

The Horse a Prey to the Terrors of Imagination.

Birds are perhaps more commonly the victims of illusions than other animals, their stupidity about their eggs being quite remarkable. On one occasion, for instance, a hen got into the pavilion of a ladies' golf club and began to sit on a golf ball in a corner, for which it made a nest with a couple of pocket handkerchiefs. But many quadrupeds are not only deceived for the moment by reflections, shadows and such unrealities, but often seem victims to illusions largely developed by the imagination.

The horse, for instance, is one of the bravest of animals when face to face with dangers which it can understand, such as the charge of an elephant or a wild boar at bay. Yet the courageous and devoted horse, so steadfast against the dangers he knows, is a prey to a hundred terrors of the imagination due to illusions, mainly those of sight, for shying, the minor effect of these illusions, and "bolting," in which panic gains complete possession of his soul, are caused, as a rule, by mistakes as to what the horse sees and not by misinterpretation of what he hears. It is noticed, for instance, that many horses which shy usually start away from objects on one side more frequently than from objects on the other. This is probably due to defects in the vision of one or other eye.

In nearly all cases of shying the horse takes fright at some unfamiliar object, though this is commonly quite harmless, such as a wheelbarrow upside down, a freshly felled log or a piece of paper rolling before the wind. This instantly becomes an illusion, is interpreted as something else, and it is a curious question in equine neuropathy to know what it is that the horse figures these harmless objects to be. When Russian ponies first began to be shipped to England they usually objected to pass near a donkey. This reluctance was explained on the hypothesis that the ponies seldom saw donkeys in Russia and mistook them for bears.—London Spectator.

Mr. Whyte and Mr. Gorman.

In the summer of 1871 Mr. Whyte, the new senator from Maryland, then senator and Democratic state leader, was seated in his law office in Lexington street, between Courtland and Calvert. A slender young man, slightly above medium height, with a pale, intellectual face, long, straight black hair and large, keen blue eyes, entered the room where the senator and party leader was examining a law report and, with a winning smile and putting out his hand, said:

"Senator Whyte, I have come in to say that I am favorable to your nomination for governor. I am Arthur Gorman of Howard county."

Although he had heard of him as a rising young Democrat, it was Mr. Whyte's first meeting with the late Senator Gorman.

When the legislature of 1872 convened the county leaders went to Governor Whyte, who had just been inaugurated, for advice as to the election of the speaker of the house of delegates. With characteristic decision and discernment the governor said:

"Why, you have just the man for the place."

"Who?" the then "state crowd" asked in chorus.

"Young Gorman of Howard," answered Governor Whyte, whose word was law, and Mr. Gorman became the speaker.—Baltimore Sun.

Unfortunate.

A certain merchant of Baltimore, who is well known for his philanthropic spirit, was approached one day by an Irishman, formerly in his employ, who made a touching appeal for financial assistance. Said he:

"I trust, sor, that ye'll find it convenient to help a poor man whose house an' everything in it burned down last week, sor."

The merchant, although he gives with a free hand, exercises considerable caution in his philanthropy, so he asked:

"Have you any papers or certificates to show that you have lost everything by fire, as you say?"

The Irishman scratched his head as if bewildered. Finally he replied:

"I did have a certificate to that effect, sor, signed before a notary, but unfortunately, sor, it was burned up with the rest of me effects!"

AROUND THE WORLD ON FOOT

Nicholas Georgis is a Roumanian traveler now in Africa, who is going around the world on foot. He carries a book signed by the various dignitaries of the places through which he has passed, and among others are portions in Arabic, Greek, Abyssinian—one page written by the Emperor Menelik, with whom he dined—besides numerous European languages. The traveler made his way through the Sahara desert, carrying eighty pounds of water on his back, and when this was exhausted he had to exist for many days upon roots alone. On the Sudan-Abyssinian boundary he was pursued by three lions and kept up a tree for three days, while farther back, at Nhamdiéh, through mistaking the White and Blue Nile, he lost his way and was attacked by cannibal pygmies. In the Sudan he found the sun's heat so unbearable that he traveled only at night, while during the day he lay with his water bags in a pit.

An Unlucky Bungle.

On the 21st of December, 1885, Admiral Dundas gave up the command of the fleet and returned to England. He was succeeded by Admiral Lyons, between whom and Dundas a signal parting took place which will long be remembered as a standing joke in the navy.

As Admiral Dundas left the fleet at Kamiesch the crews of both English and French ships manned the yards and gave him a parting cheer. At the same moment, by the desire of Dundas, a signal was run up to Sir E. Lyons on board the Agamemnon, "May success attend you," to which Sir E. Lyons ordered to be hoisted in reply, "May happiness await you."

But though in real life hangings and happiness are generally considered to have no very close connection, yet in the signal code they are very much alike. Unfortunately, in the hurry to reply to Admiral Dundas, the flag for the former instead of the latter word was hoisted, and what was worse the stupid blunder was not discovered and hauled down till the whole fleet had seen and read it.—Pearson's Weekly.

A Good Excuse.

An officer of a certain regiment was one morning inspecting his company on parade when he came to an Irishman who had evidently not shaved for some days. Halting in front of the man, he said, "Doyle, how is it you have not shaved this morning?"

"Oi have, sorr," was the reply.

"How dare you tell me that," said the officer, "with a beard on you like that?"

"Well, sorr," said Paddy, "it's loike this: There's only one shaving glass in our room, and there was nine of us shaving at the same time, and maybe Oi shaved some other chap's face."—Pearson's Weekly.

A Step Saver.

When Mrs. Flatleigh chose the refrigerator with the mirror in the front door of it Flatleigh laughed.

"Of course," exclaimed Mrs. Flatleigh, bridling at once, "a man has no interest in saving his wife's steps."

"Steps, my?"

"But possibly he can appreciate the advantage of her being able to get dinner half again quicker through not having to run to some other part of the house every time she wonders how her hair is looking or her apron behind or something!"

Making a Name For Himself.

A New York business man says that he once had in his employ as office boy a lad named Magillicuddy. Naturally enough, this youngster received so many joking references about his name from his fellow employees that he became extremely dissatisfied with it. So when he applied for a place under another employer in the building he evidently decided to bestow a new name upon himself. When the man to whom he applied asked him his name the boy replied:

"Robert Recapitulation."

"That's an odd name," said the man after having the lad repeat it several times.

The boy looked surprised.

"Haven't you heard of General Recapitulation?" asked he.

"No."

"Why, his name is in all the reports in Mr. Blank's office."—Woman's Home Companion.

OLD STREET CRIES.

The Din That Deafened London in Days of Long Ago.

Somewhere about a score of years ago there was published in London a tiny volume of most unusual interest to students of old time manners and customs. It was called "Old London Street Cries" and contained several hundred familiar calls, beginning with the middle of the fifteenth century, in which, as in a mirror, one can see reflected the life of the common people through the years—what they ate and drank and wore, their furniture and amusements, the toys their children played with and their luxuries, long since become commonest necessities.

A walk through London streets in those days must have been a veritable running of the gantlet. A few specimens of the calls which besieged the traveler's ears will suffice.

"Buy my dish of great eels!" "Buy a fine singing bird!" "Buy my wax or wafers!" "Hot baked worderns (stewed pears)!" "Knives or scissors to grind!" "Buy my four ropes of onions!" "Buy a footstool!" "Ribbons a groat a yard!" "Buy a horn book!" "Songs, three yards a penny!" "Holly and mistletoe!" "London's Gazette here!" "Buy my nice drops, twenty a penny, peppermint drops!" "Troop every one (toy hobby horses)!" "Three rows a penny pins, short whites and middle-ings!"

Nor were the eager merchants content with verbal solicitation. The bewildered wayfarer was often so "pull-hauled" by one after another that resistance must have been well nigh impossible.

But times change and street life with them. A generation ago a few lineal descendants of the old London hucksters called up and down our streets. Now the rags and bottle men have disappeared, the "cissars grinder" merely rings a bell, venders of fruit and vegetables have been silenced by law in many cities, and save for the sidewalk toys and the holly and mistletoe of Christmas time the newsboy is sole intertor of all the street cries.

Less picturesque? Possibly. But one has only to spend an hour among the fakirs of a country fair to realize that even the strenuous life of the twentieth century has its advantages.

"Tay Pay."

There is no more general favorite in the house of commons than T. P. O'Connor, who, although severe in public speech, is essentially good natured and friendly in private life. "T. P." is as familiar with the Troy aristocrat as with the representative of labor. He chats with Mr. Balfour and he links arms with the prime minister. In fact he is on terms of friendship and intimacy with every fellow member of the house except one—Joseph Chamberlain, whom he once denounced as Judas for having, apparently at least, betrayed the Irish members in connection with certain legislation.

A Flexible Future.

Marshall P. Wilder tells of a young man in Wilkesbarre who had aspirations to the hand of a daughter of one of the wealthiest men in that place. Recently the hopeful one had an interview with the father for the purpose of laying the matter before him.

"Well," growled the old man, "what I most desire to know is what preparation have you made for the future."

"Oh," exclaimed the suitor in a confident and obliging tone, "I am a Presbyterian, but if that denomination doesn't meet with your approval I am quite willing to change."—Harper's Weekly.

The Perfect Lover.

Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt, the famous woman's rights leader, said of an untautful motion at a woman's club:

"This motion, in its delicacy, reminds me of a Ripon man."

"The man got married, and after he had been married several years his wife said to him one night:

"You do not speak as affectionately to me as you used to, Hal. I fear you have ceased to love me."

"Ceased to love you!" growled the man. "There you go again. Ceased to love you! Why, I love you more than life itself. Now shut up and let me read the paper!"—Philadelphia Bulletin.

PECULIAR BURIALS.

Odd Funeral Customs of the Eskimos of Labrador.

Labrador's dreary waste is peopled, generally speaking, by a few scattered tribes of Montagnais Indians, while its seaboard in the north is occupied by about 3,000 Eskimos. Each race has its peculiar burial customs, interesting if awesome. When a member of a community dies the Eskimos carry the body to the top of a hill near their settlement and there lay it, in a sitting posture, on the surface of the hard, stony ground. Heavy stones are piled about it in the form of a cairn, completely covering it so that the wolves and bears may be unable to disturb the body. The male is buried with his weapons of the chase and the female with her domestic implements. After years, when the action of summer suns and winter snows has broken down the mound of stones, it is not uncommon for other natives to help themselves to the stone lamps, flint and ivory arrow and lance heads and other articles of value to them which are found lying beside the bodies. But in every case some substitute, even if less valuable, is placed there instead of what has been removed.

It is the idea of the pagan Eskimos that, though the spirit of the dead person has reached the other world and no longer needs the articles, the ghosts who attended on him in life have to be propitiated by keeping up the number of articles originally placed in the grave, even if the material of these is departed from. The Moravian missionaries humor the natives whom they have Christianized by practicing this habit of substitution, and a favorable article to place in the graves is a rusty razor. Many years ago some admirer of the mission sent out an enormous quantity of razors in the belief that they were in general use. But the last thing one would contemplate doing on this coast in winter would be to use a razor. As no other use could be found for the razors, they have been devoted to this peculiar purpose, and so it is common to see in every Eskimo grave that has been opened an appliance which no old time Eskimo ever

Eddie Foy, besides being renowned as a comedian, is celebrated in Larchmont, his home, for the number and precocity of his children. A few days ago his third, a boy of seven, wanted to go down to New York city to a matinee with his father. He pleaded hard and clung to the paternal coat tails so persistently that Foy nearly lost his train.

"No, you can't go today," said the funny man, finally breaking away and sprinting for the station.

"Boo-hoo!" cried young Foy after his father, and then, brightening up, he shouted:

"Well, anyhow, give my regards to Broadway!"

George M. Cohan sent the youngster a bicycle next day.

Bargain Instinct.

She would have declared strenuously that she did not have the feminine bargain mania, but—

"George," she asked in the sweet way a woman always opens an argument, "how much did you have to pay for the marriage license?"

"Two dollars," he replied.

"Two dollars!" she repeated thoughtfully. "Couldn't you get them three for five?"

Then when he asserted that he was no Mormon she woke up and blushed and tried to explain and only made things a little worse.—Judge.

Modest Claims Often Carry the Most Conviction.

When Maxim, the famous gun inventor, placed his gun before a committee of judges, he stated its carrying power to be much below what he felt sure the gun would accomplish. The result of the trial was therefore a great surprise instead of disappointment. It is the same with the manufacturers of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. They do not publicly boast of all this remedy will accomplish, but prefer to let the users make the statements. What they do claim, is that it will positively cure diarrhoea, dysentery, pains in the stomach and bowels and has never been known to fail. For sale by J.L. Wooten.

affected the Verdict.
"You see, gentlemen," said the counsel for the defendant complacently—it was a compensation case
—"I have got the plaintiff into a very nice dilemma. If he went there seeing that the place was dangerous, there was contributory negligence, and, as his lordship will tell you, he can't recover. If he did not see it was dangerous, neither could my client have seen it, and there was no negligence on his part. In either case I am entitled to your verdict." The jury retired. "Well, gentlemen," said the foreman, "I think we must give him £300." All agreed except a stout, ruddy gentleman in the corner, who cried hoarsely, "Give him another £50, gemmen, for getting into the dilemma!" Verdict accordingly.—London Graphic.

The First Pins.

Thorns were originally used in fastening garments together. Pins did not immediately succeed thorns as fasteners, but different appliances were used, such as hooks, buckles and laces. It was the latter half of the fifteenth century before pins were used in Great Britain.
When first manufactured in England the iron wire, of the proper length, was filed to a point and the other extremity twisted into a head.
This was a slow process, and 400 or 500 pins was a good day's work for an expert hand.
