TEACHERS' MEETING.

Last Saturday's Gathering a Grand Success.

Reported for Reflector:

All the forces of nature seemed to combine for the success of the Teachers' Association last Saturday. A clear, cool morning, good roads, and bright sunshine made possible for nearly every teacher of this county, besides many ex-teachers and visitors, to be present at one of the best, most inspiring meetings the association has ever held. The influence of this good meeting can not but be felt throughout the whole year. One hundred and forty persons were present, and all felt that it was good to be there.

At half past ten o'clock the meeting was called to order by the president, Prof. J. A. McIver. Rev. J. A. Hornaday conducted the devotional exercises, reading the nineteenth Psalm and leading in prayer.

The program that followed was varied and very interesting. Prof. Ragsdale, in his kindly, helpful way, addressed the audience, offering congratulations on the large attendance, and speaking hopefully of the future.

A committee was appointed to retire to select nominations for the various offices.

Prof. H. B. Smith discussed methods of teaching geography, and gave many useful suggestions. He exhibited a large globe that he had made, and gave instructions as to how a similar one may be constructed.

The committee then returned and nominated the following, who were unanimously elected: President, Prof. J. A. McArthur; vice president, Prof. F. C. Nye; secretary, Miss Florence Felton. Better judgment could not have been shown in the selection of officers. Under their wise supervision, and that of the energetic, faithful county superintendent, the association hopes to achieve greater success than ever before.

The illness of Gov. T. J. Jarvis prevented his taking part on the program, much to the regret of every one present. His address on the great subject, "The Teachers' Opportunities This Year," has been postponed until the November meeting. An address on a subject of such vital importance from as able a man can not fail to benefit all who hear it.

Miss Betty Wright completely won the enthusiastic admiration of the audience by her excellent paper on "How We May Make Our Schools Attractive." The spirit of a noble character, intensely interested in her work, and earnestly striving to assist others in promoting education, was breathed in every line of that beautiful production. Its results cannot be measured now.

After the adjournment of the teachers' association, a Woman's Association for the betterment of school houses and school grounds was organized. Miss Betty Wright was elected president, Miss Dora Hornaday, vice president and Miss Annie Perkins secretary. Prof. Ragsdale spoke feelingly of the originator of this work, Dr. C. D. McIver. This association decided to meet the second Saturday in each month, immediately after the adjournment of the Teachers' Association. The prospects for this greatly needed organization are very bright.

Weather.

Cloudy tonight and Wednesday with occasional rain.

If "coming events cast their shadows before them," those engaged in educational work in Pitt county may feel assured of unprecedented success during the scholastic year 1906-1907, for if last Saturday's work is a "shadow" marvelous indeed must be the reality. Let us take fresh courage and inspiration from that grand meeting and press nobly and bravely on in the work, for

"Since right is right, and God is God,

Then right the day must win;

To doubt would be disloyalty,

To falter would be sin."

COMPARISON OF SCHOOLS.

MARION BUTLER'S FALSEHOOD EXPOSED.

The Figures Show the Great Advancement of Our Schools Under Democratic Administration in the Last Few Years.

Some days ago when Marion county would appreciate the facts being gotten and given to them, therefore we have compiled from the records in the superintendent's office, and from the treasurer's books the following statement, comparing the years 1898 and 1905, the two years that Butler took when her, and we give it with pleasure and pride to our people and ask and invite them to investigate for themselves the truthfulness of the figures.

|  | 1898     | 1905     |
|--|----------|----------|
| Mileage and per diem of Board of Education         | $ 96.50 | $ 47.80 |
| No. of children on census report                   | 10,321   | 10,925   |
| Total enrollment in schools                        | 5,435    | 8,570    |
| Average attendance                                 | 1,928    | 5,345    |
| Length of term, weeks                              | 14       | 20       |
| Cost of each child per week (based on av. at'n'ce) | .43      | .25      |
| Expense of Board of Education                      | 249.62   | 253.00   |
| Value of white school property                     | 7,540    | 46,600   |
| Cost of superintendency per week for child         | 1.4      | 1.4      |
| Days served by Superintendent                      | 126½     | 313      |
| Days spent in examination of teachers              | 74½      | 15       |
| Days spent as clerk of board, etc.                 | 35½      | 18       |
| Days left for other school work                    | 16½      | 280      |
| Tax rate on $100 for schools                      | .18      | .18      |

We desire to call attention to some of the above facts. It will be seen that the mileage and per diem of the board then was more than double what it is now.

You will observe that the average attendance of children in the schools now is nearly three times as large as then. You will see that then it was costing 43 cents a week to school the children, now it has been reduced to 25 cents per week. The term then was only 14 weeks, now it is 20 weeks. The expenses of the board of education in 1898 was $249.62. Last year the expenses were $253.00, a difference of only $3.38. What are the facts about the work of the board for these years? In 1898 not a single house was built, not one was painted and there were hardly any signs of improvement. There was only one school in the county (Greenville) in which there was more than one teacher, there was no organization of the teachers. Last year a number of houses were built, 15 are now being built. More than one fourth of the houses in the county have been painted and improved. Now there is a school here with 9 teachers, one at Bethel with 5, one at Farmville with five, one at Ayden with 6, one at Grifton with 4, one at Centerville with 3, one at Standard with 2, one at Smithtown with 2, one being built at Sheldine for 2, one at Falkland for 2, one at Bruce for 2. There is also the finest teachers' association in the State and probably not a better one in the United States. Then there was not a library in the county. Now there are 24 and 4 others ready to be taken. All of this change in the past three years and yet to plan and bring to completion this work only $3.38 additional expense was incurred. Then not one cent was contributed by individuals to lengthen school terms etc. Last year $1,100 was given by individuals for this purpose.

Glance for a moment at your school property in 1898, the value was $7,540, while now it is $46,600, which is nearly $40,000.00 increase in valuation within the short period really of three years, because most of this has come about within this time; but if you take the whole period from 1898 to 1905 you will have an increase of more than $5000.00 a year, an amount equal to, taking the 7 years, one-fourth of the entire school fund.

Now a word as to the cost of superintendency. It will be seen from the above that in 1898 it cost 1.4 cents per week for each child for superintendency. Last year the cost was 1.4 cents per week for each child, not one cent of extra cost. Examine the record and you will see that for 1898 the superintendent drew pay for 126½ day, of these days 74½ days were spent in the examination of teachers, 35 5-6 days with the board, making reports, attending committee meetings, &c. This leaves 16 days given to the supervision of schools. Last year 15 days were given to the examination of teachers, 18 days with board making reports etc. This left 280 days to be given to the schools. What has this done for the educational work? It has put more than 2½ times as many children in school as were attending. It has improved the efficiency of the teachers at least 100 per cent. It has given life and enthusiasm to work both in the country and in the town. It has placed Pitt county in front rank in the State for educational progress. It has killed opposition to public schools. It has made it possible for the county to have an educated citizenship.

Now read carefully and ponder well what is now to be said. ALL OF THIS HAS BEEN DONE AND YOUR SCHOOL TAX IS NOT ONE CENT HIGHER THAN IT WAS IN

Mrs. E. M. Williams, who has been visiting her daughter, Mrs. W. F. Burch, returned to Baltimore today accompanied by Miss Christine Tyson.

CHANGE OF AGENTS.

Mr. J. R. Moore Succeeded by Mr. W. H. Ward.

Mr. J. R. Moore, who ever since the Atlantic Coast Line was completed to Greenville in 1889 has been agent of the company here and a familiar figure around the depot, has been succeeded in the agency by Mr. W. H. Ward. Mr. Moore's impaired health was the cause of the change, and we understand that the company will place him in a position with easier work.

If there is man in the employ of the Atlantic Coast Line who deserves to be retired on a pension that man is Mr. J. R. Moore. He has given 25 years, practically the best part of his life, to the service of the company, having been with them some time before coming to Greenville. These years of arduous labor are the cause of his broken health now, and the company would do the graceful thing in providing for him. He has been a faithful agent and looked well to their interests at all times.

1898. It was then 18 cents on the $100. worth of property. It is now the same. There is not a man in Pitt county now who is paying one cent more than he did then unless his property has increased in valuation or he has accumulated more property. Of course this does not apply to the local tax districts where the people themselves have voted for a local tax extra.

With the above facts before them we believe that the people of Pitt county will feel a pride in their educational progress and we say frankly a man who would criticize in the face of these figures cannot be influenced by the truth. He prefers to believe a falsehood and this solely to gratify some prejudice or to advance some other interests at the expense of the interests of the children of the county.

WATERMARKS IN PAPER.

The Ancient Devices Used in the Time of Caxton and Faust.

Watermarks have proved themselves invaluable for safeguarding against the forgery of bank notes, bills, stamps, etc., though the difficulty experienced by the Bank of England in evolving a mark defying imitation was very great and was accomplished by the execution of forgeries innumerable.

Many a will has been set aside owing to false dates in watermarks, for, thanks to watermarks, we are under no uncertainty respecting the date of the existence of the paper. Ireland's celebrated Shakespearean forgeries were, however, perpetrated with skillful recognition of the watermark difficulty.

Driven to the production of manuscripts, he set to work to purchase old volumes for their fly leaves, and, hearing that the "jug" was the prevalent watermark of the reign of Queen Elizabeth, he selected such as had the "jug" on, being careful to mingle with them a certain number of blank leaves, in order that the production on a sudden of so many identical watermarks might not arouse suspicion.

Two of the earliest watermarks consist of a circle surmounted by a cross, representing the pastoral benediction of a priest. Post paper takes its name from the post horn, which mark appears on a shield, and in the seventeenth century is surmounted by a ducal coronet, in which form it is still met with on our ordinary note paper.

The ox's head was another ancient watermark, on which Caxton and Faust printed some of their books, but Caxton used a watermark in the form of the letter "P" for the "Game and Plays of the Chesse," first printed in 1474.

The first edition of Shakespeare, printed by Isaac Jaggard and Edward Blount in 1623, will, however, be found to be mostly on paper bearing a cap like a jockey's as a watermark, and the general use of the term "cap" for various modern papers is owing to marks of this kind.—London Globe.

Mirrors.

The earliest looking glasses, or mirrors, were of either metal, highly polished, or of black painted mica. It is noted in Jewish history that the laver was made of brass "of the looking glasses of the women assembling, which assembled at the door of the tabernacle of the congregation," and some commentators conjecture that these women gave up their bronze or copper hand mirrors to supply the material for the laver. Egyptian women always carried their mirrors to the temples, and the Hebrew women probably did likewise, as do the Arabian and Turkish women today. Glass mirrors are of comparatively recent date. Mirrors of silver and gold were commonly used in mediæval times. In 1360 Venice became the seat of the manufacture of glass mirrors, which have since superseded all other varieties, the improvements in the manufacture of plate glass enabling mirrors to be made of great size.

Senator Hoar's Marbleheader.

On one of Senator Hoar's annual pilgrimages to Marblehead with Worcester friends he expressed a wish to met some "genuine" Marbleheaders. While driving down Front street Uncle Bill High was espied, and Edward W. Doherty thought no more genuine Marbleheader could be found.

The carriage came to a halt while the two men were made acquainted. After a few remarks about the weather, fishing, etc., the senator, with a twinkle in his eye, asked, "Can we drive around to Gloucester this way?" pointing to the east.

Uncle Bill saw the twinkle and quickly answered, "Yes, if your horses are webfooted and you've got strong faith in the Almighty."

Spotted in Transmission.

This is the way the railway man heard the conundrum:

"At what time shortly before noon is it 3 o'clock? At a quarter of 12, because a quarter of twelve is three."

And this the way he worked it off on his friends:

"At what time shortly before noon is it 3 o'clock? At 11:45, because 11:45 is 3. It doesn't sound right either, blame it, but that's the way I heard it."

LIABLE FOR MISSING CONNECTION

A case of considerable importance, as it establishes the responsibility of railroads for failure to make connections when promised was tried at New Bern last week, resulting in a verdict of $200 damages in favor of Editor C. L. Stevens, of the Journal, against the Atlantic Coast Line. Editor Stevens was in Norfolk and wanted to reach New Bern, his home, in time to meet an important business engagement. Before buying his ticket he asked the agent at Norfolk if the A. C. L. train would connect with the A. and N. C. train at Goldsboro, so as to put him home in time, and was advised that it would. He bought the ticket and started home, but the trains failed to connect in Goldsboro and he had to lay over there until next day, missing the business engagement. He brought suit against the railroad for $1,200.

The cash that escaped the ice man will now go to the fuel dealer.

Hon. John Sharp Williams the Democratic leader in congress, is making some speeches in North Carolina, and reports of them indicate that he is giving out some old time sound Democratic doctrine.

If the women down this way were to follow the example of the New York woman who committed suicide because the cook left, there would be an amazing decrease in population.

Papa Fairbanks says his objection to his son's marriage was the extreme youth of the boy. As this young hopeful has reached the age of twenty five, it looks like he is old enough to know what he is doing.

Democrats of Pitt county, do not be deluded by too much of the "two strong parties" talk or anything else that will keep you away from the polls on election day. It is important that there be a full Democratic vote.

Tom Watson has given up the editorship of the magazine bearing his name. The resignation was due to a dispute between him and the stockholders of the magazine over salary due him. We doubt if his place as editor can be easily filled.

The Reflector has given its readers two excellent articles emanating from the teachers' association held here last Saturday. One of these was the paper read by Miss Betty Wright, and the other the report of the meeting prepared by Miss Dora Hornaday, reporter for the association. Such articles as these give an index to the character of teachers that preside in Pitt county schools and the people should be proud that their children are under such instructors. We were present at a part of the association meeting Saturday, and it was truly an inspiration to see such an assemblage of cultured teachers. In this particular Pitt county is excelled by no county anywhere.

Hale and Heaty at 306.

Oldest of all living things in New York is the big tortoise of the Bronx Zoological Park, which is 306 years old. He was a "slider" when Buffalo were grazing on what is now the White House lawn at Washington (Memoirs of Col. Samuel Argall, Deputy Governor of Virginia, 1612). In the first three hundred years of his life he attained a weight of 156 pounds. In the last six he has gained eighty-one pounds. And he keeps on getting fatter and bigger, greatly disconcerting scientists who have been accepting as a fact that the size of the big South Pacific tortoise was an indication of their wealth of centuries of age.

Buster is the tortoise's name. His shell and his flesh are worthless, and he is too old to add to his ancient line, now practically extinct. He came from the Galapagos group to the Bronx six years ago, but not directly. His race is forgotten on the islands, and only a few specimens are distributed in zoological parks over the civilized world.

In spite of his years and the new environment into which he has been cast, Buster is healthy and promises to live to a hearty old age of a thousand or so. He is very gentle and eats from the hands of his keepers.—New York Herald.

BACKWARD BOYS.

Brilliant Men Who Did Not Shine in Their Younger Days.

I think most men who have been educated at any large public school will readily call to mind numerous instances of boys who were always winning prizes, yet have not done anything worth mentioning in after life. And I am confident that upon investigating the early years of those who have led a strenuous and remarkably successful career it will be found that the majority were rather lazy than not before they entered upon the actual battle of life. Oliver Goldsmith was looked upon by his schoolmaster as a dunce. That may possibly have been the fault of the latter. I fancy there is something specially narrowing to the mind in a scholastic career, just as there is in a doctor's. That at least is my individual experience. Gladstone never took a prize at school, if I remember aright, though he subsequently gained a double first at Oxford. Those high priests of science and philosophy, Darwin, Huxley, Tyndall and Herbert Spencer, did not particularly shine in their younger days.

We find plenty of evidence that people who in the first stages of their career make prolonged and exhaustive demands on their stores of nerve force rarely attain length of days. Whether those demands have been made merely in the pursuit of wealth or for some more noble object does not matter. The result is the same. Thus Napoleon considered about four hours in bed "a good night's rest." He joined the majority at fifty-one. Dickens passed over at fifty-eight, his great rival, Thackeray, at fifty-two. Byron achieved his unique reputation in the short compass of thirty-six years, Mozart in thirty-five and Schiller in forty-five. Alfred Beit died at fifty-three and Cecil Rhodes at forty-eight.—London Chronicle.

Jupiter's Double Moon.

The most wonderful of all the remarkable things which nightly come within the range of the powerful modern telescopes is the double moon which continually circles around and around Jupiter, the "giant of the skies." This astronomical oddity was not known until after the great Lick telescope was put in position on Mount Hamilton, the discovery of the tiny satellite only dating back to 1891. The first hint of the presence of this "moon of a moon" was given when one of the Lick observatory men reported that one of Jupiter's satellites appeared to be casting a double shadow on the giant planet's surface. From that time forward for some weeks a sharp lookout was kept, and at last the observers were rewarded in getting a glimpse of the curiosity—a tiny dot of a moon revolving around another moon, both held in position by the great

It is a very common thing these days for a merchant to show a lady a pair of Shoes and say, "They are just as good as the 'QUEEN QUALITY.'" It is strange they all say they have just as good. We don't claim to have "As Good" as any other make, but claim to have better than any other make. 12,000 pairs are made daily. The business they do should convince every woman, who is particular about her footwear, the Shoe to wear. The standard price has been and is to-day $3.00 yet we are showing several attractive Custom Grades at $3.50 and $4.00. The Business Woman's Shoe at $3.50. Don't miss seeing it. Pictures Framed to Order.

Not For Publication.

The engagement between a wealthy Baltimore belle and an impetuous clubman of that city was at one time last winter perilously near the breaking off point and all by reason of the unfortunate mistake of a florist's assistant of whom the young man had ordered flowers for his beloved. It appears that the young fellow had hastily dispatched to the florist's establishment two cards, one bearing an order for roses to be sent to the young lady's address and the other intended to be attached to the flowers. What was the astonishment and indignation of the beloved one when, on taking the roses from their boxes, she found affixed the card bearing the legend:

"Roses. Do the best you can for $3."—Harper's Weekly.

Saved His Comrades Life.

"While returning from the Grand Army Encampment at Washington City, a comrade from Elgin, Ill., was taken with Cholera Morbus and was in a critical condition," says Mr. J. E. ### MEDICINAL PLANTS.

They Were Cultivated In Gardens In the Elder Pliny's Time.

After the discovery of the medicinal properties of plants it must have followed in course of time that representatives of the species to which remedial properties were attributed should be collected and grown in some place conveniently and readily accessible, as need demanded. The last step did not immediately follow, however, since among the conditions which were earlier supposed to influence the potency of medicinal herbs, the locality in which grown and the mysteries attending their collection were of the greatest importance. The first authentic record of the introduction of medicinal plants into cultivated plots of ground dates no farther back than the time of the elder Pliny, 23-79 A. D., who writes of the garden of Antonius Castor, at Rome, in which were grown a large number of medicinal plants. This step may have been taken much earlier by the Greeks, Chinese or Mexicans, however.

Later the Benedictine monks of northern Italy paid great attention to the growing of remedial herbs and devoted an important proportion of the monastery gardens to this purpose. This practically was also carried beyond the Alps, and in 1070 a garden was in existence at the monastery of St. Gall, in Switzerland, a few kilometers distant from Lake Constance, which contained sixteen plots occupied by medicinal plants. A garden of this character was founded in 1309 at Salerno and another in Venice in 1330. In 1309 the Benedictine monks founded an academy called "Civitas Hippocratica" at Monte Cassino, in Campania, which appears to the writer to be among the earliest schools, if not the first school, of medicine and established in connection with it a "physics garden."

Details of Dress That Are Insisted Upon by English Masters.

At many schools uniformity of dress is insisted upon. It is surprising how much the casual visitor is impressed by trifling details of dress, and if boys were given much latitude in this respect the impression would not always be a good one. Black coats and waistcoats with black ties always look tidy and respectable, and are frequently the rule. At Harrow boys over a certain height are allowed to wear "tails," which, however, do not look well with straw hats. The Harrow straws are familiar to most people, having a crown of hardly an inch in height; these are worn all the year round, a custom which prevails also at Winchester. At Eton top hats are the usual headgear, and one is sometimes treated to the spectacle of a boy clad in football things surmounted by a top hat.

At some schools one is struck by the enormous variety of caps worn by the different boys, every house having its own colors for the different school games. When clothes are changed for football or cricket this is reasonable enough, but under ordinary circumstances the neatest uniform is some dark suit with black ties, the members of the various school teams being possibly allowed to wear their colors as a mark of distinction. At many schools the boys are compelled to wear cap and gown, the prefects in some cases having the distinction of tassels to their mortarboards. At Bradfield and Radley the boys wear gowns, and at Winchester all the "collegers" were compelled to do so, but a mortarboard is very heavy to the head, while a gown is rather a hindrance to a boy, though it may help to keep his clothes clean.

It is customary for prefects or monitors to carry walking sticks as a mark of distinction, and in the old days at Winchester prefects used to wear cowlers or "cow shooters" as an especial mark of dignity. At Harrow a boy's great ambition is to get his "fez," which in appearance is much like a smoking cap with a long tassel, but which confers a great distinction upon the wearer. Brown boots are not generally allowed at school. All these various little details of dress are most rigorously enforced by the boys themselves as well as by the masters, with quite regimental exactness.—Baily's Mag-

JAMES F. DAVENPORT

Faithful to His Captain.

That was a loyal if not very genteel answer once made by a private soldier to Frederick the Great of Prussia. During a campaign in Silesia the king made it his habit to stroll through his camp in disguise at night, to come into closer relations with his soldiers. One night he was stopped by a sentry, but, giving the proper password, was permitted to proceed. Instead of doing so, however, he endeavored to tempt the sentry into accepting a cigar, saying that a smoke would solace his long watch.

"It is against the rules," said the soldier.

"But you have my permission," said Frederick.

"Your permission!" cried the soldier. "And who are you?"

"I am the king."

"The king be hanged!" said the incorruptible sentry. "What would my captain say?"

THE WORLD'S WHEAT CROP.

The London Economist asserts that "the world's cereal harvest of 1906 cannot fail to prove one of the greatest ever produced." The wheat crop is above the average in the north of France, but it has suffered from drought in the south and west. France will need to import very little if any wheat. Spain has reaped a good harvest generally, while Germany has good crops of barley and oats as well as of wheat and rye. Austria-Hungary will produce a much larger wheat crop this year than last. In Russia the winter wheat crop has been officially reported to be a good one, while the more important spring wheat crop is poor in all but a few provinces. Roumania is now expected to produce a record wheat crop, and Serbia and Bulgaria have good crops. The Canadian wheat harvest will not prove very abundant. India's wheat crop harvested last spring was the greatest but one ever known.

An Anxious Boy.

While Archbishop Trench was dean of Westminster he delegated Canon Cureton to preach at the abbey on a certain saint's day. On such days the boys of Westminster school attended service and afterward had the rest of the day as a holiday. While Mr. Cureton, on the morning of the day he was to officiate, was looking over his sermon at the breakfast table his son asked, in a tone vibrating with anxiety:

"Father, is yours a long sermon today?"

"No, Jimmy, not very."

"But how long? Please tell me."

"Well, about twenty minutes, I should say. But why are you so anxious to know?"

"Because, father, the boys say they will thrash me awfully if you are more than half an hour."—London Telegraph.

Shelley and Butter Cakes.

Shelley called on Southey one afternoon and found the latter and his wife at tea. Southey evinced such an appetite for buttered cakes that Shelley was shocked and at last broke out with: "Southey, I'm ashamed of you! It's horrible to see a man like you greedily devouring this nasty stuff!" Mrs. Southey came to her husband's defense with a long tirade, during which Shelley, abashed, put down his face and curiously scanned the cakes. He broke off a bit and ventured to taste it.
Then he began to eat as greedily as Southey himself. When he went home his verdict on the cakes was summed up in the report of Harriet Westbrook, to whom he was engaged: "We were to have hot tea cakes every evening 'forever.' I was to make them myself and Mrs.
Southey was to teach me."

As we lay sweltering in the heat,
While you were miles away,
But 'worms will turn,' 'tis said;
'Each dog doth have his day,'
And now that fall is here
We've come, and come to stay
For nine long months with you,
So you needn't make a fuss,
For we shall teach and guide you,
And you'll have to obey us."
—Washington Post.

"Of course she will have to have her own footman now, as well as

"Of course."
"And I've been wondering"—
"Well?"
"If she oughtn't to have her own social secretary likewise, what with all the affairs she will be invited to."

SAM P. JONES DEAD.

The Georgia Evangelist Expires Suddenly on a Railroad Train.

Little Rock, Ark., Oct, 15.—
Rev. Sam P. Jones, the well known evangelist of Cartersville, Ga., died early today of heart failure in a sleeping car on the Rock Island railroad near Perry, Ark. Mr. Jones had been conducting a revival at Oklahoma City, and left there last night for his home in Georgia. He desired to attend a family reunion tomorrow, it being the fifty-ninth anniversary of his birth.

Mrs. Jones and his daughters,
Mrs. Annie Pyror and Miss Julia Jones, were with him when he passed away.

Mr. Jones arose from his berth in the sleeper about five o'clock this morning and complained of nausea. He drank a glass of hot water and immediately afterward collapsed. Rev.
Walt Holcomb, who had been associated with Mr. Jones for a number of years, took the dying man in his arms and in a few minutes the evangelist breathed his last. The body was embalmmed and was sent to Cartersville this afternoon.
