LITERARY AND SOCIAL LEAGUE MEETING.

Reported for Reflector.

Friday evening the literary and social department of the Epworth League, under the wise management of Miss Bessie Harding, gave a most delightful entertainment at the home of Rev. J. A. Hornaday, in West Greenville. A good crowd was present, and all felt grateful to Miss Harding and to those who took part on the literary program for an evening's pleasure, around which must ever cluster happy memories.

The program was a most interesting and helpful one. After the Scripture lesson and the Prayer, those present joined in singing "Holy, Holy!" An excellent paper on the "Life and Works of Sidney Lanier" was read by Wiley J. Brown. This paper showed extensive research and deep thought. Those present saw Sidney Lanier as a man among men, and felt with him the strong emotions that stirred his poetic soul.

"The Marshes of Glynn" was read and interpreted by Prof. H. B. Smith. Mr. Smith, by the aid of his unusual knowledge of humanity and literature, was enabled to render and discuss this beautiful poem, in a manner that may be emulated but not excelled; he gave to this, the masterpiece of Lanier, a new beauty and charm.

"America" was sung, after which the league benediction was said in concert.

The social feature was then emphasized in a most pleasing way. "Charades" were enjoyed for sometime. "Solemn Occasion" was then played, but all the solemnity of the "solemn occasion" was utterly destroyed by the spontaneous and hearty laughter of Prof. Smith—Behold, how was the mighty fallen! Prof. Smith, the embodiment of dignity, and the one upon whom is lavished the respect and admiration of older people of our town, as well as of the lads and lassies over whose mental powers he sways the lordly scepter, was the first to take his lowly seat in the middle of the floor!

At about ten o'clock the party disbanded, each one feeling that life is not all toil, and in their souls blessing those who had contributed toward making the evening a time when dull care was forgotten in the ecstatic enjoyment of wholesome, healthful pleasure.

The Difference.

The Democratic county candidates spoke at Pactolus Friday and the Republican county candidates were at Stokes. The Democrats had an unusually large crowd at Pactolus, while at Stokes the Republicans did not have as many as can be counted with the fingers of two hands. These reports come to The Reflector from reliable persons present at each place.

Weather.

Fair tonight and Sunday. Colder in western and northern portions Sunday.

GILBERT-ANDERSON.

Quiet Afternoon Home Marriage.

Friday afternoon at the home of the bride in South Greenville, Mr. James J. Gilbert and Miss Georgia Anderson were married by Rev. J. A. Hornaday. The marriage was a quiet one, only the immediate family and a few very intimate friends being present.

The couple left on the afternoon train for Washington City and New York and from the latter city will sail for Panama where Mr. Gilbert has a government position as postoffice inspector. He is a native of Kinston, has for sometime been in the postal service and was lately transferred to the Canal Zone.

The bride is a native of Greenville and a very charming young lady. She was once on The Reflector force, which position she resigned to accept a clerkship in the postoffice. It was in the latter position that she first met Mr. Gilbert while he was here inspecting the postoffice, and it seems to have been a mutual case of love at first sight.

MAKE HOME ATTRACTIVE.

"Make your home an attractive place for your children," said Dr. McLendon at the Farmers' Institute Monday. We would like to sound these words in every community in the county. Along with the improvement of the farm must go that higher and vastly more important work of the cultivation of the minds of the children reared on the farm. Attractive surroundings, in the way of flower beds and well kept lawns will aid wonderfully in this respect. See to it, also that your children receive the best education possible, even though it be their purpose to remain on the farm. The farm needs now more than ever before the trained mind and the skilled head. Financially speaking, education of the right kind pays, but ten-fold more does it pay in the things that make for the life and joy of that soul.—Stanly Enterprise.

A MOVE FORWARD.

Literary and Debating Societies at the Graded School.

Reported for Reflector.

Ten days or two weeks ago the teachers of the upper grades in the graded school organized the boys of the advanced grades into a debating society, and the girls into a literary circle, the latter to be known as the Minerva Literary Society. The officers of the boys' organization are as follows:

President, Chas. Haskett; vice-president, John Hornaday; secretary, Royce Tucker. Of the girls' circle, president, Mae Schultz; vice-president, Abbie Smith; secretary, Mattie Lawrence.

The first meetings were held Friday afternoon. The boys debated the question, "Resolved that Pitt county should have a law requiring all the children in the county between the ages of 6 and 18 to attend school four months each year." Considering the fact that it was the maiden effort of nearly all the speakers, the debate was very good indeed. The young men seem to be enthusiastic over this new phase of work, and the management of the school is greatly pleased with the results.

The girls devoted the afternoon to the study of Longfellow, each member responding to the roll call with a quotation from the famous poet.

The program was as follows: Sketch of Longfellow's Life, Margaret Blow.

Recitation—"The Famine," Essie Whichard.

Story of John Alden and Priscilla, Lily Tucker.

Reading—"The Betrothal of Evangeline," Julia Harris.

Recitation—"The Footsteps of Angels," Florence Blow.

Estimate of Longfellow's Works.—Abbie Smith

Misses McKinney and Cox, the teachers who have this work in charge, were greatly pleased with the success of the meeting. It is their intention to familiarize the girls with many of the world's best poets, writers, and with their best productions, quotations, etc., also with a number of songs, the words of which are famous poems. The girls will be familiarized with parliamentary customs, and in addition, there is an element of culture to be gained in this way that is difficult to get otherwise. The management of the school believes firmly that the organization will prove of great benefit to the pupils.

Pierce Moving Pictures.

There was only a small audience at the opera house, Friday night, to witness Pierce's moving picture entertainment, but those present pronounced it the best of the kind that has been here.

The Reflector force is again indebted to Jimmie Reuss for a feast of Cream Puffs on yesterday. The funny thing to us is, how Jimmie can strike the exact time of day when we are hungry. But he does it all right and has our hearty thanks.

Tickets go on sale Monday at Reflector Book store, for the entertainment on Tuesday night. 50 cents for reserved seats, General admission will be the same for adults, children 25 cents.

WINTERTILLE ITEMS.

News From Our Neighbor Town.

Winterville, N. C. Oct. 27, 1906.

Mrs. Ernest Manning, of Greenville, is spending some time with relatives and friends here.

Miss Jennie Wilson, of Smith's store, was here Friday shopping.

Rev. C. A. Campbell, of Williamston, spent several days here this week selling Bibles and other literature. We learn that he is preparing to be a missionary.

M. G. Bryan, who had been attending the Federal court at New Bern, returned Friday.

A. G. Gox and R. Croom returned Friday morning from the Baptist association which convened at Goldsboro this week.

Mrs. John Cheek, and Miss Anna M. Lawhorn were here Friday shopping.

John Stokes, of Greenville, was here Friday night in the interest of life insurance.

J. B. Carroll and J. B. Little were out in the country on business Friday.

It was the great privilege of the students and faculty of Winterville High School to have one of the finest lectures ever delivered in the auditorium of W. H. S. Friday morning at 9 o'clock, by Dr. J. F. Parrott, of Kinston. He is not only one of the finest physicians of the state but he is one of the most eloquent speakers, and he fully sustained that reputation Friday morning here.

He spoke from a physician's standpoint, dealing with the three greatest diseases prevalent in our country, viz: typhoid fever, consumption, and intemperance. He spoke of the great numbers of people dying each year from these diseases when it ought not to be so; that it is possible for these diseases to be stamped out as it has been done even in some of our great cities to a great extent.

He dwelt upon the evils of alcohol from a scientific standpoint, stating that it was no longer considered a stimulant in the treatment of diseases and that he had abandoned it in all cases in his practice.

He gave two ways in which this evil should be treated: 1. Let it alone. 2. Have higher ideals than to stoop to such.

We never heard a more earnest and eloquent appeal than he made to the students as he pointed out the great danger in tampering with the vile stuff.

We were glad also to have several of the citizens of the town and community present to enjoy the lecture.

Mrs. F. C. Nye went to Greenville this morning shopping.

The Vance Literary society had an excellent debate Friday night on compulsory education in North Carolina.

The candidates were here Wednesday night and despite the rain and mud a good sized crowd was present to hear them. After the county candidates had announced themselves, Hons. J. Bryan Grimes, Secretary of State, and J. L. Fleming, candidate for the senate, made excellent speeches on the leading issues of the campaign. Excellent attention was given them and everything passed off quietly and orderly.

M. G. Bryan and his son, Britton, went to Bethel today on a visit.

ON THE MOVE.

Names of People Caught Passing.

Sam Jones Was Wealthy.

Rev. Sam P. Jones, who died last week, left an estate valued at $200,000. He owned valuable properties in Atlanta, Cartersville, his home town, and in other places. He sold out a fine Kentucky estate because he could not give it necessary attention. Property belonging to Mrs. Jones was sold some years ago in Atlanta, for $80,000. His income annually from lecturing and evangelistic work was between $35,000 and $40,000. He annually gave away about two-thirds of this sum to charities. His benefactions were so numerous, varied and widely scattered that even his family did not know of them. He rarely spoke of what he gave away and sought to keep the knowledge from the public. His life was insured for $75,000.

Heavy Sales.

Tobacco warehousemen say the past week was one of the heaviest they have had this season, and it was necessary to work night and day to keep up. Farmers were afraid to carry tobacco through the bad weather and rushed it to market.

FATE AND ANDREW JACKSON.

What Going West, Not East, Meant to the Fiery Lawyer.

During the young manhood of Andrew Jackson, when he rode the circuit in Tennessee, knowing more law than most of his brethren at the bar, afraid of nothing on earth, ready to challenge to a duel some trained lawyer from the older settlements when that lawyer trespassed upon his own preserves and made fun of his ignorance—as Waightstill Avery did—thus holding his ground against all comers, partly by brute force and partly by mental superiority, he was probably nearer to happiness than he ever was afterward.

From court to court he rode his race horse, pistols in holster, carrying his gun and his pack of hounds, ready for the courthouse, ready for the deer chase, ready for the shooting match, ready for the horse race, ready for the house raising and log rolling, ready to go out and drag into the court the desperado whom the sheriff feared to arrest.

Rough and tumble times these were in backwoods Tennessee, with rude and lawless elements boiling and bubbling in that inevitable period of unrest and struggle which prevails in border settlements before the community takes form and everybody smugly congratulates everybody else on the "reign of law and order."

In just such a state of society young Jackson was peculiarly fitted to lead, dominate and prosper.

Had he gone eastward instead of westward, had he cast in his lot with the lawyers that were striving for advancement in the cities of the original thirteen seaboard states, nothing is more certain than that the world would never have heard of him.

His lack of knowledge of the law would have made him easy prey to those who were masters of this profession. His fiery temper would have kept him constantly in battle array, and in fighting those lawyers who got the better of him in the citation of legal authorities he would in the nature of things, have met the wrong man sooner or later.—

SATURDAY, OCT. 27, 1906.

From what we hear, somebody must be working a slick game selling washing machine rights. There seems to be a kind of endless chain scheme to it.

Pennsylvania started out to build a $4,000,000 State capital. Above $13,000,000 has been spent on it and the building is not yet completed. That gives a good idea of the work of grafters.

Those Indians out in Wyoming had best go back to their wigwams and behave themselves. There are too many of us now for them to think of getting around and taking our scalps.

There is no question about the Democrats electing their ticket in this county, but the thing to do is to make the majority as large as possible. Every Democrat should go to the polls and vote.

The Press of the State sympathizes with Editor J. P. Caldwell, of the Charlotte Observer, in the death of his mother, Mrs. Amanda Caldwell, which occurred at her home in Statesville Friday morning.

If you think the Republicans are cutting any figure in the campaign in Pitt county, you have but to note the attendance at their speakings to get this idea out of your mind. They have not had anything like a crowd at but one appointment, at Ayden, and then they got people from all parts of the county to go and help them out.

EDITOR'S NEED PRAYER.

Although the editor devotes his life largely to other people, he himself is frequently a very much neglected man. He may devote columns of space to favorable mention of other people, but if he comes in for any sort of mention at all it is mighty apt to be in connection with some unfriendly criticism because of the fact that he has failed to glorify someone in the columns of his paper just as some other person thought ought to have been done. Did you ever hear an editor prayed for in public? are frequently offered in churches and other places of public assembly for our rulers, officers, teachers, doctors, lawyers, and almost everybody else. But did you ever hear editors included in the list of mentionables at a throne of grace? We have heard it, just one time in a span of thirty-seven years ago, during the pastorate of the late and lamented Rev. Dr. Pritchard. And that prayer, in so far as it related to editors, consisted of only four very short words. But nevertheless it was a prayer for editors, and it was the first and strange to say, the only time we ever heard editors remembered at a throne of grace and mercy, and we must confess that somehow from that very moment we thought more of the man who made the prayer. In the course of his morning petition from the pulpit the venerable pastor said, "God bless our editors."—Waxhaw Enterprise.

What is a Kiss.

What is a kiss? A kiss is, as it were, a seal expressing our sincere attachment; the pledge of our future union; a dumb, but at the same time audible, language of a living heart; a present, which at the same time it is given it is taken from us; the impression of an ardent attachment on an ivory coral press; the striking of two flints against one another; a crimson balsam for a love wounded heart; a sweet bite of the lip; an affectionate pinching of the mouth; a delicious dish which is eaten with scarlet spoons; a sweet meal which does not satisfy hunger; a fruit which is planted and gathered at the same time; the quickest exchange of questions and answers of two lovers; the fourth degree of love.

HABITUAL KINDNESS.

There is no gift or grace that goes further toward making one beloved than the art of simple kindness. Just to be kind, in smile and word and deed is the shortest, surest road to power over other lives. It is better to be kind, than brilliant; one brings affection and loyalty, the other usually brings in its train only envy and bitterness. This adornment of simple kindness is one within the reach of everybody.

There is no person so untalented as to be incapable of habitual kindness. The grace is one that grows in any soil, and beneath clouds or sunshine, snow or rain. It has taken centuries for men to grow into anything like an adequate appreciation of the wondrous excellencies of Jesus, but the humbless peasant by the Lake of Galilee or upon the hills of Judea could instantly discern and understand his simple kindness, for kindness is the universal language.—Westminster.

A Word to You About SCHOOL BOOKS

We carry the largest line of school books in this town. There is not a larger line of school books to be found in this section of the state. School books and school supplies are our specialties. It is our main business, and we are therefore in the best position to supply our needs. Don't be fooled by what you hear or read. Most anybody can buy a few books and school supplies and claim to be "Headquarters" but it takes your personal inspection to discover the ruse. Come in and compare our line with anything else to be found in Greenville in this line, and see how matters stand. We have just received a shipment of miscellaneous books, novels, choice books in dainty bindings, nicely bound editions of the poets etc.

An Official Blockhead.
 "It is customary here, the same as it is in most rural communities," pessimistically said the landlord of the Pruntytown tavern, "to elect the biggest lunkhead in the region constable. But I estimate that we broke all records when we elected Bill Slackputter to that position. Why, day before yesterday when a life insurance agent and a picture enlarger got into a fight down in front of the post office and bid fair to pretty nearly kill each other what did that disabilted broky do but wade right in and part 'em!"—Watson's Magazine.

Miss May's "Brothers."
 Commencement day at Dothem Hall, the famous seminary for young ladies.
 "Papa," said the pretty girl in white, "let me present you to Miss Dothem, our new principal."
 Miss Dothem bowed on the old man.
 "I congratulate you, sir," he said, "upon your selection of a large and affectionate family."
 "Large and affectionate?" he stammered.
 "Yes, indeed," said Miss Dothem. "No less than twelve of May's brothers have come steadily during the winter to take her driving and sleighing, while the two older ones were most assiduous in escorting her to the theater twice a week."—Minneapolis Journal.

Eggs Are Useful.
 According to the Medical Record, eggs are useful in the following applications: A mustard plaster made with the white of an egg will not leave a blister. A raw egg, taken immediately, will carry down a fish bone that cannot be extracted. The white of an egg in that liquid the shell is a useful application to a boil. White of egg, beaten up with loaf sugar and lemon juice, cures hemorrhoids—a teaspoonful taken once every hour. An egg in the morning cup of coffee is a good tonic. A raw egg, with the yolk beaten in a glass of wine is beneficial for convalescents.

Modest Claims Often Carry the Most Conviction.

When Maxim, the famous gun inventor, placed his gun before a committee of judges, he stated its carrying power to be much below what he felt sure the gun would accomplish. The result of the trial was therefore a great surprise instead of disappointment. It is the same with the manufacturers of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. They do not publicly boast of all this remedy will accomplish, but prefer to let the users make the statements. What they do claim, is that it will positively cure diarrhoea, dysentery, pains in the stomach and bowels and has never been known to fail. For sale by J. L. Wooten

THE REASON WHY

IT is only by reason of the maker's intimate, thorough knowledge of women's tastes and the requirements of her feet that "Dorothy Dodd" Shoes have achieved their marvelous success. First, they satisfy the eye and lend real distinction to the foot. Secondly, they fit women's feet as only "Dorothy Dodd's" can fit. Thirdly, their large sale permits them to be sold at a moderate price. This store secured and controls the sale of these splendid shoes, because it believes them to offer the wearer more real value and satisfaction than any others possible to procure. New styles now ready. Glad to show even though you do not care to buy.
