JR. COOKING CLUB.

Reported for Reflector.

The Jr. Cooking club which has been disbanded through the summer months was reorganized Saturday afternoon, October 27th, at the home of Miss Ruth Cobb, who with her usual grace entertained the members much to their joy.

The officers were elected as follows:

Miss Ruth Cobb, president, Miss Myrtle Warren, vice-president; Miss Florence Blow, secretary; Miss Pattie Wooten, treasurer.

After the business part of the meeting was over, a contest was the next feature of the afternoon.

Miss Essie Whichard, the lucky guesser, received a beautiful book as a prize.

The work of the little cooks was next shown by the dainty refreshments which were prepared by them.

The club will be entertained by Miss Marguerite Higgs at the next meeting.

The Lawyer Got Information and a Laugh.

In a law case, one of the witnesses for the defense irritated the plaintiff's counsel by apparently attempting to evade giving direct answers.

"Sir," said the lawyer, sternly, "you need not state your impressions. We want the facts. We are competent to form our own impressions. Now, sir, answer me categorically."

From that time on he could get little more than "yes" and "no" out of the witness. Presently the lawyer said:

"You say you live next door to the defendant?"

"Yes."

"To the north of him?"

"No."

"To the South?"

"No."

"Well, to the west, then?"

"No."

"Ah," said the lawyer, sarcastically, "we are likely at last to get down to the one real fact. You live to the east of him, do you?"

"No."

"How is that, sir?" the astonished counsel asked. "You say you live next door to him. Yet he lives neither to the north, south, east nor west of you. What do you mean by that, sir?"

"I thought perhaps you were competent to form the impression that we live in a flat," said the witness, calmly; "but I see I must inform you that he lives next door above me."

To Elect Deacons.

At the midweek meeting in the Baptist church to be held Wednesday night, two deacons will be elected to fill vacancies that exist. It is desired that the attendance of members of the church be as large as possible so that all may participate in the selection of the deacons.

You will get more than the worth of your money, and at the same time help a good cause by attending the entertainment in the opera house Tuesday night.

BETHEL CORRESPONDENCE.

Hallowe'en Entertainment to be Given by Bethel Graded School.

Bethel, N. C. Oct. 29, 1906.

On Friday evening the members of the Athenian Literary society of Bethel graded school will give a Hallowe'en party for the benefit of the literary fund. There will a varied and interesting musical program, a number of entertaining contests and games, and several special hallowe'en features, making quite a pleasing evening's entertainment. The charge for admission will be 10 cents. The public is invited. Refreshments will be served.

All the work of the school is moving on well; the enrollment being the largest in its history this period of the school year, and the attendance very fair.

The literary society has been doing very good work.

The society holds a monthly public debate. The question for September was; "Resolved that Cuba should be annexed to the United States;" for October, "Resolved that North Carolina should have a compulsory education law." The next debate will be held on November the 10th on the question "Resolved that Trusts are productive of more harm than of good results."

Rev. Mr. Eubanks, the faithful and loved pastor of the First Baptist church, preached his farewell sermon on Sunday night the subject being "The Two Ways of Life." He leaves with his family this week for his home in Virginia. Mr. Eubank is a true servant of the living God and he will be greatly missed. The good wishes of all irrespective of denomination go with him.

A Card.

It is rumored that I have accepted the nomination to run on the Republican ticket for justice of the peace of my township, and I wish to say that I'm a Democrat and will vote a Democratic ticket, and not a word of the rumor is true.

This Oct. 27th, 1906.

Convict Escapes.

Saturday night a negro convict, who was serving a three year sentence on the roads, made his escape from the camp near Shermine. The negro came to Greenville and was seen here early Sunday morning with part of the chain hanging to him. An effort was made to catch him but he got out of the way and could not be found.

After Meetings.

Pastor J. E. Ayscue is holding a fifteen minute after meeting at the conclusion of each Sunday night service in the Baptist church. These after meetings are well attended and very interesting.

If you have received a statement of what you owe The Reflector for subscription, please attend to it once.

Send your offering for the frontier missionary to Mrs. R. L. Humber at once, as the box will be packed Tuesday afternoon for shipment.

GO HOME BOYS.

Boys, don't loaf on the streets. If you have anything to do, do it promptly, then go home. Home is the place for boys. About the street corners and pool rooms they learn to talk slang, and they learn to swear, to smoke tobacco and to do many other things which they ought not to do.

Attend to your business and then go home. If your business is play, play and make a business of it. We like to see boys play good, earnest, healthy games. If we were the town council we would give the boys a spacious play-ground. It would have plenty of green grass and trees and fountains, and broad spaces to run and jump and play suitable games in. We would make it pleasant, as lovely as it could be, and we would tell them to go home.—Ex.

Remedies for Race Troubles.

White people in the North are no more considerate of people against whom they may have a grievance or a prejudice than are white people in the South. The problem of adjusting the relations of two races so totally different as the white race and the negro race where they have to live together in the same communities is difficult under any circumstances, and it becomes increasingly so where the inferior race is present in large numbers, and where many of its members are ill-disciplined, idle, and of criminal instincts. Yet, while Southern people can know it, it remains true that Northern opinion is not to be dismissed as worthless. The subject is national, not local. First, then, there can be no immediate or wholesale remedy for these race troubles. Improvement must come through a great many channels, and there must be patience and forbearance. The best elements of both races must do everything in their power to restrain bad men, whether black or white. Even though involving greatly increased expenditure, there must be complete police surveillance, rural as well as urban. Vagrancy laws must be enforced with the utmost severity.

Idlers of both races must be made to give an account of themselves, and where worthless and vicious are punished, the industrious and decent must be recognized and rewarded. Mobs, riots, and lynch law, whatever the provocation, remedy no evils and only make a bad situation worse. The penal systems of the Southern States must be greatly improved. Temporary servitude of vicious negroes in chain gangs under the Southern system only makes these men the more dangerous when turned loose again. If they are a menace to society, they should be kept under restraint. If there is a chance to make decent and law-abiding men out of them, it should be carefully provided that their serving shorter or longer terms for police offenses or for crimes should make for their reformation rather than for their

TWO NORTH CAROLINA BOYS DEAD IN NORFOLK.

Norfolk, Va., Oct. 27.—Asphyxiated by illuminating gas, Leon N. Whidbee, aged 17, and Edward Jordan, aged 20 years, both from fine North Carolina families, were found dead in the same bed in a second story room at the boarding house of Mrs. W. S. Ayers, No. 108, Charlotte street, this morning. Both windows to the room had been closed and the gas jet unlighted was turned on full force. Some at first suspected suicide, but this was exploded to the mind of the coroner's jury at least which after investigating returned a verdict of accidental asphyxiation.

Why a Democrat Ought to be Proud.

A party that closes still houses and builds school houses instead is a party to be proud of. A party that keeps the money of poor fathers to buy bread for his hungry children instead of spending it for whiskey is a party to be proud of. A party that appropriates money to care for the brave Confederate Soldier, to make his last days comfortable is a party to be proud of. A party that appropriates money to care for the unfortunate insane is doing a work that is grand and glorious and is a party to be proud of. A party that appropriates money to give the poorest child in the State a chance to be a man or a woman in the world is a party to be proud of.—Catawba County News.

Excellent Music at Methodist Church.

Mr. and Mrs. Leon F. Evans, and John F. Evans and J. D. Smith from the country, united with the choir Sunday morning service and gave music that pleased and inspired the congregation. Mr. John F. Evans with great skill manipulated his cornet which added much to the interest of the occasion. Such music prepares a preacher for preaching and a congregation for hearing.

We are pleased to note that the above named parties have agreed to be present next Sunday to aid in the singing.

Wrecking Train Wrecked.

Trains were all hung up Sunday on the main line of the Atlantic Coast Line. A wreck occurred near Pear River, between Goldsboro and Wilson. The wrecking train went down and cleared this wreck, and on the way back to Rocky Mount that train was also wrecked. All trains then had to stop until a track could be built around the wrecked wrecking train.

Electric Plant Destroyed.

Sanford, N. C. Oct. 27th.—This morning about 2 o'clock the electric light plant was totally destroyed by fire. The plant was in operation till 12 o'clock when it was shut down. The fire was started by shavings in the boiler room catching fire.

Weather.

Fair tonight and Tuesday with slowly rising temperature, frost tonight in exposed places.

It is going to be a big day in Greenville Thursday. Everybody come to the speaking.

hopeless debasement. Furthermore, it must be better understood in the South that educated negroes are not the dangerous ones, but quite the contrary. If it hurts the negro to be educated there must be something wrong with the school.—From "The Progress of the World," in the American Monthly Review of Reviews for November.

Sale of Blooded STOCK.

A Rare opportunity by the Farmers of this Section to get improved stock at common Stock Prices.

On Wednesday November 14th, 1906 I will offer for sale at my farm, three miles West of Greenville on the Tarboro road about 150 head of high bred hogs, about 20 young steers some of them ready broketo work, and a few choice young bullocks of the Red Pole and Polled Angus breed. I will also sell some very fine farm mules. Only reason for selling mules is I want to replace them with mares for breeding. I am ordering this sale of improved stock simply as an experiment and if the farmers will buy this stock at anything like fair prices my purpose in future is to have an annual sale of improved stock. Here is a rare opportunity to get especially fine gilts, either of the Berkshire or Polland China blood, for common stock prices and the stock will be offered for sale in such a manner that every one rich or poor, can have the same chance to purchase. In other words you can buy one or as many more as you like. Let everyone interested in this branch of farming attend this sale.

FATE AND ANDREW JACKSON.

What Going West, Not East, Meant to the Fiery Lawyer.

During the young manhood of Andrew Jackson, when he rode the circuit in Tennessee, knowing more law than most of his brethren at the bar, afraid of nothing on earth, ready to challenge to a duel some trained lawyer from the older settlements when that lawyer trespassed upon his own preserves and made fun of his ignorance—as Waighstill Avery did—thus holding his ground against all comers, partly by brute force and partly by mental superiority, he was probably nearer to happiness than he ever was afterward.

From court to court he rode his race horse, pistols in holsters, carrying his gun and his pack of hounds, ready for the courthouse, ready for the deer chase, ready for the shooting match, ready for the horse race, ready for the house raising and log rolling, ready to go out himself and drag into the courthouse the desperado whom the sheriff feared to arrest.

Rough and tumble times these were in backwoods Tennessee, with rude and lawless elements boiling and bubbling in that inevitable period of unrest and struggle which prevails in border settlements before the community takes form and everybody smugly congratulates everybody else on the "reign of law and order."

In just such a state of society young Jackson was peculiarly fitted to lead, dominate and prosper. Had he gone eastward instead of westward, had he cast in his lot with the lawyers that were striving for advancement in the cities of the original thirteen seaboard states, nothing is more certain than that the world would never have heard of him.

His lack of knowledge of the law would have made him easy prey to those who were masters of this profession. His fiery temper would have kept him constantly in battle array, and in fighting those lawyers who got the better of him in the citation of legal authorities he would, in the nature of things, have met the wrong man sooner or later.—Watson's Magazine.

Lowered the Fee.

At a certain church it is the pleasing custom at a marriage for the clergyman to kiss the bride after the ceremony. A young lady who was about to be married in the church did not relish the prospect and instructed her prospective husband when making arrangements to tell the clergyman that she did not wish him to kiss her. The young bridegroom did as directed.

"Well, George," said the young lady when he appeared, "did you tell the clergyman that I did not wish him to kiss me?"

"Oh, yes."
"And what did he say?"
"He said that in that case he would charge only half the usual fee."—London Telegraph.

Not In Time.

Mabel—My dearest Olga, I could not rest until I had come and made an effort to dispel the gloomy thoughts which, to judge from your letter yesterday, threatened to develop into suicidal mania. 'Tis true Alfred has jilted you—the wretch. Still, try to act like a sensible girl and look out for another engagement.

Olga—Your advice comes too late, darling.

"Good gracious, Olga! You surely haven't taken poison?"

"Well, no; no; the fact is, I— I became engaged again yesterday."

Ravage.

Miss Angelina (to Lucy, the parlor maid)—Lucy, if any one calls to see me this afternoon, don't forget that I am only at home to Mr. Fitznoodle.

Lucy—Yes, miss.

Interval of an hour, and Lucy re-appears, looking rather flushed.

"Well, Lucy?"

"Please, miss, there's been five gentlemen call, and when I told them you were out to everybody but Mr. Fitznoodle, they all seemed very surprised and annoyed, while the last one said 'I am sorry for Mr. Fitznoodle.'"

—London Answers.

Professor... once visited... whose manager... desired him to keep... his specimen... addressed him... and asked him... "That's just what ye are!" "No," replied Mr. Playfair, "I am a Scotch professor." "Then, if ye are ye'll be havin' a name." "My name is Playfair," he responded. "Man," said the Scotchman, "are ye Lyon Playfair?" Then, looking from his six feet two inches with compassion on the five feet four of the professor, he continued: "Hoot, men, yer name's traveled further than yer wee legs will ever carry ye!"—Christian Register.

King Solomon was the wisest man that ever lived. People came from miles around just to look at the receptacle of so much wisdom. One day a young man came to him and knelt before his throne. "Oh, king, live forever!" said the young man. "I am in love. I bought the object of my affection a diamond pin. She allowed me to kiss her and later accidentally called me 'dear' and blushed and apologized. Does she care anything for me?" "I don't know," said King Solomon.—Chicago Tribune.

Modest Claims Often Carry the Most Conviction.
When Maxim, the famous gun inventor, placed his gun before a committee of judges, he stated its carrying power to be much below what he felt sure the gun would accomplish. The result of the trial was therefore a great surprise instead of disappointment. It is the same with the manufacturers of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. They do not publicly boast of all this remedy will accomplish, but prefer to let the users make the statements. What they do claim, is that it will positively cure diarrhoea dysentery pain in the stomach and bowels that has never been known to fail. For sale by J. L. Wooten.

ANIMAL KINDERGARTENS.

The Beaver Kitten's Training and the Young Otter's Swim.

It will be noticed that all creatures which have large families, whether beasts or birds, have less trouble in rearing them than those which have only one or two young. Little pigs are weeks ahead of calves in intelligence, and the young partridge, with its dozen brothers and sisters, is far more teachable than the young eagle. There seems no doubt that the latter is taught to fly by its parents. A correspondent informs the writer that he has watched the old birds so engaged and the young eagles reluctantly following them to a height.

Specialized education in animals begins late. The beaver kitten's training does not begin until the autumn of the year in which it was born. The old beavers, which have moved up tributary streams into the woods or roamed to the larger lakes during summer, then return to inspect their dam and repair it for the winter. They then cut down a few trees and, dividing them into logs, roll them or tow them to the dam. The kittens meantime are put on to what in a workshop would be called a "soft job." They cut all the small branches and twigs into lengths and do their share of light transport service. In the mud patting and repairing of the dam the beaver kittens take their share, but there is little doubt that they do so because their elders are so engaged. It is a kindergarten of the best kind, because mud patting and stick-cutting are a great joy and solace to old beavers as well as young ones, and instruction, pleasure and business are all combined.

Young otters, and probably also young water rats, have to be taught to go into the water. According to the observations of the head keeper at the zoo, the young otters born there do not enter the water for weeks, and even then their mother has to "mind" them and fetch them out when she thinks they have had enough of it. They swim naturally when once in the water, and this seems true of all animals.—London Spectator.

Wonder what the Chamber of Commerce is waiting for! Don't let it die again.

Some fellow predicts there will be a 13,500,000 bale cotton crop. That is a bumper.

Greenville ought to be taking steps now to make a tobacco exhibit at the Jamestown exposition.

It is all over so far as registration goes. Those who are on the books can come out and vote Nov. 6th, then that will be over, too.

The Republicans themselves recognize that they have a mill stone about their necks in some men on their ticket in this county.

Turkey is reminded that his day of popularity is drawing near again. Thanksgiving and Christmas would be dull without his presence.

Don't think that because the ticket is going to be elected any way, that there is no need for you to go out and vote on election day. It is your duty as a citizen to vote, and the stay at home man does not have proper interest in his government.

Says the Maxton Scottish Chief: "The Republican speakers had but few hearers Saturday, a majority of these were Democrats." Democrats always did have curiosity enough to want to find out what in the thunder a Republican could say in defense of a party that was always a disgrace to itself, always disgraced and humiliated North Carolina, and wouldn't fail to do it again if it had rope enough. Vote the straight Democratic ticket and your conscience won't lash you for doing anything to bring reproach on the "Good Old North State."—Wilmington Star.

A FALSE STEP.

The political campaign in North Carolina has been more moderate than in fifteen years. We find pleasure in this. There have been few "criminations and discriminations." Last week, however, the criticism of the expense of an increased sum for "free schools" became in this a false step. It is the present administration more than former but that is to have wisely added five s. Our forward policy in public education is the glory of the present time; and nothing will be gained by criticising the expenditures required by it. We need to spend more money for teachers, more money for school houses, and more money to prolong school terms. To criticise the government for increasing these expenditures is really to compliment it.—Biblical Recorder.

True Story of How One Man Got from One Party to the Other.

Zeb Sanders, who, we are told, was educated for the ministry as a beneficiary of the Baptist church, and who is now the Republican nominee for solicitor in the Tenth Judicial District against W. C. Hammer, was a regular fool Democrat a few years ago. Why, he and Jim Dixon fought like dogs (that is right) in the court house in Troy in the fall of 1894 about politics, and they say Jim whipped him. It may be Zeb had to go over to keep Jim from beating him up so bad, and Mrs Sanders got to be postmaster at Albemarle, you know, and there ain't much doing in the law business with some lawyers. We just mentioned this to show the way from one party to the other. Zeb Sanders made a Radical speech a few days ago right where he fought Jim Dixon a few years ago. Raeford Facts and Figures.

HOW ITS DONE.

EXAMPLE FOR INVESTOR 10 SHARES

Value at maturity 6-1-3 years	$1,000.00
ACTUAL COST.
Entrance fee, 25c per share	$ 2.50
332 payments at $2.50	830.00; $ 832.50
Net profit:	$ 167.50

The above represents the maximum cost and the minimum profit. Where else can you safely invest small weekly or monthly surplus funds to earn so handsomely. Remember all taxes on above are paid by the Association.

EXAMPLE FOR BORROWER, 10 SHARE

BUYING AND PAYING FOR A HOME COSTING $1,000
Entrance fee paid once	$ 2.50
332 payments of dues, at $2.50	830.00
332 payments of interest at	385.12
Total outlay	$1,217.62
Less rent for 332 weeks, at $10.00 per month	770.00
Net cost of $1,000 home	447.62
Value of home not counting enhancement	$1,000.00
Less cost above rental	445.30
Clear gain	554.70
Entrance fee	$ 2.50
Total interest paid	385.12
	387.62
Less interest earned	170.00
	217.62

Thus the use of $1,000, for 6-1-3 years has cost the borrower 217.62, or less than 33 per cent. per annum. Shares now on Sale.

SUIT

That's

Different!

We are now ready to show our patrons the fine line of Mens Suits we have ever had the privilege of offering our trade. The man who wants a Fall Suit that's different from the cut and dived styles that greet him at every turn will do well to come here and see what we have to offer.

Our Snits are Different.

They are made by skilled Tailors, the best in the trade. The fabrics are exclusive, and you'll not meet a dozen men dressed in the same style of a suit. If you want to get away from the common sort of seady to wear Suits, come here for yours.

A Word to You About SCHOOL BOOKS

We carry the largest line of school books in this town. We are not larger line of school books to be found in this section of the state. School books and school supplies are our specialties. It is our main business, and we are therefore in the best position to supply our needs. Don't be fooled by what you hear or read. Most anybody can buy a few books and school supplies and claim to be "Headquarters" but it takes your personal inspection to discover the ruse. Come in and compare our line with anything else to be found in Greenville in this line, and see how matters stand. We have just received a shipment of miscellaneous books, novels, choice books in dainty findings, nicely bound editions of the poets etc.

IN A BEAR'S CLUTCH.

The Prostrate Beast Was Not as Dead as He Seemed.

In Russia it is the practice to hunt bears just as they are creeping out after their long sleep. As things are managed the most timid individual may go bear hunting with perfect impunity. Armed with a good rifle, accompanied by a friend and a guide similarly equipped, the most unpracticed hand can usually get his quarry before the half awake creature has proceeded far from his lair. And yet occasionally the unforeseen occurs, as it did in an adventure related by Mr. Whishaw in "Out of Doors in Canada."

The baron and the colonel had purchased rights over a hibernating bear, declared to be one of the largest ever seen. When the animal was fairly dislodged from his place of concealment the baron, who had secured the first shot, fired, and the enormous creature fell prostrate and motionless.

The baron was jubilant. Handing his rifle to the keeper, he seated himself on a fallen tree.

"It's a magnificent specimen," said the colonel. "Wouldn't it be awkward if it should get up?"

"Get up!" exclaimed the baron. "He's as dead as Caesar. Look!"

And going up to the prostrate creature he gave it a kick with his heavy shooting boot. To his horror the bear roared and rose to its full height. With blood pouring out of its mouth it fell bodily on the baron, forcing him to his back and pitching on top of him. The colonel took one step toward his rifle, but the movement caused the bear to place one huge paw on the baron's chest and to fix its wicked eyes on the colonel.

"For pity's sake, don't move!" said the baron. "If you do he'll murder me. Let him fix his attention on you. He suspects you and won't move if you don't."

The moments seemed interminable. At last the keeper managed to edge near enough to receive the baron's whispered instructions.

"Creep up behind the colonel," gasped the poor man, "take his rifle and shoot the bear behind its shoulder!"

Luckily the keeper was an excellent marksman and shot the bear through the heart. The creature landed its hold, shivered and rolled off the half-stuffed baron.

Parliamentary Amenities.

In Michigan some years ago a bill was before the legislature to restore the death penalty for the crime of murder. Three of the ablest members of the house made long speeches in favor of the bill—so long as to be found wearisome, especially by those who disagreed with the opinions expressed. When the third man had finished, a young member on the other side of the chamber rose and said very sarcastically:

"Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of privilege."

"The gentleman will state his question of privilege," said the speaker.

"Mr. Speaker, I wish to inquire of our friends of the other side of the house which they think is preferable—to be hanged or to be talked to death?"

The question was greeted by applause. Then suddenly some one with a very loud voice said:

"Oh, well, if you're going to talk we prefer to be hanged."

Doubtful Compliment.

A clergyman was about to leave his church one evening when he encountered an old lady examining the carving on the font. Finding her desirous of seeing the beauties of the church, he volunteered to show her over, and the flustered old lady, much gratified at this unexpected offer of a private and conducted tour, shyly accepted it. By and by they came to a handsome tablet on the right of the altar. "This," explained the good man, "is a memorial tablet erected to the memory of the late vicar." "There, now! Isn't it beautiful?" exclaimed the admiring old lady, still flustered and anxious to please. "And I'm sure, sir, I hope it won't be long afore we see one erected to you on t'other side!"—Scottish-American.

A DREAM THAT WON.

The True Story That Is Related by a Voracious Writer.

One reason why truth is stranger than fiction is that makers of fiction generally try to be plausible, while truth is never hampered by any such consideration. Here, for instance, is a true story. No reasonably expert fiction writer would think of concocting so improbable a yarn.

A Brooklyn man, whom we may as well call Smith—the Smiths are all so used to it they probably won't mind—this Smith dreamed a policy gig one night not long ago. The numbers were so deeply impressed on his mind that he remembered them when he awoke and told them to a relative at the breakfast table.

"Give me a quarter," said the relative, half in fun, "and I will play the gig today."

Smith tossed a quarter over to him, and the matter dropped from his mind.

That afternoon a knowing horseman gave Smith a dead straight tip. It was the surest thing ever and a good long shot, so Smith borrowed $50 and lost it on the horse.

That evening on his way home he passed the cigar store where he usually stopped. He concluded that, with only 80 cents in his pocket, he'd better smoke his pipe after dinner.

"Give me a quarter," said his relative after the evening meal, "and I'll give you a good cigar."

But Smith went right on filling up the old pipe.

"Well, give me a quarter and I won't give you a good cigar," the relative insisted.

"I've no quarters to spare," Smith answered morosely. He was dreadfully in the dumps. He had promised to pay the $50 next day and had no idea how he was going to raise it.

"Give me a quarter, I tell you," the relative demanded. "I must have it."

"Oh, well, if it's as bad as that"—And Smith flung the silver piece across to him.

"There," said the relative, "now you are entitled to half the winnings. I put a dollar on your dream gig today, and it won an even hundred."

He handed $50.50 out to Smith and the incident was closed. Every one of the three numbers he had dreamed had won.

Now don't tell me that it is a good story. It isn't. It is merely a true story. If I hadn't been prevented by facts I could have made a much more plausible yarn of it, but it wouldn't have been so strange.—Brooklyn Eagle.

A Last Resort For Dinner.

For sheer originality in matters of food I commend the following directions, which one of the Parisian papers gave to its subscribers during the siege of 1870. The supplies were getting lower and lower in the Prussian girt city: Seine gudgeons would not bite, so the anglers took to the sewers: "Take a long, strong line and a large hook. Bait with tallow and gently agitate the rod. In a few minutes a rat will come and smell the savory morsel. It will be some time before he decides to swallow it, for his nature is cunning. When he does, leave him five minutes to meditate on it, then pull strongly and steadily. He will make convulsive jumps, but be calm and do not let his excitement gain on you. Draw him up, et voila votre diner."—London News.

Frugal Jamie.

One day while I was loitering in the doorway of a tobacco shop a Scotchman and his friend entered.

Said Donald, "Will ye have a cigar, Jamie?"

"Yes," responded his friend.

Donald then asked the shopman for two thruppenny cigars, and after both had lighted up he passed on about his business.

Jamie, canny Scot, quietly took a few puffs at his cigar, then slowly turned toward the tobacconist and said, "Mester, you sell these five for a shillin', don't you?"

"Yes, sir," said the dealer.

"Well," said the Scotchman, at the same time fumbling in his vest pocket with thumb and forefinger, "here's a sixpence. Giv' me t'other three."—Lippincott's Magazine.

Musical Recitation.

Although the Quakers as a sect do not favor music, regarding it as a profitless amusement indulged in by the world's people, there are occasionally stories told which show that the love of music sometimes steals its way into a Quaker household in spite of discipline.

George Thompson, the famous English abolitionist, while lecturing in the British provinces stopped one night with a Quaker family. He was a great lover of music and at that time was a good singer. During the evening he sang "Oft In the Stilly Night," which was listened to with the closest attention. In the morning his Quaker hostess appeared somewhat uneasy. She wished to hear the song again, but it would hardly do, she thought, for her to request its repetition. At last, however, her desire overcame her scruples.

"George," she said, with a faint pink color in her soft cheeks, "will thou repeat the words of last evening in thy usual manner?"

THE REASON WHY

IT is only by reason of the maker's intimate, thorough knowledge of women's tastes and the requirements of her feet that "Dorothy Dodd" Shoes have achieved their marvelous success. First, they satisfy the eye and lend distinction to the foot. Secondly, they fit women's feet as only "Dorothy Dodd's" can fit. Thirdly, their large sale permits them to be sold at a moderate price. This store secured and controls the sale of these splendid shoes, because it believes them to offer the wearer more real value and satisfaction than any others possible to procure. New styles now ready. Glad to show even though you do not care to buy.
