THE ELECTION NEXT WEEK.

Forty-Two States Will Hold Elections Tuesday, Twenty-Three of Which Will Select Governors.

Next Tuesday there will be elections in forty-two states and three territories. Oregon, Maine and Vermont have already elected State officers and members of the sixtieth congress. In twenty three of the states a governor and other state officers (in twenty of them, also, a legislature); in ten, minor state officers or justices of the supreme court; in two, congressmen and a legislature, and in seven congressmen only, are to be elected. Oklahoma is to vote on a state constitution, and Arizona and New Mexico on joint statehood.

The terms of thirty United States senators—fifteen Democrats and fifteen Republicans—expire March 1, 1907. Virginia, Louisiana, Mississippi, Kentucky and Arkansas have already selected Democrats, and Georgia has a legislature which will elect another, while Maine and Oregon have legislatures which insure the return of Republicans. Of the twenty-two states in which is to be chosen November 6, a legislature that will elect United States senators, fourteen are now represented in the senate by Republicans and eight by Democrats.

A national house of representatives is to be elected—the sixtieth congress with 283 members. The present house is composed of 250 Republicans and 130 Democrats. Maine has already elected four Republicans, Oregon two and Vermont two.

There is fusion in only one state—Nebraska—where the Democrats and Populists agreed upon a division of the state nominations, though in several other states the Republican or Democratic candidates for State offices have been nominated or endorsed by one of more of the minor parties.

As usual, there is one state ticket—the Democratic—in South Carolina. Pennsylvania leads this year with the greatest number of state tickets—twelve. Parties are numerous, those having tickets in the field being Independence League, Citizens', Commonwealth, City Referendum, Jefferson, American, Anti-Administration, Republican, Reorganized Republican, and Lincoln Republican. Six of them, however, are confined to Pennsylvania.

The Socialists have tickets in 25 states, the Prohibitionists in 32, Socialist Labor in seven, Populists or Peoples' in four, and the Independence League in three, while "public ownership" has a ticket in one state.

The number of tickets in the different states is; 1, *South Carolina; 2, Alabama, Florida, North Carolina, Tennessee, Washington; 3, Delaware, Montana, Nevada, North Dakota, Rhode Island, Utah; 4, Connecticut, Colorado, Idaho, Michigan, Minnesota, Missouri, Nebraska, New Hampshire, South Dakota, Wisconsin, Wyoming; 5, Illinois, Iowa, Kansas, New York, Ohio; 6, Indiana, Massachusetts, Texas; 7, California; 12, Pennsylvania.

HUNTING SEASON BEGINS NOV. 1.

List of What Shall and Shall Not be Killed.

The open season in which game may be killed begins Thursday, November 1, and continues to March 1.

Below is given a list of birds which may be killed and those not to be killed:

NON-GAME BIRDS.

Mocking birds, thrushes, woodpeckers, yellow hammers, wrens, native sparrows, red birds, orioles, chimney swifts, nighthawks or bullbats, whip-poor-wills, martins, warblers; nuthatches, chickadees, gulls of all species, terns or strikes, skimmers, shearwaters, herons and cranes, cormorants, pelicans, sea pigeons, vultures or buzzards, and all other wild non-game birds; also their nests and eggs.

EXCEPTIONS.

(1) The following are by statute declared game birds and may be killed during the open season and in such manner as prescribed by law in the various counties, viz.: Loons, grebes, swans, geese, brant, ducks, rails or marsh hens, coots, gallinules, plovers, shore or beach birds, snipe, woodcock, sandpipers, yellowlegs, curlew, wild turkey, grouse, partridge, pheasant, bob-white, dove, robin and meadow lark.

(2) The following birds are not protected by law, viz.: English sparrows, owls, hawks, crows, blackbirds, jackdaws and rice-birds.

A non-resident must secure a hunter's license from county clerk before hunting in the State.

It is illegal to ship from the State the bob-white or partridge, grouse or pheasant, wild turkey, snipe, woodcock, or any protected non-game birds.

Governor Glenn's View of the State Congressional Election.

Governor Glenn, who is just back from a two weeks' tour in Western North Carolina, where he spoke principally in the Eighth and Tenth Districts, says that the outlook for the election of Hackett and Crawford is most excellent, and that they will be elected by safe majorities. He says that he firmly believes the next congressional delegation from North Carolina will be solidly Democratic.—Raleigh News Observer

Trouble at the Gin.

They are having some trouble in operating Mr. O. Hooker's gin plant on Cotanch street. A large electric motor was recently installed but a defect was found in it. While waiting for this trouble to be remedied the steam engine formerly used was brought into requisition and the cylinder head to that blew off.

Pulling Blind Tigers.

Some negroes were recently arrested for operating a blind tiger out in New town. One of them was arraigned before U. S. Commissioner I. A. Sugg and bound over to court. Another was taken to Tarboro for a preliminary trial.

WINTERVILLE ITEMS.

Something New Happening Every Day.
Winterville, N. C. Oct. 31, 1906.

The new shelters in front of J. B. Carroll & Co's., R. G. Chapman's, Eastern Carolina Supply Co's. stores is a great improvement.

Miss Mollié Maynard has returned after having spent some time visiting relatives and friends in Raleigh and Nelson.

G. G. Fineman was here last week installing a new piano for A. G. Cox.

Misses Cora and Sadie Carroll were here Sunday attending service at the Baptist church.

Praised Everywhere.

"The 4 Pickerts" left on the Sunday night train and there has not been a stock company that struck a popular chord as did those actors. Not only on the stage but on the street they were given a generous and hearty reception.—New Bern Journal.

District Attorney Skinner Invited to Meet the President for a Conference.

Wilmington, N. C., Oct. 30.—Iredell Meares, Esq., associate counsel with George L. Peschau for the condemned mutineers in the jail here under sentence of death on December 15th, lodged a motion for a trial with Judge Thomas R. Purnell, in the United States Court here today, the motion as the question is now being presented to the Supreme Court of the United States in Washington. District Attorney Harry Skinner is in receipt of a letter from the Department of Justice at Washington suggesting that the President would like to talk over the case with him and making an appointment for him to call at the White House on December 5th.

Commerce and the South.

"Following the line of least resistance," the "down-hill haul to the sea," the ever-growing commerce of the country is more and more seeking an outlet through Southern ports. Our foreign commerce, now $3,000,000,000 a year, will double and quadruple, as will our coast-wise trade, but the number of our ports can be very slightly increased even if millions should be expended. Nature has fixed the location of our available ports and forever set the limit upon their number. As commerce expands, Southern ports must grow in opulence and population. Great financial centers must naturally follow, and the vast commerce, of which we have seen only the beginning, which will soon flow through the South, will be a mighty factor in the building of railroads, the growth of cities, the immigration of people from other countries and other sections. There are few countries on earth which have such a geographical relation to the centers of productive energies on the one side and the world's commerce on the other as the South. The human mind cannot fully grasp the wonders of the coming years in this Heaven-favored section.—Manufacturers' Record, Baltimore.

Weather.

Fair and colder tonight. Thursday fair, colder in eastern portion.

Will Elect Deacons Tonight.

At the midweek meeting in the Baptist church two deacons will be elected to fill vacancies. Every member of the church who can do so should be present.

Small Attendance.

The entertainment in the opera house Tuesday night had a very small attendance. It was poor encouragement to the ladies and the object for which they were working.

Only two months of this year left.

Prayer meetings in the churches tonight.

Trouble for the birds will now be in order.

Chrysanthemums will soon be in their glory.

ON THE MOVE.

Names of People Caught Passing.

D. C. James went to Norfolk today.

Charles Skinner went to Grifton this morning.

M. J. P. Williams went to Ayden this morning.

J. R. Moore returned Tuesday evening from Wilmington.

A. B. Willingham went to Richmond Tuesday evening.

Policemen J. T. Smith and G. A. Clark went to Tarboro today.

Mrs. E. O. McGowan, of Elm City, is visiting Mrs. E. B. Higgs.

Mrs. J. H. Boyd returned this morning from a visit to Wilson.

C. R. Lincoln, who has been spending a few days here, left this morning.

Mrs. J. A. Patison of Atlanta, arrived today to visit her daughter, Mrs. L. D. Wade.

Walter C. Johnson, of Oxford, came in Tuesday afternoon to visit his people.

Mrs. Blanche Weeks, who has been visiting here, left this morning for Scotland Neck.

Matthews Must Serve His Sentence.

Raleigh, N. C., Oct. 30.—The supreme court finds no error in the conviction and sentence of Dr. J. B. Matthews, of Greensboro, to twenty years in the penitentiary for poisoning. The appeal was made on the ground that the law in this state does not admit of the conviction and sentence for second-degree murder in the case of killing by poisoning; that there is only first degree and a sentence to be hanged provided.

However, the Supreme court, Chief Justice Clark writing the opinion, holds that section 3271 and 3331 of the revisal are properly construed to empower a jury to determine in its verdict whether a prisoner is guilty of first or second degree murder, no matter whether the killing was by poisoning or other means.

Two Million Dollars Worth of the Staple in One Day From Wilmington.

Wilmington, N. C. Oct. 30.—More than 38,000 bales of cotton, valued at over two million dollars, were exported by Messrs. Alexander Sprunt & Son, in three British steamers that from the custom house today. Two of the cargoes will go to Liverpool, and the third to Bremen. The ships are the Lord Curzon, 14,383 bales; the Osceola, 13,308 bales, and the Huron, 10,000 bales.

Four steamers are left in port for cotton cargoes and are being loaded as fast as possible.

Centenary Methodist Church at New Bern Gives $2,550.

New Bern, N. C., Oct. 30.—The largest missionary contribution ever made in this city was subscribed Sunday at the Centenary Methodist church, when $2,550 was donated to the cause of foreign missions. The pastor, Rev. G. T. Adams, stated that no particular effort had been made to increase the subscriptions. The cause had been presented in the usual way and the church appropriation had been met.

Cotton took the back track some today.

An old man was complaining of his nervousness when his friend said: "You're really the old father of the west." The old man, who was a groom, a man of good age, and the bride's old father had come off to the old man to get a goodly amount of money for the wedding. "What are you looking for dear?" the old man asked. "I'm looking for a check of $1000 from your father's," the old man said. "I don't see it anywhere." "Please put it so that I can see it," said the bride. "He has it with it."

not troubles that robbed E. H. Wolfe, of Bear Grove, Ia., of all usefulness, came when he began taking Electric Bitters. He writes: "Two years ago kidney trouble caused me great suffering, which I would never have survived had I not taken Electric Bitters. They also cured me of General Debility." Sure cure for all Stomach, Liver and Kidney complaints, Blood diseases, Headache, Dizziness and weakness or bodily decline. Price 50c. Guaranteed by J. L. Wooten's drug store.

Saved His Comrades Life.

"While returning from the Grand Army Encampment at Washington City, a comrade from Elgin, Ill., was taken with Cholera Morbus and was in a critical condition," says Mr. J. E. Houghland, of Elgin, Iowa. I gave him Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy and believe saved his life. I have been engaged ten years in immigration work and conducted many parties to the south and west. I always carry this remedy and have used it successfully on 200 of my men. Told by J. L. Wooten.

Sale of Blooded STOCK.

A Rare opportunity by the Farmers of this Section to get improved stock at common Stock Prices.

On Wednesday November 14th, 1906 I will offer for sale at my farm, three miles West of Greenville on the Tarboro road about 150 head of high bred hogs, about 20 young steers some of them ready brcketo work, and a few choice young bullocks of the Red Pole and Polled Angus breed. I will also sell some very fine farm mules. Only reason for selling mules is I want to replace them with mares for breeding. I am ordering this sale of improved stock simply as an experiment and if the farmers will buy this stock at anything like fair prices my purpose in future is to have an annual sale of improved stock. Here is a rare opportunity to get especially fine gilts, either of the Berkshire or Polland China blood, for common stock prices and the stock will be offered for sale in such a manner that everyone rich or poor, can have the same chance to purchase. In other words you can buy one or as many more as you like. Let everyone interested in this branch of farming attend this sale.

The king of the queen of Shalott, when she went to see Solomon, asked the teacher of her little school class of little girls. "No one ventured an answer." "If you had studied your lesson you could not have helped knowing," said their teacher. "Now look over the verses again." "Could she have gone by the cars?" asked the teacher, beginning to lose patience as the children consulted their books, but appeared to arrive at no conclusion. "Yes'm," said a little girl at the end of the class. "She went by steam cars." "Did she, indeed? Well, Louise, we would like to know how you found that out?" "In the second verse," responded the child, "it says, 'She came with a very great train.'"

Three Crowns.

During the middle ages the elective emperors of Germany at their coronation wore three crowns—the silver crown as king of Germany, the iron crown of Lombardy as king of Italy and the imperial crown as kaiser of the holy Roman empire. The first was received at Aix-la-Chapelle, the second at Monza and the third at Rome, but Karl V. was the last kaiser-king who received the imperial crown at the pope's hands.

Little Margaret was to take her first bath in the river. A fine new bathing suit had been made for her, and she donned it with great pride. Her mother, with Margaret's sisters, took her down. She was very timid about going in until she saw the others were perfectly safe in the water. Then she ventured in. The water suddenly grew deeper and came above her waist, much to the surprise of the little maid, who cried out in anguish: "Oh, mother, my bathing suit leaks!"—Harper's Weekly.

"Habit is a tenacious thing, isn't it?" interrogated the man in the hotel lobby the other evening. "Now one of my habits (you see I am a very poor writer, the proverbial chicken marks not beginning to describe my hieroglyphics) is to write at the close of my letters, 'Please excuse poor writing.' Kind of a foolish expression, isn't it? Well, anyway, it just caused me some annoyance. A minute ago I dictated a letter to the stenographer over there," and as he spoke he pointed to the immaculate young woman, who was evidently still trying to hide her amusement about something, "and after I had paid her it suddenly occurred to me that the letter hadn't been finished, and I turned and told her to put at the close, 'Please excuse bad writing.' Habit is a very strange thing, now, isn't it?"—Columbus Dispatch.

The story is told of two Trenton men who hired a horse and trap for a little outing. Upon reaching their destination the horse was unharnessed and permitted peacefully to graze while the men fished for an hour or two.

When they were ready to go home a difficulty at once presented itself, inasmuch as neither of the Trentonians knew how to reharness the horse. Every effort in this direction met with dire failure, and the worst problem was properly to adjust the bit. The horse himself seemed to resent the idea of going into harness again.

Finally one of the friends, in great distress, sat down in the road. "There's only one thing we can do, Bill," said he.

"What's that?" asked Bill.

"Wait for the foolish beast to yawn!"—Harper's Weekly.

This old lady was a hypochondriac. Her various diseases interested her, and she talked of nothing else. One day a visitor found her eating heartily and inquired as to her health. The invalid sighed and answered, "I feel very well, ma'am, but I always feel bad when I feel well, because I know I am going to feel worse afterward."

THE WORD FEMALE.

Why Should It Be Contemptuously
Turned Out of Doors?
The fortunes of words, indeed,
are subject to as many vicissitudes as the fortunes of individuals. But there is perhaps no one term which just now deserves more commiseration for the hard fate which has befallen it than the substantive "female"
used as a synonym for "woman."
It is turned out of doors by every corrector of the press. It is contemptuously spoken of as a vulgarism. Modern ignorance has sometimes styled it a modern vulgarism.

Both as a substantive and as an adjective "female" goes back to the fourteenth century, but though then occasionally employed as a synonym for "woman" such usage can hardly be called common. Still it is found. The Wycliffe translation of the Bible, for illustration, reads in the twenty-fourth chapter of Matthew that two women shall be grinding at a mill, the one to be taken, the other left. But in the polemic treatise Wycliffe wrote, expounding this same chapter, the "women" of the gospel appear as two "females." The word turns up occasionally from that time during the three centuries that follow.

It is clear that the elder writers, born and brought up amid the linguistic traditions of the earlier half of the nineteenth century, were not in the slightest degree under the influences now prevalent and that the dispute into which the word has fallen is mainly the work of the last thirty years. It is hard to tell under what circumstances the feeling of dislike to it arose or what were the main determining agencies that brought about the state of feeling we recognize as existing today. If the remark will not seem invidious, I am inclined to attribute the disfavor in which it is now held to the ill will entertained and expressed toward it by the members of the sex it denotes. It may be said that they ought to have a determining voice in choosing the appellations by which they are denominated.—Thomas R. Lounsbury in Harper's Magazine.

WEDNESDAY, OCT. 31, 1906.

Some of the North Carolina Republican politicians can put the blush on Annanias when it comes to lying.

What fakes the Republicans work to try to fool people into voting their ticket! Wonder what they will spring next.

The Republicans of Pitt county have certainly fallen into dire straits. They have almost reached the point of desperation.

The Standard Oil Company was fined $5,000 by the Ohio court. That will not necessitate an advance in the price of oil, so the consumers need not be alarmed.

The best way to rebuke the Republican canard mongers is to go to the polls on election day and vote the Democratic ticket. Make the majority as large as possible.

Chairman F. C. Harding, of the Democratic county executive committee, has managed a splendid campaign in the one now drawing to a close. The result will be a big Democratic vote on election day.

One of the best informed colored men in town was discussing politics and remarked "I don't see how even a self respecting negro could vote the ticket the Republicans have put out in Pitt county this year." What think the white men of Pitt county, who are hesitating about how they will vote, of this?

DEMOCRATIC RALLY AT GREENVILLE.

On Thursday, November 1st, 1906, Hon. J. Bryan Grimes, H. W. Whedbee, F. G. James, the county candidates and other prominent speakers will address the people on the political questions of the day.

Let everybody attend on this field day and hear prominent Pitt county Democrats discuss the issues of the campaign.

Brass band and other features will make the occasion enjoyable.

F. C. Harding, Chm. Dem. Ex. Com. W. L. Brown, Secretary.

Flowers on Water Grave

"There is the queerest passenger I've ever seen on these boats," remarked a deck hand on a Staten Island ferryboat. He nodded in the direction of a woman dressed in black whose whole attitude bespoke some ever present grief. "She comes down here every Sunday," he continued, "and always seems to catch this particular boat. She brings a few flowers with her, and when we get down near Robbins reef she drops the flowers overboard, one by one, into the water. Of course I don't know just why she does it, but I suppose either her husband or perhaps her son must have been drowned somewhere about that spot and she scatters the flowers on the water like other folk put them on a grave."—New York Press.

Not a Stranger.

Having sold things all day and, incidentally, having been sold himself, the commercial traveler was glad to find rest at a hotel he very frequently patronized. But, lo, he gazed on something new. A large printed notice was conspicuously placed on the sideboard, which ran as follows:

"Strangers are particularly requested not to give any money to the waiters, as service and attendance are charged for on the bill."

His favorite waiter sidled up to him as he was about to retire. "Pardon me, sir," he remarked, "I don't think that rule need trouble you much. You were never a stranger in this house, you know, sir."—Stray Stories.

A LITERARY JOKER.

The Way a Clever Writer Hoaxed Chicago and New York.

We are all of us liable to be hoaxed. If New York is the richest and Boston the most dignified city, Chicago is certainly the most flip, or as she would put it, the most "flip." Yet even Chicago once was hoaxed, unmistakably, irredeemably, irrevocably hoaxed.

The heartrending occurrence in question took place when Matthew Arnold was visiting the United States. He had just returned to New York from a lecture tour to Chicago, where he was made the honored guest of some of the richest pork and beef millionaires of the Lakeside City. On his return to New York, however, there was wired back to Chicago an article from the New York Tribune by Mr. Arnold, in which he spoke with the utmost scorn of Chicago's social and literary shortcomings. What most moved his scorn was the fact, as he said, that one evening at a Chicago dinner party he spoke of "Obermann," but his neighbor did not know who or what "Obermann" was. When he explained that it was the work of De Senancour, "To my amazement and disgust," he added, "not a single person in that assemblage, man or woman, had ever heard of 'Obermann' or had ever heard of De Senancour."

The grief and rage with which this philippic was received in Chicago could not be told in words. For several days the journals of that city were filled with letters denouncing Mr. Arnold and his "abuse of hospitality." Another curious manifestation of the Chicagoese resentment of foreign depreciation, together with their thirst for knowledge, was shown by the fact that the libraries of that great city were inundated by hordes of persons seeking for copies of "Obermann" and information about De Senancour. It goes without saying that they were mostly ladies.

About the fourth day the aggrieved Mr. Arnold pricked the bubble with his pen. It seems that the article in the Tribune was a clever hoax. It had hoaxed all concerned, including the Tribune editor and the Tribune readers, for New York laughed heartily at Chicago's ignorance of "Obermann." It had also hoaxed Chicago, which was painfully sensitive over its own ignorance. The only American community which remained utterly unpaid amid the ruins of America's pretensions to literary knowledge was Boston. Boston had heard of "Obermann." There was a copy of it in the Boston Public library, the only one, it was said, in the United States.

The amusing part of this whole matter is that not one Frenchman in 5,000 ever heard of De Senancour, and not one Frenchman in 500,000 ever heard of "Obermann." The Tribune hoaxer had selected one of the most obscure of French novels and one of the most obscure of French writers. But he brought down birds with both barrels.—San Francisco Argonaut.

A Score Settled.

It was at a party on the other afternoon, and it was still so early and the company so few that conversation was possible. They met, the two women who have hated and kissed each other these two years. "Yes," said one, "I've been so busy all week—sowing, you know, for my little girl." "You're so industrious, my dear," said the other, "and so ambitious to attempt so much. I'm sure I shouldn't dare, I sew so badly." "Oh! I'm sure you underrate your skill," returned the one with a smile like a rapier thrust. "I'm sure that gown you have on looks very well indeed." And every one within earshot knew that a score had been settled.

Such Is Life.

"It doesn't seem altogether fair," observes the man with the introspective eyes.

"What doesn't?" asks the man with the discouraged whiskers.

"There's old man Meddergrass' son Samuel. He wouldn't stay on the farm and become a tiller of the soil like his father. Ran away from home and studied art, then came back and painted some views of the old farm. And he got $150 for a picture of a field that his father would be glad to sell for a five pound note."—London Answers.

MEN OF LEISURE.

There is a Vast Difference Between Them and Mere Idlers.

The word "leisure" comes from a Latin word which means "it is lawful," or it is permitted, or it is allowed, and, therefore, by leisure we do not mean idleness, but a space of time during which or a condition in which we are at liberty to do as we please. Hence "leisure" has come to signify the time during which we are free from the demands of profession, business or occupation and which we can at our own pleasure devote to something other than that which is regarded as our work in life. It is taken for granted that every man should have some work in life, some duty or occupation which it falls to his lot especially to perform, whether from necessity or choice. If a man profess to have no such demand upon his energy and time or if he ignore the fact that he ought to have his work in life, it is the fashion to call him "a man of leisure," which, in this sense, is one of the most ignoble epithets which can be applied to any human being.

On the other hand, we often see persons doing their legitimate work in such a self-contained and deliberate way that we speak of them as working leisurely. There cannot be greater praise. They have such command over their work that they really take their own time about it, and the consequence is that the work is well done. Contrast these with persons who work excitedly and nervously, who cannot brook the slightest interruption and who regard with impatience everything which does not immediately fall in with the task in hand. The former ought to be called the "men of leisure" and the fashionable name for the do nothings changed into idlers. We wish to emphasize the fact that leisure has something to do with law and rule. It implies a right to command ourselves and is the very opposite of that tyrant which does more to ruin life than any other—hurry. Every man ought to aim at doing his daily duty in a "leisurely" fashion.—Philadelphia Ledger.

Servant Problem Solved.

"I have solved the servant problem," said the woman with the compressed lips and the determined eyes.

"You have?" asked the other person.

"I have. When things get to such a pass that the hired girls want three days out in the week, want the use of the parlor every other night and Sunday afternoon, want me to play soft love songs while they are entertaining their beaux in the kitchen on other evenings, insist on the privilege of dictating what groceries and meats I shall buy, claim the right to wear my clothes and bonnets, dictate whether or no I shall keep a dog or a child, succeed in having my house decorated and furnished to accord with their tastes, and—well, when things are as they are here, it"—

"Not going to keep servants any longer?"

"Not more than that. I am going to hire out as a servant and enjoy life."—Judge.

Happy Lot of American Composers.

The musician in America is doubly handicapped. He can hear relatively but little music, and he can have his own work produced not at all. We always have a German sitting upon the safety valve, lest American steam should sizzle out and the imprisoned genius, when once let loose, prove as difficult to manage as the fabled one of the brass battle in the "Arabian Nights." To say this without disrespect to the admirably qualified foreigners who direct our orchestras is, in fact, to say that the majority of our theater music.—

Her Turn First.

A teacher in one of the country schools, says Lippincott's, had a class of young children in mathematics before her. The examples were in addition, and she propounded this question: "Now, children, if I lay four eggs on the desk and Sam," pointing to a freckle faced boy at the head of the class, "should lay three, how many would there be?"

The bad boy, who was at the foot of the class, had been listening intently and shouted out: "Go on, Sam, take her up. She can't do it."

A Wet Umbrella.

There was a slightly injured look on Mrs. Compton's face and her husband hoped that her sister, who had been passing the day, had not attempted to give his wife advice about domestic affairs.

"Did you have a good time with Mildred?" he ventured at last.

"Oh, yes, very nice," and Mrs.
Compton sighed. "We shopped together this morning and this afternoon we went to the organ recital.
It sprinkled when we came out and I had to lend Mildred my umbrella," with a second sigh.

"Well, she'll return it all right," said Mr. Compton, slightly flushed at his wife's tone. "Mildred isn't the forgetful kind."

"It's not that, Henry," said Mrs.
Compton. "It's only that it poured before Mildred got home, long before she got home, and it was my new umbrella. You know how a person feels about a new umbrella, Henry."

His Egotism.

An English barrister named Hud-leston, a general favorite at the bar, was the butt of many jokes.
A great dandy, he always wore a powdered wig and white kid gloves in court. He was somewhat egotistical, and during a general criticism of him some one said in his defense, "At all events, you never hear him speak ill of anybody."
"No," rejoined Ballantine, a brother barrister, "but the reason is that he never speaks of anybody but himself."

The Publisher's Claims Sustained

UNITED STATES COURT OF CLAIMS

The Publishers of Webster's International Dictionary allege that it is, in fact, the popular Unabridged thoroughly re-edited in every detail, and vastly enriched in every part, with the purpose of adapting it to meet the larger and severer requirements of another generation."

We are of the opinion that this allegation most clearly and accurately describes the work that has been accomplished and the result that has been reached. The Dictionary, as it now stands, has been thoroughly reedited in every detail, has been corrected in every part, and is admirably adapted to meet the larger and severer requirements of a generation which demands more of popular philological knowledge than any generation that the world has ever contained.

It is perhaps needless to add that we refer to the dictionary in our judicial work as of the highest authority in accuracy of definition; and that in the future as in the past it will be the source of constant reference.

THE REASON WHY

It is only by reason of the maker's intimate, thorough knowledge of women's tastes and the requirements of her feet that "Dorothy Dodd" Shoes have achieved their marvelous success. First, they satisfy the eye and lend distinction to the foot. Secondly, they fit women's feet as only "Dorothy Dodd's" can fit. Thirdly, their large sale permits them to be sold at a moderate price. This store secured and controls the sale of these splendid shoes, because it believes them to offer the wearer more real value and satisfaction than any others possible to procure. New styles now ready. Glad to show even though you do not care to buy.
