

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE.

Meeting Friday Night Poorly Attended.

If the Chamber of Commerce is to accomplish what it ought to do for Greenville, the business men must take more interest in it than was manifest at the meeting Friday night. There lacked one of being a dozen present, which was a very small percent of the business men in the town.

Several matters were discussed, but the only real business that could be transacted was adopting the report of the committee on constitution and by-laws appointed at the last meeting.

It was then decided to adjourn to Monday night, 12th inst at which time a board of directors will be elected and standing committees appointed. It is hoped a large number of business men will be present at that time. Every one who feels an interest in the progress of the town should be there.

The South's Prosperity.

Mr. J. W. White, the general industrial agent of the Seaboard Air Line road, in a talk with a Washington Post reporter, gives some views of industrial progress in the South that will be read with pleasure by all people. He says, with truth, that "a man who has no been through the South in the past year or two, can hardly imagine the progress made toward the development of its resources. The work has advanced so as to astonish even those actively engaged in it. These conditions are pleasing, but not entirely satisfactory, because the results accomplished are but a small part of what would be attained if the necessary labor could be secured. We are face to face with the greatest labor problem we had to contend with in many years." The South needs more labor and must have it. This problem is being solved by E. J. Watson, Commissioner of Immigration for South Carolina, who is now nearing Charleston on the steamer Wittegind with five hundred selected immigrants. Mr. Watson says that among these people are one hundred and fifty farmers in families, who pay their own way. That's the sort of immigration to turn into the South. The progress and development of the South is retarded only by the lack of labor. That being supplied, this country will go forward at a still more rapid rate.—Charlotte Chronicle.

Street Blocked by Train.

A log train blocking Dickinson avenue near the depot for half an hour, Friday afternoon, caused some people to think things they did not learn in Sunday school. Thought there was a law against trains standing across streets unnecessarily long.

The Ladies Aid Society of the Methodist church will meet Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock with Mrs. J. L. Little. It is earnestly desired to have a good attendance.

PROGRAM FOR TEACHERS' MEETING.

Saturday, Nov. 10, 1906.

- 10 a. m. Devotional exercises, Rev. J. E. Ayscue.
 - 10:15. Reading of minutes and roll call.
 - 10:30. Appointment of standing and special committees.
 - 10:40. Announcements by county superintendent and distribution of letters and blanks.
 - 10:50. Address, The Value of Enthusiasm in the Teachers' Work, Supt. Harvey MacCall.
 - 11:10. Paper, Memory Work in the School, Miss Ellen Gertrude Neff.
 - 11:30. Address—Superintendent C. W. Massey, Durham, N. C.
 - 12. Meeting of the Womans Betterment Association.
- We had a fine meeting last month. It was good because the teachers were there. It will be better this time if you will come. I beg you to stand by this association this year and lets make it a great power in the educational progress of the county. New life will be given by the meeting of the Woman's Betterment Association. Will you be here?
W. H. Ragsdale,
Co. Supt. of Schools.

Language of the Umbrella.

There is a language of umbrellas as of flowers. For instance, place your umbrella on a rack it will often indicate that it will change owners.

To open it quickly in the street means that somebody else's eye is going to be in danger.

To shut it quickly signifies that a hat or two will probably be knocked off.

An umbrella carried over a woman, the man getting nothing but the drippings of the rain signifies courtship.

When the man has the umbrella and the woman the drippings it indicates marriage.

To pan your umbrella into a person and then open it means "I dislike you."

To swing your umbrella over your shoulder signifies "I am making a nuisance of myself."

To trail your umbrella along the footpath means that the man behind you is thirsting for your blood.

To carry it at right angles under your arm signifies that an eye is to be injured by the man who follows you. This is generally a woman's way of carrying her umbrella.

To open an umbrella quickly, it is said, will frighten a mad bull.

To put an alpaca umbrella by the side of a silk one signifies "Exchange no robbery."

To purchase an umbrella means "I am not smart; but honest"

To lend an umbrella means "I am a fool."

To return an umbrella means—well, never mind what it means; nobody ever does that.

To carry an umbrella in a case signifies it is a shabby one.

To press an umbrella on your friend saying: "Oh, do take it; I should much rather you would than not," signifies lying.

To give a friend half your umbrella means that both of you will get wet.

WINTERVILLE ITEMS.

Winterville, N. C. Nov. 3, 1906.

C. A. Fair, of Ayden, was here Friday afternoon,

Mrs. Luthur Fletcher, of Robsonville, is visiting her parents, Elder and Mrs. Fred McLawhorn.

Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Hunsucker spent Friday in Greenville.

J. M. Taft, relief operator in the absence of J. E. Green, returned to his home at Hobgood the first of the week.

Frank Carr one of Green county's leading citizens, was here Thursday.

Miss Cora Carroll was here Friday afternoon shopping. She will begin teaching Monday.

Little Beatrice Nye entertained a few of her little friends Friday afternoon, celebrating her fourth birthday.

Miss Nannie Nichols went to Greenville Friday.

R. H. Hunsucker is having two large houses erected on his lots near his residence. He is one of our most wide awake business men, who sees that if our town is built up rapidly, we must have good, comfortable buildings to attract the best people to it.

The Republican candidates were here Friday. After the county candidate had announced themselves the legislative nominees made speeches. They had a respectful hearing from a fairly good sized crowd most of whom were Democrats.

Misses Stella Croom, Louise Satterthwaite, Selma Hardee and Nannie Little, students of the W. H. S. left Friday to spend Saturday and Sunday at their homes.

Miss Susie Hurst left this morning for Oak City where she will spend Sunday with her parents.

Strenuous Week.

Getting out election tickets and other rush work has made this a hard week on the printers, but with a Sunday rest day coming in between they hope to recuperate enough to get to the polls and vote.

Tobacco Sales for October.

According to the report furnished by Mr. C. W. Harvey, secretary of the Tobacco Board of Trade, the sales of leaf tobacco on the Greenville market for the month of October were 1,974,397 pounds at an average of $10.35 per pound. The total sales for the three months since the season opened were 6,322,646 pounds.

Opens Monday Night.

There are three nights of good amusement in store for those attending the opera house the coming week. The Pickerts will play for three nights, beginning Monday, and have new plays with plenty of specialties. Seats are on sale at Reflector Book Store.

County commissioners will meet Monday.

brella means that both of you will get wet.

To carry it from home in the morning means "It will very likely be a fine day."

'A STRIKING NOVEL AND IMPORTANT FEATURE.

A striking feature of the Jamestown exposition is the collective exhibits by cities, comprising and combining the manufactures and municipal attractions.

The plan is meeting with general approval, a number of the larger cities have secured large areas for a display, and many smaller places are falling into line. The economy and simplicity of the plan appeals to every community that has attractions to offer to settlers and desirable locations for manufacturing plants. It appeals to local pride and to those manufacturers who desire to extend their business or the territory they desire to cover.

Different trade organizations are also contemplating selective exhibits of the highest productions of their members, the plan being similar to that whereby pictures of artists are selected by committees for exhibit in the the saloons of Paris. By this means only the best are shown.

The president and the United States commissioners are especially anxious to have the highest and best products of our factories shown to the thousands of foreigners who are coming to the exposition which will include the greatest naval and military display the world has ever seen.

Boy Still Missing.

Lenoir, N. C., Nov. 2.—Rev. J. H. Nelson is still unable to get any clue as to the whereabouts of his son, Lawrence, who disappeared about five weeks ago. Several Lenoir people have joined with Mr. Nelson in the search for his son, but to no avail. There is some reason to suspect foul play as the young man left with between $50 and $60 in his pocket.

Fell Under a Train.

Salisbury, N. C., Nov. 2.—Mrs. Mary Cotton, aged 50 years, was run over and killed by a freight train this afternoon. She was about to board another train for her home at Albemarle and lost her balance, falling under the wheels of the freight.

Both lower limbs were severed and her body was frightfully mangled. Death was instantaneous. Mrs. Cotton leaves a husband and from whom she was separated.

SERVICES TOMORROW.

ON THE MOVE.

Names of People Caught Passing.

R. J. Cobb went to Weldon this morning.

S. J. Parham went to Parmele this morning.

O. L. Joyner went to Richmond Friday evening.

Miss Dora Hornaday came from Ayden Friday evening.

Miss Irma Cobb left this morning for a visit to Rockingham.

Rev. F. D. Viehe left this morning for Elizabeth City which place he will make his home.

Mrs. D. D. Gardner and children left this morning for a visit to Hamilton.

Jamestown Exposition Notes.

The numerous side trips that may be taken from the Jamestown exposition, with little loss of time from exposition sight seeing will add greatly to the pleasure of spending a vacation at Jamestown in 1907. The historic points within a few minutes of the grounds are too interesting to be missed. Fast small boats will put these places within easy reach.

The management of the Jamestown exposition hopes to be able to show how alcohol may be produced most cheaply and that method may be used in its production so that the farmer may be instructed in its manufacture, for the whole world is looking to denatured alcohol to revolutionize economic conditions dependent upon heat fuel and power. A cheap method of making this product may increase the value of an acre of corn to $80. or more.

There will be 154,000 square feet of floor space in the machinery and transportation palace at the Jamestown exposition.

Four Ballots.

There will be four ballot boxes at the polls next Tuesday and every voter can deposit four ballots as follows:

1. One for the State officers, the corporation commissioner and superior court judges.
2. One for Congressman.
3. One for solicitor, members of the Legislature and county officers.
4. And one for constable and magistrates.

Let every voter be sure to go to the polls and deposit all four ballots, and read them all carefully before voting!

Cotton Mill Men To be Prosecuted.

Washington D. C., Nov. 2.—The government is going to prosecute North Carolina cotton mill men for violation of the alien labor contract law. This fact was made known today, though not officially announced, in a statement from Assistant Secretary Murray, of the Department of Labor and Commerce, who declared that the government has decided to deport the English textile operatives under arrest at Charlotte and Gastonia. There have been twenty-three of these foreign cotton mill operatives under arrest and the number was increased to twenty-eight.

Weather.

Fair tonight and Sunday, warmer in western portion tonight.

About Old Gloves.
Old kid gloves or kid slippers may be utilized for making kettle or iron holders. Leather being a bad conductor of heat, these holders are much more effective than flannel ones. Squares of kid should be cut out, joined together and covered with felt or flannel, the edges being bound with braid or strips of thin leather. The housewife will be surprised how such holders save her hands from the heat.

Cleaning White Ribbons.
White ribbons—satin, messaline, louisine and the rest of the satiny kinds—which have become soiled may be washed in tepid water in which soap suds has been dissolved. Stretch them out upon a board to dry—an ironing board covered with clean muslin is splendid for the purpose—pinning the ends firmly, so as to stretch the ribbon beyond the need of pressing if possible.

To Wash Challis.
For washing challis rice water is the best. Boil one pound of rice in five quarts of water. When cool put the challis in with the rice and water and wash well, using the rice much as you would soap. If no rinsing is used the rice will have a good effect on the fabric.

Sale of Blooded Stock.

A Rare opportunity by the Farmers of this Section to get improved stock at common Stock Prices.

On Wednesday November 14th, 1906 I will offer for sale at my farm, three miles West of Greenville on the Tarboro road about 150 head of high bred hogs, about 20 young steers some of them ready brcketo work, and a few choice young bullocks of the Red Pole and Polled Angus breed. I will also sell some very fine farm mules. Only reason for selling mules is I want to replace them with mares for breeding. I am ordering this sale of improved stock simply as an experiment and if the farmers will buy this stock at anything like fair prices my purpose in future is to have an annual sale of improved stock. Here is a rare opportunity to get especially fine gilts, either of the Berkshire or Polland China blood, for common stock prices and the stock will be offered for sale in such a manner that everyone rich or poor, can have the same chance to purchase. In other words you can buy one or as many more as you like. Let everyone interested in this branch of farming attend this sale.

THE SPIRIT OF TRAVEL.

Seeing One's Own Country Before Taking a Trip Abroad.

Going abroad enjoys the prestige of many generations and its paths are deep rutted. It has lost all claim to distinction, however, and nowadays is not a thing to talk about among your friends unless you wish to bore them to distraction. The tourist party has made the undertaking so commonplace that to have whizzed through Europe implies neither a long purse nor the slightest originality of intellect. I was once crossing in a steamer which contained an average muster roll of touring Americans. Those who were making their first trip abroad and felt inclined to put on some small airs about it were speedily cowed and abashed. They found that most of their fellow voyagers had crossed from three to ten times, and that the only passenger who enjoyed the slightest distinction was a veteran who was doing his twenty-sixth run across the pond.

Far be it from me to decry the enlightening advantages of sight-seeing in the old world, where age and tradition and the novel aspect of people and things arouse the imagination and refresh the tired mind. But for one American who returns in a wholly refreshed and satisfied condition I will find you another who will confess to numberless irritations because of petty and organized swindles and extortions waged against the Yankee in a strange land, and to futile annoyance over bad hotels, poor railway service and a civility that is won and held only on a cash basis.

Largely because it has been possible for the man of moderate income to spend one or two months abroad for a considerably smaller outlay than he could tour his own country, he puts seeing America last instead of first, and it has been uphill work to induce people who travel to listen to the claims of the undiscovered land toward the Golden Gate. It has come to pass, however, that the journey from New York to California is considered worth talking about as much as the trip to London or Paris, and there are grounds for hope that at no far distant time the average American with money and time for a summer or winter holiday will take pains to study his own land before he flies to the nearest steamship office to get a sailing schedule.—Stuart L. Douglas in Outing Magazine.

Modest Claims Often Carry the Most Conviction.
When Maxim, the famous gun inventor, placed his gun before a committee of judges, he stated its carrying power to be much below what he felt sure the gun would accomplish. The result of the trial was therefore a great surprise instead of disappointment. It is the same with the manufacturers of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. They do not publicly boast of all this remedy will accomplish, but prefer to let the users make the statements. What they do claim, is that it will positively cure diarrhoea dysentery pains in the stomach and bowels and has never been known to fail.

It is practically all over now but the voting. Every Democrat turn out at the election and help swell the majority.

From what people are saying about the wash tub right seven-dles that are going, somebody is likely to get in trouble.

Reports that come up from the Republican speaking at Winterville, Friday, indicate that some of them are lying to the end.

Since Judge Purnell, of the Federal court, gave the New Hanover jail such a drubbing, the county commissioners may get a hump on themselves to improve it.

Every now and then the Dukes on this side of the pond, and the Castellanes on the other side, bob up in the courts and give the reading public a chance to talk about divorce in high life.

They have charged it to the newspapers, to the police force, to Tom Dixon's "Clansman," and to goodness knows what else. May be some of these days they will get at the real cause of the Atlanta riot.

Who is it that will ever have clear understanding of the way of the cotton market. The Richmond Times-Dispatch says that in Mississippi many planters sold their crops in June and July for October delivery. But some of them are having trouble. They over estimated their yield, and now find themselves unable to deliver the cotton. In order to get around their obligation, which calls for bags and not pounds, they are making light packages, putting in light packages what could be pressed in ten. The interesting part about the transaction is that it is said to account for surprising figures of the ginners' reports which cause the recent slump in the price of cotton.—Charlotte Chronicle.

True Knowledge.

A man is aware that his home needs a coat of paint and that the want of paint really detracts from the tody appearance of his home, but the fiend of procrastination has taken a fatal hold upon him so he delays until perhaps illness befalls himself or one of his family in consequence of the weather beaten or water soaked weather boards that are supposed to shelter himself and family, when perhaps the reasonable small investment in Town and Country paint of one fifth the cost of the doctor bill would have prevented the illness and added value to the market price of the home. Sold by Baker & Hart, Greenville, N. C.

Hits Both Ways.

Many a woman goes out shopping dressed in silk and enveloped in perfume whose hard-working husband hasn't had a new suit of clothes or a decent meal in five years. Yes, and many a loafer stands on the streets with a stinking pipe in his face, his tank full of "booze" and his mouth full of profanity, whose hard-working wife hasn't had a new dress or a kind word since she was married.—Goldsboro Headlight.

South American Rivaling Niagara.

In the heart of South America, at the meeting place of three republics, Brazil, Argentina and Paraguay, nature has chosen the site for a magnificent waterfall to be compared only to the mighty Niagara in majesty and pronounced by some of the few travelers who have seen it to be even greater than its North American counterpart.

About twelve miles above the falls the river Iguazu makes a sharp bend, almost at right angles, giving them greater height and more varied character than those of Niagara, which is a single, straight, unbroken fall. At this sharp bend the main volume of the water is discharged into a long, narrow gorge, at one point making a clear plunge of 210 feet. Not all the volume of the river is received at this place, however, the rest of the water running out past it into the wide elbow formed by the bend and circling along the farther shore among rocks and islands before reaching the edge of the cliff, over which the descent is made in two great leaps of a hundred feet each in a vast semicircle of 3,000 feet.

The double fall of Iguazu is the most striking feature of the cataract, the rocky shelf or platform that divides the leap being in some places more than fifty yards wide and in others only a few feet.

The scenery surrounding Iguazu falls is in peculiar harmony with the solemn grandeur of the cataract and its varied character. The roar of the waterfall is more impressive for the solitude of the spot and the eternal silence that reigns in the dense forests that mark its border into which the white spray is scarcely penetrating. For several miles before the falls are reached the river is a narrow, treacherous channel, with boulders and whirlpools, and the first view of the great cataract is often a disappointment, from the fact that it must be seen from many different points to be appreciated in all its beauty.—National Geographic Magazine.

Too Short For Romeo.

"It is a great misfortune to a serious actor to be short," said a theatrical manager. "The short man must have a shorter leading lady, or if he waives this privilege he must in his scene with her, see to it that when the parting near on another she stands on a table or kneels on a stool, while he stands very close in his high heeled shoes. The manager of the Mission that he had a play that with all that advice he had an excellent production. Four who dared to play the part with a Juliet of six feet were taken to one night. The manager sighed, 'I wish I were the man that had!' A shrill voice called from the gallery: 'Ye wouldn't fit. Yer too small!'"

Ethel is three years old. Her father, gone home the other afternoon, after working three days and nights under high pressure, with no sleep to speak of, and lay down with the feeling that he might not wake up for a week. Within five minutes the greatest amount of noise would not have aroused him.

Three-quarters of an hour later, from the depths of his dreams, he heard a clear, small voice:

"Father, father, father, father!" The sleeper stirred and sank deeper.

"Father, father, father!" He struggled and resisted and floundered, and finally raised his eyelids like a man lifting giant weights. When sight came to him he saw Ethel smiling divinely beside his couch.

"Father, father!" "What is it, daughter?" "Father, are you having a nice nap?"—Judge.

"A man in politics should have lots of friends, shouldn't he?" "It depends," answered Senator Sorghum, "on whether they are friends who want to do something for you or who want you to do something for them."—Washington Star.

NAMES OF SHIPS.

So Many Are Identical That Much Confusion Constantly Results.

Any horse owner may give his horse whatever name he chooses, as no law will prevent him doing so. However, it is safe to presume that in the case of a valuable animal bred for racing purposes the owner will take good care that the name given the quadruped be such as to create no confusion with that of any other race horse. Newspaper owners are debarred by the copyright law from duplicating the names of rival publications, and the same restriction applies to theaters, shops, road houses, etc. Shipowners enjoy, in common with horse owners, the privilege of giving their craft any name which may suit their fancy. A look at the register, however, will convince any one of the poor imagination many owners have displayed in naming their vessels and what inextricable muddle has resulted from the repetition of names.

When a ship's name is free from duplication in the ship's own country, the evil is not great, as the precaution of referring to the nationality of the vessel will avoid all confusion. When, on the other hand, the same names are given several deep sea vessels flying the same flag, the modern shipping trade Theseus who ventures in this labyrinth without the thread of Ariadne in the shape of a clew as to some particulars of the ship he is endeavoring to identify finds himself baffled at every turn and constantly facing the Minotaur who appears in the shape of doubt and needless anxiety. British shipowners, as representing the larger share of the total tonnage owned in the world, have been responsible in no small measure for this state of affairs. Among the names especially relished by them, those evoking memories dear to the heart of the loyal Britain have, of course, been repeated with the greatest alacrity.—Shipping Illustrated.

Selling Shoes According to Hoyle.

There is an enterprising dealer in men's shoes in Boston who, at one time, was accustomed to display in his window three new $1 bills. The accompanying announcement used to read something like this: "Three of a kind beat two pair."

On one occasion a bright young man undertook to get the better of the dealer. Entering the store, he said to the proprietor, "You sell shoes according to the rules of Hoyle, I see."

"Yes," was the reply. "I wear size No. 9," said the bright young man; "wrap me up two pairs of them."

When he had received the shoes he ordered in payment thereof $3.

"I don't see," said the proprietor, "but these shoes come to $6."

"Not according to Hoyle," said the bright young man, with a complacent grin, "three of a kind beat two pair."

"Very true," responded the suave proprietor, "but they don't beat four ones. Six dollars, please."

His Hard Luck.

"Yes," said Mrs. Herlihy, pressing a damp handkerchief to her eyes, "he's an unfortunate man, me asin Celia's man is. If ever there's a chance of a good thing he's always a little to wan side. If it isn't been for that he'd be in his me now instid of in the hospital, Sam."

"Why, I understood that Timosteped backward off the stag and fell clear to the ground," said the district visitor, sympathetically ruzzled.

"He did," said Mrs. Herlihy, with a fresh burst of tears, "but if I fall a bit more to the right there was a great pile o' bricks, an' would have broke his fall annyway."

Discouraged.
"I'm goin' to stop bein' kind and helpful to people," said little John.

"How is that?" asked his mother. "Well, it's this way: At school to-day I saw Tommy Jones putting a stone in the master's chair, so just as the master was about to sit down I rolled away the chair. The master fell down on the floor, and when he got up he licked me for pulling away the chair, and then Tommy Jones licked me for interfering. I'm goin' to stop helpin' peoplow."—London Express.

THE REASON WHY

IT is only by reason of the maker's intimate, thorough knowledge of women's tastes and the requirements of her feet that "Dorothy Dodd" Shoes have achieved their marvelous success. First, they satisfy the eye and have a distinction to the foot. Secondly, they fit women's feet as only "Dorothy Dodd's" can fit. Thirdly, their large sale permits them to be sold at a moderate price. This store secured and controls the sale of these splendid shoes, because it believes them to offer the wearer more real value and satisfaction than any others possible to procure. New styles now ready. Glad to show even though you do not care to buy.

THE NEW AND ENLARGED EDITION OF WEBSTER'S INTERNATIONAL DICTIONARY

Excels in Vocabulary. It is the most useful in size and contents, judiciously selected to exclude corruptions of good usage, and to avoid unintelligible technicalities.

Excels in Arrangement. Each word begins a paragraph in its correct alphabetical place and is readily caught by the eye.

Excels in Etymologies. These are complete and scientific, and embody the best results of philology. They are not scribbled or crowded into obscure places.

Excels in Pronunciation which is indicated by respelling with the diacritically marked letters used in the schoolbooks, the sounds of which are taught in the public schools.

Excels in Definitions. They are clear, terse, yet complete, and are given in the order in which the word has acquired its shades of meaning. Many of the definitions are illustrated.

Excels in its Appendix which is a packed storehouse of useful knowledge.

Excels as a Working Dictionary. No other book embodies so much useful information, or is so indispensable in the home, study, school, or office.

The International has 2380 quarto pages, 5000 illustrations, 25,000 new words, revised Gazetteer of the World, and a revised Biographical Dictionary, etc. It received
