NO. 2507.

NEGRO DESPERADO COMMITS TRIPLE MURDER.

Asheville, Nov. 14.—Fighting bravely in defense of their police captain, Patrolmen Charles Blackstock and William Baily two of the most efficient members of Asheville's police force, were shot to death on South Main street at 11:30 o'clock tonight by a negro who proclaimed that his name was Will Harris, of Charlotte, a desperado, for whom a large reward has been standing for some time. Prior to the death of the two officers, a negro restaurant keeper named Ben Allison, fell dead at the hands of Harris, who, handling a savage rifle, killed without provocation. Another negro named Tom Feil lies mortally wounded, he, too, being shot before the officers took a hand in the mele.

Harris started out on his death dealing tour from a negro house on Valley street. He fired into two houses as he made his way to South Main street, one of the principle streets of the city. As he reached Eagle street he fired at and wounded Allison.

On South Main street the desperado encountered Tom Neil and fred point blank at him. The noise of the shooting caused Police Captain Page and officers Baily and Blackstock to start from police headquarters on the run, blowing their whistles as they went. Baily took his stand at the head of South Main street and the courthouse square, leaving his captain and Blackstock to go on ahead.

It is reported that Captain Page met the negro in the centre of Main street, the former receiving a bullet in the arm from the negro's rifle. The wounded captain called upon Blackstock to fire, but before the officer could do so he fell dead with a bullet in the chest. Harris then started on a run for the square, where Patrolman Baily was waiting for him. Baily fired twice, but missed his man, and the negro, turning his rifle on the officer, sent a bullet crashing through the latter's brain. The officer lived but a few minutes after he fell.

The negro then ran down South Main street toward Biltmore, and at midnight was still at large.

Poor Crops.

Mr. H. M. Dixon, of Wharton, was here Wednesday, and told us that crops had been awfully poor down in his section this year. He said that many farmers would not average more than one bale of cotton from twenty acres. This was caused by the excessive rains during the summer.

Burglars Moving.

The burglars visiting the towns along the branch of the railroad have got as far as Scotland Neck where they broke in houses in the same manner as at other places. The burglars are going to break in once too often, then there ought to be something doing.

ABOUT THE STATE.

Some Interesting Happenings Given in Brief Form.

Salisbury, Nov. 13.—W. S. Gray, night money clerk for the Southern Express Company at Salisbury, was missed today, and simultaneously with his disappearance a shortage of more than one thousand five hundred dollars was discovered in the packages being handled today by the company here. Gray skipped Sunday night at a late hour.

Salisbury, N. C. Nov. 13.—Grover Cline, a foreman for Lane Bros. Co., contractors, on the double tracking of the Southern railway, accidentally shot and killed himself at Lake, twelve miles north of Salisbury, last night. With a number of other employees Cline had gone to the camp for the night, and in washing his face at a basin dropped his pistol from his belt. The revolver was discharged and the ball crashed through the chest of the young man, killing him instantly.

Wilmington, Nov. 13. A warrant was sworn out Saturday night by Victoria Larkins, a colored woman, charging Preacher Shells, who officiates at Mount Zion church, on Fifth between Swann and Nixon streets, with the larceny of a trunk containing property valued at $700 and the warrant was placed in the hands of Deputy Sheriff John W. Smith to be served. Mr. Smith looked for the ebony hued divine all yesterday morning and about 12 o'clock located him at the above mentioned church, where he was busily engaged preaching a sermon for the edification and delight of his interested audience. This, however, did not deter the strict disciple of the law who sent a messenger to the pulpit of the divine to tell him that his presence was desired. The divine reached for his hat and without the formality of a farewell to his dusky congregation accompanied Mr. Smith down town. He was released from custody a short while after as some one stood his bond of $100.

Jim Bond Arrested for Threatening to Burn Judge Connor's House.

Wilson, Nov. 13.—One night last week some one put a note under Judge Connor's door, a mile from town, threatening to burn the house. The family was very much alarmed, but the officials wished to keep the matter quiet until they could find the guilty party. Sunday Mr. George Connor, son of the Judge, went to Raleigh to see his father and talk the matter over with him. He and the Judge returned here yesterday and found sufficient evidence to warrant the arrest of Jim Bond, alias John Dempsey, a former servant of Judge Connor. Bond was put in jail. He will probably be tried this week. He is the same negro who obtained goods on a forged check yesterday.

This cuts down the fuel pile but saves the ice bill.

GIN HOUSE BURNED.

Between midnight and one o'clock this morning the gin house on the farm of Mrs. L. W. Whichard, 2 miles west of town on the Tarboro road, was destroyed by fire. No ginning had been done there in several years but the building was used for storing crops. There was in it at the time of the fire about 10 bales of seed cotton, a large lot of cotton seed and a quantity of fodder, besides baskets and farm tools, all of this being destroyed. It is believed that the fire was the an incendiary.

There was some insurance on the building but none on the cotton.

Wednesday Night, Nov. 21st.

The attraction at Masonic opera house, on Wednesday night, Nov. 21st, will be "Joshua Simpkins." It's a strong rural comedy drama, opening with a realistic scene of rural home life, showing Skinner Tavern with Uncle Josh's Briar Farm in the distance. The play progresses, abounding with interesting situations, until the climax is reached, in the third act, when a human being is helplessly bound to a log to be cut in twain by a mammoth buzz saw and is only saved by the timely arrival of Uncle Josh. "Joshua Simpkins" was written with a view of keeping an audience thoroughly amused, and it fully carries out the author's intention. The plot is not allowed to interfere with the comedy parts to an extent, thus producing a play that is thrillingly interesting and said to contain many laughs. The company carry a fine orchestra and a laughable burlesque band.

Six Causes for Divorce.

Philadelphia, Nov. 13.—The national congress on uniform divorce laws held its second meeting in this city today. The first meeting was held at Washington nine months ago, at which time adjournment was taken to permit a committee to draft a bill on uniform divorce law to be presented to the Legislatures of all the States. The bill drawn by the committee names six causes for which divorces can be granted. They are infidelity, felony, bigamy, desertion, habitual drunkenness and intolerable cruelty.

The committee recommends that the various Legistures be asked to agree on a period of residence before application may be made for divorce. It is expected by the committee that this recommendation, if adopted by all the States, will decrease the number of migratory divorces.

Ayden to do the Honors.

A district meeting of Odd Fellows will be held in Ayden on the 6th of December, and the Free Will Baptist says the Ayden lodge will leave nothing undone to make the meeting a grand success.

November has reached mid-way.

Dr. D. B. CLAYTON DEAD.

Stricken While Preparing to Start on Journey.

Columbia, S. C. Nov. 13.—The Rev. Daniel B. Clayton, Universalist evangelist who has preached throughout this State and Georgia and North Carolina, dropped dead of heart disease at the home of his son, William P. Clayton, 1507 Richland street, while being over to pick up a dress suit case and umbrella as he was about to start for the early morning train on a visit to his daughter, Mrs. R. T. Wheelright, at Mars Hill, N. C. Mr. Clayton was 89 years old.

Mr. Clayton was greatly beloved throughout the territory in which he had preached, and his sudden death will be a great shock to his thousands of friends. His home was at 1917 Assembly street, this city. Dr. V. P. Clayton, formerly postmaster at Columbia, but for the past several years in the revenue service, was his son.

Dr. Clayton was well known and beloved by many people in Greenville where he often visited and preached.

Weather.

Fair tonight, colder on the coast. Friday fair.

Hours Change at Library.

After Friday, 16th, the hours for the library to be open are from 3:30 until 5:30 p. m. until further notice.

If the bird hunters are doing any big thing bagging game it has not been reported.

November is beginning to show its ugly side. The first half was pretty enough.

The members of the Baptist choir will meet for practice tonight at the home of Mrs. B. E. Parham.

P. T. Anthony and W. J. Boyd have formed a copartnership for doing a brokerage business at Greenville and Ayden.

That was a good dinner served at Pender's store today. Go tonight and you will be served just as good supper.

The Chamber of Commerce membership committee is at work. Put your name on the list when one of the committee calls.

We return thanks to the publishers for a copy of the Turner-Ennis North Carolina almanac for 1907. It is the same good and useful book as of yore.

Robert Maklin, representative of Joshua Simpkins Co., dropped in on us today to complete the arrangements of the appearance of his company here on next Wednesday, November 21st. By changing the present basis he consented to play here for 25, 35 and 50 cents. His company is a good one. they carry a brass band and will have a full orchestra on night of performance. Look out for the parade.

For the first time in twenty years Ashe county has gone Democratic. The Republicans have very little left them in this State and if the Democrats will continue their splendid administration of affairs there will be no chance for them in the future. The people set their seal of approval on the Democratic administration of State affairs.—Charlotte News.

THANKSGIVING DAY.

Proclamation by the Governor of North Carolina.

While the excessive rains have damaged our crops, and twice during the year the public peace was marred by acts of lawlessness, yet our manifold blessings have so far surpassed our temporary ill that they call to us for thanksgiving and prayer.

The per centage of increase in the State (agricultural, industrially, educationally, and morally) has been phenomenal, and far exceeded our fondest hopes. The prices of farming and trucking lands have largely increased in value. Industrial enterprises are being rapidly developed throughout the State and are paying good dividends. Peace and good-will now exists between labor and capital; no pestilence or scourge has visited our State, and with the above two exceptions law and order have been maintained.

Our educational progress is a source of congratulation, as longer terms, more efficient teachers, better school houses and equipment mark a new and progressive period in our history, while the growing religious spirit note a moral and spiritual progress forewitnessed by the progress of material and things. As a State, we have prospered during the past year as never before and it is therefore appropriate that a certain day be set apart for praise to the Supreme Ruler of the Universe for the blessings so abundantly given.

Therefore, that all shall have an opportunity of showing their gratitude, I, R. B. Glenn, Governor of North Carolina, join with the President of the United States in fixing Thursday, the 29th day of November 1906, as a day of general rejoicing and thanksgiving, during which day thanks for past mercies may be given and requests for future guidance made.

On this day I ask our people, as far as is practicable, to suspend all business and grant a holiday, and to assemble at 11 o'clock at their places of worship and offer up thanks to God for His numerous blessings, and to consecrate themselves afresh to His service, and to the protection and building up of the State.

I likewise ask the ministers of all churches on that day to especially hold up before the people the blessings to come from a life of soberness and industry, peace and good order, and by freely giving to the cause of charity, thus making us more loyal citizens and better Christians.

I also implore all while enjoying their holiday, to do nothing that will tarnish the fair name of the State or dishonor God, but that all they do may increase their love of country.

In witness whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the great seal of North Carolina to be affixed.

Done in our city of Raleigh, this 9th day of November, 1906, and in the one hundred and thirtieth year of our American Independence.

R. B. GLENN,

By the governor,
A. H. Arrington,
Private Secretary.

Personal Sermon.
A minister of the kirk of Scotland once discovered his wife asleep in the midst of his homily on the Sabbath. So, pausing in the steady and possibly somewhat monotonous flow of his oratory, he broke forth with this personal address, sharp and clear, but very deliberate:

Susan woke up with a start and rubbed her eyes, as did all the other dreamers in the edifice, whether asleep or awake.
"Susan," continued her clerical spouse, "I didna marry ye for yer wealth, sin' ye had none. And I didna marry ye for yer beauty. That the hail congregation can see. And if ye hae not grace I hae made but a sair bargain wi' ye!"

Brides in Spain.
In Spain a bride has no girl attendants to stand at the altar with her, but instead a "madrina," or godmother. Neither does she have a wedding cake or any festive departure after the ceremony. The wedded pair go quietly to their new home, where they remain until the following day, when they start on their honeymoon. Before leaving they pay a formal visit to their respective relatives.

STOKERS ON A BATTLESHIP.

Henry Nevinson, special correspondent of the Glasgow Herald with the British blue fleet in the recent maneuvers, after describing how blue dodged red's superior force in the Atlantic and raced into the English channel, says:

"While we in the salt air and sunshine of the bridge admired our speed and watched the enemy receding behind us, the true heroes of triumph were toiling in narrow chambers of iron far below the water's level. There, for sixteen hours apiece during our forty-eight hours' run, the stokers labored in an atmosphere that, I think, was never less than 120 degrees and in the chamber of the old cylindrical boilers was more. Four hours on and eight off ran the shifts, and for four hours at a time each stoker plied his furnace, shut in from above by the armor which makes a battleship's stokehold very different from a liner's. The down draft whirled the black dust round them; the fires burnt their flesh; they streamed with sweat; in spite of all precautions the glare scorched their eyes."

And for a word of praise and two shillings a day, adds Mr. Nevinson, they did it all and smiled!

Reads Like a Story.

A Clark Russell story in real life is reported from New Zealand. The Taviuni, a Pacific trading steamer, recently arrived at Auckland with two members of the crew of the Lord Templeton, a ship voyaging from Newcastle to Honolulu. They were Englishmen, and the rest of the crew were foreigners. Fights and quarrels among the latter were so frequent and violent that the Englishmen found life on board intolerable. So one night, in mid-Pacific, they seized a small boat and quietly left. They visited various islands and were kindly treated by the natives. After many adventures they reached Papeete, the principal French trading center in the Pacific. There they were picked up by the Taviuni and taken to Auckland.

Peculiar Austrian Law.

A few days ago the murderer of an Englishman who was killed in Austria in July of last year was tried, convicted and sentenced to twenty years' imprisonment. He owes his life to a peculiarity of the Austrian law. Premeditated murder is commonly a capital crime there, but when the murderer has between the commission of his crime and his trial been punished for some other misdeed the death sentence cannot be passed upon him. In this case the murderer had served a week's sentence for some petty offense after the killing, but before his arrest for it.

The World's Submarine Cables.

There are about 225,000 miles of cable in all at the bottom of the sea, representing $250,000,000, each line costing about $1,000 a mile to make and lay. The average useful life of a cable nowadays is anything between thirty and forty years, according to circumstances. About 6,000,000 messages are conveyed by the world's cables throughout the year, or 15,000 a day, the working speed of any one cable being up to 100 words a minute under present conditions. About 90 per cent of these are sent in code or cipher.

Whole Town Has the Habit.

"If physicians are right when they advocate plenty of fresh air in winter and summer as a preventive and cure for tuberculosis, then the people of Evanston, Ill., won't have to worry much about the great white plague," said John R. Donald of that thriving Chicago suburb, who is at the Plankinton House. "Nearly the entire city has taken to sleeping out of doors or in tents. There is an open air tent in nearly every yard, containing cots, and the fresh air fad is in full blast."—Milwaukee News.

Fined the Weather Man.

There's a rule at the Cosmos club in Washington by which any member of the club is fined for talking shop. The other night it looked as though the treasury would not be enriched from this source, but Professor Willis Moore, chief of the weather bureau, came to the rescue. Just as he was leaving the club he turned to a group of friends and courteously bade them "good evening." He was recalled and fined.

Modest Claims Often Carry the Most Conviction.

When Maxim, the famous gun inventor, placed his gun before a committee of judges, he stated its carrying power to be much below what he felt sure the gun would accomplish. The result of the trial was therefore a great surprise instead of disappointment. It is the same with the manufacturers of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. They do not publicly boast of all this remedy will accomplish, but prefer to let the users make the statements. What they do claim, is that it will positively cure diarrhoea, dysentery, pains in the stomach and bowels and has never been known to fail. For sale by J. L. Wooten

CO GROWER OF THE STATE

HE TURNED THE LAUGH.

A Quick Witted Orator Who Was Equal to the Occasion.

An orator who was equal to an emergency was the late George A. Sheridan, who was a noted "spell binder" often engaged by the Republican national committee. At a big meeting he was addressing in a town near New York he was introduced by a Mr. O'Brien, the chairman, in most flattering terms. In order to reciprocate Mr. Sheridan paid a glowing tribute to the sterling qualities of the chairman and wound up the eulogy by asserting that no man could say Mr. O'Brien owed him a cent.

"He owes me $3!" came a keen Celtic voice from the rear of the audience.

It was almost a solar plexus blow for the orator, and the audience started to laugh and jeer. Rallying the speaker said: "Don't be alarmed, good friends. I will answer that man presently." This assertion was to gain time and if possible have the audience forget the incident. But again that penetrating voice cried out:

"He owes me $3 cold cash!"

Advancing to the edge of the platform, General Sheridan in a confidential tone said: "Yes. I know all about the $3, for my friend, Mr. O'Brien, has given me the inside facts. Ladies and gentlemen, the truth is simply this, and it reveals a peculiar character: This man who has interrupted me met Mr. O'Brien recently and asked him for the loan of $10. 'I haven't got ten,' said generous Mr. O'Brien, 'but here are $7,' handing the money to him. Now this man is going around saying my friend, the honorable chairman, owes him $3 because he could lend him only $7 when ten were requested." A roar of laughter filled the hall, and the indignant man tried to answer the orator. He was howled down. The chairman whispered in General Sheridan's ear: "You have saved me. You are a genius."—Leslie's Weekly.

King Edward's Fast Clocks.

During the season the platform of the station for Sandringham is now and again occupied by bands of people who complain angrily that they are half an hour too soon for their train. They have not discovered in time that all the clocks at Sandringham are kept half an hour fast. This is a curious fancy which the king shares with several of his friends—Lord Pembroke, for instance, whose clocks at Wilton House are all half an hour fast. At no place, however, is the scheme carried out more thoroughly than at Sandringham, where all the clocks in the house, stables and kennels, and even the church clock, are kept exactly half an hour fast.—London Mail.

The French Duel.

Even the French are beginning to see humor in the French duel. Certain radical papers of Paris held up to ridicule the recent burlesque encounter between General de Negrier and General Andre. The French dueling pistols are old fashioned muzzle loading weapons, carrying a round bullet, and they may be so loaded that at twenty-five paces—the regulation distance—a man might be hit without being hurt. The system of firing by word of command gives no time for an aim to be taken.

Extraordinary Marine Disaster.

A German marine disaster of an extraordinary character is reported. The good ship Agathe, from Hamburg, laden with barley, reached Elbing, where the shipyards are, and was beating up the Elbing river. An ox watched the vessel from the bank. A sudden squall carried the ship a little off her course, with the result that she collided with the ox, impaling it on the jib boom, "from which it was removed with difficulty."—

English Village With 93 Girls and Only 11 Boys in its School.

The rural village of Toppesfield in North Essex has become prominent on account of a phenomenon in the births recorded there.

During the last decade the great preponderance of girls born in the parish over the boys has been noticed, and at the present moment the scholars attending the village school comprise ninety-three girls, but only eleven boys. In consequence of this the county education authority is contemplating the substituting of a schoolmistress for the present schoolmaster.

It is among those belonging to the place, the present state of affairs has aroused considerable concern, and the question is being asked where the farm laborers of the future are to come from if matters do not change. The medical officer for the district has been consulted, but he can ascribe no cause for the greater number of girls. --London Chronicle

No matter whether it thinks conditions ripe for an election or not, every county should have prepared and passed by the next legislature a law allowing a vote on the question of a good roads bond issue. Such a law is a mighty good thing to have around so that it can be used when wanted. --Greensboro Industrial News.

Stunning Prosperity.

A professional man of distinguished ability said a few days ago that the people of North Carolina and the South have not prepared themselves for the prosperity that has swept upon them. He said that it is too great for them to realize and manage. And there may well be some warning against such stunning prosperity. There are many dangers accompanying such a state of affairs. One danger is the probable, yea almost sure drift into extravagance which is always hurtful in the end whether considered for individuals or for people as a whole. Once into the drift of extravagance it becomes harder to adjust to the necessities of adversity when it comes. And it is not probable that any persons or people will always be free from adversity, however prosperous they may be for awhile. Then this great era of unusual prosperity may have a danger about it of causing people to forget everything else but money. Money-mad is a bad condition for any person or people to drift into and it would better be guarded against anywhere. Let us be glad for our prosperity and use it to the best advantage possible and guard against any dangers that may accompany it. --Scotland Neck Commonwealth.

He's Your Husband

A great deal is said by lecturers and a great deal written by writers about how good husbands ought to be to their wives--and of course they ought. But sometimes it seems as if the wife being good to the husband is omitted. Here's a suggestion which we clip from the Rich Square Times:

Don't complain of your husband to anyone, not even to your own mother. If she is the wise woman you think her she will respect you all the more. Did you think when you married your Will or your Harry that he was the one perfect man in all the world, and now you have found out he is very human, after all? That it does seem sometimes as though he loved himself a little better than you? That he can even bear to differ with you sometimes in matters that concern you very much? And, oh, dear little woman, that he will forget just what you want him to remember sometimes? Now just take our advice and don't tell anybody. He is your husband--your other self--and you ought to cover his faults just like you do your own. --Scotland Neck Commonwealth.

LOOKS BETTER

PAYLESS

THAT is what hundreds of sensible men are doing-- buying our fine Ready for Service Clothes instead of bothering with a tailor.

You get better Clothes that way; better sales and better satisfaction. Nine times ten a better fit, so as for the cost, you can see for yourself what a profit the wholesale tailor makes; his army of detail specialists, his big capital, his enormous buying of fabric and his system of cutting, making and finishing a thousand suits at a time, are all factors in lowering the price to you.

BE WELL DRESSED

Don't make the mistake of buying the cheap ready made they are dear at any price. No one can do the impossible-- give something for nothing-- good cloth and high-class fabrics cost far more than they used too.

When $15 to $20 an up will pay for one of our Splendid Suits, the few dollars you might save don't represent economy -- or good sense either. Come in and let us show you "how good Ready Clothes" can be.

We have all the latest styles in Fine Clothes for men $10 to $20 -- and everything desirable in Fall furnishings.

THE FALLS OF IGUAZU.

South American Spectacle Rivaling Niagara's Grandeur.

In the heart of South America, at the meeting place of three republics—Brazil, Argentina and Paraguay, nature has chosen the site for a masterpiece of scenic grandeur to be compared only to the mighty Niagara in its majestic grandeur. Witnessed by some of the new travelers who have seen it to be even greater than its North American counterpart. The falls of Iguazu occur at the junction of Iguazu river with the Upper Paraná, in a spot as famous as the original locality of the Jesuit missions, established in the sixteenth century, the ruins of which may still be seen by those who visit the falls.

About twelve miles above the falls the river Iguazu makes a sharp bend, almost at right angles, giving them greater extent and more varied character than those of Niagara, which to some degree they resemble. As the river makes the sharp bend already mentioned the main volume of water rushes around the inner bank and is discharged into a long, narrow gorge, at one point making a clear plunge of 210 feet. Not all the volume of the river is received at this place, however, the rest of the water running out past it into the wide elbow formed by the bend and circling along the farther shore among rocks and islands before reaching the edge of the cliff, over which the descent is made in two great leaps of a hundred feet each in a vast semicircle of 3,000 feet. The total length of Iguazu falls, if measured, at the upper edge of the cliff, through their broken contour, including interesting islets, is twice as great as that of Niagara, including the intersection of Goat island.

The double fall of Iguazu is the most striking feature of the cataract, the rocky shelf or platform that divides the leap being in some places more than fifty yards wide and in others only a few feet.

The scenery surrounding Iguazu falls is in peculiar harmony with the solemn grandeur of the cataract and its varied character. The roar of the waterfall is more impressive for the solitude of the spot and the eternal silence that reigns in the dense forests that mark its border, into which the white man has scarcely penetrated. For several miles before the falls are reached the river is bordered by frowning bowlders and the first view of the cataract is often from a distance from the falls. The scene is appreciated in all its beauty by the National Geographic Magazine.

Too Good to Be True.

"It is a rare fortune for a serious actor to be called a theatrical man," said a port man must have a wife, a lady, or if he waives that privilege he must, in his scene with her, see to it that when the pair draw near on another she sits or leans on a table or kneels on an ottoman, while he stands very erect in his high heeled shoes, thus creating the illusion that he is rather tall. But with all that a short actor is always at a disadvantage. I once knew an excellent tragedian of five feet four who dared to play Romeo with a Juliet of six feet. The western town one night Romeo, as usual, sighed, "I wish I were a glove upon that hand!" A shrill voice called from the gallery: "Ye wouldn't fit. Yer too small!"

Sacred Fires of India.

The sacred fires of India have not all been extinguished. The most ancient which still exists was consecrated twelve centuries ago in commemoration of the voyage made by the Parsees when they emigrated from Persia to India. The fire is fed five times every twenty-four hours with sandalwood and other fragrant materials combined with very dry fuel. This fire, in the village of Oodwada, near Bulsar, is visited by the Parsees in large numbers during the months allotted to the presiding genius of fire.

Origin of "Grass" Widow.

"She is a grass widow," said the professor, nodding in the direction of a woman with yellow hair. "A 'grass' widow? Oh, professor, I didn't think you would use slang." "Grass widow is not slang," said the professor stoutly. "It is, on the contrary, a very ancient and correct expression. It comes from the French 'grace.' It was originally written 'grace' widow. Its meaning is widow by courtesy." "There is nothing slangy or disrespectful in the term 'grace' widow." A widow may call herself that with propriety.—New York Press.

THE BOOK THAT PLEASED.

Papa Plays a Low Down Literary Trick on Mamma.

"Boys will be boys, but some of us have been on earth so long that we forget the pleasures that appealed to us in the days of our youth," observed a well known public official in the federal building recently.

"I think I can best illustrate the truth of this fact by relating a story of what happened in a family of my friends.

"When little Willie went to bed the other night he was careful to hang up his juvenile pants so that the pockets would be turned to the wall. The action caught the eye of his fond mother and she proceeded to investigate as soon as Morpheus had lulled the youngster to sweet and gentle dreams.

"Instead of finding a deck of cards, a corn-cob pipe or real revolver, as she had fearfully anticipated, the good woman found, to her mind, something a whole lot worse—a blood and thunder novel, one of the kind that deals in darings adventures, mushy love and heroes by the peck. But you know the style. You have read them. So have I, 10,000 or more.

"The horrified mother made no attempt to hide the awful pain that flickered around her beating heart, and flying downstairs three steps at a time dashed into the library.

"Oh, Harry," she cried in a tone of pure anguish to her husband, "look at this awful thing I found in the pocket of Willie's trousers!"

"That won't hurt him," said Harry without going into the spell of spasms seemingly necessary on such occasions.

"But still," he added reflectively, "I guess I had better take care of it."

"Papa stuck the obnoxious novel in his pocket, and then followed a long parental discourse on the ethics of training the rising generation in the way it should grow. A few evenings later, after little Willie had been put to bed, the husband turned to his wife with a cheery smile.

"Minnie," said he, "I picked up a rare piece of literature today, and thought perhaps if you had nothing else on hand I would read it to you."

"All right, I don't mind," replied the wife, who probably thought she had no alternative.

"So papa began to read and mamma became intensely interested. The clock struck midnight, and papa dropped the book with a sigh.

"It's getting late, dear. We will finish the book tomorrow night."

"There are only a few more chapters, Harry," pleaded the wife, "and I really can't sleep until I know how the story turns out."

"Thus encouraged papa continued reading, and did not stop until the end was reached.

"Well, Minnie, what do you think of it?" he asked as he laid the work aside.

"Fine," answered Minnie. "Where did you ever get it?"

"It's the book you found in the pocket of Willie's pants," was the smiling rejoinder."—Indianapolis Star.

Parents' Bright Sayings.

The London Truth's puzzle department recently awarded a prize to the author of the following specimen of amusing things said by parents to their children:

A pitman was exceedingly proud of the wonderful scholarship of his son. One day he put the lad through an examination as follows: "Billy, what gender am Oi?" "Mackelone." "Right. Now what gender is yer mather?" "Feminin." "Right a n. An' what gender is this terpot?" (Takes up Britannia metal terpot.) "Newtor." "Wrong." "An' that's the first mistake Oi ever know'd yer to mek. Still, it ain't a very big blunder—yer only said 'newtor' instead of 'pewter.'"

The Fate of a Mule.

The surgeon of a large hospital was paying a visit to the patients when he came to a cot whereon lay an Irishman, who was not bearing his pain very bravely, for he was groaning loudly.

"Oh, come, my poor fellow," remonstrated the surgeon, "try and bear your pain like a man. It's no use kicking against fate."

"Shure, you're roight, sorr," groaned the Irishman, who had been severely kicked by a mule, "special-ly whin they're the fate of a mule!"

HIS USE FOR T.

A land agent's wife should be Lottie;
 All ministers have need of Grace;
 A shoemaker calls his wife Pegg--
 Though homely it quite suits the place.
 A druggist should choose Ann Eliza.
 And Betty's the sporting man's mate;
 A bachelor's choice should be Mary,
 Before 'tis forever too late.
 A mail-man of course needs Carrie,
 A farmer for Tillie will quake;
 A fisher needs Nettie or Minnie,
 And Lena the fat man should take.
 A name for the wife of a lawyer
 Can plainly be seen by all eyes;
 I'll leave it to you and your conscience,
 Now wouldn't the best one be Lize?

THE REASON WHY

IT is only by reason of the maker's intimate, thorough knowledge of women's tastes and the requirements of her feet that "Dorothy Dodd" Shoes have achieved their marvelous success. First, they satisfy the eye and lend distinction to the foot. Secondly, they fit women's feet as only "Dorothy Dodd's" can fit. Thirdly, their large sale permits them to be sold at a moderate price. This store secured and controls the sale of these splendid shoes, because it believes them to offer the wearer more real value and satisfaction than any others possible to procure. New styles now ready. Glad to show even though you do not care to buy.
