NO. 2506.

MORE TRAINS WANTED.

Railroad Asked to Increase Passenger Service Between Parmele and Plymouth and Weldon.

Williamston, N. C., Nov. 15.—The North Carolina Corporation Commission met here at 12 o'clock yesterday in the room of the Lotus Club to consider the petition of thirteen towns between Plymouth and Parmele and Weldon for a double daily passenger and mail service over the Atlantic Coast Line. Every section in the east that is connected with Rocky Mount through the Coast Line branches has a double daily passenger service. That part of the Plymouth branch extending from Rocky Mount to Parmele a distance of 35 miles, has double passenger service, where that part of line from Parmele to Plymouth a distance of 39 miles, has not. That portion of these two lines that is discriminated against touches three county seats, virtually affects three counties, even indirectly, thirteen towns and seventy-five thousand people.

W. H. Newell, of Wilmington, N. C., superintendent of transportation, and J. F. Council, of Norfolk, district superintendent, were present at the hearing and represented the railroad. Hon. Claude Kitchen, of Scotland Neck, and Messrs. Wheeler, Martin, and S. J. Everett, both of Williamston, represented the petitioners. The petitioners proposed the extension of the Spring Hope train to Plymouth and the Plymouth train to Spring Hope, and that the Kinston train, running from Kinston to Tarboro, be put on from Kinston to Weldon. The railroad officials made a counter proposition to the effect that an additional freight with passenger accommodations be put on from Plymouth to Rocky Mount. This the petitioners refuse to consider at all. Another passenger train or no change was made the contention of the petitioners throughout.

Pamlico and Tar Rivers.

The following is an extract from the recent annual report of Gen. McKenzie, chief of the engineers of the army:

(One river, called the Pamlico below Washington, and the Tar above that point.) The present project is that of 1875 for Pamlico river and of 1879 and 1899 for Tar river, to secure a channel 100 feet wide and nine feet deep at mean low water at Washington, thence a channel to Greenville; thence a channel 60 feet wide and 3 feet deep at low water for 22 miles further to Greenville; thence a channel 60 feet wide and 20 inches deep at low water for 26 miles further to Tarboro; thence to keep clear of obstructions the natural channel 34 miles further to Little Falls, two miles below Rocky Mount. Commerce for the year 1905 amounted to 567,331 tons, valued at $13,694,531, and increase over the previous year of 52,930 tons. The amount that is recommended for further work is $6,762.50.

ABOUT PERSONALS.

And a Word Personal With Our Readers.

The Reflector is always glad to print personal items, but in a town this size it is hard to get the names of all who come and go. Our main dependence for getting names has been in meeting the passenger trains, yet many are missed there, for with trains coming so irregularly as is the rule here, and with such poor lights around the depot at night that you can hardly recognize a person much less see how to write a name, the difficulty can be well imagined. Our readers could help us remove the difficulty if they would just take enough interest to do so. If you are going away tell us before you go; if you have been off on a trip tell us upon your return; if you have guests tell us when they come and when they depart. People like to read these items and the editor appreciates being told of them. With phones so convenient in every part of the town it would be easy to tell us. If you fail to do so, do not blame us if items in which you feel an interest escape us.

Funeral Advertising.

They have rather an odd custom in New Orleans of printing cards of thanks to the undertaking firms for well-conducted funerals. It is in the nature of an advertisement for the undertaking companies and the Sunday issues of the New Orleans papers carry columns of them. One card says: "We consider that our most earnest thanks are due for the fine funeral furnished and for the perfect manner in which it was conducted." The preacher was also thanked, and the man who sang at the grave was not overlooked. Another speaks of a funeral as having been "eminently satisfactory," while yet another funeral gave "entire satisfaction." A doctor is thanked for his painstaking, but unavailing, work to bring about a recovery. The firemen who turn out, the lodges that officiate and the people who send flowers are all given public acknowledgement. From the standpoint of the question of taste, the custom is not above criticism, but it is an easement for grief on the one hand and a promoter of pride on the other, and moreover, must be a source of considerable revenue for the newspapers.—Charlotte Chronicle.

Trip Around the World.

Don't forget it. It will not last like Jule Verne's cruise for 28 days, but by our method will be accomplished in four hours. Various countries visited within that time. Tickets will be sold at station (to be mentioned later) for 50 cents. Carriages all free, as are the refreshments at every house visited. Much information and no other expense. Delightful amusement for all who take this trip.

AYDEN ITEMS.

Newsy Notes From a Hustling Town.

Ayden, N. C., Nov. 16, 1906.

The washing machine men seem to be in trouble. The boss, as they call him, has left and forfeited bond they say for appearance at Beaufort Superior court. We don't know as to this, but many rumors are floating around and many of those taken in by this huge affair are acting as if they were feeling shaky in the knees. This we do know, it was a mighty affair and conducted on a big scale.

Dr. R. H. Phipps, after several months absence, came home Wednesday evening and can now be seen at his dental office.

J. S. Hart went to Greenville Tuesday.

J. R. Tingle, of Belhaven, has been here on business and visiting friends.

It seems the mind of the News and Observer special from this place and the Ayden itemizer run in same channel. The last Observer contains item of burglary here verbatim of ours in Tuesday's issue of Reflector. We write our own items and do not borrow or beg the brain of another.

[Keep easy, Bud Joe. The News and Observer is all right and knows a good item when it sees it. The use of the burglary item was perfectly legitimate, as it has our permission to use anything appearing in The Reflector. The copying of the item verbatim shows that it wanted the facts straight and recognized the accuracy of our Ayden correspondent. See?—Ed.]

Miss Gay Johnson has gone to the Wilson Sanitarium to equip herself as a trained nurse.

B. T. Long and grandson, of Kinston, have been here on a visit to friends.

Prof. T. H. King, of La-Grange, was here Thursday.

Ashley Albritton, a prominent young attorney from Snow Hill, was here Wednesday as counsel in a civil suit before a J. P.

James Alexander has purchased the C. R. Willams stock of groceries.

R. A. Darden, a very popular shoe drummer, has been visiting his merchant friends during the week.

Prof. Dawson, of Washington, has been here this week in the interest of a musical house.

Rev. R. H. Jones has just closed a protracted meeting at Jamesville where as a result of his labors 21 were added to the Christian church at that place.

Miss Lila Forrest, daughter of our townsman, W. M. Forrest, was married last Thursday to Mr. V. H. Johnson, of Hookerton.

Feasting and Musics.

The Methodist Sunday school was quite successful with the dinner and supper served in Pender's store Thursday. The menu was excellent and the patronage liberal. For an hour at night an Italian band was there to furnish music which added much to the occasion.

PURELY PERSONAL.

Nothing But Folks Under This Head.

H. B. Phillips went to Suffolk today.

B. E. Parham returned Thursday evening from Oxford.

D. D. Gardner returned Thursday evening from Bethel.

Prof. W. H. Ragsdale went to Pictolus this morning.

Mrs. Hattie Jenkins and child, went to Hassell today.

Mrs. W. B. Wilson left this morning for a visit to Washington.

A MAGAZINE FOR THE BLIND.

Through the beneficence of a wealthy good lady in New York City, Mrs. William Ziegler, a monthly magazine of some fifty pages is soon to be published in print for the blind of the United States who can read, to be sent to the blind free of charge. It will be on the order of the regular monthly magazines for the seeing and will contain general news and literary matter of interest to the blind, as well as a correspondence column for the blind.

The magazine is to be published in the New York Point print and in the Braille, so as to accommodate the blind who can read either.

For the purpose of reaching every blind person in North Carolina who can read, it is earnestly requested that the full name and postoffice address of any blind citizen in any part of the State be sent at once to John E. Ray, Principal of the State School for the Blind, Raleigh, N. C., stating the preference of the person between the New York Point and the Braille print. This request should receive immediate attention.

Phone the Depot.

Those who phone the telegraph office to inquire about trains could get the information quicker by phoning direct to the depot. The telegraph office has no information about the trains except what it can learn from the railroad people and frequently can learn nothing. The number of the depot phone is 22.

ROBBERS BREAK IN WHARF.

And They Make a Big (?) Haul.

Wednesday night some one broke into the old building in which is located the office of the Norfolk & Southern at the wharf. Entrance was made by ripping off some planks on the old ware room part of the building through which the office was reached. No goods are kept in this ware room, and nothing of value to an outsider is ever left in the office over night, so all that the robber could find lying around was a penny box of matches. This is one time the robber got big (?) pay for his trouble.

Miss Anna Gould, that used to be, can come back since she has got rid of the no count Count

ABOUT THE STATE.

Some Interesting Happenings Given in Brief Form.

There was two inches of snow at Asheville and Charlotte Wednesday night.

On Tuesday Governor Glenn granted pardons to four prisoners in the penitentiary. Several other applications were refused.

Rocky Mount, Nov. 14.—Mr. Sam Allen had the misfortune yesterday to lose his gin house and about twenty-five or thirty bales of cotton by fire. His cotton press was out of fix and he heated an iron pin to drive in the wood to make it burn a larger hole and thus he set fire to it, which caused the conflagration. Several farmers had cotton there awaiting to be ginned which was consumed by the fire. There was no insurance on the machinery or cotton and so it was a total loss.

Lexington, Nov. 15.—It is reported from Hampton township that yesterday C. Spencer Davis shot and killed Hugh Weaver, both farmers in that section. It is alleged that Weaver threatened Davis' life and when Davis drove past Weaver's house yesterday Weaver took two shots at him with a shot gun. Davis returned the fire with a revolver and killed his assailant. Davis is at his home and has not yet been arrested.

SUPPOSED WILL HARRIS KILLFD.

Fought His Pursuers to the Finish.

Asheville, N. C., Nov. 15.—The negro, believed to be the noted desperado Will Harris, who killed officers Blackstock and Bailey and three negroes on the streets of Asheville Tuesday night, was surrounded near Fletchers, ten miles from here, about 11 o'clock this morning and shot to death. After the negro had fallen with his hands still clasping the deadly rifle, members of the posse poured shot into his body until it was literally riddled with lead.

The negro was located near Buena Vista early this morning coming from an old barn in that locality where it is supposed he had been in hiding. The posse was quickly formed and the chase commenced. He was jumped by possmen a short distance from Fletchers and replied to the command to halt by opening fire on the posse. He was chased through the village of Fletcher and repeatedly returned the fire of his pursuers. Through a swamp the negro was hounded. In this swamp he lost a shoe. Across the swamp he turned on the posse, and backing against a tree, fought to the last ditch, but still grasping his rifle. Former Chief of Police Jordan, one of the possemen, said, that he had never in all his experience seen such a game man.

The national divorce congress recommends six causes for divorce. They are five too many, the one cause given in the Bible being enough.

WHISKERS.

Once upon a time the clean shaven man used to be told that he looked like a groom. To tell him so at the present day would be, by implication, to insult Mr. Chamberlain, Winston Churchill and the bishop of London. Very similar, though in the opposite direction, has been the evolution of public opinion with regard to whiskers. At the time of the Crimean war they were the badge of the military caste and were the center of sentiment accordingly. One remembers a song, once popular, of which the refrain was, "The captain with his whiskers cast a sly glance at me." To quote it is like calling up the ghost of a forgotten past. It reminds us no less of the modesty of the early Victorian maiden than of the lady killing proficiencies of the early Victorian warrior. Whiskers were one of the lady killer's weapons in those days, and it would seem from the sighs of our contemporary that when the hirsute circle is completed they may be made to serve that purpose yet again.—London Granhie.

Shelley and Butter Cakes.

Shelley called on Southey one afternoon and found the latter and his wife at tea. Southey evinced such an appetite for buttered cakes that Shelley was shocked and at last broke out with: "Southey, I'm ashamed of you! It's horrible to see a man like you greedily devouring this nasty stuff!" Mrs. Southey came to her husband's defense with a long tirade, during which Shelley, abashed, put down his face and curiously scanned the cakes. He broke off a bit and ventured to taste it. Then he began to eat as greedily as Southey himself. When he went home his verdict on the cakes was summed up in the report of Harriet Westbrook, to whom he was engaged: "We were to have hot tea cakes every evening 'forever.' I was to make them myself and Mrs. Southey was to teach me."

MEDICINAL PLANTS.

They Were Cultivated In Gardens In the Elder Pliny's Time.

After the discovery of the medicinal properties of plants it must have followed in course of time that representatives of the species to which remedial properties were attributed should be collected and grown in some place conveniently and readily accessible, as need demanded. The last step did not immediately follow, however, since among the conditions which were earlier supposed to influence the potency of medicinal herbs, the locality in which grown and the mysteries attending their collection were of the greatest importance. The first authentic record of the introduction of medicinal plants into cultivated plots of ground dates no farther back than the time of the elder Pliny, 23-79 A. D., who writes of the garden of Antonius Castor, at Rome, in which were grown a large number of medicinal plants. This step may have been taken much earlier by the Greeks, Chinese or Mexicans, however.

Later the Benedictine monks of northern Italy paid great attention to the growing of remedial herbs and devoted an important proportion of the monastery gardens to this purpose. This practically was also carried beyond the Alps, and in 1020 a garden was in existence at the monastery of St. Gall, in Switzerland, a few kilometers distant from Lake Constance, which contained sixteen plots occupied by medicinal plants. A garden of this character was founded in 1309 at Salerno and another in Venice in 1330. In 1309 the Benedictine monks founded an academy called "Civitas Hippocratica" at Monte Cassino, in Campania, which appears to the writer to be among the earliest schools, if not the first school, of medicine and established in connection with it a "physics garden."

FRIDAY, NOV. 16, 1906.

San Francisco suffered much from the late earthquake and fire that destroyed a large part of the city, and since that awful disaster by devouring elements it has been the prey of human ghouls and vandals. Such rebuilding as has followed the destruction has been surrounded by great obstacles, laborers demanded unjust wages, material being held for extortionate prices, and even the necessities of life being sold for many times more than value. Worse than this is the disclosure following an investigation of the relief fund. Donations were sent from almost all parts of the world to help relieve the suffering and destitution in the city. The investigation has developed that as much as $1,000,000 of the funds sent for this purpose has been stolen by those through whose hands it passed. Robbing the dead would not have been more horrible.

The report is going around that Lumberton has a cotton mill which has paid for itself in dividends in three years. Yet so far Greenville has not seen the point in establishing an enterprise of this kind.

When North Carolinians run down to the Jamestown exposition next year they will have reason to feel proud of our State building and exhibits.

The president has arrived at the Canal Zone and the blow out is in progress, which will result in a corresponding blowing in of the appropriation.

The Castellane affair is ended, the Countess having been granted a divorce and the custody of her children.

Bachelors.

"Bachelors can be found roaming at large in all parts of the world. They inhabit apartments, clubs, open fields, bodies of water and music halls. They are also seen behind the scenes. They hover at times near front gates, and have been found in back parlors with the aid of a searchlight.

"Bachelors are nomadic by nature and variable in their tastes, never going with one girl long enough to be dangerous.

"Bachelors make love easily, but rarely keep it. Rich bachelors are hunted openly and shamelessly, and are always in great danger. Those who finally escape are, as a rule, useless ever afterwards."—Tom Mason, in the December Delineator.

Miss Sally Cotten's Wedding.

Concerning the approaching marriage of a charming young North Carolina woman the Atlanta Journal says:

"The wedding of Miss Sally Cotten, of Greenville, N. C., to Mr. Russell Wiggin, of Boston, will take place on the 21st of the month at the country home of the bride-elect, 'Cottondale.'

"The plantation is fifteen miles from the railroad and during the week before the event Miss Cotten will entertain a house party of forty guests, a number of them being Mr. Wiggin's friends from the North, who will have their first glimpse of Southern life on the big plantation.

"Miss Cotten visited Miss Louise Todd several years ago and has numbers of friends throughout Georgia who are interested in her approaching marriage. Miss Todd will leave Friday and will be one of the bridesmaids.

Everywhere, the labor problem is discussed. On a train recently, a Winston man, giving his views to The Chronicle, said: "The negro who does six days' work in the week is a good citizen; but the negro who will do only three days' work in the week, is not a good citizen."

That expresses the situation quite tersely. The negro who will not work is going to find out pretty soon that there is no room for him in the South. The place of the industrious negro is secure.—Charlotte Chronicle.

The party who took alto horn with broken key from Osceola band room will please leave at Reflector office at once.

HEAVEN AND HELL.

Odd Theories as to the Location of Paradise and Hades.

Hell and heaven beliefs had their origin about the year 150 B. C., and since that time there have been thousands of attempts to locate these places, the one of future punishment and the other of everlasting happiness. The old mediaeval idea of hell is the one which gives us to understand that the devil and his imps have their furnaces and their caldrons and other articles of infernal utility constantly working somewhere within the bowels of the earth. On the other hand, we are told and believe that heaven is an abode of light, beauty and joy located far above the earth. One writer believes that heaven will be on a planet which will be prepared for the saints in the last day, and another believes that this earth, burned over and purified by fire, will be the final resting place of those who escape the horrors of perpetual punishment in the hell that has been prepared "for those who love sin." Dr. Whiston, the friend of Sir Isaac Newton and the first of the great race of "speculative astronomers," believes that hell is located on a comet.

But the most curious theory we have ever investigated was that advanced by Dr. Mortimer, author of "The Spirit of God as Fire." One of the several substitutes of this remarkable book was one which gave the reader to understand that the author believed that heaven is located on the inner globe of the sun. This substitute was "The Globe Within the Sun Our Heaven." According to Mortimer's theory our sun is surrounded by an envelope or photosphere of flame 100,000 miles itself. Taken all together, this idea of the photosphere is a vast non-luminous void. Farther on is the great globe of the sun itself.

Taken all together, this idea of the sun may be aptly compared to a peach or plum. The envelope of flame occupies the place of the skin, the "vast nonluminous void" the place of the meat of the fruit and the central globe (true sun) the place of the seed. On this sun globe, inside the great fiery envelope, Dr. Mortimer believed heaven to be situated. The photosphere or envelope of fire he took to be hell or the place of future punishment for the wicked. The "nonluminous void," according to Mortimer, is the "great gulf between," which is mentioned quite frequently in the Scriptures.

Wasted Effort.

A benevolent old gentleman brimful of information saw a rustic sitting on a fence gazing earnestly at telegraph wires. Going up to the countryman, he said:

"Waiting to see a message go 'long, eh?"

The man grinned and said, "Aye." The benevolent old gentleman got on the wall, and for the next quarter of an hour tried hard to dispel his ignorance.

"Now," he said at last, "as you know something about the matter, I hope you will spread your knowledge among your mates on the farm."

"But I don't work on a farm," replied the rural citizen.

"Where then, may I ask?"

"Me and my mates are telegraph linesmen, and we are testing a new wire."—London Globe.

THE BOOK THAT PLEASD.

Papa Plays a Low Down Literary Trick on Mamma.

"Boys will be boys, but some of us have been on earth so long that we forget the pleasures that appealed to us in the days of our youth," observed a well known public official in the federal building recently.

"I think I can best illustrate the truth of this fact by relating a story of what happened in a family of my friends.

"When little Willie went to bed the other night he was careful to hang up his juvenile pants so that the pockets would be turned to the wall. The action caught the eye of his fond mother and she proceeded to investigate as soon as Morpheus had lulled the youngster to sweet and gentle dreams.

"Instead of finding a deck of cards, a corn cob pipe or real revolver, as she had fearfully anticipated, the good woman found, to her mind, something a whole lot worse—a blood and thunder novel, one of the kind that deals in daring adventures, mushy love and heroes by the peck. But you know the style. You have read them. So have I, 10,000 or more.

"The horrified mother made no attempt to hide the awful pain that flickered around her beating heart, and flying downstairs three steps at a time dashed into the library.

"Oh, Harry," she cried in a tone of pure anguish to her husband, "look at this awful thing I found in the pocket of Willie's trousers!"

"That won't hurt him," said Harry without going into the spell of spasms seemingly necessary on such occasions.

"But still," he added reflectively, "I guess I had better take care of it."

"Papa stuck the obnoxious novel in his pocket, and then followed a long parental discourse on the ethics of training the rising generation in the way it should grow. A few evenings later, after little Willie had been put to bed, the husband turned to his wife with a cheery smile.

"Minnie," said he, "I picked up a rare piece of literature today, and thought perhaps if you had nothing else on hand I would read it to you."

"All right, I don't mind," replied the wife, who probably thought she had no alternative.

"So papa began to read and mamma became intensely interested. The clock struck midnight, and papa dropped the book with a sigh.

"It's getting late, dear. We will finish the book tomorrow night."

"There are only a few more chapters, Harry," pleaded the wife, "and I really can't sleep until I know how the story turns out."

"Thus encouraged papa continued reading, and did not stop until the end was reached.

"Well, Minnie, what do you think of it?" he asked as he laid the work aside.

"Fine," answered Minnie. "Where did you ever get it?"

"It's the book you found in the pocket of Willie's pants," was the smiling rejoinder.—Indianapolis Star.

Parents' Bright Sayings.

The London Truth's puzzle department recently awarded a prize to the author of the following specimen of amusing things said by parents to their children:

A pitman was exceedingly proud of the wonderful scholarship of his son. One day he put the lad through an examination as follows: "Billy, what gendor am Oi?" "Maskeline." "Right. Now what gendor is yer muther?" "Feminin'." "Right agin. An' what gendor is this teapot?" (Takes up Britannia metal teapot.) "Newtor." "Wrong, Billy; an' that's the first mistake Oi iver knaw'd yer to mek. Still, it ain't a very big blunder—yer only said 'newtor' i'stead of 'pewter.'"

The Fate of a Mule.

The surgeon of a large hospital was paying a visit to the patients when he came to a cot whereon lay an Irishman, who was not bearing his pain very bravely, for he was groaning loudly.

"Oh, come, my poor fellow," remonstrated the surgeon, "try and bear your pain like a man. It's no use kicking against fate."

"Shure, you're roight, sorr," groaned the Irishman, who had been severely kicked by a mule, "specialy whin they're the fate of a mule!"

THE REASON WHY

It is only by reason of the maker's intimate, thorough knowledge of women's tastes and the requirements of her feet that "Dorothy Dodd" Shoes have achieved their marvelous success. First, they satisfy the eye and lend distinction to the foot. Secondly, they fit women's feet as only "Dorothy Dodd's" can fit. Thirdly, their large sale permits them to be sold at a moderate price. This store secured and controls the sale of these splendid shoes, because it believes them to offer the wearer more real value and satisfaction than any others possible to procure. New styles now ready. Glad to show even though you do not care to buy.
