IMPROVED STOCK SALE.

An Innovation in Pitt County.

The sale of stock at the Ingletarre Stock Farm Wednesday, Nov. 14th, was the first sale of the kind ever offered to the farmers of the county.

We understand that while the sale was very well attended, yet the bidding on some of the improved stock, was rather slow and there was not altogether the life and spirit in the sale that was expected. Taken all together, however, Mr. Joyner says that the takings were quite satisfactory. The people of this county are not accustomed to sales of this kind and naturally until there is a sentiment for improved stock no such thing as fancy prices will be had. Asked if he expected to continue the public sale of stock in future, Mr. Joyner replied that most assuredly he did. He said he did not expect to realize any profit from the sale on the 14th, and that his only object was to break the ice and pave the way for the future.

At this sale the stock that was offered consisted principally of hogs of the Polland China and Berkshire breed. No improved cattle were offered at all, but next year it is Mr. Joyner's intention to sell a number of young animals of the beef producing type. If the farmers of the county could only contrast the difference in the value of even a grade animal of the beef type with our native or scrub cattle at 12 months old, they would sell all the native, and if the price of a pure bred animal was too much for an individual then a community would club in and buy one together.

The principal difference between the value of a beef type animal and a native is in the rapid growth to maturity of the beef type and the larger proportion of dressed meat to the gross weight. A native will dress out only about one half of gross weight while the other will dress from 60 to 70 per cent. It generally requires about 4 years in which to mature a native steer while with attention a steer of the beef type will weigh from 12 to 15 hundred at 20 to 23 months.

The National Bank.

The attention of our readers is called to the statement of the National Bank of Greenville made on the close of business Nov. 12th. This is the youngest of Greenville's banking institutions, having been organized only about seven months, and its growth has been remarkable. Each succeeding statement has shown splendid increase in deposits and resources. The bank is conducted admirably and has the highest confidence of the public.

One of the Raleigh and Pamlico railroad crews in camped on Ninth street preparatory to putting the depot site and approaches thereto in readiness.

DELIGHTFUL HOUSE PARTY.

Ante Wedding Festivities at Cottendale.

The past few days a delightful house party has been in progress out at Cottendale, the elegant country home of Col. and Mrs. R. R. Cotten. The guests at this house party are those who came from a distance to attend the marriage of Miss Sallie Cotten to Mr. Russell Wiggin, of Brookline, Mass., on the 21st. These are Mesdames Harry F. Nyce and Ethel R. Hodgins and messrs. C. B. Buxton and James Alcorn, Philadelphia; Mr. and Mrs. Robert Lassiter, Winston, N. C.; Mr. and Mrs. George Lyon, Durham, N. C.; Mr. and Mrs. Findlay Williamson, Burlington, N. C.; Mrs. Dan Derry and Miss Louise Todd, Atlanta; Misses May and Jane Boyden, Salisbury, N. C.; Miss Nan Clark, Tarboro; Miss Eleanor Wesson, of Springfield, Mass.; Miss Gertrude Sullivan, Savannah; Miss Mabel Shaw, Brooklyn; Miss Louise Holt, Graham, N. C.; Miss Keen Cleggett and Miss Mary Gottleib, Baltimore; Mr. Fred Taylor, Boston; Dr. Zeno Brown, Mr. Harry Skinner, Jr. and Miss Winnie Skinner, Greenville; Misses Emily and Masie Wiggin, Brookline, Mass; Mr. E. A. Bradley, Midford, Mass; Mr. B. C. Gould, Malden, Mass; Mr. D. P. Wesson, Springfield, Mass; Mr. and Mrs. Julian Timberlake, Raleigh.

Among the amusements indulged in by this merry party have been possum and quail hunts, corn huskings, etc. A number of young people have been going out each evening from Greenville to participate in the festivities.

ABOUT THE STATE.

A mail car left standing on a side track at Mooresville was destroyed by fire Saturday night.

Superintendent D. W. Andrews of the Bull Durham tobacco factory at Durham, was assaulted with a knife by a negro Saturday night. The negro was arrested and others of his race took him away from the officer. [Superintendent Andrews is a son of Mr. A. A. Andrews of Greenville. —Ed. Reflector.]

The Joshua Simpkins Company will arrive Wednesday morning from Kinston and give a burlesque street parade at noon. Don't miss it.

A Novel Trip.

The trip around the world Thursday night, under the auspices of the Methodist church, is going to be something interesting and novel. Carriages will be used to convey voyages to the different countries, and refreshments will be served at every stop. The whole trip will consume but a few hours' time and cost only 50 cents.

There will be a meeting of the King's Daughters tomorrow evening at 7:30 o'clock at the residence of Mrs. A. L. Blows. All are earnestly requested to be present.

AYDEN ITEMS.

Newsy Notes From a Hustling Town.

Ayden, N. C. Nov. 19.

Mrs. Mary Turnage, relict of the late Charles Turnage, who has been making her home with the family of J. A. Harrington, had a stroke of apoplexy last Saturday about 6 o'clock in the morning and died about 10 o'clock in the afternoon. Mrs. Turnage was a very old lady. She and her husband were among the first settlers of this community and while they were not rich, they had sufficient of this world's goods to live comfortable. She attained much notoriety for her goodness and kindness of heart and none were turned from her door who applied for assistance and many are the homes who will miss her cheering voice and beneficent hand, for his was a life to carry comfort and relief wherever she went. She was buried in family burying ground near Haddock's Cross Roads Sunday afternoon.

Mrs. O. C. Noble and children are at Oak City on a visit to her parents.

Deputy Sheriff Dudley, of Greenville was here Saturday concerning the washing machine business, so we are told. Great Scott! This country is full of suckers. They take it all. We verily believe if the fool distributor were to come along they'd buy a share each and await later developments.

There were something near 100 bales of cotton sold on this market Saturday and have been 1300 sold here during the season.

Mrs. F. G. Buhman is in Norfolk where she has gone to have the eyes of her sister little Miss Isabella Dawson operated on.

Saturday night fire consumed the barns and stables of D. S. and W. S. Moore near here, all their corn, fodder, oats, hay etc. was destroyed and their loss is estimated at from $350 to $400 with no insurance. This falls heavily on these two young and industrious brothers and it will be hard for them to recover any time soon.

A protracted meeting began in the Missionary Baptist church last night and will continue through the week. Rev. T. H. King, the pastor, will be assisted by Rev. P. A. Anthony, of South Boston, Va. All are invited to attend these meetings.

Mrs. Bettie Mosely, of Greenville, who has been visiting friends in Ayden and community returned to her home yesterday.

J. B. Higgs spent part of the day with us Monday.

There were several Masons from here to attend the Masonic funeral of Mr. L. B. Kilpatrick at Grifton last Sunday.

Rev. B. E. Stanfield preached his last sermon here Sunday during this convention year. Mr. Stanfield is a fine preacher and has added very much to the growth and development of his entire ministerial charge in this vicinity. Especially so in Ayden where, when he came here the membership of the church did not exceed 30 now it is in excess of 100.

James Sauls, of Fremont, spent from Saturday until yesterday here with his brother, M. M. Sauls.

Miss Olivia Cox left on the train yesterday for school at Winterville.

Miss Stancill, of Washington, has been here on a visit to relatives.

Mrs. Hobsteter went up the road on the train yesterday.

F. G. James, of Greenville, was here Monday in regard to E. V. Cox estate of which he is administrator.

L. B. Witherington, from near Maple Cypress, is here visiting his son, L. H. Witherington.

The following is a statement as rendered by the Dispensary commissioners since last report.

There were regular services here Sunday with a large audience present.

J. O. Johnston returned from a trip over the river last week.

Rufus Dudley and Miss Fannie House, near House, spent Saturday night and Sunday with relatives.

E. L. Clark, of Greenville, was with us again Sunday.

Miss Dora Cox, from near Red Banks, spent Saturday night and Sunday with Miss Minnie Dixon.

Miss Alice Henderson, of Grimesland, will teach school at the Arnold school house. She started teaching today and will board at J. S. Smith's.

Elder Arch Tyson, of Rocky Mount, preached for us Sunday night and received one addition to the church.

A. O. Clark, of Grimesland, spent Sunday afternoon here with his people.

Miss Bertha Johnston, of Greenville, is here visiting relatives.

J. S. Smith and wife, visited relatives near Chocowinity Sunday.

Miss Bertha Coward, of Coxville, spent Saturday night here with Miss Rebecca Mills.

Miss Mollie Godley, of Chocowinity, and Harry Dunn, of Grimesland, spent Sunday afternoon with Miss Maggie Smith.

Miss Ada Wiggins, of Grindool, spent Saturday and Sunday here with Miss Lula V. Mills.

Mrs. J. Bryan Grimes, of Raleigh, who has been visiting in Washington, came here today to visit her mother, Mrs. J. J. Laughinghouse.

DON'T FORGET.

The Coming Trip Around the World Thursday November 22nd. 1906.

Many people spend hundreds of dollars for a trip to a single country.

The people of Greenville have an opportunity to make a beautifully conducted trip around the world (allegorically) for 50 c.nts.

When they pay hundreds of dollars the money goes to a great steam ship company. The 50 cents you pay for this trip goes to help pay for a beautiful new church in Greenville. The 50 cents pays for the passage and refreshments at each station.

The start will be from Pender station at corner of Evans and Fourth streets. Tickets on sale there Thursday before the train starts but they may be had elsewhere before.

Weather.

Rain tonight and Wednesday, colder Wednesday in western portion.

Petty Criticism.

Cyrus Small's time was largely spent in discovering the faults and shortcomings of things animate and inanimate, while Mrs. Small, as it seemed, was equally vigilant in attempting to bring forward something of which she could say, "There, you can't pick any flaws in that!"

Once she thought this happiness would be hers. A certain man in the town inherited large wealth under peculiar circumstances. It was his under the law, but when the court awarded it to him he stood up and said that, in view of all the facts in the case, he believed that the property belonged of right to another heir. His action was generally looked upon as a noble one.

Mrs. Small was loud in her expressions of praise.

"Yes, I know," said her husband, "twas a fine thing. Few men would have done it, and that's why he felt so awkward to stand up there and say what he did. He showed that he felt embarrassed by the way he stood."

"Cyrus Small, I should hope you would not find fault with his attitude when he was doing such a grand thing!"

"Oh, no; I have no wish to criticize," said Cyrus, "but if I had been on the platform, facing all those people, I should have tried to toe out a little more."

Danger From The Plague.

There's grave danger from the plague of Coughs and Colds that are so prevalent, unless you take Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds. Mrs. Geo. Walls, of Forest City, Me., writes: "It's a Godsend to people living in climates where coughs and Colds prevail. I find it quickly ends them. It prevents Pneumonia, cures La Grippe, gives wonderful relief in Asthma and Hay Fever, and makes weak lungs strong enough to ward off Coughs and Colds. 50c and $1.00. Guaranteed by J. L. JOYS OF THE SIGHTLESS.

The Blind Take More Pleasure in Travel Than Many Suppose.

A blind man was making a tour of the New England coast on his vacation. In Maine, in the pretty village of Castine, a lady said as she waited with him at the pier:

"What pleasure is there in travel for a blind man?"

"More pleasure than you think," he replied. "I enjoy this fine, invigorating wind from the sea as well as you do. The noise of the water is as pleasant to me as to you, and the warmth of the sunshine is as agreeable, and when we get aboard the boat do you think I shan't appreciate the swift sail seaward?"

"The blind are not so blind as the world imagines. When I walk the streets I know the shops I am passing by their odors. Meat, perfumes, tobacco, leather and flowers tell me as well as eyes would that a butcher's, a tobacconist's, a shoemaker's or a florist's is near.

"So it is in the country. A spicy smell tells me I am in a grove of pines. The sweet breath of new mown hay floats from the meadows, and in fancy I see the haymakers. The wild blackberries have their pungent odor, and it is easy to know the presence of the wild honey-suckle. The lowing cows, the neigh of a horse, the bleating of sheep tell me the occupants of the field I pass, and the gurgle of water assures me that in that field is a running brook.

"Do you wonder how a blind man makes his way in a crowded street? I will tell you. He walks fearlessly as long as he hears nothing, but when the sound of approaching footsteps reaches him he turns a little to the right and passes by without delay and without collision. Farther on he meets children. Children are easy to recognize by their noisy prattle and their light, quick, irregular steps. And the blind man, knowing that it is difficult to count with any degree of certainty upon the actions of these little people, goes very prudently, creeping along at a snail's pace until the children are passed.

"He knows a street crossing by the increased violence of the wind, the louder noises and the gradual descent of the pavement for some forty or fifty feet. He knows when he draws near a wall or big stationary object by the different sound his steps have and by the different feel to his flesh of the air, which is much more compressed.

"A blind man gets along better on a dark night than at any other time, for then all the world goes cautiously and slowly, and there is little danger of being run over or run down."—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

Remenyi's Route.

On one of his early concert tours of the west, before the famous violinist, Eduard Remenyi, was thoroughly familiar with the railway routes of the United States, he inquired in Chicago concerning the best way to reach a town in Illinois.

"C. B. and Q.," replied the hotel clerk without looking up.

Remenyi was quite dazed. But, says the contributor of the story to the memoir of the violinist, his sense of fun carried him through.

"Ah!" he said gravely. "Then I will go D. A. T."

It was the clerk's turn to be puzzled.

"What does that mean?" he said, looking up this time.

"Well, what did you mean?" demanded Remenyi.

"Chicago, Burlington and Quincy, of course."

"Ah! I meant day after tomorrow."

Sermon Stealers.

"Sermon stealers," said a minister, "ought to be careful. They ought to read over several times the sermons that they steal before delivering them.

"I know a young man of twenty-one or twenty-two who preached a stolen sermon he had not read over, and in a most impressive part he found himself declaiming, 'My friends, when I first came among you more than forty years ago these thin, white locks were thick and brown and this bent back, etc.'

"Another sermon stealer, preaching in a village of about 100 souls, said, before he could check himself, 'In the teeming streets of this great metropolis.'"—London Mail.

Modest Claims Often Carry the Most Conviction

When Maxim, the famous gun inventor, placed his gun before a committee of judges, he stated its carrying power to be much below what he felt sure the gun would accomplish. The result of the trial was therefore a great surprise instead of disappointment. It is the same with the manufacturers of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. They do not publicly boast of all this remedy will accomplish but prefer to let the users make a statement. What they do claim, that it will positively cure diarrhoea, dysentery, pains in the stomach and bowels and has never been known to fail. For sale by J. L. Wooten

A CIVILIAN HERO.

He Served His Country as Truly as Any Soldier in Battle.

At the close of the Franco-Prussian war a hasty conference was held by the German leaders to decide upon the amount of indemnity which should be exacted from France. Bismarck, differing from Von Moltke, telegraphed to Berlin for a financier in whom he had unbounded confidence. The man was a Hebrew and was for some reason disliked by the great Prussian general. When, therefore, he gave his opinion that the amount demanded should be so many thousand million francs Von Moltke exclaimed impatiently:

"Absurd! It is too much!"

"I know the resources of the French people," said the financier calmly. "They can pay it."

"It is a monstrous demand!" repeated Von Moltke angrily. "If a man had begun when the world was created to count he would not have reached that sum now."

"And that is the reason," interrupted Bismarck quickly, his eye twinkling, "that I got a man who counts—from Moses."

Von Moltke and the Hebrew tried to look grave, but both laughed, and the storm was averted. The sequel to the anecdote has a deeper meaning. The financier, when he received the summons to the conference, was undergoing treatment for some affection of the eyes which required confinement to a dark chamber. His oculist warned him that if he obeyed the summons the exposure and delay in the treatment would almost inevitably result in loss of sight.

He was silent a moment and then said: "I think that I am needed. I have no right to consider my sight. I will go."

He went, and the results which the oculist had feared ensued. He became blind for life.

Von Moltke, when the story was told him, said briefly: "I wronged the man. He has served his country as truly as any soldier on the field."

"At the horse, Despard; at the horse!"

them, not a hundred paces away, was the Seine, running cold and still in the moonshine. The bank on either side of the highway ran straight down without any break to the water's edge. There was no sign of a bridge, and a black shadow in the center of the stream showed where the ferryboat was returning after conveying some belated travelers across. The driver never hesitated, but, gathering up the reins, he urged the frightened creatures into the river. They hesitated, however, when they first felt the cold water about their hocks, and even as they did so one of them, with a low moan, fell over upon her side. Despard's bullet had found its mark. Like a flash the coachman hurled himself from the box and plunged into the stream, but the pursuing horsemen were all round him before this, and half a dozen hands had seized him ere he could reach deep water and had dragged him to the bank. His broad hat had been struck off in the struggle, and De Catinat saw his face in the moonshine. Great heavens! It was Amos Green.

A REFORMATORY IMPRACTICAL.

There is much discussion going on at this time relative to establishing a reformatory for youthful criminals in North Carolina. We believe the advocates of such a measure are mistaken in their ardor. The establishment of such a State institution would mean that it would have to be for whites and blacks alike, and the legislature is going to be slow in making the necessary appropriation for a reformatory in the face of so many other prominent needs. State Auditor B F. Dixon is quoted as saying that among the many objections to a reformatory is that the establishing of one for white children would require one for negroes also, and this would soon be over run by negro children many of whom would be caused to commit some offense by their parents in order to shift the care of them to the State. The white people of the State are not anxious to take such a burden upon themselves under existing conditions.

The man who owns his home is in a position that the renter can never reach. The renter usually finds that his rent is too high, or he is dissatisfied for some reason, and is restless, and discontentment stalks before him. He wants to move. He does not take the same interest in municipal affairs, in his own affairs; nor is he as solicitous of his neighbors, as the man who owns his home.—Louisburg Times.

This condition would be largely remedied if more people owned their homes. They could own them, too, and almost pay pay for them with the money that goes for rent by using the opportunity offered through building and loan associations.

The theft from the Southern Express office at Salisbury is now said to amount to $30,000. The artist who effected it is but seventeen years old, and in his successful performance there is promise that if he lives he will become a Napoleon of finance. By the way, if the Southern Express company would pay its employes better and treat them better it would remove the greater part of incentive they have to steal.—Charlotte Observer.

That last sentence is "the milk in the coconut." For downright niggardliness toward its employes the Southern Express company leads all other corporations.

COTTON

The South has as great an advantage over Europe today, as Europe had over the South a few years ago, when Europe got her Cotton at a price less than the cost of production. Today cotton is relatively lower than any other product of the earth. Foreign spinners recognize this. We have the demand this year as shown by the exports this season far exceeding last season up to this date. It matters not what the crop is, so much as what the size of the demand is. You have seen small crops sell at low prices. Every bale will be wanted this year unless prices go above 12 cents.

Buy cotton futures now and wait for 12 cents. We execute orders in lots of 25 bales and upwards. Will loan 90 per cent of the value on spot cotton shipped to us.

A LITTLE NONSENSE.

Ex-Side Show Strong Arm Lady Has a New and Ideal Job.

A woman who might have been Mrs. Sandow answered the bell. The census enumerator took the name and then asked for the occupation.

"I'm a strong arm woman," said Mrs. Sandow.

"What's that?"

"It's like this," she said: "I used to be in a side show. One day a smart lookin' lady slipped up to me an' says, 'What do you get?' I says, 'Ten an' foun'.' 'We'll give you twenty,' she says.

"Well, I left the show an' went with her. I found she was the president of a woman's club. She took me to a meetin', an' I got my orders before the whole boonch.

"Mary," said the president, 'ev'ry Monday mornin' we hev bargain sales at the big department stores. We all like bargains, but the ladies of the club don't stand no show. They are lightweights. They can't get in.

"Now, Mary," she said, 'you're a strong woman. You could fell an ox with a blow of your fist. What we want you to do is to take a list once a week of the things we want to buy. Go downtown with it on Monday mornin' and get the goods.' "So that's what I do."—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

For Her.

"What I want," pants the comic opera star who had acquired a superabundance of flesh—"what I want is a vehicle for the proper display of my personality. I don't want any ordinary"—

"No, Miss Fayette," interposes the playwright, "you don't want an ordinary vehicle. How would an automobile truck do in these days of auto drama?"—Judge.

Great Work.

"The poets have done a great though unrecognized work for the world," remarked the literary person.

"Yes," answered Miss Cayenne. "They have so many good things which may be quoted that there is no excuse for one being stupidly original."—Washington Star.

Heroism.

Grace—I wonder why Fred proposed to Miss Hasbeen.

Helen—I understand he is making a try for the Carnegie hero prize.—Cincinnati Commercial Tribune.

Not All Hard.

Housekeep—I tell you, the price of anthracite these days makes it come hard to the coal buyer.

Wiseman—Yes, but it doesn't make it come hard to the coal cellar. Sometimes it's mixed with bituminous.—Catholic Standard and Times.

A Clever Match Trick.

This trick requires ten matches, which must be laid out as shown in the accompanying illustration. The problem is: How can they be arranged into pairs, taking each of five matches in turn across two others? Number the matches from left to right in your mind and then solve as follows: 4 to 1, 6 to 9, 8 to 3, 10 to 7 and 2 to 5.

They set King Richard on the throne— King Richard, aged three— They crown him with a candle shade Of silver filigree.

An Abdication.
"We'll have a coronation," said Sister Dorothy.
"We'll have a coronation Here in the nursery."

A scepter in his dimpled hand And royal robes had he, And all his courtiers drew near, A goodlie company.

So for a riddle sat in state And ruled with royal grace Until his mother came His kingly throne to see.

Then from the throne descended King Richard, aged three, And laid down his scepter down To sit on the nursery floor! —St. N. C. S.

HE TIPPED A CONGRESSMAN.

Warren F. Daniell, the wealthiest man in the vicinity of Franklin, N. H., is exceedingly democratic in manner. Some years ago he represented his district in congress. One day as Congressman Daniell was standing in one of the corridors of the capitol a New York millionaire, thinking he was an attache of the building, asked in rather a brusque manner to be directed to the room of a well known house leader. Congressman Daniell conducted him to the desired place, and as he was leaving the New Yorker pressed a twenty-five cent piece into his hand. Mr. Daniell noticed that a newspaper man had witnessed the transaction and, sliding over to him, said: "Don't give this away. That is the first money I have earned since I have been in congress." The next day the millionaire was in the visitors' gallery and saw Daniell occupying a seat in the house. After the session he hunted Mr. Daniell out, and the two took supper together at the New York man's expense.—Washington Post.

Commercial Panics.

Is it true that these great commercial panics recur at fairly regular intervals—as a rule once in every twenty years? Are periods of commercial distress and, therefore, the intervening periods of prosperity thus separated? The fact seems incontestable. Our country's record fixes the years 1837, 1857, 1873 and 1893 as the dates of our greater panics. England's record is 1825, 1844, 1866 and 1890. In each case the twenty year interval is preserved with reasonable accuracy. It will be observed that the "panic years" in England were not the same as in the United States. Our commercial distress of 1893 and 1873 reacted, no doubt, on London, as the acute foreign troubles of 1890 and 1866 recoiled on financial New York. But the result was never a panic of the first order in the market indirectly affected.—A. D. Noyes in Atlantic.

Please While They Rob.

The fakirs and peddlers have begun doing the country. Good crops always bring them. They are selling patent rights, taking orders for enlarging pictures, soliciting for books and maps, selling cloth for men's wear—cloth that "escaped duty at the port"—offering tinware or cutlery very cheap, selling soap and throwing in a prize and unloading worthless stuff generally. It used to be a peddler was poorly clad, but nowadays the peddler is a well dressed, prayerful, smooth proposition, male or female. He or she is smart, dressed neatly and ready to say grace at the table, lead in high five, dance the two-step, milk the cows or make the piano sing and talk. To please people while robbing them is the peddler's mission on earth.—Paola (Kan.) Spirit.

"High" Noon Lunches.

Talk about your "high" noon luncheons. There are men in Gotham who would sit on the damp edge of a cloud while depleting their dinner pails if given a chance. On Broadway, near the Battery, every noon hour may be seen a dozen or more men who sit on the edge of a seventeen story office building and eat their noonday meal. The other day I saw one chap who had swung his legs over the coping and kicked his feet together, presumably in glee. I wondered at the time if he was eating pie.—Pittsburg Dispatch.

The Ostentatious Millionaire.

The great wealth in question being an essentially new phenomenon, its American possessors have no inherited culture and no inherited positions to guide them in their personal expenditure of it. It tends to produce a class which is held together internally by nothing but emulous extravagance in insane and self satisfying indulgence and which asserts its supremacy in the eyes of the general public merely by making this insane self indulgence ostentatious.—W. H. Mallock in North American Review.

His Milk.

Opera House Friday Night.

On Friday night at the opera house there will be a high class entertainment by the Broomell-Reed Company. The program will consist of readings, recitations, vocal solos and harp solos. Lady harpists are rare, and Miss Reed will delight all who hear her. Tickets will be sold by the ladies of the methodist church, and reserved seats can be had at Reflecor Book Store, Thursday and Friday. Admission 25, 35 and 50. Special price of 15 cents for school children.

THE REASON WHY

It is only by reason of the maker's intimate, thorough knowledge of women's tastes and the requirements of her feet that "Dorothy Dodd" Shoes have achieved their marvelous success. First, they satisfy the eye and have the distinction to the foot. Secondly, they fit women's feet as only "Dorothy Dodd's" can fit. Thirdly, their large sale permits them to be sold at a moderate price. This store secured and controls the sale of these splendid shoes, because it believes them to offer the wearer more real value and satisfaction than any others possible to procure. New styles now ready. Glad to show even though you do not care to buy.
