THE STOCK FOOD FRAUD—WARNING OUR FARMERS AGAINST A COMMON SWINDLE.

The Raleigh Progressive Farmer prints a notable article exposing the stock food fraud, which it pronounces the most stupendous swindle now being practiced upon American farmers. Millions and millions of dollars are spent every year—several thousand dollars a year perhaps in this very county—for gaudily advertised "stock foods," "condition powders," etc., for farm animals, while the investigations and tests made by the Experiment Stations have demonstrated that these preparations are nothing more than common meal, bran, etc., with a little cheap sulphur, salt, Epsom salts, pepper, saltpeter, etc., added to change the taste, and the mixture hardly more valuable than ordinary ship stuff put up in flaming packages, advertised in big illustrated ads in farm papers and sold to gullible farmers at rates ranging from $250 to $2,500 a ton.

These stock foods, which can be found in almost any country store, have recently been tested in seven different Experiment Stations, and our farmers who paying such enormous prices for the mixtures, should be interested in the results as reported by The Progressive Farmer.

In Minnesota steers without stock food gave better results than those using the stock foods. In Kansas two lot of sheep were fed, and those without stock foods made 117 pounds greater gain. In Massachusetts a slight gain in butter was made—but at an increased price of 48 cents a pound! Of nineteen experiments in New Jersey, sixteen showed no gains, and in three cases where gains were made from stock foods, their cost was so great as to make their use unprofitable. In Iowa $1.40 a steer was lost by using these high-priced mixtures.

And so it goes. The Progressive Farmer gives instance after instance—but we mention these examples merely to warn our farmer readers against wasting further the many hard earned dollars that go out from our county each year for these much advertised frauds—for frauds they are, although so conspicuously advertised in many farm papers; and the The Progressive Farmer reports that it loses $1,000 a year, in advertising patronage by exposing them to its farmer readers.

Here is one little leak which our farmers may stop and keep some good money at home. Let stock foods alone.

Monday Night

While the text in the article in yesterday's paper regarding the Chamber of Commerce banquet next Monday night was correct, the word Wednesday occurring in the heading was calculated to mislead. The banquet will take place on Monday night, Dec. 3rd, and is for members of the organization only.

TWENTY BANKERS; NOT ONE PRINTER.

The Ohio Penitentiary News, for many years a famous and flourishing daily paper published by convicts, has suspended publication, for the very good reason that there is not left in that big penal institution a single man who can handle type.

There is not a printer in the Ohio penitentiary.

Bankers are there in plenty. More than twenty are there, and more are on the way. Several convict banks might be operated, with men to spare.

Enough lawyers are there to take care of an enormous amount of legal business.

Doctors, brokers and other "eminently respectable" citizens are not lacking.

Business men, farmers, mechanics, and representatives of almost every other department of industrial activity are common there.

But there is not one printer. The fact throws new light on a character that has long been commonly misjudged.

The printer today is a homeowner. He is of fixed employment and is head of a family.

He is—and always was—far above the average man in information and intelligence. All the notable events of human life pass through his hands and make impress on his brain.

The fact that more than twenty bankers are in the Ohio penitentiary, and not one printer, tells of the relative honesty of the printer of today—and tells more.

It tells us that the most common and most dangerous crimes of today are being committed not by the world's workers.

Nobody has any use for a kicker the one who runs down his town least of all. Be careful what you say. Don't Kick. Put your shoulder to the wheel and push the town along. Your little kicking can't stop the march of progress. It merely clogs the wheels with a little dirt for the time. This will soon be cleaned out and you will be left in the lurch, looking way ahead at the procession which has cast you aside. The perennial kicker is an incubus. He is a mill-stone around the town's neck. Get out of the rut. Stop looking for little discrepancies—see how many good things you can find and then turn around and tell the other fellow about them. Its the right way—the only way.—Gastonia Gazette.

Cotton Farmers Meet.

Mr. C. C. Moore, president of the North Carolina Division of the Southern Cotton Association will speak in Greenville Saturday, Dec. 1st. Every farmer interested in better prices for his cotton should be present.

Miss Annie Edmonson, of Gilford county aged 16, was killed Saturday by the accidental discharge of a gun in the hands of her 14-year-old brother.

AYDEN ITEMS

Newsy Notes From a Hustling Town.

Ayden, N. C. Nov. 27, 1906.

There were services in the Episcopal church Sunday evening conducted by Rev. W. E. Cox, of Greenville.

Miss Mary Long Whitehead went up to Greenville on the afternoon train yesterday.

Friend John Horn, the chum-mist boy in Greenville spent apart of Monday here, John is so good looking we though the girl would get him in spite of us, but his generous nature kept him with us a little while. He is one of the boys, who never sees the bad side of anything.

The protracted meeting which has been in progress in the Missionary Baptist church during the past week has we believe been of incalculable good to the community. The sermons have been fine, the attendance large and while no professions have been made the impression created will not soon pass and we believe will result to the benefit of all so fortunate as to attend the services.

The following is a copy of the marriage license of the grandfather of B. F. Manning, of this place.

You, or any of you, are hereby licensed and authorized to celebrate and solemnize the Rites of matrimony between Linnington Manning and Rilley Tripp of said county, and join them together as man and wife.

Witness James Sheppard, clerk of Pitt county court, the third day of March in the 53 year of American Independence, Anno Domini Jas. Sheppard, clk.

We congratulate our friend, C. L. Cannon upon having passed a successful examination before the State board of pharmacy at its recent session.

No burglars since our last. What a blessed respite. They seem to have gone up higher.

B. E. Parham and Henry Hardee were here from Greenville Saturday. These two tobacco men are popular with our people and seem to take well.

In our items sometime since we made the statement that the washing machine that was being sold in and around this community had skipped so we were informed." Mr. Croker has seen us and informed us we were misinformed and that he had not been away only to attend to his business which he says is perfectly legitimate and that he has had and does not have any idea of leaving here. He says he is willing to meet any process of law and does not fear any result therefore. We do not wish to do anyone an injustice and will not knowingly do so, hence this explanation and we tender Mr. Croker our apology and beg

EDSALL WINTHROPE COMPANY.

Making a Fine Hit in Opera House.

A large audience greeted the Edsall-Winthrope company in opera house, Monday night, and the play "Saved from the Sea," was much enjoyed. The company is composed of good actors and sustains his role well. The specialties were excellent. Master Clifford Hyland, not quite 5 years old, was a wonder in baton juggling and was the admiration of the audience.

Tonight the beautiful story play "The Power of the Cross" will be presented, with a new line of specialties.

There will be a school children's matinee Wednesday afternoon at which the comedy, oddity "Mixed Pickles," will be presented. Prices 10 and 15 cents.

The popular prices prevailing for these entertainments should bring out large audiences at every performance.

A Bachelor's Philosophy.

Love makes the world go round, but it isn't always able to make the girl's father come round.

If a man wishes to convince his wife that he is a genius, he must do it during the courtship.

A man loves a woman because she is a woman. A woman loves a man for want of something better to love.

Love is a sea of trouble upon which everyone wants to launch his boat, even though he knows it will swamp.

Respect and esteem are the daily bread of matrimony; a little jam or honey on it now and then would do no harm.

Few women love a man enough not to pretend to somebody that she is not so sure about it as she would like to be.

A couple may be able to live on love in a cottage until they read advertisements of bargains then the trouble begins.

A woman's idea of being nice to another woman is to kiss her and say: "Oh! how lovely that new hat is!" when she knows she has had it in her possession at least twelve months.

Thanksgiving Services.

Services will be held in the Baptist church on Thanksgiving day at 11 o'clock, with sermon and music appropriate to the day. A collection will be taken for the Thomasville orphanage.

Weather.

Fair, colder tonight and Wednesday.

Sunday morning Deputy Sheriff Hyman, Policeman Clark, of Greenville, with a revenue officer named Lewis, passed here in a private conveyance going south. Later in the evening they returned having in charge the largest still seen in this section, a barrel of liquor and a clored gentleman. The latter stated the liquor was found in his barn, that he knew who put it there but would not tell. This is something unusual to our people and much curiosity prevails

ALL OVER THE HOUSE.

Cleaning Papered Walls—How to Remove Grease Spots.

Papered walls may be cleaned with a mop of cheesecloth strips an inch and a half wide and eight inches long, made fast to a light handle. Brush the paper well with it twice a month.

Every spring and fall mix cornstarch, whiting and powdered fuller's earth in equal parts, dip the mop into the powder and rub the walls and ceilings well with it. Then shake all the powder from the mop, cover it with a damp flannel and go all over the wall again, wiping in long, straight strokes. The flannel must be damp only. If wet it is apt to leave marks. As soon as it is dirty change it for a fresh one.

Thick crust slices from stale bread also will clean wall paper. Begin at the top and rub downward with long, steady strokes. It is a good way to cut a square loaf in two, lengthwise, rub with it till the cut surface is soiled, then slice the dirt off. Fuller's earth mixed to a thin paste with ammonia and let dry over grease spots will usually remove them. Brush off the dry paste with a clean stiff brush.

A TEXAS WONDER.

There's a Hill at Bowie, Tex., that's twice as big as last year. This wonder is W. L. Hill, who from a weight of 90 pounds has grown to over 180. He says: "I suffered with a terrible cough, and doctor gave me up to die of Consumption. I was reduced to 90 pounds, when I began taking Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds. Now, after taking 12 bottles, I have more than doubled in weight and am completely cured." Only sure Cough and Cold cure. Guaranteed by Jno. L. Wooten Druggist. 50c and $1.00. Trial bottle free.

E. C. DeWitt & Co., of Chicago, at whose laboratory Kodol is prepared, assure us that this remarkable digestant and corrective for the stomach conforms fully to all provisions of the National Pure Food and Drug Law. The Kodol laboratory is a very large one, but if all the sufferers from indigestions and stomach troubles could know the virtues of Kodol it would be impossible for the manufacturers to keep up with the demand. Kodol is sold here by Jno. L. Wooten's Drug Store.

It is noticeable a cold seldom comes on when the bowels are freely open. Kennedy's Laxative, (containing) Honey and Tar is the original Laxative Cough Syrup. Taste as pleasant as maple sugar. Free from all opiates. Conforms to the National Pure Food and Drug Law. Sold by Jno. L. Wooten's Drug Store.

THE SMALL TOWN.

Wherein It Has the Advantage Over the Larger City.

Small towns have their drawbacks. No man need try in these vigilant little centers to lead a double life. There are faithful, sleepless watchers at each end of the line, with several sentinels along the way, to report on his doings, his failures to do and his misdoings. Everything else failing, his very thoughts are searched. The faithful vedettes conclude from his smallest movement or lack of movement what must be in every circumstance meant. On his return home after every absence his friends and neighbors cross examine him as to every detail. He had better tell the truth, because some one will in due course turn up to point out the inaccuracies in a faulty narrative. In large cities very few, if indeed any, of your neighbors will worry much or at length about your incomings or outgoings. Few if any outside your own immediate circle of home and business life care for your doings while away. They are all too busy—too many people moving back and forward to be kept track of.

The small town has not, it is true, the sanitariums and the professional nurses of city life nor the freedom of the latter from neighborly vigilance, but it has the big city beaten to a whisper when it comes to the food supply. If Brown, the butcher, for instance, were to kill Smith's lump jawed cow or Green's black leg bull or Johnson's steer that had been a failin' ever since spring, or did he refuse to keep his shop neat and clean, every one in town would be notified of his misdeeds and negligences and his business soon come to a standstill. He might as well, in fact, quit the town, for the dark deeds of which he had been guilty would be recited week in and week out as regularly as the psalms of David. With each succeeding season his criminality would assume increasing blackness. —Louisville Herald.

An Early Spelling Reformer.

An English paper calls attention to an early spelling reformer. Of Mitford, the historian of Greece, Macaulay wrote, "Mitford piques himself on spelling better than any of his neighbors, and this is not only in ancient names, which he mangles in defiance both of custom and reason, but in the most ordinary words of the English language." In Mitford's history the following "mangled" words may be found: Controul, studdy, labored, labor, endeavored, litterature, maring, island, pronuntiation, favor, spred, florish, etc. "Why don't you spell your name 'Feilding,' as your family does, not 'Fielding?'" said Lord Denbigh to his relative, the author of "Tom Jones." The answer was triumphant: "For the very good reason that I am the first of the family that could spell!"

Manner of Leaf Fall.

The manner in which the leaf fall proceeds in different trees is noteworthy. The ends of the branches lose their leaves first in the ash, beech and hornbeam, when the body of the tree is still clothed with bright foliage. The poplars and willows have an exactly contrary habit, for when the trunk is stripped of foliage the branch ends are still decorated with a few lone leaves which wave like ragged banners beneath the November sky. It is remarkable how tenaciously these last leaves cling to the tossing boughs. At last they also come hurtling to the frozen ground, and the bare trees of the forest give forth once more, under the strong wind's urging, that stern, sonorous music which will last throughout the winter. —St. Nicholas.

Kneeling Down to Die.

Though a camel is supposed to have carried Mohammed in four leaps from Jerusalem to Mecca, seven miles an hour is the latter day camel's limit. It cannot maintain this rate for over two hours either. Its usual speed is five miles an hour, a slow pace beyond which it is dangerous to urge it, lest, as Asiatics say, it might break its heart and die literally on the spot. When a camel is pressed beyond this speed and is spent it kneels down and not all the wolves of Asia will make it budge again. The camel remains where it kneels, and where it kneels it dies. A fire under its nose is useless.

Modest Claims Often Carry the Most Conviction.

When Maxim, the famous gun inventor, placed his gun before a committee of judges, he stated its carrying power to be much below what he felt sure the gun would accomplish. The result of the trial was therefore a great surprise instead of disappointment. It is the same with the manufacturers of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. They do not publicly state all this remedy will accomplish but prefer to let the users make statements. What they do claim, that it will positively cure diarrhoea, dysentery, pain in the stomach and what has never been known before. For sale by J. L. Wooten

One Penitent Among Them.

In a rare pamphlet bearing the imprint "Printed by H. Haines, at Mr. Francklin's, in Russell-street, Covent-garden, 1733," is given a short history of the prime ministers in Great Britain. Details are given of the history of trusted ministers of the sovereign from Odo, bishop of Bayeux, William the Conqueror's servitor, down to the Duke of Buckingham of James I.'s time. The pamphleteer sums up the fate of thirty-one prime ministers in the following fashion:

Couldn't Wait a Minute.

A Pittsburg man who suddenly acquired riches was desirous of purchasing a fast horse. He went to a dealer, who sold him an animal and guaranteed that he could trot a mile in 2:10. He took his purchase home and the next day drove down to the track to try him. Much to his disgust, the best the horse could do was a mile in 3:10. He returned to the dealer in a rage and said:

"You told me this horse could trot a mile in 2:10. He can't go a mile better than 3:10."

The dealer looked at him a minute and said:

"Well, what of that? Are you in such a terrible hurry you can't wait a minute?"—Exchange.

A Fry For a Meal.

The weary tramp with the red beak halted in front of the wayside cottage. "I called, mum," he announced, "because I found this sample package of dyspepsia tablets down the road." "Dyspepsia tablets?" snapped the woman with the broom. "What have I to do with dyspepsia tablets?" "Why—er—I thought maybe you might give me something to eat dat would gib me de dyspepsia so I could test dem."

Scared His Speech Back.

A remarkable case of the recovery of speech and hearing is reported in the London Lancet from the canton of Ticino, in Switzerland. An Italian, aged forty-one years, who five years ago became a deaf mute in consequence of a serious disease, was startled by the sudden appearance of a runaway horse. As he jumped aside to avoid the animal he uttered a loud scream and after it had gone by found that he was able to talk and hear.

Tying Shoe Laces.

The following is a good hint for tying shoe laces so that they shall not come loose: Proceed in exactly the same way as if you were tying the ordinary bow, but pass the right hand loop through the knot before drawing it up and give a steady pull on both loops. It should be remembered, however, when untying that the right hand string must be pulled, for if the other is pulled it will tighten the knot.

For Greasy Hair.

If the hair is very oily, greasy and moist, the following should be applied daily, shampooing once a fortnight with green soap and a little borax in the rinsing water: A quarter of an ounce each of bicarbonate of soda and borate of soda, both powdered; an ounce of best cologne, an eighth of an ounce of tincture of cochineal, an ounce of alcohol and sixteen ounces of distilled water.

Care of Iron Sinks.

To keep iron sinks and iron kettles smooth and free from rust never use soap in cleaning them. Wash them in the water in which potatoes have been boiled, using a well boiled potato to rub any spot which may have become rough or rusted, afterward rinsing clean with very hot, clear water. By cleaning in this way they will always be smooth and free from rust.

Dressing For Wild Turkey.

Stuff the wild turkey with bread crumbs, mixed with either oysters, chestnuts or celery. Do not put sage and other savories with these or you will destroy the flavor, but add a suspicion of onion to the crumbs and fry them in butter in the frying pan before putting in the other ingredients.

To Polish Steel Buckles.

Put steel buckles, one at a time, in a box of fine emery dust and shake them steadily and briskly for some minutes. The friction will drive the emery into every interstice of the ornaments. When they are bright wipe off the dust with a soft silk handkerchief.

Staining Wicker Furniture.

Unpainted wood or raw wicker can be dyed almost any color with good domestic dyes. Red is particularly effective. Wet the surface to be dyed with clean hot water before dyeing. The dye makes it take evenly.

And now Italy comes up and wants Uncle Sam to apologize or stand up for a scrap. All because a New York police court fined an Italian singer $10 for insulting a woman in central park.

The fellow who is trying to corner the discharged negro soldiers and take them on an exhibition tour is hankering for cheap notoriety.

If New York were as diligent in making her home folks behave as she is foreigners, better order would prevail there.

Do not get so carried away with a Thanksgiving day hunt as to forget the orphans.

A TRUE THANKSGIVING DAY.

Does thanksgiving consist in eating and drinking, frolic and sport, or in worship? To right thinking people this question can be answered in but one way. If we are to retain the time-honored custom of observing Thanksgiving Day, we owe it to ourselves and to our God to observe it primarily by the giving of thanks.

Thanksgiving day is a testimony to the religious character of early American settlers, but, no less, to the same character in their descendants. The Puritans of New England first began its observance. President Lincoln made it a national festival, and established the precedent of issuing a proclamation to the whole American people to observe the day as one of thanksgiving. If the element of gratitude to Almighty God, resulting in the public expression of that gratitude by formal thanksgiving to Him for mercies vouchsafed to this land, is not to be the underlying theme that causes us to observe the day, it becomes a supreme national farce, if not a national act of blasphemy.

To quote a recent church paper:—"For Christian people there can be no two opinions as to how Thanksgiving Day should be observed. Only by giving of thanks is there a Thanksgiving. The day is primarily to be observed by returning thanks to Almighty God for his blessing upon this land and upon the American people. It is the chosen American form of the precaution, "Lest we forget." The blessings that have been showered upon this land are from Him. Have we prospered? It is because He has showered wealth upon us. Have we gained an important place in the councils of the nations? It is because He has guided to that honorable place. Have we been successful when we have appealed to arms? It is because of the guidance of Him who "givest not always the battle to the strong." Have we been seized with a clearer perception of the evils which threaten the well-being of our nation? It is His Holy Spirit which has convicted us of sin, and His grace that has strengthened us to do battle for national and civic righteousness. Shall we not return thanks to Him in His appointed way for these blessings upon this American nation?"

Let us be sincere in our observance of Thanksgiving Day. Let us go into God's House and thank him for what He has caused this nation to be, as a whole and as individuals; let us beseech Him to cleanse us from our sins, civic, national, and individual, leading us on to a purer patriotism, a loftier civic righteousness, and a nobler Christian character.

There will be service in the Episcopal church on Thanksgiving Day at 11 o'clock in the morning, to which all are cordially invited. The offering will be for the Thompson Orphanage at Charlotte.

"Lord God of hosts, be with us yet; Lest we forget! Lest we forget!"

COTTON

The South has as great an advantage over Europe today, as Europe had over the South a few years ago, when Europe got her Cotton at a price less than the cost of production. Today cotton is relatively lower than any other product of the earth. Foreign spinners recognize this. We have the demand this year as shown by the exports this season far exceeding last season up to this date. It matters not what the crop is, so much as what the size of the demand is. You have seen small crops sell at low prices. Every bale will be wanted this year unless prices go above 12 cents.

Buy cotton futures now and wait for 12 cents. We execute orders in lots of 25 bales and upwards. Will loan 90 per cent of the value on spot cotton shipped to us.

Barbecued Rabbit.

Secure a young rabbit and after skinning lay it in salt water for half an hour. Then dip into boiling water, wipe dry and rub the surface with olive oil or sweet butter. Dust with pepper. Put a gridiron over a bed of live coals, lay the rabbit on it and cook tender, turning frequently, so that the surface will not become hard and dry. When done and nicely browned transfer to a buttered serving platter. Have ready a sauce made of four teaspoonfuls of vinegar, one of currant jelly and a pinch of mustard. Pour this over the rabbit, rubbing it in well, and serve at once.

Washing a Sweater.

Use pure soap and water not too hot in washing a sweater. Never rub soap on the sweater. Make suds instead. Rinse the sweater in water of exactly the same temperature as that of the washing water. Every laundress knows that rule for woollens, but not one in a thousand follows it conscientiously. Never hang a wet sweater up to dry. It will sag and stretch and be ruined. Lay it on a clean cloth on the grass in the fresh air and sunshine if you can. If not, lay it on a flat surface anyway or hang it up in a cheese-cloth bag and let it dry that way.

CRAB CLAWS.

A Seville Tidbit, Eaten More For Fun Than For Sustenance.

Visitors in Seville see women carrying baskets full of crabs' claws, says a writer in the Paris Temps. The claws are cooked and people nibble at them more for fun than for sustenance, just as the Russians nibble sunflower seeds. But what is this crustacean? What becomes of the rest of him, especially if he is a crawfish, of his tail?

As a matter of fact the crawfish has no part in the business. The carrasquenas, as the claws are called, are taken from a salt water crab, the Gelasimus tangeri, which lives along the shores of Morocco, Spain and Portugal. Each little crab, with his one little wife, has a little cave for a home, and, adopting the Arab estimate of the other sex, he usually keeps his wife shut up inside the cave, meanwhile staying about the threshold himself and making a brave show with his big claws.

When the tide runs out the crab fishers prowl along the beach looking for crab holes. Either the crab is stalking up and down seeking what he may devour, and thus showing whether he has fine claws, or he is still at home, and the size of his doorway indicates the size of the householder. In the one case the fisherman cuts off his retreat by blocking his front door with mud. In the other case he digs him out. Anyway, he deprives him of his pinchers and sets him at liberty—to grow some more.

Right here appears the happiest feature of the whole affair, for the pinchers are not torn away from the crab at all. Instead he presents them to the fisherman—perhaps even with his compliments. It is a fact easily demonstrable that the crab can detach his claw by a muscular effort, thus making no hemorrhage, but leaving the stump in such condition that a new claw is soon grown. The fishermen simply take Mr. Crab by the hand, whereupon he lets go, leaves the claw with them and runs off home without it. And as the claw is no longer of any use to him or to anybody else in the water and as it is salable and edible, the fisherman naturally takes it home and sells it.

Value of Lean Bacon.

Lean bacon has a unique value in the dietary. It furnishes, according to a report of the United States department of agriculture, as much digestible muscle forming food as other meats and nearly twice as much fat, making the total nutrients and available energy derived from bacon much larger than from other meats. Bacon fat is easily digested, and when combined with other foods it appears to exert a favorable mechanical action upon digestion. Over 96 per cent of the fat of bacon is digested and absorbed by the body, and lean bacon, at the same and even a higher price a pound, is a cheaper food than other meats. A fact made clear is that the fat increases the digestibility of other foods. For instance, fat meat baked with beans makes the beans more digestible than without the fat.

What He Really Meant.

Little Harold had been directed by the teacher to write the word "folly."

"I can't," said Harold, "'cause my pencil's busted."

"Why, Harold, what did you say was wrong with your pencil?"

"It's busted."

"Dear me! Children, can any of you tell what Harold means? I'm sure he hasn't used the right word."

Up went the hand of little Marjorie.

"Ah, Marjorie, dear, I thought you would know. What does Harold mean?"

"He meant that hith penthil ith pathicated."—Chicago Record-Herald.

Husbands.

A woman furnishes the following essay on husbands:

"There are three kinds of husbands—the young husbands, who make us unhappy because we are so jealous of them; the middle aged husbands, who break our hearts because they would rather make money or play golf than devote any attention to us; and the old husbands, who sicken us with their silly objections whenever we turn to look at younger men."—Chicago Tribune.
