

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE BANQUET

Enthusiasm for Normal and Industrial School and Good Roads.

The meeting of the Chamber of Commerce and banquet, Wednesday night, marked an epoch in the history of Greenville and Pitt county, in that it brought town and country together in a common purpose and awakened an interest that will long have an influence for good in our development. Besides the business men of Greenville there were a number present from different sections of the county.

At 8 o'clock they assembled in Masonic temple opera house where President J. L. Wooten called the chamber of commerce to order and after some explanatory remarks introduced Prof. W. H. Ragsdale, superintendent of schools of Pitt county. Prof. Ragsdale delivered a most excellent speech on "Our Educational Needs," his address being mainly on reference to the establishment of a normal and industrial school for eastern North Carolina. He first spoke of the demand for such a school by pointing out the need for more teachers and the need of schools to prepare them for teaching. Then he spoke of the prospect of the legislature establishing such a school and expressed the belief that the demand for it could not be unheeded by that body.

The next division of his subject was the benefit to the county and town if it should be located here, which he strongly emphasized from financial, intellectual and social standpoints. As to prospects of Greenville getting the school he spoke of the geographical location, accessibility, healthfulness and other advantages, and quoted expressions from people even in other sections of the State that Greenville is the ideal location for it. The closing of his speech was with the question, shall we have the school? This, he said, depended upon the interest and action of the people of the county and town. If they want the school they can get it with the proper effort, but what is done must be done while the present legislature is in session.

Mr. Babcock, the representative of the Norfolk and Southern railroad who was here some days ago in the interest of an exhibit at the Jamestown exhibition, had accepted an invitation to be present and speak on that subject, but he failed to put in his appearance and no explanation of his absence was received.

Following the meeting in the opera house there was a banquet in Perkins' hall. This was prepared and served by the ladies of the End of the Century Book Club. The menu was excellent in every particular, consisting of oyster cocktail, ham, turkey, cranberry sauce, biscuit, crackers, celery, pickles, fruit, coffee, cigars and cigarettes.

Dr. Charles Laughinhouse presided as toast master, and by his charming introduction and witty remarks between toasts fully exemplified his perfect fitness for this position. The following toasts were announced: "Organization," D. J. Whishard.

"Good Roads," F. C. Harding. "Willingness of land owners to be taxed for good roads," R. R. Cotten, J. J. Satterthwaite and R. R. Fleming.

"Attitude of the County Commissioners toward good roads," R. W. King, chairman of the board. All the responses were most

THE GREENVILLE KNITTING MILL.

Editor Reflector;

The many good citizens of Greenville and vicinity who are interested in the growth and welfare of the town and community, would be astonished if they would visit the knitting mills of Greenville and see for themselves the great work that is going on in there, and the great help it is to the women and girls and boys of the town and community. Under the splendid management of Mr. Wade every thing goes "a humming." It is indeed an interesting scene to visit the mills and see the machinery at work, and the bright sunshine on the faces of all the girls and boys. It is like a "Rift in the cloud."

The output of the mill is two hundred dozen garments per day, with only thirty-five operators, and still this little "big" industry can't get a sufficient supply of cotton yarns, so great is the demand upon the cotton factories.

It would be a very interesting thing and a very pleasant hour spent by the good people of Chamber of Commerce and every one interested in the good of the town and community, to go and see for themselves what a few citizens of the town are doing.

If there ever was a time when a cotton factory would not only pay but make a great and splendid impetus to the betterment and growth of Greenville, it is now. With one of the most splendid cotton counties in the South, the price of the staple would be enhanced by selling at home, and save freights which is a very great item in a large business. There is much prosperity in the old county—and there is brain and to combine the many interests that go to make up the good of such a great county as Pitt. Go and see as I have seen and you will be greatly surprised. I. A. Sugg.

Wanted a Molasses Sandwich.

Mr. Clarence O. Kuester, a traveling salesman for the Durham-Klueppelberg Company, was in a small town in South Carolina a few days ago calling upon a retail merchant. While he was in the store a long, lank, barefooted negro man came in and addressed the merchant: "Please, suh, I wants a 'lasses sandwich."

The merchant took a loaf of bread, jammed his fist into it at one end and, going to the molasses barrel, filled the hole with "lasses." He then closed the open end by mashing the edges together and handed the "sandwich" to his customer and resumed his conversation. —Charlotte Observer

DIED.

Julia Louise, aged about 3 years little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Ricks, died at six o'clock this morning at their home just east of town. The child had been sick sometime. Much sympathy is expressed for the parents in their sorrow. The funeral will take place tomorrow.

appropriate and created much enthusiasm and applause.

Toast Master Laughinhouse ended the banquet most gracefully, thanking the ladies for their elegant preparation and service, the guests for honoring us with their presence, and closed with this beautiful original verse: The State of Pitt, the land of pine, The greatest on which the sun doth shine; Where the weak grow strong and the strong grow great, The dearest spot in the Old North State.

WOMAN'S ORIGIN.

The Story as It Is Told in an Old Sanskrit Legend.

Tradition says there was a scarcity of solid elements at the time of her creation.

At the beginning of time Twashtri, the Vulcan of the Hindoo mythology, created the world, but when he wished to create a woman he found that he had employed all his material in the creation of man. There did not remain one solid element. Then Twashtri, perplexed, fell into a profound meditation. He roused himself as follows:

"He took the roundness of the moon, the undulations of the serpent, the intertwining of climbing plants, the trembling of the grass, the slenderness of the rose vine and the velvet of the flower, the lightness of the leaf and the glance of the fawn, the gayety of the sun's rays and tears of the mist, the inconstancy of the wind and the timidity of the hare, the vanity of the peacock and the softness of the down on the throat of the swallow, the hardness of the diamond, the sweet flavor of honey and the cruelty of the tiger, the warmth of fire, the chill of snow, the chatter of the jay and the cooling of the turtle dove. He united all these and formed a woman. Then he made a present of her to man.

Eight days later the man came to Twashtri and said:

"My lord, the creature you gave me poisons my existence. She chatters without rest, she takes all my time, she laments for nothing at all and is always ill."

And Twashtri received the woman again.

But eight days later the man came again to the god and said:

"My lord, my life is very solitary since I returned this creature. I remember she glanced at me from the corner of her eye, and she played with me, clung to me."

And Twashtri returned the woman to him.

Three days only passed, and Twashtri saw the man coming to him again.

"My lord," said he, "I do not understand exactly how, but I am sure the woman causes me more annoyance than pleasure. I beg of you to relieve me of her."

But Twashtri cried, "Go your way and do your best!"

And the man cried, "I cannot live with her!"

"Neither can you live without her," replied Twashtri.

And the man was sorrowful, murmuring: "Woe is me! I can neither live with her nor without her." —Chicago Record-Herald.

Itching Palm Oil.

"Palm oil," a synonym for "graft," is not at all a novelty in this sense. In 1627 Middleton wrote that "palm oil will make a pursuivant relent." The sixteenth and seventeenth centuries revealed in varieties of the metaphor. Greene speaks of rubbing palms with "the oil of angels," a humorous allusion to the coin named after the angelic figure stamped upon it, and "oil of angels" seems to have been quite a common joke in England. Another writer has a reference to "anointing" an ecclesiastic in the fist "with Indian oyle." Both "anointing" and "greasing" were frequently used to mean bribing, even without special mention of the hand as the part greased. Dryden has "the greaz'd advocate."

Ancient Thermopylae.

In spite of the fact, which is well known, that the sea has receded since ancient times, the strategical position of the ancient pass of Thermopylae is still immensely strong. The alternative route by Delegh, which crosses the hills a mile and a half north of the springs by well engineered zigzags, is equally capable of defense and leads into a country of a most difficult character. Either pass might be held indefinitely by 5,000 men. The coast road is absolutely commanded from the heights so that a comparatively small force would render it impassable, while the flat lowland lying near the sea is marshy and intersected by dikes.

THE NATIONAL BANK

One of Greenville's Strong Institutions.

The first annual meeting of the National Bank of Greenville was held at the bank on January 8th, 1907, and the following directors were elected for the ensuing year: F. G. James, H. W. Whedbee, E. A. Moye, Jr., G. E. Harris, L. W. Tucker, J. P. Quinners, J. R. Harvey and J. L. Perkins.

Immediately after the shareholders meeting, the new directors met and organized, and elected the following officers: F. G. James, president, J. W. Aycock, cashier, F. J. Forbes, assistant cashier.

The statement of the cashier at this meeting showed that the bank had made a net profit of $2,085.9 since it began business last April. It is an excellent institution, well officered and has the confidence of the people.

Polk Miller Here.

Polk Miller, of Richmond, the great Southern entertainer, arrived here this morning from Kinston, where he gave an entertainment last night, and will appear with his quartette in the opera house tonight. Mr. Miller has been out enjoying a rabbit hunt today with Mr. O. L. Joyner and a party of friends, and following the hunt they enjoyed a royal country dinner at the home of Mr. Joyner.

A NOBLE WORK.

All Should Encourage the Public Library.

The banquet which was prepared by the ladies of the End of the Century Book Club for the Chamber of Commerce, Wednesday night, was for the benefit of the public library which is conducted under the management of the book club. Greenville can never repay the good women composing this club for the benefit they have conferred upon the town through this library. One can hardly imagine how many people there are who get pleasure and profit from reading the books from the library, and many of them would be able to get books in no other way. Every citizen of the community ought to feel interested in aiding and encouraging the ladies in their laudable work. They are constantly adding new books and all the funds they receive go to enlarging the library.

SPENCER B. NAMED.

Republican Caucus Nominee for U. S. Senator the State Chairman.

The Republican caucus of the General Assembly was in session last night.

Its purpose was to name its choice for United States senator, and the mantle of the empty nomination fell upon Spencer B. Adams, the Republican State chairman.

There were thirty-four present at the caucus and Spencer B. received nearly all the votes, though it is reported that Prof. J. J. Britt, of Bumcombe, received two votes. There was no mention made of E. Spencer Blackburn in the caucus, as he is considered to have whiped himself form the blackboard.

The Democrats will name as their candidate Hon. F. M. Simmons, present United States Senator and he will be elected by an overwhelming vote.—News & Observer.

AND SPITED DEBATE.

Wrangle in House Caused by Senate Resolution to Hold Joint Session Today for the Purpose of Hearing the Governor Read His Message.

The General Assembly of the State of North Carolina began its session of 1907 at 12 o'clock yesterday. Lieutenant Governor Francis D. Winston, took the chair in the Senate and called that body to order, and at the same hour Principal Clerk Frank D. Hackett, of the House of Representatives, called the House to order. Several hours were consumed in organizing both branches of the Legislature, and both the Senate and House held afternoon sessions.

The business of the first day in the Senate was quickly dispatched and with an absence of the usual oratorical displays.

There were two notable events in the House of Representatives, one being the address of Speaker E. J. Justice, after having been administered the oath of office by Chief Justice Clark; the other, an extraordinary discussion which followed the announcement that Governor Glenn would read his biennial message to the Legislature this morning at a joint session of the Senate and the House.

Mr. Justice, upon his acceptance of his position as Speaker of the House, gave promise of discharging the delicate duties imposed upon him as presiding officer with fidelity and impartiality. In discussing the legislation likely to come before the General Assembly during the present session, he urged the representatives to exercise their utmost wisdom and discrimination in deciding the grave questions which must necessarily be acted upon. He was clear and strong in his utterances concerning corporation add abuses, and exposed the hypocrisy and tyranny of the trusts, which he declared, force the purchaser to "stand and deliver" when a price is fixed. He said their immoral and reprehensible methods should be unlawful.

Speaker Justice advocated the broadening of the powers of the State's Attorney General, saying that official should be given power to require corporations to provide him with information of their affairs in order to know whether or not the laws are being violated. The Speaker attributed the growth of sentiment at Washington in favor of State legislatures to exercise their constitutional powers to correct abuses, and to the failure of the State's prosecuting officers to enforce the law, against the rich and powerful. He said the enforcement of the law will depend upon the Attorney General and his powers should be enlarged and he be given assistance.—Raleigh News and Observer.

FURNACE EXPLODES.

Three Killed and Seven Severely Burned.

Pittsburg, Pa., [Jan 9]—As a result of an explosion of a furnace at Eliza furnaces of the Jones and Laughlin Steel Works tonight, three persons known to be dead, seven are in a hospital with serious burns and injuries, and twenty-four are missing.

The explosion was caused by an accumulation of gas at the base of the furnace around which were working thirty-five men. Of all these but one man escaped injury. Without warning and with a roar of artillery, tons of molten metal were poured over the workmen and for a space of thirty feet about the furnace, the metal ran, to a depth of four and five feet.

Two alarms of fire were sent in and all the ambulances in the city were called. The seven who were able to escape from the hot metal with their lives were taken to a hospital, but it is thought the twenty-four missing men have been buried in the mass of steel and their bodies consumed.

How to Succeed in Literature.

The qualities which I consider most conducive to success in literature are imagination, coupled with a great knowledge of the world, concentration, the willingness and ability to work hard, a considerable knowledge of business and a firm determination to ignore the instructions of literary and other agents with regard to what the reading public may be supposed to require. If any author once loses his independence in writing he may be called finished, so far as any career is in question.—John Oliver Hobbes.

Rainy Day Money.

"Is your husband putting by anything for a rainy day?" asked the prudent relative.

"I think so," answered young Mrs. Tokins. "I heard him mention several horses yesterday that he said always run best on a muddy track."—Washington Star.

Smart Youth.

"Young man, there are two questions in life—'Will it pay?' and 'Is it right?' Which shall you choose?"

"Both. I'll use the first up to fifty, and then I can probably afford to adopt the second."—Houston Chronicle.

THURSDAY, JANUARY 10.
 Legislators ought to be as careful about spending the State's money as they are in spending their own money.
 Around Raleigh one can hear plenty of complaint about exorbitant hotel rates. Raleigh has a way of reaping a harvest when the State fair or legislature is in progress.

Looking in on the legislative caucus at Raleigh, Tuesday night, and noticing the members around the lobbies, and on the streets, one was struck with the ability of the men composing the body. The selection of Hon. E. J. Justice as speaker of the house, was an excellent one. The State can expect good results from this session.

We thought Dr Matthews was dead and that the papers would quit talking about him, but his heirs, not willing to let his name rest, have brought suit against the Endowment Rank, Knights of Pythias, on account of insurance policy of $2000 which Dr. Matthews carried in that company.

In his reports and recommendations Supt. Joyner advocates compulsory attendance at school of all children between the ages of eight and twelve, in such sections of the State as shall vote for such a law. This seems to be a sane recommendation, and if put into operation will insure better education of many children of indifferent parents.

Before the present Legislature will come several important questions. The reduction of railroad rates and the abolition of second-class fare. By reason of corruption in insurance companies outside the State important measures will probably be taken, regulating State companies. The question of the reformatory will be hotly discussed, but likely all that will be done will be the appointment of a commission to investigate the real needs of the State.

Representative Ehringhouse, of Pasquotank county, had a close call while on his way here. He was coming on the Seaboard Air Line fast train Sunday night and as the train stopped a few minutes at Henderson got off to get a cup of coffee at the station restaurant. Suddenly his train had pulled out and he made a dash for it. Finding that a train on another track was backing up on him he had to make a leap for life to catch his train, which was vestibuled. He found that the vestibule door was closed and so had to hang on to the rods outside with his feet bent far inward to reach the step, and in this plight he rode 8 miles, where, luckily for him, the train stopped, as otherwise he would have had to go all the way to Franklinton. His hands were sore from the tightness of his grip. He was truly holding on for great life and he showed great presence of mind. —Raleigh News and Observer.

Should Return the Money.
 Pierre, S. D., Jan 8.—Samuel H. Elrod, the retiring governor of South Dakota, in his farewell message to the Legislature today severely assails the noted North Carolina bond deal, by which South Dakota collected $25,500 from the Southern State on paper which had been repudiated. He says South Dakota has no moral right to the money. The message urges the legislature to pass a bill returning the money to North Carolina.

Firemen Take Notice.
 Arrangements have been made for the white fire companies to meet in the future in the Mayor's office and your attention is called to the same. The members of Greenville Volunteer Fire Company will therefore meet in the Mayor's office on Monday night January 14th instead of the former place at 7:30 p. m.

It's a pleasure to tell our readers about a Cough Cure like Dr. Dr. Shoop's. For years Dr. Shoop has fought against the use of opium, chloroform or other unsafe ingredients commonly found in cough remidier. Dr. Shoop, it seems has welcomed the Pure Food Drug Law recently enacted, for he has worked along similar lines for many years. For nearly 20 years Dr. Shoop's Cough Cure containers have had a warning printed on them against opium and other narcotic poisons. He has thus made it possible for mothers to protect their children by simply insisting on having Dr. Shoop's Cough Cure. Sold by Bryan's Drug Store.

are caused by indigestion. If you eat a little too much, or if you are subject to attacks of indigestion, you have no doubt had shortness of breath, rapid heart beats, heartburn or palpitation of the heart. Indigestion causes the stomach to expand—swell, and puff up against the heart. This crowds the heart and interferes with its action, and in the course of time the heart becomes diseased.

Kodol

digests what you eat, takes the strain off of the heart, and contributes nourishment, strength and health to every organ of the body. For indigestion, Dyspepsia, Sour Stomach, Inflammation of the mucous membranes lining the Stomach and Digestive Tract, Nervous Dyspepsia and Catarrh of the Stomach.

After eating, my food would distress me by making my heart palpitate and I would become very weak. Finally I got a bottle of Kodol and it gave me immediate relief. After using a few bottles I am cured.
MRS. LORING NICHOLS, Penn Yan, N. Y.

I had stomach trouble and was in a bad state as I had heart trouble with it. I took Kodol Dyspepsia Cure for about four months and it cured me.

PAIN

Pain in the head—pain anywhere, has its cause. Pain is congestion, pain is blood pressure—nothing else usually. At least, so says Dr. Shoop, and to prove it he has created a little pink tablet. That tablet—called Dr. Shoop's Headache Tablet—causes blood pressure away from pain centers. Its effect is charming, pleasingly delightful. Gently though safely, it surely equalizes the blood circulation. If you have a headache, it's blood pressure. If it's painful periods with women, same cause. If you are sleepless, restless, nervous, it's blood congestion—blood pressure. That surely is a certainty, for Dr. Shoop's Headache Tablets stop it in 20 minutes, and the tablets simply distribute the unnatural blood pressure. Bruise your finger, and doesn't it get red, and swell, and pain you? Of course it does. It's congestion, blood pressure. You'll find it where pain is—always. It's simply Common Sense. We sell at 25 cents, and cheerfully recommend

LAND SALE.

By virtue of the privilege contained in two mortgage Deeds executed by Isaac Foreman to H. S. Perkins on the 17th day of January, 1903, which were recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds of Pitt county, one in Book 07 page 22 and the other in Book 0-7 page 270, which two mortgages with the power of sale contained therein were transferred for full value to Cathrine Knox, the undersigned will sell for cash at the court house door in Greenville on Saturday February 9th, 1907, the following described two lots or parcels of land situate just west of the town of Greenville in what is called Lincoln Place on the corner of Roosevelt and Washington avenues, each lot being 40 feet front by 110 feet back. For better and more accurate description reference is hereby made to said two mortgages which were both given to secure the purchase money due for said land.

This the 9th day of January 1907.
