EXEMPTION LAWS.
The Question is, Should They Now be Repealed.
The General Assembly of North Carolina convenes early in this month. There is a strong sentiment throughout the State in favor of repealing the antiquated homestead exemption laws, or rather to have the laws modified in order that they may not be the subterfuge of the indolent and dishonest debtor. This legislation was enacted to protect credit but its operations were designed only for the financial depression immediately after the close of the war, and at the present it is well recognized that it hinders rather than protects commercial transactions. The best business men of the State believe it ought to have been abolished years ago. In 1883 Hon. Cyrus B. Watson, Representative from Forsyth county, championed the repeal of this law, and it was only by a small margin that the repeal was defeated. Since this time, various industrial and commercial organizations have taken an interest in the repeal of this law and there is but little doubt that a great majority of the people of North Carolina desire that these laws be abolished. Certain it is, that the credit, in business transactions of every man not worth $1,500 has been destroyed, and in order to trade, these men have had to execute mortgages, whereas without the homestead exemption, they could have traded upon an open account or a simple note. It is easy to see this law has worked to the detriment of the very men it was intended to help. — Merchants' Journal.

How They Divided.
Raleigh, N. C., Thursday, 10. — There was a warm debate in the House yesterday evening in regard to allowing the governor to read his message, the principal speakers against it being George Morton, of New Hanover, and Walter Murphy, of Rowan. When the matter was finally put to a vote, although the division could not be told definitely, those in favor of allowing the governor to read the message outnumbered the others by two to one. Those who were opposed to the governor reading his message were the representatives who are considered to be in sympathy with the whiskey dealers and the division last evening is regarded as indicating about the manner in which the house will be divided on the subject should a law pertaining to the whiskey business be introduced. Morton, of New Hanover has always been one of the strongest supporters of the cause of whiskey men. From what can be gathered it was feared that Governor Glenn would urge State prohibition and it was feared that delivering his message in person might have some effect on some of the members. The spat over the governor being allowed to read his message came somewhat as a surprise as it was believed that no objection would be raised whatever.

Special Meeting.
The Chamber of Commerce will hold a special meeting Monday night, January 14th, usual hour and place, 8 o'clock, at mayor's office. The business to be taken up is important and needs much consideration. All members should be present. C. E. Bradley, Secy.

North Carolinian Named as United States Senator.
J. C. Murchison received a telegram yesterday from Hon. Joseph M. Dixon stating that he had been named by the Republican caucus of Montana as United States Senator to succeed Senator Clark. Mr. Dixon is a North Carolinian. He was born in Alamance county, and was educated at Gilford College. — Industrial News, 10th.

Apropos of the attacks being made on the New York cotton exchange, a business man of this city remarked a day or so ago that the conditions of the cotton market would be greatly improved "if the people of the south would stop selling so much cotton that they did not have and buying so much more than they could pay for." The south gambles with the New York gamblers at the latter's own game and then gets mad because she is skinned. — Wilmington Messengr.

CRIMINAL PROCEDURE.
Give the State an Equal Chance With the Accused in the Courts.

Speedy trials and certainty of punishment for the guilty are the best methods of preventing crime. The excuse for lawlessness and lynching is generally the slowness and uncertainty of court trials; and while such an excuse is often false and unjust, still all must admit that technical objections and questionable methods of defense often exasperate the public and cause it to wink at mob law, when if trials were always conducted on just legal grounds; public opinion would more heartily condemn the least attempt at such high-handed measures. I think the time has come to make certain changes, and therefore, urge you consider them. The legal profession, as a rule, is composed of high-toned men, who would scorn to attempt to corrupt a jury, or pollute in any way the fountain of justice. Some corrupt attorneys, however, will, and so watch closely the list of jurors drawn for each court, so they can see the individual juror and try to influence or corrupt him. To guard against fraud the list of drawn jurors should not be published, and no clerk, sheriff or other officer should be allowed to furnish any one a list, but it should be kept a perfect secret, and the sheriff, without disclosing the jury list, should quietly summon them to court. In capital cases, formerly a defendant could not testify in his own behalf, and therefore to equalize matters he was allowed twenty-three peremptory challenges, and as many more as he could show cause for. Now he can testify, and to give him so many challenges puts the State to a great disadvantage, and often defeats justice, for it enables the defendant (especially where there is more than one) to select a jury of his own liking, who are ready to acquit before entering the box. The State should be given four peremptory challenges, and the defendant six, regardless of the number of defendants, unless the trial judge should hold that the defense of the defendants were conflicting, in which case each should be allowed six. There are also too many challenges to the favor, for why should good men, simply because their property did not consist of realty, or they had a suit in court, or had neglected, perhaps, because they were absent, to pay their taxes, disqualify them from serving on the jury? There should also be very few exemptions from jury duty, to the end that the best and most intelligent men should serve. Also, in a county where the feeling either for or against the defendant, in case you reduce the number of challenges, I recommend that the trial judge be authorized to send to an adjoining county and summon good and lawful men to attend the court where the trial is to be held, to serve as jurors. This method has been tried in many States and works well, and costs less than in removing cases with many witnesses. Besides it insures more speedy trials. With the changes above suggested, the law would be strengthened, and justice more certainly done. — Extract from Governor Glenn's Message.

The Altar Workers of the Methodist church will meet Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock at the residence of Mrs. Dr. E. A. Moya.

THE LEGISLATURE.
Law Makers Getting Down to Work.

Friday a number of important bills were introduced. Three of these were relative to railroad regulations. One introduced by Speaker Justice prescribes the charges railroad companies may make for transporting passengers, fixing the general rate at two cents per mile, and provide a law for regulating railroad companies and other common carriers of passengers, property and messages. The second bill prevents discrimination by railroads or transmitting companies against any person, firm or corporation; it makes it unlawful for any conductor, flagman, brakeman, engineer, fireman, train dispatcher, telegraph operator or any other person charged in any degree with the operation of any train run in this State to work more than eight hours in any twenty-four hours; prohibits the issuing of free transportation and of franks; and requires railway companies to provide a seat for every passenger. Violation of any section of the act will be deemed a misdemeanor, and large penalties are attached. Representative Laughinghouse introduced a bill to require commissioner of agriculture and members of board of agriculture to be practical farmers and actively engaged in their profession. He also introduced a bill for relief of prisoners awaiting trial. In the appointment of senate committees Senator Fleming was named on banking and currency, judicial districts, and salaries and fees.

BARRETT MUST HANG.
Governor Declines to Commute Sentence.
Four pardons were yesterday granted by Governor Glenn, who also declined to give pardons to four for whom efforts have been made. Among those commutations refused for which requests were made, were those of Sylvester Barret, a negro of Pitt county, convicted of murder in the first degree, and Freeman Jones, a negro of Durham, convicted of burglary in the first degree. These men are to be hanged. As to Sylvester Barrett the Governor says the defendant was convicted January term, 1906, in Pitt county, of murder in the first degree, and on appeal to the Supreme Court and the judgment of the lower court was affirmed. "I have carefully read the testimony in this case, as well as the opinion of the Supreme court, and am satisfied that the defendant was legally and rightly convicted of the murder of Walter Lovitt, who was then an officer of Pitt county. Petitions have been filed asking for the commutation of the sentence of the defendant, and counter-petitions have been filed protesting against it. After carefully reading the evidence, and the decision of the Supreme court, and taking into consideration the fact that the trial judge and solicitor refuse to recommend a commutation, I cannot in the interest of justice overturn what the court has done, and I therefore refuse the application for commutation and direct the sheriff to proceed in accordance with law. — Raleigh News and Observer.

The county road gang is now at work on the river road about four miles above town. Some good work is being done.

THE GOVERNOR'S MESSAGE.

Governor R. B. Glenn reading his message to the General Assembly in person, was a departure from the custom that has heretofore prevailed in this State and met with opposition from certain of the members when the innovation was suggested. It is the custom in some States for governors to read their own messages, and without at all questioning the opinion of those members of the North Carolina General Assembly who expressed opposition to it, we believe it was wise for it to be done.

Governor Glenn reading his own message certainly gave it emphasis and force. It was an excellent message and brought to the attention of the law makers many matters of importance to the State that need to be acted upon at this session of the legislature. The Reflector does not undertake to make a lengthy comment on the message or to publish it in full, as the space of paper will not permit this, but we have made several extracts of what are considered the most interesting parts of it and will print these in the next few days. The legislature cannot go wrong in giving the suggestions of Governor Glenn most careful consideration.

The eastern normal and industrial school and good roads are two things the people of Greenville and Pitt county have in mind, and they should be kept in mind until both are secured.

The legislator who will introduce a bill that will reduce the number or exterminate sheep killing dogs should have a chromo.

So many State legislatures in session makes congress a tame affair.

TAXATION.

The Problem of Obtaining a Fair Valuation and a Low Rate.

No subject will come before you at this session fraught with more vital interest to the State than the devising of a proper scheme for ascertaining the true value of all property in the State, to the end that each individual or county by proper taxation, shall bear his or its part of the State's burden, and that there be no false valuation or unjust discrimination.

The Constitution Art. V. Sec. 3, provides that "laws shall be passed taxing by uniform rule all moneys, credits, etc., and also all real and personal property according to its true value in money;" and yet this simple but vital provision is universally violated both in the assessments not being uniform, nor according to their true value. While impossible to devise any scheme of taxation that shall fall equally on all, still the nearer we can approach to requiring all to value their property according to its true worth, just so much the nearer we come to fulfilling the constitutional demand for uniformity. This subject, therefore, requires your deepest thought and most careful examination; and if the session should end with your having accomplished nothing else but settling this troublesome question on a fair basis, you still will have earned the plaudit, "well done, faithful servants."

The assessed value of all property in the State is $401,520,683.22; but in my judgment, if personal property was fairly given in, and really justly assessed, and railroads and other corporations fairly taxed, its actual value would be a billion dollars, enabling us to have a much lower rate than at present, and still have a much larger revenue to meet all the growing needs of the State. A fair valuation and a low rate are what are necessary to get more people and outside capital, while a low rate and high valuation frighten away both the homeseeker and investor. Extract from Governor Glenn's Message.

It's a pleasure to tell our readers about a Cough Cure like Dr. Dr. Shoop's. For years Dr. Shoop has fought against the use of opium, chloroform or other unsafe ingredients commonly found in cough remedies. Dr. Shoop, it seems has welcomed the Pure Food Drug Law recently enacted, for he has worked along similar lines for many years. For nearly 20 years Dr. Shoop's Cough Cure containers have had a warning printed on them against opium and other narcotic poisons. He has thus made it possible for mothers to protect their children by simply insisting on having Dr. Shoop's Cough Cure. Sold by Bryan's Drug Store.

are caused by indigestion. If you eat a little too much, or if you are subject to attacks of indigestion, you have no doubt had shortness of breath, rapid heart beats, heartburn or palpitation of the heart.

Indigestion causes the stomach to expand—swell, and puff up against the heart. This crowds the heart and interferes with its action, and in the course of time the heart becomes diseased.

PAIN

Pain in the head—pain anywhere, has its cause. Pain is congestion, pain is blood pressure—nothing else usually. At least, so says Dr. Shoop, and to prove it he has created a little pink tablet. That tablet—called Dr. Shoop's Headache Tablet—coaxes blood pressure away from pain centers. Its effect is charming, pleasingly delightful. Gently though safely, it surely equalizes the blood circulation.

If you have a headache, it's blood pressure. If it's painful periods with women, same cause. If you are sleepless, restless, nervous, it's blood congestion—blood pressure. That surely is a certainty, for Dr. Shoop's Headache Tablets stop it in 20 minutes, and the tablets simply distribute the unnatural blood pressure.

Bruse your finger, and doesn't it get red, and swell, and pain you? Of course it does. It's congestion, blood pressure. You'll find it where pain is—always. It's simply Common Sense.

We sell at 25 cents, and cheerfully recommend

ROYAL MESSENGERS.

They Carry Other Things Besides Government Dispatches.

Very odd are some of the errands done by the royal messenger service in Great Britain. At an English seaport, for instance, a sealed packet which was being conveyed across the channel to Windsor in care of the British foreign office became accidentally unfastened in the custom house, and a quantity of cigars tumbled out. As the packet in question was invoiced as containing "important confidential government dispatches," no little amusement was caused. Nothing serious, however, came of the incident, for it is a recognized rule that "the king can do no wrong," and neither, therefore, can the king's messengers.

Besides, it is well understood that the service is maintained for other purposes than the nominal one. During the late Queen Victoria's reign these messengers used frequently to carry to the continent in sealed bags supposed to contain dispatches shirts and collars of a special make and pattern for one of the British ambassadors, hats and bonnets for her majesty's female relatives, all sorts of English knickknacks for the late Empress Frederick at Berlin and even barrels of native oysters for the embassies at Paris and Vienna.

For many years, moreover, it was the practice of the messengers to call each week on their way back to England at Brussels, where they received from the court kitchens a box of special biscuits of which Queen Victoria was very fond and which she believed nobody could make as well as the head pastry cook of King Leopold's kitchen. This box of biscuits was solemnly sealed up at the British legation with the official seal and then conveyed with infinite care to Windsor by way of Dover and London.—Chicago News.

THE LAKE SKIPPER.

How He Taught a Salt Water Veteran to Hustle.

There was a salt water captain who, for reasons of his own, accepted a berth as first mate in a big passenger steamer on the great lakes. He was a capable seafaring man, but he did not know what "hustle" meant until he went aboard at Buffalo. The lake skipper to whom he reported for duty remarked in the most casual manner:

"Just give her a coat of paint this morning, and, if the sun stays hot and she dries in good shape, give her a second coat this afternoon."

The salt water mate staggered in his tracks and made amazed protest. This was a 5,000 ton vessel, and giving her two coats of paint was several days' work by his reckoning. The lake skipper was a person of discernment, wherefore he had pity on his new mate and forbore to deal harshly with him, explaining with a tolerant grin:

"All right. I suppose you'll have to learn to move lively after snoozing around salt water all your life. You just pass that order along to the bos'n and tell him it's got to be done, and then you sit up and take notice."

The bos'n took the order calmly, as if it were in the day's work, and by nightfall the big steamer was spick and span with two coats of paint from her water line to her guard rail. The sailor from deep water had learned his first lesson in the ways of the great lakes during the navigation season, when the half-driven shipping must be forced to do twelve months' work in half a year.—Ralph D. Paine in Outing Magazine.

The Early Trusts.

Trusts were sometimes dealt with summarily in old England. For instance, the records of the Brewers' company show that "on Monday, July 30, 1422, Robert Chichele, the mayor of London, sent for the masters and twelve of the most worthy of our company to appear at the guildhall for selling dear ale. After much dispute about the price and quantity of malt, wherein Whittington, the late mayor, declared that the brewers had ridden into the country and forestalled the malt, to raise its price, they were convicted in the penalty of £20 (£100), which objecting to, the masters were ordered to be kept in prison in the chamberlain's custody until they should pay it or find security for the payment thereof."

Ancient and Modern Bathing.

Soap is really quite a new factor in the world's life. Most of our ancestors were filthy and dissembled the fact by the use of stinging perfumes. Washing one's hands, which was only done by the very best people, meant dipping the fingers in rose water and drying them on a napkin. Even the Romans of the decadence, who were probably cleaner as a community than any before or since, bathed in water and rubbed themselves with oil. It sounds nasty to us, but then so does, for ample, Chinese music, which millions of human beings think delightful.

Jack Tar's Reply.

A sailor was brought before a magistrate for beating his wife, when the magistrate attempted to reach his heart by asking him if he did not know that his wife was the "weakest vessel."

"If she is, she ought not to carry so much sail," replied Jack.—London Tit-Bits.

Turn About.

Tags—When will you learn that razors are not things to sharpen pencils with? Mrs. Taggs—Oh, just as soon as you've learned that hairpins are not things to clean pipes with.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

A poor time to begin telling a funny story is just before dinner is announced.—Fort Smith Times.
