HISTORIC FORT FISHER.

The Bombardment One of the Heaviest in History.

The reunion at Wilmington last week of the Federal and Confederate survivors of the bombardment of Fort Fisher was the occasion for the publication of some facts in regard to that historic event, which is said to be one of the heaviest bombardments in history. These facts should be of interest to the young generation and also to the older people who have forgotten them.

Col. Wm. Lamb, now a resident of Norfolk, was in command of the defence of the fort, and Gen. N. M. Curtis commanded the Federal forces. Col. Lamb relates that the fort extended across the peninsula 682 yards with 10 heavy guns mounted, two mortars and four pieces of light artillery. The sea front was 1,898 yards long, mounting 24 heavy guns, and the mound battery was 60 feet high. The fort was constructed by Col. Whiting and Col. Lamb and guarded the port of Wilmington, where most of the blockade runners carried their supplies to the Confederates. Defending the fort were 1,431 men.

On December 24, 1862, the Federal fleet, composed of the Ironsides, four monitors and 45 wooden steam frigates, began the assault. For five hours the fire was terrific, over 10,000 shot and shell being poured on the fort. Only 23 men were wounded, however. On Christmas day Admiral Porter's fleet made a second attempt, reinforced by another monitor and several other wooden ships, raining down on the fort 130 shot a minute. On that day five men were killed and 33 wounded, while two guns exploded. Still the fort did not succumb.

In January the Federals returned to the attack with what was said to have been the largest naval force ever gathered in one command in America, nearly 60 vessels. They carried over 600 cannon, and the projectiles in a single discharge weighed 22 tons. The Confederate infantry that had aided in protecting the fort from assault on the peninsula side had been withdrawn. Gen. Terry landed 3,500 Federals and cut off communication between the fort and Bragg's army. All day and all night on the 13th and 14th of January the immense fleet kept up a ceaseless bombardment. Col. Lamb relates that "no meals could be prepared for the exhausted garrison; the dead could not be buried without new casualties. Fully 200 had been killed during these two days and only three or four of the land guns remained serviceable." General Whiting and Col. Lamb were both wounded. Cut off from their own army, after resisting so long the overwhelming force, the garrison surrendered on January 15th, having lost about 500 men. The Federals had lost 1,445 and had carried the fort only after the greatest assault that up to that time had been made in naval warfare.

January Blossoms.

Mr. O. E. Warren, of Riverside Nurseries, this morning ornamented The Reflector office with a vase of carnations and roses. They are beauties and much appreciated.

When Girls Should Marry.

Girls should not marry until there is absolutely no other way out of it. That is to say, they should be so tremendously in love that they cannot live apart from their beloveds. The mutual agreement marriages and the marriages because single life is considered a disgrace are gone into ancient history. Old maids are not even bachelor girls any more; they are business women. Give a thought to the unmarried women everywhere; many of them are heads of institutions or hold splendid situations with large firms. No one refers to them as old maids. In fact there are many men who would like to be where they are. And their independence is delightfully remarkable. To be sure, women as a class do not succeed as well as men in this generation, but that is easily accounted for. The boy is born into a trade atmosphere and has been for centuries. As a child, he rubs against more world propositions. Women as bread-winners are new to the world, but in proportion they are further advanced and more competent than men. Rather than marry for the sake of a home, women should support themselves, for in nine cases out of ten, if no love exists, she will either have to do it anyway or everlastingly dun her husband for funds.—Home Magazine.

His Word His Bond.

When you can truthfully say of a man that his word is his bond, you have said much for him. To be sure, any one's solemn promise ought to be his bond, but we find so many people whose word means little more than they are compelled to do, that one hesitates to "pin his faith" to the promise of any one. And this is the source of much disappointment in many things. If every man's word were good as his bond the world would be far better and the good that there is in people would be developed, men would have confidence in each other and life would be very different for most people. Scotland Neck Commonwealth.

Vertical Handwriting.

It is probable by this time the man who invented vertical penmanship for pupils in the public schools has passed to his long punishment. Charity requires us to hope that he will not be overpunished, but a knowledge of his crime compels the belief that he cannot be. The slow, characterless, unserviceable, impracticable method which has been impressed on millions of children, only to hamper them through life, must have been devised by a most sinister and malevolent mind—a mind which cannot be made duly repentant except by cruel and unusual punishment.—Kansas City Journal.

Whiskey and work fall out ages ago when work found whiskey to be a liar. Noah drank of the wine because it told him it would help him in his work. It laid him in his tent instead. Since then the two have been incompatible, although whiskey still tells the same old lie that it can help work.—Detroit News.

In behalf of the 92 members of Congress who voted against adding $2,500 more to their salaries, we wish to assure the 133 members who voted for and cinched the increase, that no hard feelings are harbored by the 92 against the 133 for running the hog over them.—Wilmington Star.

PAKER'S CHAPEL ITEMS.

Parker's Chapel, Jan. 23rd, 1907.

We are having lots of pretty weather and the farmer's are hustling.

A. K. McGowans had the misfortune to get his buggy broke down on Greenville bridge Saturday evening.

Neal Whitehurst, a progressive farmer, has moved in our neighborhood, and we hope him good luck.

A. R. House went to Chocowinity Saturday and returned Sunday.

J. C. McGowan and son, of Washington, were with us awhile Saturday.

Miss Snodia Tripp is spending some time with her brother, Ashley Tripp.

Misses Eva and Minnie House spent Saturday night and Sunday with Miss Sallie Meeks near Hickory Grove.

O. Johnston, of Black Jack is spending this week with T. L. Little.

W. H. Highsmith and J. J. Whitehurst were callers in our neighborhood Sunday.

T. L. Little and family spent Saturday night with A. R. House's people.

Lee and Willie Whitehurst were in our vicinity Sunday.

Miss Snodia Tripp spent Sunday night with Miss Eva House.

John Jones spent Saturday night in Greenville with his son.

R. L. Dudley, of Greenville was in our neighborhood Sunday evening.

Miss Linda Johnson spent Saturday night with John Jones' people.

Little George Houge spent Saturday night with John and Robert Whichard, near Staton's Mill.

Cape Parvin's Son Drowned.

Mr. Patrick Parvin, a son of Capt. W. A. Parvin of the steamer Myers, was drowned near Washington Wednesday morning. Young Parvin was one of the crew of a tug boat plying around Washington and in some way fell off the boat and sank before assistance could reach him. The body was recovered late Wednesday evening. Capt. Parvin's host of friends sympathize with him in the death of his son.

A Turkey Killer.

Mr. E. J. Murphy, of Swift Creek to wvnsip, Pitt county, who was in the city this morning tells The Free Press of killing two wild turkeys at one shot last week, that weighed 42 pounds. Mr. Murphy has been quite successful in hunting wild turkeys and has killed 20 during the last five years. He says he knows how to slip up on 'em.—Kinston Free Press.

Deep Digging.

The excavations for putting in the sewer pipes requires deep digging in some parts of the town. On Eighth street where the hands are now at work they have to go down about 11 feet.

Bad for Boats.

The water was already low in the river, and the recent hard winds have blown it out until boats can hardly get here.

Water Pipes Freeze.

There were more frozen water pipes this morning. A good way to prevent freezing is to open the faucet and let a small stream of water run all night.

It killed now ought to keep it.

Rail Road Up-To-Date.

"Where's the president of this railroad?" asked the man who called at the general offices.

"He's down in Washington, attendin' th' session o' some kind o' an investigation' committee," replied the office boy.

"Where's the general manager?"

"He's appearing before the Interstate Commerce Commission."

"Well, where's the general superintendent?"

"He's at th' meetin' o' th' Legislature, fightin' some new law."

"Where's the head of the legal department?"

"I's in court, tryin' a suit?"

"Then, where is the general passenger agent?"

"He's explainin' t' th' commercial travellers why we can't reduce the fare."

"Where's the general freight agent?"

"He's out in th' country t' attend a meetin' o' th' grange an' tell th' farmers why we ain't got no freight cars."

"Who's running the blame railroad, anyway?"

"Th' newspapers."—Pittsburg Press.

Appreciation.

At a recent marriage anniversary an appreciative husband thus addressed his wife: "To you, my wife—as I review the past I am reminded that through all these years you have been a true, faithful and loving mother, ever ready with a word of encouragement in the darkest hours, always willing to bear more than your share of life's burdens, many made sacrifices for my own and our children's happiness and comfort, and I feel that surrounded by the perplexities and vexations of a busy life I have failed to show to you my appreciation of your many virtues.

At Winterville.

An item intended for Winterville department got separated from the letter in Wednesday's paper, which gave it the appearance of a local item. It was in reference to Rev. T. H. King addressing the Woman's Missionary society in the Baptist church Sunday morning. That none may be misled by the item we will state that the service is to be held in Winterville.

Shirwaist Sale.

The ladies of the Baptist church will have a shirtwaist sale the first week in March, date to be named later. We would be glad if the ladies of the town would bear this in mind and help to make it a success. Special orders may be given to Mrs. Ola Forbes or Mrs. B. E. Parham. Please give orders as early as possible. 2td.

Good Again Last Night.

Williams Comedy Co., again pleased a large audience at the temple last night and we have never seen a more pleasing audience. Tonight they present the 4-act comedy, "The Little Mother," with May Blossom in the title role. Remember the matinee Saturday at 3 o'clock.

A large distilling plant, several cottages, the Seaboard Air Line freight depot and 17 box cars loaded with goods were destroyed by fire at Hamlet Tuesday.

Sparks of genius have nothing in common with lovmaking.

CAUGHT IN PASSING.

People Whose Names the Reporter Finds

H. A. white went to Scotland Neck today.

Jack Saunders went to Wilmington today.

Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Barnhill left this morning.

Miss Maud Anderson left this morning for Richmond.

J. S. Norman returned this morning from High Point.

L. I. Moore returned to New Bern Wednesday evening.

Prof. W. H. Ragsdale went to Raleigh Wednesday evening.

D. D. Gardner and little son returned to Bethel Wednesday evening.

Miss Fannie Fleming came home Wednesday evening from Richmond.

C. T. Mumford and L. C. Arthur returned Wednesday evening from Norfolk.

Dr. M. I. Fleming, of Hamilton, spent last night here with his parents and left this morning.

Miss Clyde Cox, who has been spending a few days with her parents here, returned to New Bern Wednesday evening.

FREIGHT CONGESTED.

Over 600 Cars Enroute to Greenville.

A man in a position to know whereof he speaks told the Reflector that he never saw freights so badly congested as at present. He says there are now at Wilmington about 300 freight cars, at Pinners Point 175, at Hobgood 60, at Richmond 100, and every siding between here and Hobgood full, all of them billed for Greenville.

Nearly all of these cars are loaded with material for the construction of the Raleigh & Pamlico Sound railroad. An extra train bringing some of the belated cars comes into Greenville nearly every day. The delay is mainly due to want of side tracks here to hold the cars.

The Town Growing.

A man who does not see Greenville except occasionally, remarked to us today "This old town is certainly growing." Of course it is, yet to those of us who are here every day it is not so noticeable as to those who see the town only once in a while. But she keeps going forward all the time.

Steamer Disabled.

The steamer Myers became disabled on her trip down the river Wednesday evening and was not in condition to make the return trip to Greenville today. As it will take a few days to get the steamer ready to resume service a gas boat will make trips in her stead until repairs are made.

Moved Across Street.

Bradley & Best have moved their jewelry business across the street to the store formerly occupied by J. F. Davenport, in order that they might have more room to put in a larger stock.

Coldest So Far.

This morning the temperature was down to 18, the lowest of the winter so far. In spite of the cold the day has been beautiful.

Weather.

Fair tonight with slowly rising temperature.

The Alter workers of the Methodist church will have shirtwaist sale the first week in April. Orders can be placed with Mrs. Dr. E. A. Moye or Mrs. H. L. Carr.

LOCAL DOTS.

There was a misconception of trails today.

The young ladies of the Methodist church will celebrate Washington's birthday, February 22nd.

Ladies are admitted free in the opera house tonight when accompanied by person holding paid admission if purchased before seven o'clock this evening.

Dr. H. O. Hyatt the eye ear, nose and throat specialist, will be in Greenville at Hotel Bertha for one day only January 28th (Monday). Dr. Hyatt is now located in Wilmington where he has a large practice and is unable to get out to the towns he used to visit as often as formerly.

J. W. Fox, representing Royal & Borden, of Goldsboro, is here putting carpets in the new Methodist church which were furnished by this firm. Mr. Fox will have a display of samples of carpets, draperies, etc, at the church building on Thursday and Friday will be glad to show them to all interested. 23 2td

NFW-PAPERS AND RAILROADS.

Editors are not entitled to any more gratuities at the hands of railroads than other people, and we think a large majority of the editors of North Carolina neither ask nor desire such gratuities. At the same time the newspapers should not be prohibited from making legitimate advertising contracts with railroads, and any legislation looking to that end is wrong. If a railroad wants space in a newspaper and the editor of such paper is willing to accept a mileage book of equal value to the space used in payment for such advertising, it is purely a business transaction that affects only the two parties concerned. Mr. Justice's bill offered in the legislature to deny newspapers and railroads making such contracts is beyond reason. It would be just as reasonable to propose a law that would deny an editor the privilege of accepting a farmer's wood or produce on subscription account, or the merchant's goods on advertising account. Neither is Mr. Justice's proposition to compel railroads to advertise in all newspapers in towns touched by the railroads wise. It would be unfair to the railroads to force them to advertise where they did not want to or it was not to their interest to do so. The law regarding contracts between newspapers and railroads would be better to remain as it is.

HOW IS IT NOW?

For a long time The Reflector harped on the need of a brick manufacturing plant here. One man came along and spiked our gun for the time being by wanting to know where a site was convenient to the railroad and not too far from town, that would afford suitable clay in sufficient quantity to keep a brick making plant running. We asked who had such a site but nobody answered.

But how is it now? It looks to us like the Raleigh & Pamlico Sound railroad has brought this very opportunity. Some of the nearby cuts through which the road is graded show an abundance of clay. Why not somebody look into this? There is already a large demand for brick and the demand is growing larger. Buildings would go up much faster in Greenville if material was not so hard to get. Who will start the brick plant?

All Jamaica being indignant over the action of Governor Swettenham shows that they needed and wanted assistance, even if he did say they could take care of themselves.

He ought to be named Swetting-Ham.

We thought it would be a cold day when the Thaw trial started.

STRONG Again

is what Mrs. Lucy Stovall, of Tilton, Ga., said after taking Kodol Dyspepsia Cure. Hundreds of other weak women are being restored to perfect health by this remedy. YOU may be well if you will take it.

Indigestion, nearly all the sickness the women have. It deprives the system of nourishment and the delicate organs peculiar to women suffer—weakens, and becomes diseased.

Kodol Dyspepsia

enables the stomach and digestive organs to digest and assimilate all of the wholesome food that may be eaten. It nourishes the body, and rebuilds the weak organs, restoring health and strength. Kodol cures indigestion, constipation, dyspepsia, sour risings, belching, heartburn and all stomach disorders.

Digests What You Eat

Dollar bottle holds 30 times as much as the trial, or 50 cent size.

Weak Kidneys

Weak kidneys, surely point to weak kidney nerves. The kidneys, like the heart, and the stomach, and their weakness, not in the organ itself, but in the nerves that control and guide and strengthen them. Dr. Shoop's Restorative is a medicine specifically prepared to reach these controlling nerves. To doctor the kidneys alone is futile. It is a waste of time, and of money as well.

MERELY A MASTERPIECE.

Not a "Message" in Lovely Diction For the Junior Manager. A man who wanted to lecture called at a bureau presided over by two managers. He aroused their interest with a lecturer's art, says the by-enthusiast, but unfortunately the senior member was just starting on a trip and would not return for at least a month.

The senior partner called the young man to one side and exacted a solemn promise that he would not visit another bureau or read his lecture to anybody until after he had given this particular manager a reading and a chance to make him an offer a month hence.

The interest of the junior member, however, was at white heat, and he kept sending for the young lecturer, insisting that he come down to the office and read his lecture. The young man refused with as much tact as possible, but this only increased the anxiety of the junior.

At last the young man told of the promise made the senior partner. Instead of quieting the junior manager, the announcement made him the more anxious, and finally the young man consented. The reading ended, the junior partner said: "Now, your reading this has saved us all much valuable time. I'll tell you frankly, my boy, it won't do. There's no message in it; it is loosely constructed; the diction is poor. It won't do. Burn it and try again."

When the senior partner returned he called up the young lecturer and soundly berated him for breaking faith. "How do I know you have not been to every bureau in town? You promised me on your honor you would read the lecture to nobody—not even to my partner."

The young man protested that he had not done so. "Why," exclaimed the senior manager, "of course you have! He tells me that you came down here to the office two weeks ago and read him the entire lecture and that he told you it was no good."

"Yes," replied the young man; "after such persuasion I did read him a lecture which he told me was no good, but it was not my lecture—it was Wendell Phillips' 'Lost Arts!'"

THE ANIMAL KINGDOM.

Wild dogs never bark and so always bite. A gray horse lives the longest, a black one the shortest. A coon's fur is so thick that it can rob bees without being stung. A blue eyed cat is always deaf, but all deaf cats are not blue eyed. An Asiatic squirrel climbs a tree like a telegraph pole climber. It has large horny scales on its tail for the purpose. The flying fox or tropical bat will pass the night drinking from the vessels in which cocoa is distilled and go home intoxicated in the early morning or sleep it off at the foot of the trees. The big snowshoe rabbit or northern hare is something of a dresser. It wears a white coat in winter and a gray one in summer, the better to conceal itself from its enemies by looking as the ground looks in the two seasons.

Hard on Beggars.

The philanthropist, handing the beggar a dime, said: "The world is in a bad enough way, dear knows, but I am not one of those men who say that it goes back instead of forward. Take your case, for instance. You are practically unmolested, aren't you? A few months is the most you ever get for begging. And do you know what would have been done to you in the fifteenth century? The first time they caught you begging they'd have whipped you at the cart's tail. The second time they'd have slit your right ear and bored a hole in your left ear with a hot iron. Catching you a third time, they'd have put you to death as a felon." "Gee," said the beggar, "who'd 'a' thunk it?"—New York Press.

It Is Woman's Way.

When a woman undertakes to decapitate a foal or anything with an axe she grasps the tool close to the head, raises her chin, squints both eyes, clinches two rows of teeth and backs straight down, missing her aim by about two inches. That was sufficient for a Batavia lady to sever her left thumb. She was not a fainter and, replacing the thumb, which had been chopped at the first joint, bound the parts together and has excellent promise of its complete restoration. The game is not always lost when "thumbs are down."—Detroit News-Tribune.

Timely Precaution.

"Maria," said Mr. Quigley, entering his home in some excitement, "I want you to promise me not to look at the papers for the next three months!" "What for?" wonderingly asked Mrs. Quigley. "I have just been nominated for a public office," he faltered, "and I don't want you to find out what kind of man I really am."—Chicago Tribune.

Shrewd Game.

"Extry!" yelled the bright newsboy. "All about the terrible wumpy—er—wump!" "Eh?" asked the inquisitive old man. "What did ye say, sonny?" "I didn't say it," replied the boy. "Buy a paper an' see."—Minneapolis Journal.

Always Growing.

"Binks is always growing that he doesn't have justice done him." "Yes. When he gets a halo he'll probably say it isn't a square thing."—New York Times.
