AYDEN ITEMS.

Newsy Notes from a Hustling Town
Ayden, N. C., Jan. 29, 1907.

A Miss Roberson, who had stopped a short while Sunday at the home of W. E. Hooks to await the evening train, had the misfortune to fall while going down the icy steps of the porch and hurt herself badly. We are informed that after reaching the depot a physician had to be called to attend her sufferings which, while not serious were very painful.

Deputy Sheriff D. D. Strawls, of Martin county, came here Friday after a prisoner who was wanted for false pretense. He found his man and returned to his home with him Saturday.

D. C. James is here doing the painting for the new opera house. We do not say it boastfully, but or the size of the town our opera house will compare favorably with any in the State.

Major Smith came home Friday from Scotland Neck to spend a few days with his mother and other relatives.

Edgar G. Hart and Thad Hart were here from Saturday until Monday visiting T. W. Hart.

There has been snow and sleet down here. Fine on young ducks. The rooster that crows before day these mornings certainly has a cold rise to hear a cackle.

Last Sunday afternoon at the home of Mr. Absalom Williams, Esquire J. F. Barwick united in marriage Mr. John Stokes and Miss Melissa Williams. The same evening the same squire performed the ceremony that made Mr. John Stokes and Miss Lida Kittrell man and wife. The latter marriage took place at the home of Mr. Arch Cox. The bride is a daughter of Mr. Allen Kittrell, of Greenville.

Ray Kittrell, of Standard, and Heber Savage, of Greenville, took in Harry Lindley here last night.

Lindley gets better all the time. He is even beyond 25 years ago when he had the "Big 8." He is ripe and mellow, but hasn't been pulled yet.

Next Saturday the board supervisors and road owners meet in Ayden at 10:30 a. m.

We have always been impressed with the idea that the constitution of our State and county guaranteed unto every man, charged with an offense against the law, the right and privilege of trial by a jury composed of twelve of his countrymen. The custom of late seems to have been assumed that a judge at his own discretion can take unto himself the prerogative and decide matters regardless of constitution and everything else to his own liking and pleasure, a prerogative the public generally does not recognize or approve. To enter a plea of innocence for an offense charged with an anticipation of a jury verdict and then for a one man power to declare otherwise has grown not only monotonous but at some future day we anticipate the will of the people will stamp at the ballot box their condemnation of imaginative authority so badly abused.

Rev. W. E. Cox conducted services in the Episcopal church Sunday morning and night.

The Harry Lindley Company had a crowded house last night, the prospects are bright for a lik repetition tonight.

Remember the meeting of the Chamber of Commerce in the mayor's office at 8 o'clock tonight.

W. P. FIFE DIES SUDDENLY.

Stricken in St. Louis Hotel
St. Louis, Mo., Jan. 27.—W. P. Fife, capitalist, died suddenly at 11 o'clock today at the St. James Hotel.

Mr. Fife was in the hotel lobby chatting with friends when he became suddenly very ill, and soon lost consciousness. Dr. William Behrens was hastily summoned from the Southern Hotel, across the street, but could do nothing for Mr. Fife, who died shortly after the doctor's arrival.

Dr. Behrens says the death was probably due to a heart attack, but is not positive.

Coroner Baron has been notified of the death and will hold an inquest Monday morning.

Mr. Fife's son who is now in Denver, Colorado, has been notified of his father's death.

The body has been sent to the morgue and will remain there until the son has been heard from.

William P. Fife was born about fifty years ago in Newbern. His father was W. W. Fife, a trader. The elder Fife refuged to Thomasville toward the close of the civil war and resided in the latter town until his death. W. P. Fife married about 30 years ago, Miss Whitford, a daughter of Col John D. Whitford, of Newbern, and is survived by two children, Miss Elmer Fife and W. P. Fife, Jr.

For years Mr. Fife was a successful tobacco salesman, traveling for several North Carolina factories. He was a man of the world and was given to dissipation. Twenty years ago this month, while Rev. R. G. Pearson was conducting revival services in Charlotte, he was converted. A little later he took a prominent part in a big Y. M. C. A. meeting at Wilmington. He then gave up his position on the road and threw himself earnestly into the cause of religion, holding large and successful revival meetings throughout this and other States, earning the sobriquet of "Drummer Evangelist." He was an attractive speaker, possessed a pleasing voice of great carrying power and preached to good crowds wherever he went.

After some years of this evangelical work his throat failed him and he was forced to give up preaching. He had accumulated some money and this he invested in the oil wells in the Beaumont region of Texas, which had then just sprung into fame, and later invested in Western mining stocks, becoming associated with the Great Western Oil Refining and Pipe Line Company and the Great Western Gold Mining Company, having offices in the Missouri Trust building in St. Louis.

His friends in this State, and he had many, believed that in all his dealings he was honest and trustworthy. He had frequently declared that the money he hoped to make out of his mining and oil speculations he expected to apply to the promotion of missionary work on the Dark Continent.

What success has attended these ventures is not a matter of common knowledge.—Charlotte Observer.

Mrs. Mary A. Barrett, widow of the late William A. Barrett, departed this life at the home of her son, near Pactolus, on Saturday, January 26th, 1907. Two sons and many friends are left to mourn her death. She sustained consciousness almost to her last breath, and in her farewell words said the Lord had promised to send an angel to bear her soul home to glory, where she would be at rest with loved ones gone before. W.

The man who makes money in a community has a duty to perform to that community. It may be that he has made his money by his superior business ability, and that he would have done as well anywhere. That does not alter the case. If his gifts are great his responsibility is equally as great. No man was placed on earth for the sole purpose of making money, and the man who has this as his ideal had better never have been born. It is not an act of charity, but the performance of a simple duty for the man who has made money to pass a little of it for the benefit of the community, even though he never expects to see a dollar of his contribution back.—Ex.

More than likely Thaw wishes he could imitate the weather and thaw out of it.

The papers can palm off any old picture and call them incidents of the Thaw trial without their readers being much the wiser. If the pictures satisfy public curiosity it is about all the papers are after.

DOOT GO, TOO FAST.

The Reflector is anxious to see Greenville larger, both in boundary and population, but we have serious doubts as to whether this is the proper time to extend the corporate limits of the town. It has not been long since the town put in water works and electric lights, and just now a sewerage system is being constructed. Only a part of the money is in hand for the sewerage and it is not yet clear just how the balance will be provided. A bond issue has been suggested, but as that will have to be submitted to a vote of the people the result is uncertain until an election is held. If the corporate limits are extended it will mean more expense for streets in the new territory and for extending the water and light service to people living in the sections that are proposed to be taken in. If they are brought in the corporate limits and apply for water and lights the service will have to be provided for them. Now if the town is prepared to make the additional outlay necessary for this it is all right to extend the corporate limits, but if not, then it is better to defer a while.

Of course we are open to argument on the question, but the present opinion of The Reflector is that the corporate limits had better be left as they are until the town gets the sewerage in and paid for.

Congested Railroad Terminals.

The railroads are no longer able to get their freight cars in and out of the yards and terminals of the larger cities. They cannot get their cars loaded and unloaded or returned to the place where they belong. The business of the country has been to a great extent paralyzed for weeks past on account of what is called the "freight-car famine." Yet freight cars by the hundreds of thousands are standing on side tracks and packed into freight yards, all in one weltering chaos of hopeless mismanagement. We have simply reached the climax of a situation that has been coming on for years, and that could have been met without very serious difficulty. The situation cannot be justified by any honest answer from the business standpoint to the question why railroad facilities should not have kept pace with the growth of other business enterprises. Lack of terminals is hard to excuse. From "The Progress of the World," in the American Monthly Reviews of Reviews for February.

The annual banquet of the Confederate Camp of New York, was held in the Waldorf-Astoria, Wednesday night. Mr. James W. Osborne, of Charlotte, was one of the speakers and his subject was "The Constitution and State rights." That is a matter of much moment at present, and The Chronicle hopes to get Mr. Osborne's address for the benefit of its readers—Charlotte Chronicle.

It's a pleasure to tell our readers about a Cough Cure like Dr. Dr. Shoop's. For years Dr. Shoop has fought against the use of opium, chloroform or other unsafe ingredients commonly found in cough remedies. Dr. Shoop, it seems has welcomed the Pure Food Drug Law recently enacted, for he has worked along similar lines for many years. For nearly 20 years Dr. Shoop's Cough Cure containers have had a warning printed on them against opium and other narcotic poisons. He has thus made it possible for mothers to protect their children by simply insisting on having Dr. Shoop's Cough Cure. Sold by Bryan's Drug Store.

STRONG Again

is what Mrs. Lucy Stovall, of Tilton, Ga., said after taking Kodol Dyspepsia Cure. Hundreds of other weak women are being restored to perfect health by this remedy. YOU may be well if you will try it.

Indigestion, nearly all the sicknesses that women have. It deprives the system of nourishment and the delicate organs, peculiar to women suffer—weakens, and become diseased.

Kodol

enables the stomach and digestive organs to digest and assimilate all of the wholesome food that may be eaten. It nourishes the body, and rebuilds the weak organs, restoring health and strength. Kodol cures indigestion, constipation, dyspepsia, sour risings, belching, heartburn and all stomach disorders.

Digests What You Eat

Dollar bottle holds 30 times as much as the trial, or 50 cent size.

Weak Kidneys

Weak Kidneys, surely point to weak kidney nerves. The Kidneys, like the Heart, and the Stomach, find their weakness, not in the organ itself, but in the nerves that control and guide and strengthen them. Dr. Shoop's Restorative is a medicine specifically prepared to reach these controlling nerves. To doctor the Kidneys alone, is futile. It is a waste of time, and of money as well.

THE DOOM OF VENICE

IT MAY BE TO LIE IN THE BOSOM OF THE ADRIATIC.

The Famous Bell of St. Mark's May Toll on Ocean's Depths Like Those of Old Port Royal—The Sunken Cities of the World.

It is believed by many that Venice is sinking into the Adriatic and that she gradually will disappear beneath the waters of the great lagoon from which her palace crowned islands arise. Other cities have gone that way before her, and ships now sail over spots which were once teeming with a populous life.

At the entrance to the harbor of Kingston, Jamaica, the original city of Port Royal lies fathoms deep beneath the blue and sunlit waters of the Caribbean sea. A narrow strip of land, on which are a small settlement and a fort, is all that is left of what was once the richest and wickedest town in the West Indies. It was the resort of pirates, who rested there from their depredations and made the city hideous with their revelry. But these pirates brought great stores of their loot to the city, and its commerce grew and flourished. Palaces and churches were built, a pirate often striving by a rich endowment of a church to square his accounts with heaven.

Throughout the greater part of the seventeenth century no town in the western world was so magnificent as to its buildings or so luxurious as to its habits as Port Royal. Then one day in 1692 the anger of the Lord shook the island of Jamaica, and the greater part of Port Royal sank beneath the sea, carrying with it hundreds of its inhabitants. Towers, churches, palaces and forts went down, many of them not tumbling in ruins by the shock, but sinking bodily beneath the waves.

On a bright day, sailing over the spot where Port Royal once stood, one can look far down through the clear water and see the remains of the city still standing there on the ocean bottom, with fishes swimming about among its towers and great tropical seaweeds waving from its sunken walls.

The negroes of Jamaica—and some white people, too—will tell you that before a storm the sunken bell of the great cathedral which went down with the city on that awful day in 1692 can be heard distinctly tolling below the waves, rung as a warning by the ghostly hands of the spirits of departed buccaneers which haunt the submarine city. People who do not believe in ghosts, but think they have heard the tolling of the bell, say the explanation is that when the city sunk the great bell of the cathedral was not thrown from its place, but still hangs as it originally did. The coming storm before it reaches Jamaica stirs up the waters of the Caribbean and sends in upon the shore deep waves, which roll through the sunken city and set the bell a-tolling.

Another sunken city of renown is Baiae, that splendid resort on the Italian coast where Nero and Calligula "reveled and drank deep." A straggling village and heaps of marble ruins still stand upon the shore and bear the name of Baiae, but the greater part of the city lies beneath the waters of the Mediterranean, and tourists from Naples go out there to gaze down into the waters and try to catch a glimpse of the submerged city.

The resort of all the wealthy nobles of Rome when Rome was mistress of the world, Baiae was a marvel of luxurious splendor. Palace after palace was built on the shore, and architects designed magnificent structures extending out into the sea.

When Rome decayed and the Goths ravaged Italy, Baiae was sacked by the invaders. Soon after the city began to sink. First the buildings which had their foundation in the water subsided beneath the waves, and then the sea made an attack on the land. Gradually the shore line receded, and the Mediterranean flowed through the streets where Hadrian had driven his imperial chariot and Horace had walked thinking of his next poem.

These promontories, crowned with grand towers and gorgeous palaces, were undermined and toppled into the deep until at last the major part of the splendid city was submerged. Its disappearance was not sudden, like that of Port Royal, and due to some convulsion of nature, but Baiae went down to its death gradually, as Venice is said to be going.

In Holland the subsidence of the land has brought it about that many towns once populous are now covered by the sea. The old Roman camp at Brittenburg, after sinking beneath the waves, emerged again in 1520, only to disappear, and its remains now lie in deep water opposite the town of Katwijk. The original Katwijk itself now is beneath the waters, as also are the original towns of Scheveningen, Domburg and Egmond. In fact, a succession of towns bearing these names is now at the bottom of the sea, for they repeatedly have been rebuilt farther inland as the land sunk and the waves come in to take possession.

The Goodwin sands, large and dangerous shoals off the southeast coast of England, were once above the water and formed a flourishing estate the property of Earl Godwin. There was no city on the Godwin estate when it subsided beneath the sea, but several small villages went down to the deep when the tract of country gradually disappeared beneath the waters. There are legends which may or may not be true of lost cities sunk at the bottom of Swiss lakes.—New York Mail.

Oblivion is the flower that grows best on graves.—George Sand.
