

AYDEN ITEMS.

Newsy Notes from a Hustling Town.
Ayden, N. C., Feb. 26th.

The pupils out at the graded school observed Washington's birthday last Friday. The speeches, dialogues and other sources of amusement were very instructive and interesting. We are informed the occasion was very pleasant indeed.

Mrs. G. F. Marion left Friday for High Point to join her husband, Mr. Marion, who is in business there.

J. B. Greene, vice-president of the Irix Music Company, of Tennessee, has been spending a part of the past week in Ayden.

D. O. Moore is at home from Oxford on a visit to his family.

H. L. Sauls, of Fremont, came Monday to visit his brother, M. M. Sauls.

W. E. Hooks returned from Greensboro yesterday.

Mrs. B. E. Early received a telegram yesterday morning announcing the serious illness of her daughter, Mrs. Flynn, at Fortress Monroe.

Sheriff L. W. Tucker, of Greenville, has been in our town during the week.

Will Alexander tried his darndest to kick up the entire cement walk in front of the drug store Saturday morning and it was all on account of that boy at his house. He must think nobody else ever had a boy.

Mrs. W. E. Hooks and Miss Anna Belle Kittrell spent Saturday and Sunday at R. H. Garrison's in the country.

Owing to the inclemency of the weather Rev. W. K. Cox was unable to conduct regular services in the Episcopal church here Sunday evening.

For the first time in a long while there are one or two vacant residences in Ayden.

Rev. Mr. Fulch, a Presbyterian minister will preach in Missionary Baptist church here next Wednesday night.

Mrs. W. J. Jackson after a pleasant visit to her son, W. C. Jackson, has returned to her home in the country.

Starcell Hodges and wife were on a visit to relatives in Beaufort county last Saturday.

Miss Louise Fleming of House, spent Saturday night with Miss Lee Nichols.

In response to a telegram Saturday announcing the death of an aunt in Nashville Miss Nannie Nichols left Saturday morning for that place to be present at the funeral.

What a Boy's Life is Worth.

A new valuation on the life of a ten-year-old boy was made by a jury in the Supreme court yesterday before Justice Ford, in which Mary Netelsky was awarded $3,958.33 for the killing of her son Harry. The boy was run over by a wagon owned by the Hudson Coal Company, of New Jersey, on January 12, 1904. Verdicts in similar cases have been run from $1 to $10,000.

In charging the jury Justice Ford, admonished them that if they found a verdict for the mother they could award only such sum as the value of the boy's service would be to her up to the time of his majority. The jury took 15 minutes to consider its verdict, and then awarded Mrs. Netelsky $3,958.33.—New York World.

Weather.

Rain and warmer tonight. Wednesday probably rain.

FOUND WATCH BY DREAM.

Valuable Timepiece Lost by a Student at Bues Creek Academy. Recovered by Woman Through the Medium of a Dream--Said to Have Been in Answer to a Prayer.

Wake Forest College, Feb. 23.—A few days ago I was shown a beautiful gold watch that has had a peculiar experience, and because of this experience the possessor's faith in prayer has been strengthened. The affair is an interesting one and I give it below.

Two years ago Mr. T. Y. Seymour, of Chatham county, at present a student here was in school at Bue's Creek Academy and while there boarded in a private family. He bought a ladies' size gold watch, a few days later left the watch in his room, and afterwards it was missing.

A diligent search was made but it could not be found. The landlady, a Christian woman of high standing, was very much distressed that anything should be stolen, as was thought, from an occupant of her home, but there was no clue to the missing jewelry.

A few days ago Mr. Seymour received a letter from a friend of his at Bue's Creek and I give a paragraph from it.

"During the past night about 3:30 o'clock in the morning Mrs. Martha Johnson, or now Mrs. Ravedon, as she has recently married, came to my room, rapped on my door, and after coming in she told me that she was so troubled over a dream she could not sleep. She had several dreams of late. In this one she dreamed where a lost watch was and wanted me to help her look for it. I dressed, all others were asleep, and went with her into your old room and tore off the plastering and laths in the corner where she dreamed your watch was. After getting a hole large enough she put her hand in and soon she said: 'I believe that I have found it. She pulled out a little bag, pocket, and there it was nicely fitted in one corner. There was no sign of a crystal about it. We carried it out to Prof. Portis, in the night, to see if it was yours. He said that he thought it was: Mrs. Martha seems to be very glad that it is found. She says that it is in answer to prayer.' The letter is signed by D. B. Bryan.

This is a remarkable answer to prayer. Mr. Seymour says that the children in the neighborhood often came into his room at Bue's Creek and that he thinks one of them broke the crystal and in order to hide his or her guilt hid the watch in a hole in the plastering of the room.—Charlotte Observer.

Shy One Bull; Fined $200

The manager who would advertise his forty minstrels, "count 'em," in Mexico, and then put on his show with about ten men all told would not escape as easily as he does in the States.

Because the number of bills produced for a bull fight in Monterey, the other Sunday were one short of the advertise number, the manager was fined $200 by the municipal authorities.

First Shad.

The first white shad caught this far up the river this season was caught Monday evening by Jim Brown and John Clark, two colored fishermen.

DISREGARD DANGER SIGNALS.

Big Engineers On Lake Shore Road Demonstrated by Experiments by High Officials.

There has been so much talk about the effectiveness of the block system, automatic and manual, that laws have been and are being placed requiring all railroads to add the equipment for the protection of the traveling public. When the rules are observed, when employes are alive to their duties, there is but a small chance of accident. The Lake Shore is one of the great railway systems of the country. It has had its share of trouble, but to ascertain the probable cause the management recently decided to test the manner in which the signals were regarded. At Connecticut Ohio, the other night a party of high officials stood beside the company's track and purposely changed and darkened the signals, thereby displaying a warning that the line ahead was not clear for traffic. Within a few hours 25 trains passed when only one came to a full stop. The company, of course, had made ample provision to safeguard the trains so that passengers were secure from harm, but the officials were naturally startled to find that crews rushed by without paying the least heed to the signs. The engineer of the freight who saw the dark signal and stopped was complimented and promoted, but the names of the offenders were taken and a dispatch adds that all will be dismissed from the service of the Lake Shore.—Raleigh Times.

Organ to Save Woodpile.

A number of years ago a village in the eastern part of the town of Middleboro was very much wrought up over the introduction of a musical instrument in their church service. At the final meeting when the matter was to be settled excitement ran high.

One man whose reputation for honest dealings was not always above suspicion made a fiery speech in opposition. A neighbor whose back yard joined the speaker's could hardly wait for the close of the remarks. Then jumping to his feet without waiting to address the chairman, he said:

"Gosh, sir, if I had known the gentleman was so afraid of an organ I should have had one hung on my woodpile years ago."

"The Clansman" Tonight.

The special train bringing "The Clansman" company to Greenville today was delayed some. As we go to press the train is expected to arrive about 4 o'clock. The advance sale has been very large, people being anxious to secure seats. At this writing there are a few good seats that may be had, and some extra chairs will be placed in rear after all the regular seats are sold. Notwithstanding the weather tonight the house will be comfortable.

Justice is just what the unjust are anxious to avoid.

Unless a man is a good listener, he should never marry.

It doesn't pay to sow wild oats, young man, there is no market for them.

THREE BIG STICKS.

That Played Parts in the San Francisco-Japanese Controversy.

In settling the American end of the big sticks were used. An eye-witness says that Senator Aldrich was first to use the club. He sent word to Senator Bacon and Tillman that if they did not call off their filibuster by Saturday Georgia and South Carolina would be left out of the river and harbor bill. If this did not succeed the conferees would withdraw their report and bring in a joint resolution providing for a Japanese passport amendment alone. But in a half hour it is stated, President Roosevelt telephoned to Senator Lodge that the immigration conference report must be adopted unless an extra session was desired. There must be no separate Japanese amendment because that would not relieve the susceptibilities of the Japanese, but serve to irritate them still further. Then Secretary Taft appeared personally on the scene and explained that the cabinet had reached the conclusion that the secretary of commerce and labor could issue a ruling to the effect that the rights of state officials as contended for by Georgia and South Carolina were not affected by the provision concerning passports of "foreigners." The third "big stick" was waved by the great oceanic steamship lines who came to Bacon and Tillman's aid, as the proposition seemed to effect their business.—Danville Register.

DOGS MAKE GOOD.

Traced Woman's Assailant to Lodging.

Rocky Mount, N. C., Feb. 25.—Charlie Johnson, the negro who attempted criminal assault upon the woman out near the Rocky Mount mills Saturday afternoon, has been caught and landed safely in jail. Saturday afternoon shortly after the attempt was made he was located by the police in one of the saloons here. It was a matter of a few moments to capture him and lock him up. He was then taken before the woman who said that he looked like the right one, but that he did not have on the same clothes.

A short while later the blood hounds were brought out from Tarboro and carried to the scene of the assault where they immediately found the trail which led to the negro's lodging house where he had been to change his apparel. Here were found the trousers he wore when he made the assault. It was found also that he had turned his cap wrong side out and had put on a darker coat over the one he had formerly worn while the crowd was following the bloodhounds. The sheriff of Nash county arrived and took charge of the prisoner, taking him in a buggy and hustling him away through country. It is not given out where he is but it is generally supposed that he has been landed in jail at Nashville. It was thought best to conceal his whereabouts as there is a strong lynching sentiment.

A Former Citizen Here.

The Reflector was glad to have a call from Mr. Gib Cherry, of Pamlico county. He once lived here but moved away years ago. He said this was his first visit to Greenville in twenty-five years and the town has so changed that he could hardly recognize it.

WAS IT TRAGEDY OR WHAT WAS IT?

Major Graham Mad Because He Wasn't Appointed on Conference Committee

The senate chamber was crowded yesterday at noon by reason of a report that Senator Graham, of Orange, was going to rise to a question of personal privilege to criticize the lieutenant-governor for not appointing him on the conference committee on passenger rate reduction, and to threaten to resign his seat in the senate unless he were placed on that committee. The report spread quickly and when Mr. Graham was recognized there was strained attention to hear all that he would say. The rumor was in error as to the threat of resigning his seat in the senate, but in other ways the incident was more sensational than had been rumored. Senator Graham denounced the action of the lieutenant-governor as unwarranted, an insult to the senate, and passionately exclaimed:

"Upon what meat doth this, our Caesar feed that he has grown so great?" He declared that he would be a coward if he submitted to the "contemptible" act which was done to humiliate him and insult the Senate. From start to finish the speech was hot and dramatic. The Senator referred to his record when he moved to impeach the Governor of North Carolina in the seventies, and said this was not the first time that he had refused to be ruled by "a servant of the Senate" as he characterized the place of the Lieutenant-Governor. He closed by reading a resolution discharging the conference committee.

The crowds present expected something sensational to follow, but Major Graham did not ask consideration of his resolution. After he had resumed his seat President Winston arose as quietly as if nothing unusual had happened, and recognized the Senator from Lenoir upon a bill that he had been advocating when Major Graham had obtained the floor on a question of personal privilege. And the proceedings continued in the usual way, and soon the galleries and lobbies were vacant. Several of the leaders of the Senate were soon conferring in the rear of the Senate chamber and it was reported that a caucus of the Democratic Senators had been called for eight o'clock last night. The public then understood why no senator had replied to Major Graham and that the matter would be discussed behind closed doors.—Raleigh News and Observer.

ABOUT THE EASTERN SCHOOL.

Some of the editors in the Piedmont section of the State seem to have a poor opinion of the sincerity and honesty of the people in the east. In their blind zeal, or prejudice, or whatever you may call it, they go much out of the way in impugning the motive of and costing slurs at men who have done more for North Carolina than any others now living. And it is all because the people of the east have some rights, and in their great need dare to ask a recognition of these rights.

Here comes the Greensboro Record which says:

"No doubt friends of the State Normal did what they deemed best in the matter of establishing another like institute kills the plan first contemplated, but even this substitute is an entering wedge and some day this same wedge will be driven deeper. The east wants a Normal College, principally because the west, or this section of the State, has one. Other considerations are cast to the forewinds of heaven. But let's say that they will never be able to get it, still the establishment of these high schools—and there will be more and more of them every year—will create a demand for more every year, making it more difficult to obtain appropriations to the Normal. We are not speaking from a selfish standpoint at all, but our idea is that it would be better to let these high schools wait a while longer. We are too apt to lose two birds while trying to catch a third; in other words, in our zeal for educational expansion we may overdo the thing. But the most disgusting sight of all is to see the hand of the politician in all these doings. These gentlemen are like the dignified man who is always two-thirds drunk; he never gets down in the gutter and he thinks he is fooling his most intimate friends, when even a blind man knows all about his failing."

The Charlotte Chronicle falls in line with The Record and backs it up thus:

"The friends of the State Normal and Industrial College are missing the services of the late Dr. Charles D. McIver in the Legislature. He was always alert to the needs of the institution and always succeeded in getting what he wanted from the Legislature. The Greensboro Record seems to think that the interests of the Normal are menaced. It says: 'It looks like friends of the State Normal, some of whom are supposed to be in Raleigh about this time, have gone to sleep or sold out. It strikes us that it is about time people living up this way should understand the tricks of those eastern politicians, but they seem unable to learn.' We had been wondering why the friends of the State Normal had not made some sort of a defense of that institution against the onslaughts of the eastern politician, but not a voice is raised. Things would have been different were McIver here." You brethren would do well to cut out this kind of talk. If you knew the needs of the eastern section of this great State you would be convinced that the demand for a training school for teachers in the east is not the work of politicians, but is to meet a necessity that confronts us. The people of the east pay a large proportion of the taxes of the State and they see no educational benefit worth mentioning coming to them in return.

This movement for a training school for teachers never had in it the slightest motive to antagonize the State Normal at Greensboro nor to even come in competition with it. On the contrary the people of the east favor the State doing everything possible for the Greensboro institution, but at the same time they want and must have something for themselves.

Such insinuations as are expressed in the above utterances of the Greensboro and Charlotte papers are not calculated to make friends among the eastern people for the cause they over zealously espouse.

FINDING NEW PASTURE.

Judging from the last issue of the Enfield Progress, the washing machine right sellers are doing a thriving business in that section and finding numerous victims to their endless chain scheme. In addition to a long editorial on the subject The Progress has another squib in which it asks some questions, as follows: "Is it false or is it real that images more ideal" the washing machine men were chased out of Ayden? And Greenville? And Washington? We are simply asking for information.

We cannot answer as to chased out part so far as the question applies to Greenville. But there was about to be something doing in court and all of a sudden the right selling business dropped out of sight here. And it might be added that there are people left behind who would not mind kicking themselves for being caught by such a scheme.

May be it is so much Thaw that keeps the weather mild.

Blac' burn and Swettenham are both in danger of getting lost to memory.

PANACEA MINERAL WATER CURES.

Read one among a hundreds of such testimonials. "I have suffered with NERVOUS Dyspepsia for past 10 years and have received more beneficial and lasting results from the use of PANACEA MINERAL WATER than from any other remedy of the many I have had prescribed for me. It gives me great pleasure to testify to its marvelous results in my own case and many others I have personally observed. Mrs. Martha P. Taylor, Newport News, Va. Send orders to Geo. S. ADVERTISE.

Two Dyspeptics

If you are too fat it is because your food turns to fat instead of muscle—strength. If you are too lean the fat-producing foods that you eat are not properly digested and assimilated.

Lean, thin, stringy people do not have enough Pepsin in the stomach, while fat people have too much Pepsin and not enough Pancreatine.

Kodol

Dyspepsia Cure

contains all the digestive juices that are found in a healthy stomach, and in exactly those proportions necessary to enable the stomach and digestive organs to digest and assimilate all foods that may be eaten. Kodol is not only a perfect digestant, but it is a reconstructive, tissue building tonic as well. Kodol cures Indigestion, Dyspepsia, Sour Stomach, Heartburn, Palpitation of the Heart and Constipation. You will like it.

Digests What You Eat

Rests the stomach, rebuilds the tissues and gives firm flesh.

Each bottle holds 94 doses as much as the trial, or 90 cent size.

Prepared at the Laboratory of E. O. DeWitt & Co., Chicago, U. S. A.

Indigestion

Stomach trouble is but a symptom of, and not in itself a true disease. We think of Dyspepsia, Heartburn, and Indigestion as real diseases, yet they are symptoms only of a certain specific Nerve sickness—nothing else.

It was this fact that first correctly led Dr. Shoop in the creation of that now very popular Stomach Remedy—Dr. Shoop's Restorative. Going direct to the stomach nerves, alone brought that success and favor to Dr. Shoop and his Restorative. Without that original and highly vital principle, no such lasting accomplishments were ever to be had.

For stomach distress, bloating, biliousness, bad breath and sallow complexion, try Dr. Shoop's Restorative—Tablets or Liquid—and see for yourself what it can and will do. We sell and cheerfully recommend.

MORBID JEALOUSY.

A Disease That, Unless It Is Killed, Will Ruin Any Life.

When a man is afraid to remark at the breakfast table, even mildly and casually, that, from what he had heard, Cleopatra was a beautiful woman it is fair to assume that the specter of constant jealousy dwells in that household. When a wife fears to look at the moon because she may be accused of admiring the man in it the husband needs to be gently reminded that he is taking a very rapid short cut to killing the love he seems to hold so sacred. Love is fed by confidence, trust, faith and serene, restful reliance, but morbid jealousy is a poison of doubt, suspicion and injustice that dulls the love it does not deaden.

Jealousy is a disease that can be cured only by the object, not by any one else in all the world. No matter how gentle, kind, forbearing, forgiving and forgetting the object of it may be, this in itself will not cure the attacks. The subject whose heart is thus swayed by fierce gales of jealousy must first awaken to the folly of it, the injustice of it; must be conscious of the trail of bitterness and unhappiness it brings to both, must realize the cruel continued assault on the tolerance, love, loyalty and patience of the other and when the next attack comes seek by strength of will, by force of character, by every weapon in the armory of the soul, to kill the feeling. Jealousy must be killed in the thought. In the mind, the battleground of the soul, must the fight of extermination be waged. In the thought must the jealousy be neutralized by faith, conquered by justice and transformed by trustful love into a restful, abiding confidence that only absolute proof and certainty of just cause for jealousy can ever reawaken. — William G. Jordan in Delineator.

O. K. and Its Origin.

There have been many theories advanced as to the origin of the expression O. K. Some of them have been partly correct, and some have not. Over a century ago a great deal of the best rum and tobacco came from Aux Cayes, which was pronounced O. K., and the best of anything was said to be O. K. The meaning of this phrase is still retained and figures largely in the business world. No doubt many have thought that O. K. came from "Oll Korrekt." During the campaign of General Jackson his enemies did all in their power to injure him in the eyes of the people. Once he signed some papers and wrote after his name, "This is O. K." The Democrats took up the phrase and said that it was an abbreviation of the customary indorsement of the general, as "Oll Korrekt." They put it on their banners, and the meaning "Oll Korrekt" stuck to the letters.

Tartars' Holy Well.

A holy well or spring away up on a hillside near Kazan and overlooking the river is believed by the Tartar villagers to possess extraordinary healing properties. The spring flows into a rocky basin about ten feet square and three feet deep. The water is a pure, clear crystal, sparkling in the sunshine, and the marvelous thing is that the bottom of the well is thickly covered with silver coins thrown in by sufferers who came to be cured by the water, to propitiate the spirit of the well. Although the tank is only three feet deep and no watch is kept on the spot, no one has ever been known to touch or attempt to take any of the coins.—London Globe.

The Wrong Pocket.

The cars were packed to the doors with suffering humanity. Suddenly a little man standing in the aisle thought of pickpockets and of money in his outer coat pocket. He plunged his hand in a pocket and was somewhat shocked at encountering the fist of a fat fellow passenger.

"Aha!" exclaimed the little man.

"Leggo my hand!"

"Pickpocket," hissed the fat man.

"Secoundrel!" the other yelled.

Then a tall person in their vicinity looked up from his paper.

"I get off here," he drawled, "so you fellows had better take your hands out of my pocket."

Wanted to Know.

An eminent novelist, remarkable more for his vagueness than for his brilliance, habitually dictates his brain products to his secretary. When the heroine, through a stroke of bad luck, had suffered the amputation of a leg, he was perplexed as to how long it would be before she could be out and about. Absent-mindedly, walking up and down the room, he suddenly inquired, "I say, Clarke, you haven't ever lost a leg, have you?"—Pall Mall Gazette.

A BASEBALL STORY.

The Pictures of a Pitcher That Were on Exhibition.

Dad Clark, once a pitcher of the New York club, who was perhaps the most unconscious humorist the game has ever known, could be made to believe the tallest story ever told, provided the teller kept a serious face, and this sublime faith of Clark's caused him to be "stung" on many occasions.

One of the most notable cases wherein Dad got "stung" happened one morning when that genial soul and prince of good fellows, Parke Wilson, the New York catcher at that time, came hurriedly into the clubhouse just when the fellows were preparing to don their baseball clothes for morning practice and excitedly exclaimed:

"Say, men, what do you think? As I came to the park this morning I walked by Siegel, Cooper & Co.'s place and saw a big crowd gathered about their largest show window.

"Getting curious myself, I went up to see what the trouble was, and what do you imagine caused the street to become blockaded? Why, nothing more than this—they have the entire window filled with canned goods, and on each can is the picture of Dad Clark!" shouted Parke.

"What!" shrieked Dad as he began pulling on his street clothes. "Me picture on cans in Siegel-Cooper's window? Now, you fat heads, see whose de popular guy of dis punk outfit! I'm de little boy who's fillin' up dis park every day, an' I'm goin' ter strike for a two and dollar raise in me salary right away. Me picture on cans in Siegel-Cooper's window! If de folks at home could only see me now!"

All during this spiel Dad was hustling on his duds, and the moment he got the last garment fastened he tore out of the clubhouse and raced for dear life toward Siegel & Cooper's big store.

He arrived there all right, and, rushing up to the window, he saw the cans, just as Parke Wilson said they could be found, and on the front of each can was the picture of a great fat red lobster!—Luth Herald.
