

WINTERVILLE ITEMS.

Notes From our Hustling Neighbor
Winterville, N. C. March 2, '07.

H. A. White of Greenville, president of the oil mill here was here Friday.

A. D. Cox and William Smith have purchased a lot on which they will put a grist mill, flour mill, planing machine, etc. The material is being put on the ground.

J. J. John, of Richmond, representing a large machinery Company there, was here Friday on business.

R. H. Hunsucker made a trip to Greenville Friday on business.

We hear the "Cansman" spoke of very highly by those who attended the play at Greenville Tuesday night.

Paul Taylor a student of W. H. S. went to Kinston Friday evening to spend Sunday at his home near here.

Miss Mattie Gray a student of W. H. S. left for Greenville Friday evening to spend Sunday at home.

John Smith, of Roanoke Rapids, is spending a few days here with his brother and sister who are in school.

J. S. Farmer, the excellent traveling representative of the Biblical Recorder, gave W. H. S. a very pleasant call some days ago. He conducted the opening exercise, after which he made an excellent talk to the school. We are always glad to have him with us for he always comes bringing sunshine and encouragement.

Miss Rosabell Taylor, who spent a few days at home recovering from the grippe, returned to school Friday afternoon.

Miss Maud Holliday, of Grimesland, is visiting relatives and friends here this week.

Miss Annie Pitts, of Roanoke Rapids, is visiting Miss Rosa Smith.

John Flanagan, of Farmville, was here this week and purchased a pony of C. A. Kittrell.

C. S. Smith and Joseph Buck went to Greenville today.

YOUR GAWKY BOY.

That gawky boy of yours—ungainly, gaunt, shy, unprepossessing, as he is,—writes Henry A. Shute in The March Delineator. You nag him. You laugh at him and ridicule him. Did you ever realize how it hurts? You ought to realize it for it is not long since you knew how it felt. You would have stood pain like a man and so does your boy. You would have borne privation like a stoic, and so does your boy, and there would have been a grim sort of enjoyment in it, for the joy of resistance is fully awake at fourteen.

But you could not bear ridicule and he cannot, and yet there is scarcely a day when you do not cause him sharp discomfort.

The boy's mother never does this. She loves every awkward movement of her boy. She loves his long legs and she loves to hear his raucous voice. She smiles at it, too, and at him, and it is smile of genuine amusement, but there is love in the smile, and love in her eyes, and he knows it and adores her for it.

If he becomes depressed and despondent, he confides his troubles in his dog, which sits in front of him gazing at him an almost human expression of sympathy and puts his paw on his master's knee.

A bit unfortunate, isn't it, that your own boy is obliged to depend on his mother and his dog for sympathy and affection? He gets none from you and but little from his brothers and sisters. It is true, isn't it?

My friend, if you paid as much personal attention to the proper development of your boy as you do in raising the two-minute trotter, or the blue-ribbon Guernsey, or the Black Strain Jubilee or Orpington, or in beating hogs, or in your game of whist, you would be astonished at the results.

The New Immigration Law.

The new immigration measure will provide for very exhaustive investigation of many points. Meanwhile, great efforts are going to be made to distribute the newcomers more thoroughly throughout the country, and to test their fitness for success, particularly in Southern agriculture and industry. At present we are receiving immigrants at the rate of considerably more than a million a year, one-quarter of them coming from Italy, another quarter from the races of Austria-Hungary, another quarter from Russia, and the remaining quarter from Germany, Scandinavia, the British Islands, and scattered sources. The situation requires the most exhaustive study and analysis. If these new factors that make up the bulk of our immigration should be sifted or restricted in some radical fashion, public opinion will support congress in legislation after the argument has been sustained by a showing of undeniable facts. At present the country is in great need of labor, and a good kind of immigration is welcome. But in the long run our industrial life itself, as well as our social and political institutions, must depend upon the character of American citizenship, and it would be a fearful mistake to bring here classes of permanently undesirable in vast numbers merely to meet a temporary demand in the labor market.—From "The Progress of the World," in the American Monthly Review of Reviews for March.

ORGAN RECITAL

IN JARVIS MEMORIAL CHURCH, FRIDAY NIGHT, MARCH 8TH.

Mr. Henry H. Freeman, concert organist, choirmaster and organist St. John's Episcopal church, and instructor in church organ playing in the University of music and dramatic art, Washington, District of Columbia, will give a recital in the Jarvis Memorial church on Friday night, March 8th, 1907, on the new pipe organ.

Below we give a cut of Mr. Freeman and testimonials as to his eminent capacity taken from press notices where he has given recitals heretofore. Of course this recital is free to the public.

Mr. Henry H. Freeman, organist and choirmaster of old St. John's Episcopal church, began his fourth series of organ recitals yesterday. As usual on such occasions it was impossible to find a vacant seat in the church when the recital began. Mr. Freeman's playing was brilliant, and at all times conveyed the impression that he was in thorough command of his instrument. The recital was one of the most enjoyable heard this season.—New York Musical Courier.

Mr. Henry H. Freeman, organist of St. John's church, Washington, D. C., commenced a series of organ recitals on February 28. These recitals have become very popular with the public and are largely attended.—The Churchman, New York.

Last night at All Saints' Episcopal church the first inaugural recital was given on the new Moller organ by Mr. Henry H. Freeman, organist and choir master of St. John's church, Washington, D. C.

The program was well chosen, mingled with classical and lighter numbers, from the sublime Bach to the ever refreshing Schubert and Batiste.

Mr. Freeman played with soul and feeling coupled with taste and technic. In his Gounod and Rubenstein numbers he appealed most forcibly to the majority of his hearers, yet there were many who enjoyed his interpretation of Bach with its magnificent pedal fugue movement. His varied selections brought out his artistic perception and clear understanding of the organ, and through his entire program he showed that independence of left hand and pedal movement which is the true secret to organ playing.—The Daily News, Frederick, Md.

Mr. Henry H. Freeman's organ recitals were auspiciously ushered in last Saturday afternoon in St. John's Church, a large congregation being present. Mr. Freeman played delightfully and gave one of his characteristic programs of good music, devotional in tone and interpretation.—The Washington Capital.

Real Estate.

W. B. Wilson, Jr., has engaged in the real estate business and will buy and sell property on commission. He takes a large space in The Reflector to call attention to some valuable lots he has to offer. We do not know a business here at present that offers better opportunities than that in which Mr. Wilson has engaged. He is a hustling young man of fine business qualities and will find success. Besides there never was a more favorable time for real estate investments in and around Greenville than now. The early completion of the Raleigh & Pamlico Sound railroad, good water and electric light systems, a splendid graded school, a strong building and loan association, and a number of contemplated improvements, will attract people to Greenville and many of the newcomers will want property. Greenville never had so bright a future, and real estate investments now will yield a handsome profit.

RATE OF TWO AND A QUARTER CENTS.

Conference Committee Agree on a Substitute Bill in a Spirit of Mutual Concession.

The conference committee on the railway passenger rate bills yesterday reported the senate and the house, and the report contained a bill prescribing a flat two and a quarter cent rate. The bill is a compromise between the senate and house committees. The house made the bill a special order for twelve o'clock today, and the senate made it a special order for eight o'clock tonight, therefore we may expect to have this important matter settled before midnight. The long discussion on the passenger rate bills will doubtless terminate in both branches of the legislature tonight.

In this stage of the matter it is clear to every senator and to every representative, and to every man in North Carolina, that it is either to adopt the bill contained in the committee's report, or to adjourn the legislature without keeping the pledges of the Democratic party in the platform to reduce passenger rates.

TEACHER'S ASSOCIATION.

Program for Saturday, March 9th.

11 a. m. Devotional exercises, Rev. J. E. Ayscue.

11:15. Reading of minutes and roll call.

11:20. Number work in the first, second and third grades, Miss Lela Brown.

11:40 Arithmetic in the fourth and fifth grades, Miss Delle Clements

12. Reading in the third and fourth grades, Miss Etta F. Peace.

2:20. How I teach Arithmetic. Supt. W. H. Cale.

2:40 Address. Supt. C. W. Massey, of Durham.

1 p. m. Adjournment.

The weather was so bad at the time of the last meeting that we did not expect you. From the above program you will see that Supt. C. W. Massey, of Durham, will speak for us. He has a fine teachers' association in his county. He is a special friend of mine and I want to ask every teacher in the county to be present at this meeting, if for no other reason for my sake. There will be a short meeting of the Woman's Betterment Association immediately after the adjournment of the teachers' association. It is desired by the officers that you remain a short while to this meeting. All teachers who intend to enter the contest for the $25 prize for the greatest improvement in school houses and grounds will send or hand in their names at this meeting next Saturday or they will be debarred from contesting. This is made necessary by the fact that the April meeting will be the last meeting of the teachers during this term and the prize will have to be awarded at the April meeting. Full announcements about reports, etc. will be made at this meeting next Saturday.

PERSONAL POINTS.

O. L. Joyner returned Friday evening from Raleigh.

Senator J. L. Fleming came home Friday evening from Raleigh.

Misses Bettie Wright and Ruth Chapman, of Centerville, spent today here.

Miss Blanche Cromartie left yesterday for Baltimore and New York to purchase and study spring patterns for the millinery firm of Griffin & Lee. They will have their spring opening soon and you may look for something nice.

SCHOOL BILL REPORTED FAVORABLE.

Nothing Remains Now But for the Legislature to Pass it.

The following telegram received here late last night brought a good feeling to many people in Greenville:

Raleigh, N. C. March 1st.
D. J. Whichard,
Greenville, N. C.

Eastern training school bill reported favorable by appropriations committee.

D. J. Whichard, Jr.

The bill for this school had already been reported favorable by the educational committee, and was then referred to the appropriations committee. Now that the latter committee has made a favorable report on it, nothing remains except for the legislature to pass the bill establishing the school. We hope to hear soon that this has been done. Then will come the selection of location by the State board of education.

REPEAL PEDDLERS' TAX.

A Lawyer Suggests that as a Remedy for the Tobacco Business in North Carolina.

A prominent lawyer in North Carolina, who lives in the tobacco section, sends The News and Observer the following suggestion, which is presented here for the consideration of the general assembly:

"One of the most effective instruments in the hands of the tobacco trusts with which to destroy competition is the peddler's tax on tobacco. In the old days when Buck Blackwell and Washington Duke laid the foundation of the magnificent tobacco business that was the nucleus around which has grown up the all-powerful tobacco trust the tobacco peddler was a familiar sight every hamlet in this State. There were hundreds of little factories scattered over the State and the men who raised tobacco were paid somewhere near what the weed was worth.

"But now, if a man would enter the field of competition with the tobacco trust, the first thing that he runs up against is the conflict organization by the trust of the selling department. He manufactures his tobacco and goes to the merchant to sell it, and the merchant politely tells him that he cannot handle it; that it is not advertised and that he must handle the advertised brands of the trusts; that he could not secure other goods of the trust that he must have, if he permits independent goods sold in his store.

"The independent manufacturer says, 'well, I will make a market for my goods, I will sell direct to the consumer; I will peddle my manufactured goods.'

"But just here there arises before him the stone wall of a peddler's license tax—kept there by our lawmakers.

"In framing the revenue bill, gentlemen of the general assembly, why not give the independent manufacturer of tobacco an opportunity to grow and develop by repealing all taxes on peddlers of manufactured tobacco? By so doing you will lay the foundation for great enterprises and encourage competition against the tobacco trust, which is a blight and a curse to this State."

SATURDAY, MARCH 2nd, 1907.

If the trial goes on much longer there will be more crazy people than Thaw.]

Even Thaw himself is said to be getting irritated because the trial drags along so slowly.

When former President Cleveland hit the bachelors he must have forgotten how long he was one.

Who will get the solicitor's pum is making several anxious people. Here's hoping it will fall to Greenville.

Durham will make the bull below and the Comanche whoop when the teachers strike that town next summer.

The colored brother lost out in the contemplated Ohio appointment, but Senator Foraker cannot claim the credit for it.

That first column on the editorial page of the Durham Herald always tells when Joe King is out of town without saying so.

The Greensboro Telegram makes a good suggestion, it says "why not make the number of counties in the State a round hundred and then quit?"

The announcement of baseball schedules, and seaside resorts making ready for another season, reminds us that summer will be along bye and bye.

The Clarkton Express asks "Does it pay to be honest?" Whether it does or not, it is honest to pay, but lots of folks wont do it.

Governor Glenn has a way of waking folks up now and then. His last letter to the General Assembly was to the point and timely. Good results will follow it.

Now let the legislature hurry up and pass the conference report for a 24 cents railroad fare. And let this be followed quickly with the passage of the bill for the Eastern training school for teachers.

Greensboro is having a little squabble of her own. The aldermen of that city want the legislature to give them authority to issue bonds at their own discretion, while the people do not want the aldermen to have such authority. In that matter the voice of the people should prevail.

The last issue of The Progressive Farmer was a special corn number, containing much information relative to the cultivation of a crop of corn. This is to be followed by a special cotton number of the same paper.

Such a publication is valuable to farmers.

If you want to make a good real estate investment put it in Greenville property. You know what you are doing then for the property is right here where you can see it, while if you monkey with the fellow who has schemes to work for lots hundreds of miles away, you don't know whether you are getting an interest in a frog pond or a hole in the ground. Money invested here at home will bring better returns.

DOG POINTED A LION.

All Game Looked Alike to This Plucky Little Fox Terrier.

The following incident is perfectly true and absolutely unique:

As a member of a colonial mounted corps, the British South Africa police of Mashonaland, Rhodesia, South Africa, it fell to my lot in April, 1903, to enumerate for official statistics the white residents of Rusapi district, which is 180 miles southeast of Salisbury, the capital, and sixty-four miles west of Umtali, near the Portuguese border. It was upon my return journey to the main camp that the following dog incident occurred:

On the 18th day of April about 4 p. m. I reached an outlying farmhouse close to the railway and in the vicinity of very suggestive looking hills. As I knew the owner, I decided to outspan there for the night. My horse having been sent to water with a native boy, the farmer and I entered the house. In a few minutes a Mashona herd boy dashed in unceremoniously, crying: "Baas! Baas! A lion is down near the cattle!" After questioning the boy, who was much excited, we set off, accompanied by a fox terrier, and upon arriving where the cattle were grazing we at once found his majesty's spoor (track), which we followed until lost on the hard ground.

After searching the most likely places we gave up hope of finding him and, turning about, headed for home. After crossing a vlei (open grass land) we entered a thick bush and proceeded a short distance. Then I missed the dog and, looking back, described him pointing in the orthodox style, the hair on his back fiercely bristling and body as rigid as a statue. Retracing my footsteps and looking over the bushes where he was, imagine my complete surprise to behold a magnificent lion, full length, with face toward me, barely fifteen paces off. At sight of me he growled softly, and then I shouted, "There he is!" But by the time my friend had run up and I had recovered from my surprise the lion was bounding off, much to the chagrin of my friend. The bush was thick, and we had to fire at random, and he got clear away.

Needless to say a few choice epithets were slung at me by the other fellow, but it all happened very quickly, and I was totally unprepared for such a close view. Moving around behind the bushes, we found the skin and entrails of a sheep, which had been devoured, bearing out the statement that the lion will not eat the intestines of his prey. All this time the dog was jumping around and at last started off on the trail, and we had a hard job to get him back. The evening was getting dark, and we had no wish to meet the lion among the bush in the dark. After reaching home the farmer placed some strychnine on a piece of meat and placed it on the veldt, but our visitor did not return that night.

It is not often a dog has the opportunity to point such royal game. Talking about dogs, I remember seeing an Irish terrier rout out a hedgehog, and there ensued a terrific onslaught, ending in the death of the spiny one and leaving Boxer, the terrier, full of quills, which I plucked, much to his discomfort.—Forest and Stream.

No Infallible Success Rules.
Power to see the future has a certain place in business, an exceedingly humble one, however. It is employed professionally by some ladies and gentlemen at an average price of about a dollar a sitting. They can see things afar off, but not the landlord who is coming up the stairs to throw them out or the policeman who is coming around the corner to run them in. Prescience and clairvoyance have no place in the equipment of men who are able to make a living in less hazardous and persecuted callings, says Will Payne in Everybody's. There are plenty of infallible rules for success. Some men who have succeeded are rather fond of laying them down for the guidance of the young, but nobody, least of all their authors, ever infallibly succeeded by them.

are caused by indigestion. If you eat a little too much, or if you are subject to attacks of indigestion, you have no doubt had shortness of breath, rapid heart beats, heartburn or palpitation of the heart. Indigestion causes the stomach to expand—swell, and puff up against the heart. This crowds the heart and interferes with its action, and in the course of time the heart becomes diseased.

Digests What You Eat

Dollar bottle holds 3 1/2 times as much as the trial, or 50 cent size. Prepared at the Laboratory of E.C. Dewitt & Co., Chicago, U.S.A.

Indigestion

Stomach trouble is but a symptom of, and not in itself a true disease. We think of Dyspepsia, Heartburn, and indigestion as real diseases, yet they are symptoms only of a certain specific Nerve sickness—nothing else.

It was this fact that first correctly led Dr. Shoop in the creation of that now very popular Stomach Remedy—Dr. Shoop's Restorative. Going direct to the stomach nerves, alone brought that success and favor to Dr. Shoop and his Restorative. Without that original highly vital principle, no such lasting accomplishments were ever to be had.

For stomach distress, bloating, biliousness, bad breath and sallow complexion, try Dr. Shoop's Restorative—Tablets or Liquid—and see for yourself what it can and will do. We sell and cheerfully recommend.

CRITICIZED HIS COOK.

Then the Queen of the Kitchen Had Her Innings.

A citizen of Kiev, Russia, found fault with the dinner prepared by his new cook and rashly embodied his criticism in cutting sarcasms. The young woman heard him in silence. In the evening he knocked up against a man in a deserted little street, and when he ventured to remonstrate he was vigorously assaulted. Unable to get the better of his adversary, he determined to do what he could at least to identify him later on, and with this object in view he tore his assailant's fashionable clothes into shreds. On his return home some hours later he found the cook standing at the door ready to shake the dust of his house off her feet. The gentleman, whose wounds and bruises left him in no very amiable mood, simply said: "Joy be with you! Some time will pass before you get another place. And as to character—well, trust me to give you one that will stick."

On the following morning he discovered that his best clothes in the wardrobe were in tatters and his glossy silk hat an unsightly wreck. Hastily summoning the other servants to his room, he angrily asked them what they knew about the matter, whereupon the nurse replied that the cook in one of her freaks of fun had donned her master's garments and gone out to walk in them the evening before, sticking on an artificial mustache to help to keep up the illusion. Then it dawned upon the wretched man that his assailant of the day before was the touchy, turbulent cook. Less than a fortnight later he received a letter through the city post informing him, in somewhat ungrammatical but unmistakable language: "You lied about the place, respected sir, when you said I could not get another if I left yours. I've been in five different places since then, and I'll be going to the sixth next Monday. Trusting your bones isn't aching, I remain Praskovia."

Spoiled in Transmission.

"Algy, here's a good story," said Percy. "A man named Swords has been arrested for assault with a deadly weapon, and his case was on trial.

"Mr. Swords," asked the judge, "how will you be tried?"

"And Mr. Swords said he wanted to be tried by a jury of his spears. See?"

"Sure," answered Algy. "That's a good one."

Later in the day Algy tried it on the boarders at Mrs. Irons' hashery.

"I heard a good story this morning," he said. "A man named Swords had been arrested for assault with a deadly weapon, and his case was on trial. The judge asked him how he wanted to be tried.

"I want to be tried, your honor," said Mr. Swords, "by a jury of my peers." See?"

But the boarders gave him the stony stare, and Algy doesn't know even yet what ailed his story.—Chicago Tribune.

Troublesome Matches.

Small Boy (who has come five miles to country grocer)—Please, I want a penn'orth of matches.

Country Grocer—Here you are, my lad.

Two hours later the boy turns up again with the matches in his hand.

"Please, mother says as how these 'ere matches won't strike."

Country grocer remarks "Rub-bish!" and proceeds to strike one of the matches on his trousers.

As the shades of evening are falling and the stars begin to blink the boy creeps wearily into the grocer's shop.

"Please, mother says she ain't got no time to come round here to strike matches on your trousers!" he says.—London Graphic.

To Restore Ivory Carvings.

Ivory carvings which have darkened and become discolored may be restored to their first whiteness by exposure under glass to the rays of the sun. Remove the dust by brushing with warm water and soap. Place the carving under glass and turn from time to time so that all sides will be equally bleached or brush with pumice stone calcined or diluted, and place under glass while yet wet, exposing to the sunlight until perfectly bleached. Be extremely careful to place it under glass before exposing to the sunlight.

Paris Cabby's Ruse.

Paris cab drivers are in the habit of causing their taximeter to register the waiting tariff every time their progress is blocked by traffic or any other obstacle. In this way the traffic obstruction which makes Paris insupportable is to them a nice little source of profit. All is grist that comes, sou by sou, to their mill by causing their horses to move the wheels back and forth in a confined space.—Paris Figaro.

The Berry He Was.

When Bishop Berry of the Methodist Episcopal church was a young preacher he once gave a lecture in a rural community. Wishing to be witty, he announced to his audience that he was a berry and called upon them to state what kind of berry. Nearly every berry known in the vicinity was guessed, and the speaker refused to share the qualities of any of those named. At last an old lady who was not sympathetic with the seeming levity of the lecturer, arose and exclaimed in a squeaky voice: "I know what kind of a berry you are. You are a gooseberry and a very green one at that. Go on with the lecture." And the lecturer departed quickly.—Christian Work.

Animal Shells.

It is a curious fact that the shells of certain animals, such as cephalopods, brachiopods and some bivalves, are commonly marked by retrogressive changes as age advances. "The old man returns to second childhood in mind and body," states a well known scientist at Washington, "and the shell of the cephalopod has in old age however distinct and highly ornamental the adult, very close resemblance to its own young."

Started Early Enough.

"I want to talk to you, Mary, about that young man of yours," said her father. "When did he say good night to you last evening?"

"At 10 o'clock," replied the fair girl.

"What? Why, it was 1 o'clock at least!"

"Oh, that was when he finished saying it!"—Philadelphia Ledger.

His Second Book.

"Your first book, if it is a success, generally leads to the success of the second," remarked a rising author.

"Yes, indeed," said another. "It was the success of my first book that made my second. My second book," he added, "was a bank book."

Old Age and Rushing.

You may join the mile a minute class, but no oil has been discovered yet that will keep all the cogs in condition. Good old age was never a sequel to a rush.—Manchester Union.

Modern History.

As a professor of history of languages I have no objection in saying that modern history is the result of ancient Greek—M. de la Roche.

Immigration For Farmers.
A bill is now before the General Assembly to establish a Department of Immigration. Whatever be the view of the desirability of a good class of immigration for the agricultural communities, whether or not we need improved methods and better ideas more than we need new farmers and home-makers, the fact remains that a number of States are making great efforts in the direction of securing and settling good farmers in available territory. In South Carolina the efforts of Commissioner Watson are unflagging. The German steamship Wittekind reached Charleston a few days ago with her second cargo of passengers, numbering this time, however, only 121. Not one was rejected by the Federal inspection officers. These immigrants are of a good class, and while some are servants the others are largely of the agricultural class. One of them is a farmer of some means and will buy a farm and settle down. In North Carolina there is demand for labor—farm labor—which will have its effect upon efforts made in this State to secure immigration. A recent statement by Secretary Bruner, of the State Agricultural Department, showed that there was a definite demand for farm labor from seventy seven counties in North Carolina and that a total of approximately 68,000 farm laborers are needed in these counties. If North Carolina farmers are needing this number of laborers, they are, by not having them, losing all the profit these laborers would make for them.—Progressive Farmer.

To stop a cold with "preventies" is safer than to let it run and cure it afterwards. Taken at the "sneeze stage" Preventives will head off all colds and Grippe and perhaps save you from Pneumonia or Bronchitis. Preventives are little toothsome cold cure tablets selling in 5 cent and 25 cent boxes. If you are chilly, if you begin to sneeze, try Preventives. They will surely check the cold, and please you. Sold by Bryan's Drug Store.

Croup can positively be stopped in 20 minutes. No vomiting—nothing to sicken or distress your child. A sweet pleasant and safe Syrup called Dr. Shoop's Croup Cure, does the work and does it quickly. Dr. Shoop's Croup Cure is for croup alone, remember. It does not claim to cure a dozen ailments. It's for croup, that's all. Sold by Bryan's Drug Store.

Advice to mothers. Don't let your children waste away. They can be strong, healthy and vigorous with Hollister's Rocky Mountain Tea. It's a swift winged messenger of health. 35 cents, Tea or Tablets.
Wooten's Drug Store.

Does Coffee disagree with you? Probably it does! Then try Dr. Shoop's Health Coffee. Health Coffee is a clever combination of parched cereals and nuts. Not a grain of real coffee, remember in Dr. Shoop's Health Coffee, yet it's flavor matches closely old Java add Mocha coffee. If your stomach heart or kidneys can't stand coffee drinking, try Health Coffee. It is wholesome, nourishing and satisfying. It's safe even for the smallest child. Sold by T. E. Crooker & C.
