

ANTI-TRUST LEGISLATION.

The matter of dealing with trusts by a State Legislature, is one of the extreme delicacy, because the measure aired at the great monsters may do more harm than good. The Aycock anti-trust bill, introduced in the early days of the Legislature, at Raleigh, was found to be a drag net which caught practically all combinations in the State, the State Cotton Association among others. These were let out and a bill leveled alone at the American Tobacco Company and its collateral branches was introduced instead. This latter bill has passed the House and is pending in the senate. During the debate in the house, Mr. Laughinghouse, of Pitt county who is a farmer and accounted an extreme member of that body, protested against it as ruinous to the interests of the tobacco raisers. It is argued again that, while this great company may be injured by State legislation, it cannot be destroyed by any State; that it can, at great cost and loss to itself; move to Virginia, which removal would deprive North Carolina tobacco growers of markets and, in effect, efface such large and prosperous cities as Durham and Winston, and work great hardships upon such towns as Wilson, Kinston and Greenville. Would the loss inflicted to punish the tobacco trust compensate our towns and our farmers, upon which it has imposed outrageously, for the loss inflicted upon them?

It is recalled that Hon. Cyrus B. Watson pressed with great vigor and ability in the Legislature, some twelve or more years ago, a bill intended to drive this gigantic corporation, which has its hand upon the throat of every farmer who raises tobacco, out of the State. But the tobacco farmers of the counties around Raleigh invaded the capital and overwhelmed him. Mr. Watson has lately been heard to say that corporations of national proportion can be controlled only by national legislation.

In the facts above stated are seen some of the difficulties of State regulation and that the matter of legislation against trusts is, as was said at the outset, one of extreme delicacy, and there is a possibility that extreme legislation may do more harm than good.—Charlotte Observer.

Winston is the greatest plug tobacco town in the country and Durham is the greatest leaf tobacco town. Richmond is now claiming the distinction of operating the largest cigar factory in America. In a review of the cigar making industry of Richmond, The Times-Dispatch says that there are in that city thirty-seven factories engaged in the manufacture of cigars, cheroots and cigarettes and these thirty-seven factories employ not less than six thousand people. These factories, it says, which include cheroot manufacturing, which are regarded in law as cigars, paid to the United States government last year in the matter of taxes the sum $787,549.41 which means that the thirty-seven factories made and sent out to be smoked up very nearly 2,000,000,000 of cigars.—Charlotte Chronicle.

EQUIPMENT AGREEMENT.

Coast Line Floats Bonds for Five Millions of Rolling Stock.

There was filed for record at the Court House yesterday by Mr. R. D. Cronly, private secretary to first vice president of the Atlantic Coast Line Railroad Company, an equipment agreement of the Safe Deposit Trust Company, of Baltimore, with the A. C. L. R. R. Company, by which the first named as trustee secure bonds of the railroad company to the extent of five million dollars for new equipment, recently authorized, $500,000 of the purchase price of this equipment, being payable in cash and the remainder in equal semi-annual installments of $225,000 each in ten years, each of the installments to be evidenced by bonds of $1,000 each and bearing interest semi-annually at 4 per cent. The railroad company obligates to pay all taxes on the property given as security, insurance on same and agrees to keep the same in repair, etc. Each piece of the equipment is to bear the mark "Safe Deposit & Trust Co., of Baltimore, Trustees, owner."

The equipment purchased under this agreement is as follows: 12 passengers, 68 freight and 20 switching engines by the Burnham Williams & Co., and the Baldwin Locomotive Works; 1,000 box cars from the Barney & Smith Car Co., 1,500 box cars from the South Baltimore Steel Car and Foundry Co.; 780 flat cars from the Standard Steel Car Co.; 25 passenger coaches from the Harlan & Hollingsworth Corporation; 8 combination mail and express cars from the American and Foundry Co., 20 express cars from the Hicks Locomotive and Car Works. The agreement is signed by Michael Jenkins, president of the Trust Company, and Alexander Hamilton, first vice president of the Coast Line Company. It is 23 pages of print and the fee for registration is $7 in each county through which the road passes.—Washington Star.

The Norfolk & Southern is Not a Small System.

The general public does not seem to know that the Norfolk and Southern is one of the largest railroad systems operating in the State and that several roads that were formerly operated independently are now controlled by that road. The total mileage in the State is about 500 miles, but 150 miles of this is not yet completed, leaving about 350 miles actually under operation in North Carolina, and in addition to this there is about 150 miles of the road in Virginia.

The Norfolk and Southern controls the following roads which were formerly operated as independent systems. The Morehead City & Beaufort, Atlantic & North Carolina, Virginia & Carolina Coast, Raleigh & Pamlico, and the Pamlico, Oriental & Western. All of these roads are merged into the system known as the Norfolk & Southern Railway Company.—Kinston Free Press.

Some Snow.

It began snowing about 10 o'clock this morning and came down lively until noon, enough to make everything look white. Then for a time it seemed to be over and what had fallen was melting, but a little later it set in hard again.

The School Teachers' Creed.

I believe in boys and girls, and men and women of a great tomorrow; that whatsoever the boy soweth the man shall reap. I believe in the course of ignorance, in the efficacy of schools, in the dignity of teaching, and in the joy of serving others. I believe in wisdom as revealed in human lives as well as in the pages of a printed book, in lessons taught not so much by precept as by example, in ability to work with the hands as well as to think with the head. In every thing that makes life large and lovely. I believe in beauty in the school room, in the home, in daily life, and out of doors. I believe in laughter, in love, in faith, in all ideals and distant hopes that lure us on. I believe that every hour of every day we receive a just reward for all we are and all we do. I believe in the present and its opportunities, in the future and its promises, and in the divine joy of living. Amen.—Edwin Osgood Grober.

At Winterville and Greenville.

Prof. J. B. Carlyle, of Wake Forest college, will speak at Winterville tomorrow, Friday night at 7:30 o'clock in the chapel of the Winterville High School. On Saturday at 12 o'clock he will speak in Greenville to the teachers' association. Prof. Carlyle is easily one of the most attractive speakers in the State and everybody, both at Winterville and Greenville will miss an opportunity if they do not hear him on one or both of these occasions.

IS IT YOUR DAUGHTER?

Parents Who Read This Story May Profit Thereby.

"Fathers and Mothers: If you have a young daughter this picture—which is no fancy one—is for you. It is long after curfew. The "mashers" lean on sidewalk railings and wait at street corners. There they come down the street arm in arm—two young girls with fresh rosy faces. Abundant braids of hair fall down their backs. Natty little gowns come to the shoe tops. They are school girls in their early teens.

There is no chaperone and no escort. The girls are out alone and the hour is rather late. A couple of smart young men—"knowing young men"—follow the girls. Young men and young women are strangers to one another, and yet there is some sort of freemasonry between them. The glances of the young men are bold. The eyes of the girls are not timid as they turn them backward with the hint of a smile. Flippant words are exchanged.

"But what can one do? If their natural guardians are not there to protect them, what right have they to interfere? Here and there may be found a brave spirit whom a great pity will move to stay and warn, and take the risk, but such Good Samaritans are few. And so young girls, infant women with fine passions and powers of womanhood—thinking to tread the primrose path of dalliance go down to ruin.

Whose fault is it? Is it the fault of the girls? Who sent them down out into the night or permitted them to go unprotected? Who failed or neglected to warn them of temptations? Who supposed when they had dressed their girls as well as their neighbors their duty was done?

"There is only one answer to these questions—Father and Mother."—Syracuse Journal.

She Killed Wife for Her Insurance.

Dothan, Ala., March 6.—Frank Fowler, a sawmill owner, living a short distance south of here, was arrested yesterday, charged with murdering his wife last Monday night. Later Major Adkins, who lived with the family, was also placed under arrest as an accomplice to the deed. The dead woman is said to have carried considerable insurance. A young daughter of Fowler states that she killed her mother and threatened her life if she told.

NEWS GETS BETTER.

Eastern Training School Now a Certainty.

The following telegram received here about noon today is very gratifying to the people of this section:

Raleigh, N. C. March 7th. S. T. White:

Greenville, N. C.

Training school bill passed final reading in senate unanimously. J. L. Fleming.

This ends the matter so far as the legislature is concerned, and the bill to establish the Eastern training school is a law. It now goes to the State board of education to select a location for the school, and in this particular there is yet work for Greenville to do. Nothing should be left undone to get the school here.

Back in Limbo.

George Washington Easley, of Color, who about three years ago was sentenced to the roads for two years and escaped when about one month of the term had been served, is again in custody. George was recently captured in Norfolk and Sheriff Tucker notified of the arrest. Deputy Sheriff went to Norfolk after him and returned Wednesday evening with the prisoner. When Superintendent Joe McLawhorn takes him back to the road camp, George will hardly have another chance to run away.

RICHERS IN CORNSTALKS.

Enough Power Now Wasted to Run All the Nation's Machinery.

Prof. Wiley, of the Department of Agriculture, says that inasmuch as every 100 pounds of cornstalks will yield six and a half pounds of absolute alcohol it is obvious that the ignorant agriculturist has been allowing an amount of wealth to go to waste.

Say that one acre will yield from 10 to 12 tons of grain stalks or about 20,000 pounds, and you have a quantity of raw material which will produce 1,300 pounds of absolute alcohol or 216 gallons. Alcohol at the present time is worth 40 cents a gallon.

Ground in a wet condition and dried, cornstalks may be kept indefinitely, and are ready at any time for conversion into alcohol. Prof. Wiley says that the alcohol derivable from the cornstalks that now go to waste this country would not only drive all the machinery of our factories but would furnish the requisite power for our railroads and steamboats, run all our automobiles, heat and illuminate all of our houses and light the streets of every city in the Union.—Leslie's Weekly.

The Lay of the Hen.

Investigation of the capacity of hens to lay eggs results in the discovery that the egg production of hens decreases considerably after the age of four years. Thus a hen lays at the age of one year about 20 eggs; at the age of two years, about 120; at the age of three years, about 135; at the age of four years, about 115; at the age of five years, about 80, and at the age of six years, about 60. These figures go to show that hens should never be kept in the poultry yard more than four years, for after the lapse of this time they do not yield a proper return on the food they consume.

Guard Shoots Himself.

While loading his pistol Monday morning, Mr. Asher McLawhorn accidentally received a ball into his left arm, the ball passing between the two bones of his forearm and striking a house nearby. He had gone out on his usual work of guarding the convicts, when the accident occurred. His wound was dressed by a physician in Greenville and he returned to his Ayden home Monday night. He is doing as well as could be expected.—Ayden Baptist.

The moon is dead broke—she passed her last quarter today. But she will soon have enough to get full again.

The editor of the Raleigh Times must have got his foot in it worse than he thought he was going to.

May be the railroads, poor things, are doing the best they can with schedules. If so let the trains jog along, they will get in sometime.

The legislature will hardly be able to get through its work by Saturday night, but we hope it will not follow the example of congress and hold a session on Sunday.

It seems that a Raleigh newspaper man now is expected to stand for being called a liar if he expects to hold his job.—Dulham Herald.

But in case he was a liar, what is the harm to tell him so? In case he was, giving up his job might have been an easier way of escape than having to make a public confession to that effect.

There is all kinds of stealing going on in one quarter and another, but the loss by the Southern railway of one hundred car loads of coal at Salisbury takes the prize. The report is that all that coal has dropped completely out of sight and even detectives are unable to find a trace of it. The story seems almost incredible. Wonder if the railroad itself did not confiscate that coal and put the detectives hunting for it in order to cover the matter up. If it was really stolen there will no doubt be some big squealing if the guilty parties are found.

Nothing seems to have been heard of a gentleman named A. Carnegie since his philanthropic nose was put out of joint by one J. Rockefeller.

An Eastern man was judged insane because he bought a railroad ticket and wanted to ride on top of the coach. Perhaps he merely wanted to keep out of the clutches of the porter.

Deep down in his heart however, Mr. Jerome must be satisfied that some of the people who have been attending the trial are in greater need of the attention of a lunacy commission than Harry Thaw ever will be.

An Animal Born Only to Die. The instances of natural death in the animal world are conspicuous in comparison with those in the vegetable world for their greater variety and complexity. There seems no doubt that this manner of death established itself independently in the different groups of animals. Years ago an American naturalist, Dana, discovered on the surface of the sea a little animal of so singular a character that he named it "monstrilla." It is a small crustacean akin to the cyclops so common in ponds. But, while the latter are furnished with all that is necessary to capture and digest their food, the monstrilla has neither apparatus for seizing prey nor digestive tube. It is richly provided with muscles, nervous system, organs of sense and sexual organs. It only lacks what is necessary to prolong life by alimentation. The monstrilla is doomed therefore to natural death.—Professor Elie Metchnikoff in Harper's

The Letter of the Law. The Hon. John Steel was a sheriff in Missouri. A new county judge was elected, and Steel, thinking to pay the judge a delicate compliment, selected for his first panel of jurors every fat man in the county. The judge weighed nearly 300 pounds. The day was hot, and Steel, when he took the jurors out to Court, fed them so heartily that they all went to sleep during the afternoon. The judge was furious. "What do you mean," he roared at the sheriff, "by bringing those sleepyheads into court as a jury? They haven't heard any of this afternoon's evidence. I discharge the panel. Go out now and get a panel of men who will stay awake. I want men with a single eye to justice, not dolts like these!" Steel went out and rode the county that night. When the judge appeared next morning Steel had a panel of one eyed men for him.—Saturday Evening Post.

Why He Planted. The poor man who seeks to help, even in the smallest way, but with a right spirit, his fellowmen is of infinitely greater worth to the race than the man of millions whose chief aim and end are his own pleasure. A poor and aged man was seen planting an apple tree and was somewhat rudely accosted by a stranger who said, "Why do you plant trees when you cannot possibly live long enough to eat the fruit of them?" The poor man raised himself and, leaning on his shovel, said: "Some one planted trees before I was born, and I have eaten the fruit. I now plant for others that the memorial of my gratitude may exist when I am dead and gone."

His Pretty Thanks. It is strange how differently children sometimes express their thanks. Alec, aged three, was given a coveted toy. He took it without a word and turned away and began to wind it up. I took it gently back again, and, bending over, I said, "Alec, what do you say to me?" He merely stared solemnly up at me and then at the toy, as though puzzling how to get it back. "What are you going to say for that nice toy, Alec?" I repeated. "Are you pleased?"

"Aye," he nodded, still staring wistfully up at the toy. "Well," I insisted, determined to teach him better manners, "and what are you going to say to me?" I had to bend to hear the shyly uttered answer: "I—love—ye," he whispered as he pleadingly held out a small, fat hand.—New York Globe.

The Stranger Stung. It was at an Indiana hotel of some pretentiousness. A traveling man had had his order filled. With the meat and vegetables and other material was one tea biscuit. Looking with what he considered great roughness at the waitress, he said: "Say, sister, do you know that that one biscuit looks to me as if it were awfully lonesome in here all by itself?"

"Very well," replied the girl, without the twitch of a facial muscle, "I'll take it back into the kitchen with the others then."

And to this day that traveling man doesn't know whether he fooled the dumbest girl on earth or was outwitted by the keenest one.—

are caused by indigestion. If you eat a little too much, or if you are subject to attacks of indigestion, you have no doubt had shortness of breath, rapid heart beats, heartburn or palpitation of the heart. Indigestion causes the stomach to expand—swell, and puff up against the heart. This crowds the heart and interferes with its action, and in the course of time the heart becomes diseased.

Kodol Dyspepsia Cure

digests what you eat, takes the strain off of the heart, and contributes nourishment, strength and health to every organ of the body. Cures indigestion, dyspepsia, sour stomach, inflammation of the mucous membranes lining the stomach and digestive tract, nervous dyspepsia and catarrh of the stomach.

After eating, my food would distress me by making my heart palpitate and I would become very weak. Finally I got a bottle of Kodol and it gave me immediate relief. After using a few bottles I am cured.
MRS. LORING NICHOLS, Penn Yan, N. Y.

I had stomach trouble and was in a bad state as I had heart trouble with it. I took Kodol Dyspepsia Cure for about four months and it cured me.

PAIN

Pain in the head—pain anywhere, has its cause. Pain is congestion, pain is blood pressure—nothing else usually. At least, so says Dr. Shoop, and to prove it he has created a little pink tablet. That tablet—called Dr. Shoop's Headache Tablets—coaxes blood pressure away from pain centers. Its effect is charming, pleasantly delightful. Gently though safely, it surely equalizes the blood circulation.

If you have a headache, it's blood pressure. If it's painful periods with women, same cause. If you are sleepless, restless, nervous, it's blood congestion—blood pressure. That surely is a certainty, for Dr. Shoop's Headache Tablets stop it in 20 minutes, and the tablets simply distribute the unnatural blood pressure. Bruise your finger, and doesn't it get red, and swell, and pain you? Of course it does. It's congestion, blood pressure. You'll find it where pain is—always. It's simply Common Sense. We sell at 25 cents, and cheerfully recommend

WAYS OF A MOLE.

The Manner of Eating and Burrowing of This Peculiar Animal.

"While fishing I noticed a very small mole hill," says a writer. "After a short time a quantity of earth was shoveled out, and so I quickly scraped away the loose earth and found the hole. I traced the tunnel until I noticed movements in the soil and caught sight of some black fur, which immediately began to disappear in a downward direction. I had some difficulty to dig it out, and when I at last caught it it gave me a series of scratches with its powerful fore paws, causing me to release it, when it ran along the ground, prodding the soil as it went in its endeavors to find a soft enough place to begin burrowing. I soon caught it again and imprisoned it in my bait can. It seemed to resent being handled and uttered a peculiar hissing noise. I carried it home and placed a large box half full of earth at its disposal. The mole had a ravenous appetite. When given a piece of raw meat it would place its large fore paws on the flesh and tear off huge pieces with its teeth. In eating worms it would place one fore paw on each end of the worm, beginning to eat from the middle.

"Its senses seemed very acute, for when a dog came near to its box when it was on the top it would immediately burrow underneath at a great rate, and when I placed it in a tin and put my hand anywhere near it it usually came and smelled it directly, never attempting to bite. Even when handled it only tried to force away my hand with its fore paws. When the earth in its box was loose, it burrowed at a tremendous pace, forcing back the loose earth with its hind legs. When I packed the earth tightly down, it would run about the box, poking its long snout into the ground as it went until it found a soft enough place, when it would immediately start burrowing.

"Its eyes were very small, and it seemed only able to distinguish between light and dark. It disliked sunshine and never cared to come up of its own accord when the sun was out. Its front paws were possessed of tremendous strength, while its hind legs were comparatively weak. It seemed to be quite healthy as long as I had it, some three weeks or so, and it took a great deal of exercise, honeycombing the earth in its box with tunnels. I eventually let it go."—Chicago News.

Where Woman Is Boss.

Captain Tuckey was commissioned by the British government to explore the Kongo region in west Africa early in the nineteenth century. One of the discoveries made by the captain proves that a select few of the Kongo women had reached a stage beyond the utmost dreams of present day woman suffragists. The sovereignty of one tribe he found to be hereditary in the female line. Daughters of the mighty chief were allowed to choose their own husbands, over whom they became "most absolute mistresses and can even extend their prerogative to the selling of a refractory spouse to slavery." Little wonder, reflected the captain, that the honor of a royal alliance "is a matter of but little emulation among the gallants of the Kongoese court." As the chief had as many as fifty wives the demand for eligible partis for royal princesses was fairly steady.

A Graceful Getaway.

Mr. Malinbrakes, who had been urged to stay for luncheon, was trying to make a graceful getaway. "Awfully sorry," he said, "and ever so much obliged, but I couldn't think of it. It's a lot of bother to have people drop in on you unexpectedly and to feel that you've got to invite them to stay and eat with you—er—just to be polite, you know—I mean that it's always a lot of bother for me, of course, particularly when—when it happens to be somebody that you don't care for anyhow—speaking of myself, you understand—or perhaps I should say I don't mean myself in this particular case—well, anyhow, I have an engagement besides, or it would afford me great pleasure, I assure you, to—to—well, good afternoon, Mr. and Mrs. Varney."—Chicago Tribune.

Circumlocution.

The tiresome preacher finally finished his almost interminable sermon. The congregation had slowly filed out, save one man, who lagged behind to speak with the pastor. "Do you know, minister," he said in a confidential tone, "that your sermon this morning reminded me more of a wheel than anything else that I could think of?" "A wheel?" said the startled divine. "How could it do that?" "Oh, merely that in a wheel the longer the spoke is the longer is the tire."—Harper's Weekly.

1 p. m. Adjournment

The weather was so bad at the time of the last meeting that we did not expect you. From the above program you will see that Supt. C. W. Massey, of Durham, will speak for us. He has a fine teachers' association in his county. He is a special friend of mine and I want to ask every teacher in the county to be present at this meeting, if for no other reason for my sake. There will be a short meeting of the Woman's Betterment Association immediately after the adjournment of the teachers' association. It is desired by the officers that you remain a short while to this meeting. All teachers who intend to enter the contest for the $25 prize for the greatest improvement in school houses and grounds will send or hand in their names at this meeting next Saturday or they will be debarred from contesting. This is made necessary by the fact that the April meeting will be the last meeting of the teachers during this term and the prize will have to be awarded at the April meeting. Full announcements about reports, etc., will be made at this meeting next Saturday.

Louisiana Planters to Use White Im-

Baton Rouge, La., March 6.— A plan which contemplates the supplanting of negro plantation laborers of Louisiana with State imported white immigrants from Europe, was announced by the State commissioner of immigration and agriculture.

The State proposes to enable the Louisiana planters to engage immigrant labor in advance and with fixed wages without violating the contract labor law.

A Charge That the Standard Oil has has Been Swindling Uncle Sam.

Washington, D. C., Wednesday, 6.—Charges have been filed in the Treasury Department to the effect that the Standard Oil Company has been swindling
Uncle Sam in the Philippines.
The amount involved is reported to be $20,000. John D's agents plead they are innocent and are apparently anxious to try the matter in the Philippine courts.
The Standard is accused of evading the duty on twenty thousand cases of oil shipped from the United States to the Philippines during 1901, when a high tariff was in force against oil from here to the islands.
