

AYDEN ITEMS.

Newsy Notes from a Hustling Town.
Ayden, N. C., Mar. 15.

Leslie Turnage left Tuesday for the northern markets in the interest of his enterprising firm, J. R. Turnage [Look for ad.]

Major Smith will leave within the next ten days for South Carolina where he will represent the Erix Musical Company.

W. O. Dixon and wife, of Snow Hill, were here Tuesday visiting friends.

Ralph Johnson, of Kinston, has been here.

M. G. Bryan, of Winterville, spent a very pleasant hour with us Wednesday.

Robert Anderson, of Rocky Mount, is here.

Mrs. J. J. Hines and children are on a visit to House station.

We regret to learn P. E. Luper continues quite sick out at his home on Third street.

Miss Allie Dal, of Renston, is here on a visit to friends and taking in the opera.

Cam Nobles is so much improved as to be able to come down. He had a hard time.

T. W. Hart is now living in the house formerly occupied by Capt. D. G. Berry on West railroad street.

Charlie Manning who has been in a hospital north for treatment came home Monday noon.

Deputy Sheriff S. I. Dudley was among us yesterday.

B. F. Manring and L. L. Kittrell, of Winterville, were here with the boys yesterday.

It does seem that shad might be cheaper at some late day. There seemed to be an over-abundance here Thursday and still they were one dollar.

Jack McLawhorn, while at work assisting in the building of a house, had the misfortune to have a piece of scantling to fall from the top of the building and strike him on the hand. Jack was a bloody boy, but he received no very serious injury. He says he has a good head, for it will stand the proof.

Now that the theatrical season has about passed it behooves those of our citizens, who enjoy pleasure and would like to pleasantly spend the coming dull season, to look about for pastures fresh and fields anew that their desires and wishes may be realized. There is the park. This beautiful place so nicely adopted for a resort to those who enjoy delightful shades and sweet scented breezes, where all can gather and mingle in sweet communion. The aged to ponder and think of the past, the younger to participate and drink in the sweet reflections of what might have been and still not impossible. The little ones to gambol and play on the verdant grass and beneath the cooling oaks. Then there is the rink, where pleasure and mirth go hand in hand to say nothing of the exhilarating exercise which brings health and roses to the blooming cheek, adding vigor and strength to the human form. Let us prepare for the feast and never let it be said Ayden is a dull town.

The Harry Lindley Company gave us two very pleasant performances this week. Mr. Lindley has made a complete change in characters and personnel and for a show of its class is above the ordinary.

Weather.

Fair tonight, colder except in extreme western portion. Saturday fair.

Cut This Out and Save It.

A correspondent of the Southern Plantation writes as follows about the flower of a well known plant:

I have discovered a remedy for pulmonary consumption. It has cured a number of cases after they had commenced bleeding at the lungs, and hectic flush was already on the cheek.

After trying this remedy to my own satisfaction, I have thought philanthropy required that I should let it be known to the world. It is the common mullein steeped strong, and sweetened with coffee sugar, and drank freely. The herb should be gathered before the end of July, if convenient.

Young or old plants are good dried in the shade and kept in clean bags. The medicine must be continued from three to six months, according to the nature of the disease. It is very good for the blood vessels also. It strengthens and builds up the system, instead of taking away strength. It makes good blood and takes inflammation from the lungs. It is the wish of the writer that every periodical in the United States, Canada and Europe should publish this recipe for the benefit of the human family. Lay this up and keep it in the house ready for use.

Prohibition in Kentucky.

We are rather surprised to learn that Kentucky, famous for beautiful women, fine horses and corn whiskey, is after all practically a prohibition State. True, the state produces enormous quantities of whiskey which is shipped to other States and many have supposed that it was a rather damp section in that respect. Concerning the growth of the temperance sentiment in the State, an exchange has the following: "Local option prevails in Kentucky. A map of the State, with the 'dry' portions in black, is an astonishing revelation of the progress of temperance sentiment in the State.

Eighty-two counties appear wholly white, and only five are all or nearly all, black. The sentiment of the State is overwhelmingly in favor of prohibition. —The Ansonian.

Cremation of The Dead.

Cremation is one of the most ancient methods of disposing of the dead. Before the beginning of the Christian era, cremation prevailed among all civilized nations, except the Jews, Chinese and Egyptians. Later, however, this form gave way to earth burial.

Cremation has had a revival during the last few years, and from one crematory in existence in 1830, and since the others have been added to the list each year. Cremation is common in Japan, where 47 per cent of the dead are incinerated. The first crematory in the United States was built at Washington, Pa., in 1836, by Dr. Le Moine, and the first incineration there was that of the body of Baron de Palm, which took place in December of the same year. This was the only crematory in the United States until 1884. —from Success.

Drives Away Blues.

The sudden change in the weather had a tendency to remove that tired feeling. One man tells us that the warmth of Thursday actually gave him a bad case of the blues.

Couldn't Believe Him.

After a worry argument in which neither scored two Irishmen decided to fight it out. It was agreed that immediately either said, "I've had enough," the fight would cease.

After they had been at it about ten minutes one of them fell and at once exclaimed: "Enough! I've had enough."

But his opponent kept on hitting him until a man who was watching them said: "Why don't you let him get up? He says he's had enough."

"I know he said so," said the victor, without relaxing his efforts, "but he's such a liar you can't believe a word he says." —Glasgow Herald.

Figures Must be Wrong.

A subscriber has asked us to call down the Kinston Free Press for saying that a colored man sewed five pecks of wheat last season and reaped a crop of 165 bushels therefrom. The subscriber says there is no land in the world, not even in the exceedingly fertile Argentine Republic, that will produce a yield of 165 bushels of wheat from five pecks of seed. Perhaps the Free Press got its figures wrong.

Cotton Ginners' Association Report.

According to the report of the Cotton Ginners' Association, there was ginned up to March 2nd, 12,716,000 bales of cotton. The number ginned in this State is given at 607,000. The report claims that of the total 428,000 bales were ginned before September 1st, last year.

If this report approximates the ginner's report which will soon be made public, cotton may be expected to go somewhat higher.

Where We Go Wrong.

We make the mistake in living in a tomorrow that never comes. We neglect the only time we have now. We are blind to the only opportunity we ever shall have—the present. We fool away the only day that can ever be—today. And before we know where we are, life, opportunities, time and all have gone; and we realize that "the night cometh when no man can work." —Ex.

Child Drowned.

The one-year-old child of Mr. Alex Anderson wandered off from his home in New Hope township Monday afternoon and when found two hours later was laying in a ditch, about 100 yards from the house, life being extinct by drowning. The parents and other children were in the back lot when the little one strayed off. —Goldsboro Headlight.

Board of Education.

The legislature re-elected the present board of education for Pitt county to serve two years more from July 1st. The board consists of A. G. Cox, L. C. Arthur and M. O. Blount. Pitt county's board could not easily be improved upon. It is composed of gentlemen thoroughly awake to the educational interests of the county.

Fire Insurance.

Moseley Bros. have added a fire insurance agency to their business. They represent a number of leading companies and solicit a share of your business. They can be found in Reflector building where they have fitted up a nice office.

MECHANIC HEIR TO FORTUNE.

Found at Asheville by Police After Long Search.

Asheville, N. C., March 13.—James E. Fitzgerald, Jr., Pittsburg, Pa., who has fallen heir to a fortune left him by his father, and whose whereabouts has been unknown, was located here by the police this afternoon.

Fitzgerald is a mechanic, and is employed in the railroad shops here of the Southern railway. He did not know of his father's death, and had not heard that his father had come into a fortune sometime ago by the death of his father's brother, James McDowell, of Harrisburg, Pa.

Prof. Harry Fitzgerald, of Allegheny, Pa., recently asked the police of Pittsburg to aid him in locating his brother.

Letters were sent here, where Fitzgerald was last heard of but no trace of his whereabouts could be obtained until Monday.

Fitzgerald will go to Harrisburg to claim his fortune. He has a wife and six children.

TEMPORARY SUSPENSION.

Of Work on the Southbound Railroad at Winston-Salem.

Winston-Salem, N. C., March 14.—Work on the Southbound railroad has been temporarily suspended. Mr. H. E. Fries, president of the company, says the chief engineer's office in this city will be maintained.

Mr. Fries expresses the opinion that the suspension of the work will only be temporary. The action, it is held, is the result of adverse railway legislation in North Carolina and other Southern States, which has seriously affected Southern railroad stocks, making it more difficult to get financiers to put their money in new roads. The large amount of money already expended on the southbound, about $250,000, however, leads those who are interested to believe that the road will be built as soon as recent railroad legislation can be analysed and the money market becomes more elastic.

Postmasters Appointed.

Washington, March 14.—The following recess appointments of postmasters were made at the White House today:

North Carolina—Robert D. Douglas, Greensboro; J. R. Joyce, Reidsville; John B. Spence, Charlotte; William J. Leary, Sr., Edenton; Thomas H. Dickens, Enfield; Willis Percival Edwards, Franklinton; S. M. Hambrick, Hickory; W. Eugene Miller, Lenoir; Frank Roberts, Marshall. John R. Mobly, Williamston.

A Nugget of Wisdom.

The Sanford Express publishes this nugget of profound wisdom: "When you pull down the town in which is your home, you are pulling down yourself, and when you build it up you build up yourself and your neighbor. Try and banish from your mind the mistaken idea that all good things are away or in some other locality.

Give your town all the praise it can legitimately bear. It certainly will do you no harm and will cost you nothing, and above all patronize your home institutions."

Thursday was regular shirt sleeve weather, while today fires and overcoats were needed.

THE MARCH MIRROR.

Look in and See Whose Face is There

A. J. Griffin is on the sick list. Milton and Louis Johnson went to Ayden today.

J. L. Sugg returned Thursday evening from Winterville.

W. H. Ragsdale returned Thursday evening from Ayden.

Ex-Judge M. L. Eure, of Norfolk, came in Thursday evening.

Mrs. J. S. Mooring went to Grindool this morning to visit relatives.

FLOODS PLAYING SMASH.

Industrial Plants in Wheeling to be Closed Down.

Wheeling, W. Va., Thursday, 14.—Practically every industrial plant here will be forced to close down by night on account of high water. The wholesale and jobbing district is under water and a break in the gas main and shortage of gas is adding to the inconvenience.

Cincinnati, O., Thursday, 14.—Reports from all over the State indicate great damage by floods. In many places the conditions are serious. The Miami river is the highest of this season. Two hundred houses were flooded at Lima. The Ohio river has reached the danger line at many points.

Most Always Late.

It lets the postoffice boys all down in the mouth when they come across to the telegraph office and learn that the train is from an hour to an hour and a half late. It seems hard for trains to get anywhere near their schedules.

The river is much of an expansionist at present.

FRIDAY, MAR. 15th, 1907

Mr. Kitchen says the reported "combination" in the fifth district is a fabrication out of the whole cloth.

The "brain storm" may come into common use for a time in endeavoring to make some excuse for crime.

They have extracted the declaration from Mr. Roosevelt once more that he will not run for president again. Looks like some folks are slow to believe what he says.

Since the lawyers have quit beating around the bush on the insanity dodge and decided on a charge of plain murder, there is prospect of a more speedy termination of the Thaw trial.

As they have gone perhaps we will soon hear the last of those English girls. The government was at small business prosecuting those Charlotte mill men about them, and there seem to be no regrets that the trial fell down.

If an editor daring to express an opinion in his paper on any matter before the legislature was influencing that body, then there are few in the State that can plead not guilty. We thought it was the privilege of a newspaper to say whether it thought a matter right or wrong.

Sure.

Some people do not make any more effort to pay their debts than if they did not owe any.—Greenville Reflector.

There is nothing about the above except what may be read between the lines to indicate that the Reflector isn't talking about political debts but we know very well nevertheless that Whichard has in mind another kind of a debt.—Greensboro Telegram.

The representatives of the white and colored races had a meeting in Raleigh last week but if a thing in the world was done, except the making of speeches that had been made a thousand times before, we failed to notice it. Of course the negroes were on their best behavior while with the white brethren; and the white brethren had a fine opportunity to deliver them some lectures.—Charity and Children.

Running a newspaper is just like running a hotel, only different. When a man goes into a hotel and finds something on the table which does not suit him, he does not raise hader with the landlord and tell him to stop his old hotel. Well hardly. He sets that dish to one side and wades into the many dishes that suit him. It is different with some newspaper readers. They find an article occasionally that does not suit them exactly and without stopping to think it may please hundreds of other readers, make a grand stand play and tell the editor how a paper should be run and what should be put into it. But such people are becoming fewer every year.—Goldsboro Headlight.

THE BOOMERANG.

Even the Australians Know Little About Its Mysteries.

"The Australian boomerang," said a collector of queer weapons, "is formed of a bent stick, one side rounded, the other flat. The Australians make it from boughs of acacia pendula or from some tree of similar growth, giving to the green wood the desired curvature in the fire. It is necessary to choose a very hard, strong and heavy wood, and the best plan is to cut a piece from a natural bend or root of a tree and to let the curve of the boomerang follow the grain of the wood.

"One hardly ever sees two boomerangs of the same shape, for they vary from a slight curve to nearly a right angle. They differ also in length from fifteen inches to three and a half feet and in breadth from two to three inches. They should be about three-eighths of an inch thick, tapering toward the ends, which may be either round or pointed, while the edge must be sharpened all around. One side must be convex, the other flat, the sharpness of the edge along the convexity of the curve varying in different boomerangs.

"When thrown the boomerang travels forward for some distance and then generally returns in an ellipse to within a few paces of the thrower. If the boomerang strikes its mark it falls to the ground. In throwing it must be gripped at one end, stretched back behind the shoulder and then brought rapidly forward above the head, the inside of the curve facing the direction in which it is thrown.

"It may either be hurled upward into the air or downward, so as to strike the ground at some distance from the thrower. In the first case it flies from a rotary motion, as its shape would indicate, and after ascending to a great height it suddenly returns in an elliptical orbit to a spot near its starting point. When thrown downward to the ground it rebounds in a straight line, pursuing a ricochet motion until it strikes the object at which it is cast.

"To throw the Australian boomerang in such a way as to make sure of its doing exactly what one wants is one of the most difficult feats in the world. Alfred W. Howitt, who has seen the natives of Victoria practicing with the boomerang, mentioned that he questioned some blacks as to whether they thought it was possible to throw it so as to insure its returning to the hand of the thrower. Seven said no and characterized the statement as fet bolan—i. e., a falsehood. The eighth said he once made a boomerang that when thrown on a calm day with great care would gyrate around and around until it descended to the ground not far from him, moving as slowly as a leaf falling from a tree, and that he once ran forward and nearly caught it. He said also 'no kurni (black fellow) can catch a wunkan when he is flying—he would cut his hands open.' The throwing of boomerangs has always been carried on in the open air, and no Australian native has ever attempted to use them in a building.—Exchange.

What Puzzled Him.

It is said of the Marquis of Townsend that when a young man and engaged in battle he saw a drummer at his side killed by a cannon ball, which scattered his brains in every direction. His eyes were at once fixed on the ghastly object which seemed to engross his thoughts. A superior officer observing him, supposed he was intimidated by the sight and addressed him in a manner to cheer his spirits. "Oh," said the young marquis, with calmness, but severity, "I am not frightened. I am only puzzled to make out how any man with such a quantity of brains ever came to be here!"

His Peers.

A distinguished lawyer of Indiana when a struggling young attorney had a client whose mental soundness was questioned. There was a lunacy inquiry, and the client was adjudged insane. The squire asked the lawyer:

"Do you wish to appeal this case which has been decided by a jury of your client's peers?"

"No," replied the young lawyer. "Since your honor says that the jurymen are his peers, I think we will let it go at that."—New York Sun.

are caused by indigestion. If you eat a little too much, or if you are subject to attacks of indigestion, you have no doubt had shortness of breath, rapid heart beats, heartburn or palpitation of the heart. Indigestion causes the stomach to expand—swell, and puff up against the heart. This crowds the heart and interferes with its action, and in the course of time the heart becomes diseased.

Kodol Dyspepsia Cure

digests what you eat, takes the strain off of the heart, and contributes nourishment, strength and health to every organ of the body. Cures Indigestion, Dyspepsia, Sour Stomach, Inflammation of the mucous membranes lining the Stomach and Digestive Tract, Nervous Dyspepsia and Catarrh of the Stomach.

After eating, my food would distress me by making my heart palpitate and I would become very weak. Finally I got a bottle of Kodol and it gave me immediate relief. After using a few bottles I am cured.
MRS. LORING NICHOLS, Penn Yan, N. Y.

I had stomach trouble and was in a bad state as I had heart trouble with it. I took Kodol Dyspepsia Cure for about four months and it cured me.

PAIN

Pain in the head—pain anywhere, has its cause. Pain is congestion, pain is blood pressure—nothing else usually. At least, so says Dr. Snoop, and to prove it he has created a little pink tablet. That tablet—called Dr. Snoop's Headache Tablets—coaxes blood pressure away from pain centers. Its effect is charming, pleasantly delightful. Gently though safely, it surely equalizes the blood circulation.

If you have a headache, it's blood pressure. If it's painful periods with women, same cause. If you are sleepless, restless, nervous, it's blood congestion—blood pressure. That surely is a certainty for Dr. Snoop's Headache Tablets. It is in 20 minutes, and the tablets simply distribute the unnatural blood pressure.

Bruse your finger and doesn't it get red, and swell, and pain you? Of course it does. It's congestion, blood pressure. You'll find it where pain is—always. It's simple common sense.
We sell at 25 cents and cheerfully recommend

CURIOSITY.

In Its Proper Sphere It Is a Noble and Serviceable Quality.

Upon the higher level curiosity is a noble and serviceable quality, without which no great thing can be done in science or literature. It was intellectual curiosity which sustained a man like Darwin in his long and patient labors. He was determined to find out the how of the universe, and he had all the instinct of a curious person for the gathering and arrangement of details. He was forever observing and tracing and detecting and overlooking.

Renan's biographer tells us that to the last he was still questioning the universe, still asking what was the meaning of things and how they came to pass. Without curiosity the scholar would lose half his interest and the thinker would fall by the way. It is this instinct which makes a man wish to get at the bottom of things. If it be the affairs of his neighbor, it is base; if it be the affairs of the world, it is great. When curiosity dies within a man achievement is hopeless and hope itself is dead.

Curiosity may be a valuable asset in the equipment of a professional man. Without it the parish clergyman never will have an intimate knowledge of the affairs of his people, for he never will take the trouble to learn them. What he is told he almost certainly will forget, while a touch of curiosity will store up every piece of information and watch every passing incident and catch hold of every suggestion in conversation.

By and by the history of every one, old and young, will be in the man's possession. Of course, if he be an ignoble man, then his knowledge will be intolerable; if he be a sympathetic man, it will be most valuable.

In the same way a physician or a lawyer will be greatly helped by a legitimate and regulated curiosity about his fellow creatures. And it must be said that if curiosity of one kind makes a man detestable curiosity of another kind makes him most popular.—Ian Maclaren (Rev. John Watson).

Snakes.

The popular idea that all snakes hiss is incorrect when anacondas are in question, if we may believe a close observer of the serpent family. The sound they make is more like a growl than a hiss and has been well described by a traveler as a "low, roaring noise." Their powers of deglutition are sufficiently wonderful to make exaggeration unnecessary, credible witnesses testifying to the fact that one has been known to swallow a horse, while bullocks are not infrequently attacked also. Few nonscientific readers, by the way, are aware that not only do the jaw hinges of the boa tribe become dislocated in the act of swallowing a large animal, subsequently resuming their proper position by means of the elastic connecting tendons, but that the skull bones separate centrally, so the whole constitutes a sort of quadrangular orifice with apparently indefinite powers of expansion.

The Tailor Bird.

Sewing seems so ingenious an art that it must be reserved for the human species alone. Yet the tailor bird, the Orthotomus longicauda, and other species possess the elements of it. They place their nests in a large leaf, which they prepare to this end. With their beaks they pierce two rows of holes along the two edges of the leaf. They then pass a stout thread from one side to the other alternately. With this leaf, at first flat, they form a horn, in which they weave their nest with cotton or hair. These labors of weaving and sewing are preceded by the spinning of the thread. The bird makes it itself by twisting in its beak spiders' webs, bits of cotton and the little ends of wool.

Where Rain Never Falls.

Peru has hundreds of square miles along its coast of rainless country. In this tract rain is never known to fall from one century's end to another. Yet the region is not entirely barren of vegetation. Some parts of it indeed are comparatively fertile. This is due to the extraordinary fogs known as "garuas." They prevail every night from May to October after a summer that is sultry and extend up to a level of 1,200 feet above the sea. Above 1,200 feet rain falls.

These Hustling Americans.

At a recent gathering in Baltimore two men from different sections of the country were discussing the capabilities of "nervous, restless Americans" for being most slow and deliberate. The Marylander claimed the palm for slowness for the inhabitants of the Eastern Shore of his state.

"It is a saying hereabouts," said he, "that if oysters had been created with legs the people of the Eastern Shore would all have starved to death."

"The folks around Mount Monadnock have a saying that beats yours," remarked a Vermont man. "Of one man up there it used to be observed that if you were to give Hiram Higgins forty yards start stock still would catch him!"—Harper's Weekly.

A Verbal Puzzle.

"Lieutenant colonel" is probably the worst verbal puzzle that confronts the child," says a writer. "Our pronunciation is a heritage from the sixteenth century spelling 'coronel,' which represented the Spanish form, wherein the change of 'l' to 'r' was linguistically natural, though popular etymology wrongly connected the word with 'corona,' a crown. It is really from the Italian 'colonna,' a column, the 'compagnia colonella' having been the first company of an infantry regiment, the little column which the 'colonel' led. In the seventeenth century 'colonel' had three syllables, as in Milton's line 'captain or colonel, or knight in arms,' but in Johnson's time the common pronunciation was 'col'nel.'"

Boys' Four Seasons.

"Spring, summer, autumn and winter, these are the four seasons as the man sees them," said a schoolteacher a few days ago. "The boy has another way of dividing the year, however, and when he does not watch the seasons of his year on a calendar at one time he never forgets them. His divisions are marbles, ball, shinny and baseball. Marbles come in June or July, baseball in summer, shinny in the fall and skating in the winter. You can tell what season it is by watching a group of boys at play just as well as by an almanac."—Kansas City Star

Guatemala Pickpockets and Their Whirlwind Methods.

"I once thought the New York pickpocket about the slickest in the world," said a detective just back from Central America with a prisoner, "but the Guatemala operators have our local artists beaten to an omelet.

"I was standing at the corner of one of the main streets of a Guatemala city about noon one afternoon watching the handful of people abroad. A prosperous looking man passed me. I took particular notice of him because he appeared to be well decorated with jewelry. He had heavy finger rings, a massive raw gold watch chain and earrings of a curious pattern. I was thinking how he would delight a New York pickpocket as he halted a few yards away to look into his wallet, a fat, bulky affair.

"Just then a young man about six yards distant gave a shout and ran toward the man with the wallet and jewelry. The latter started and stood perplexed for just about two seconds. In that time I saw the young man run into him, knock him down by the force of the collision and race toward me. As he came I saw him stow away the man's watch, several rings and the wallet.

"I shouted and made a spring for him. He ran into me, dodged a swing I made at him and was across the street in an inconceivably short time. I started after him and saw him run into a third man. The third man tried to hold him, but he might as well have tried to catch a bunch of forked lightning. The man was away and up an alley in two minutes after he had run into the first of us.

"When we compared notes it was found that he had skinned the first man's fingers of rings, got one of the earrings, the wallet and the watch and chain. Third man had lost a handsome pin from his tie and his watch and chain.

"What did you lose?" they asked me.

"I haven't lost anything," I said. Then one of them pointed at my tie, which had become undone.

"I found that I, too, had lost a wallet, a stick pin, my watch and chain. I got my property back through the chief of police. He sent for the chief of the gang and made him hold up the young operator for the goods. The operator was very obliging when he heard I was a detective from New York. He wanted to know if I could assist him in working in New York and how the pickpockets operated in the city. If he ever comes to New York it is all day with many a bundle of goods."—New York Press.

Mosquitoless Cities.

Over in Europe there are many happy towns where the note of the mosquito is never heard, and the inhabitants don't care a snap about the pennyroyal market. But in America the cities which can claim to be mosquitoless would not run up to a dozen. Denver is one of them, and, strange to say, Grand Rapids, Mich., only a short way from the great Gehennas of Lake Superior, is another. The explanation is that the city is built on hillocks of drift sand, so deep and so finely pulverized that they absorb moisture like tissue paper. Stagnant water does not get a ghost of a chance to accumulate, and mosquitoes have carried their cargo of microbes to more congenial markets.—Health Culture.

A Mathematical Wonder.

Jedediah Buxton was the greatest prodigy of mathematics that ever appeared in England. His education was very limited, and he had never been taught arithmetic or indeed any branch of mathematics, so that his abilities in this respect were peculiarly natural. He would walk over a piece of land and tell with exactness how many acres and square rods were contained in it. His memory was so great that while resolving a question he could leave off and resume the occupation again the next morning or a week, a month or several months later and proceed regularly till it was completed.
