

FARMERS' MEETING.

Two Distinguished Speakers Will be Present.

Hon. E. D. Smith, president of the South Carolina, and C. C. Moore, president of the North Carolina division of the Southern Cotton Growers association, will speak in Greenville Thursday, April 18th. Every farmer in Pitt and the adjoining counties who can possibly do so should come out and hear these two men who are giving the organization of the cotton farmers of the two States their whole time and attention. They are both practical farmers, are well posted on the situation, and it will be time well spent to hear them. Those who have heard Mr. Smith say he is a fine speaker and holds the attention of his hearers from beginning to end. I earnestly hope every farmer who can will come out to hear these two distinguished gentlemen.

J. J. Laughinghouse,
Pres. Pitt County Branch.

The Clansman at Jamestown.

The long tour of "The Clansman" is now nearing its end as Geo. H. Beannan has arranged for an indefinite run of the play in the Academy of Music, Norfolk, Va. in connection with the festivities of the Jamestown exposition. Since September last the company has toured 32,000 miles: equivalent to a circuit of the globe one and one-half times, and has performed the play in 250 of the chief towns of the South. Among the most notable of these engagements have been those in Richmond, Norfolk, Nashville, Memphis and New Orleans. "The Clansman" will open at the Academy of Music in Norfolk on Monday, April 29th, two or three days after the formal opening of the exposition and it is expected that the play will run there all summer. It is rumored that in the latter part of the season its author, Thomas Dixon, Jr., will put on a new play based on his recently issued novel, "The Traitor." The latter is the third in the reconstruction series begun with "The Leopard's Spots" and continued with "The Clansman."

It certainly did turn cold some more today, the weather prediction to the contrary notwithstanding.

May Discharge the Librarian.

Special to Reflector.

Richmond, Va., April 9.—The State library board meets today and there will come before it the charge against Librarian John P. Kennedy. The case was laid over from last month in order that the board might have an opportunity to read and consider the evidence. Kennedy is accused of incompetence and unnecessary severity in discipline. The impression is, that while Kennedy's resignation would be accepted, it is not a foregone conclusion that will be the case. There is every reason to believe that the board, if it accepts the resignation, will dismiss at the same time one or more of the subordinate employees.

New York East Conference.

Special to Reflector.

Bridgeport, Conn. April 9.—The New York East conference of the Methodist Episcopal church assembled here today for its regular annual session. The conference had to change bishops, Bishop Hamilton, who was set to preside, being too ill to do so, and Bishop Goodsell was selected to act in his place. The meeting of the conference was delayed a week in consequence of this misfortune. This conference has some of the strongest men in the Methodist denomination, including the venerable and well-known fighting editor, Rev. Dr. Buckley.

Big Educational Meeting in Pinehurst.

Special to Reflector.

Pinehurst, N. C. April 9.—The conference for education in the South meets here today with as large and notable a gathering as has ever been assembled at any of its assemblies. Dr. S. C. Mitchell, chairman of the executive committee of the conference, is in charge of the arrangements, and has secured the best talent in the country to make the addresses. He was unable to secure dates later in the month, and so the conference meets today, and on Wednesday and Thursday.

Marriage of Miss Chittenden.

Special to Reflector.

Brooklyn, April, 9.—A wedding of great interest occurs today on Brooklyn Heights, the ceremony being performed this evening. Miss Anna G. Chittenden, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Simeon Chittenden and granddaughter of the original S. C. Chittenden, of Brooklyn, a notable citizen half a century ago, is to become the bride of Charles M. Thayer, of Worcester, Mass, who is one of the most prominent attorneys of central Massachusetts.

Governor Fol: Wants to Circumvent Racing.

Special to Reflector.

Jefferson City, Mo. April 9.—Governor Folk's recommendation in his proclamation calling a special session of the legislature of the State of Missouri, is thought to be due to intimations he received that an attempt will be made to resume racing in St. Louis county before the amended anti-racing law introduced by Senator W. Ely goes into effect, about the middle of June. An emergency clause is all that the governor considers lacking in this amendment.

NORTH CAROLINA AT NORFOLK.

Winston-Whiceard Co. Invites "Down-Homers" to Visit Them.

Among the progressive Southern dry goods houses are Winston Whichard Co., of Norfolk, Va. The Whichard Bros., who organized and control this company, are from Pitt county, North Carolina. The progress of North Carolinians is evidenced wherever they locate, and their firm has established a business that stands at the forefront of Norfolk's commercial interests. This firm desires that merchants visiting the Jamestown exposition make their house headquarters. This invitation is not given with the idea that every merchant visiting them are expected to buy a bill of goods, but because such a visit will be of mutual advantage. There is no firm in the South where the personnel of the members combines greater business ability and a desire for their customers welfare. These North Carolina boys knew how and the "made good."—Merchants Journal.

Bought Half Interest in a Davie Man's Farm for $31.

The Asheville Citizen says that it is not generally known that the man who allows his land to be used as a location for an illicit distillery, or even when the distillery is run on his land without his knowledge or consent, is in danger of having his land confiscated by the government, just as other property used in connection with illicit distilling is confiscated.

In Asheville a few days ago a half interest in 102 acres of land owned by Jacob S. Sain, in Davie county, was offered for sale on account of certain proceedings in connection with an illicit distillery. Sain had sent $28 to Asheville to buy the half interest, which was offered at public auction, and a bystander bid $31 and got it. Sain may have to surrender the land or increase his bid considerably.

Move it Back.

There is yet one change the Atlantic Coast Line could make in train schedules on this branch road that would be quite a convenience to the public. That is, move back the schedule of the south bound evening train, No. 59, for it to make connection at Hobgood with the afternoon train coming out of Norfolk. Such a connection would enable people from any of the towns in this section to go to Norfolk and return the same day, while at present it takes two days to make the trip. No. 59 comes in late enough nearly every evening to have made connection with the train from Norfolk if the wait had been at Hobgood or beyond instead of at Parmele.

Lawyers Speaking.

Special to Reflector.

New York, April, 9.—Lawyer Delmas, counsel for Thaw, this morning resumed the summing up of his side of the case. He seemed to sway the jury and throng of spectators in the court room at will. His was the most remarkable summing up of a case ever heard in the New York court room.

The Woman's Missionary Society of the Methodist church will meet with Mrs. E. A. Moye, Jr., Wednesday evening at 8:30 o'clock. The topic of study will be the life of John G. Paton. All members are urged to be present.

"PUT DIRT IN HIS MOUTH."

The Sure Cure for a Balking Horse as Experienced by Driver.

Yesterday just after the dinner hour when the streets were thronged with people returning from the mid-day meal a large crowd of the curious assembled on Second street, near Princess, to watch the antics of a balking dray horse that was indulging in all sorts of capers just below the new Garrell building. The colored driver was using every means of persuasion to induce the animal to proceed, but he reared and pitched. Coaxing was of no avail. The crowds increased and shouted all manner of witticisms at the nonplussed driver. Suddenly the head of Lem King poked out of one of the windows way up in the Garrell building.

"Fill his mouth full of sand!" The driver looked dubiously at Mr. King, who assured the black man that he was giving the remedy on the "dead level."

The ever-present small boy was soon at the head of the animal with the requisite amount of mother earth and the owner alighted to administer the dose. It worked like a charm; the driver hardly had time to crawl back up on his dray before the horse had proceeded as gently as a lamb. Lem King took his head in the window, the man of hour, and the crowd dispersed, amused but wiser.—Wilmington Star.

Extra Session of the Missouri Legislature.

Special to Reflector.

Jefferson City, Mo. April 9.—In accordance with the call of Governor Folk, the legislature of the State of Missouri came together in extra session today. The specific subject named in the call are: To enact such legislation as may be necessary to provide for the regulation of the rates of public corporations, to provide legislative enactments for the enforcement of the dramshop laws throughout the state to provide for the removal of derelict officials, to provide for enactment with an emergency clause for the suppression of race-track gambling.

Ex-Convict Speaks.

A man who says he was once tried and convicted of murder and sentenced to be hanged, came within three days of the time of execution when his sentence was commuted to imprisonment, served several years in the penitentiary when it was discovered that he was not the man who committed the murder, spoke to a large crowd in front of the court house Monday night and sold books containing a sketch of his life.

Kimonas and Snipping.

Beginning this afternoon and continuing tonight the ladies of the Presbyterian church have a kimona sale and snipping party at Hines' cafe. Ice cream and cake will also be sold. Now if you want to know what a snipping party is you had better go see. These ladies deserve your presence and patronage and will appreciate it.

Best Way to Get On.

A young man once wrote the celebrated Thomas Carlyle, asking his advise about the best way to get on. The following was the quaint answer: "Study to do faithfully whatsoever thing in your actual situation you find, either expressly or tacitly, laid to your charge."

That is your post; stand in it like a soldier. Silently devour the many chagrins of it, as all human situations have many, and see that you aim not to quit it without doing all that it at least requires of you. A man perfects himself by work much more than by reading.

They are a growing kind of men that can wisely combine the two things—wisely, valiantly, can do what is laid to their hands in their present sphere, and prepare themselves withal for doing other wider things if such be before them."—Selected.

TUESDAY, APR. 10th, 1907.

Of course we do not expect the other towns wanting it to agree with us, but there is really no question about Greenville being the best town in which to locate the Eastern training school for teachers. In healthfulness this town cannot be surpassed. We have good water works, electric lighting and power and sewerage systems, all owned and operated by the town. It has ample transportation facilities and is almost the exact center of the district which the school is intended to serve.

Remember that when the registration books open for the coming bond elections, every man must register or he cannot vote. People in the town of Greenville must register for both the town and county elections, while those living elsewhere in the county must register for the county election. The town election will take place on Tuesday, the 7th day of May, and the county election on Tuesday, the 14th day of May. Keep this straight in your mind and do not get the dates nor the elections confused.

People get strange ideas in their heads sometime. A gentleman who spent Sunday near Falkland came back and told us that another gentleman out there said he had read an article in The Reflector that Greenville did not want the Eastern training school for teachers to be established by the State, but that the town was going ahead and establish a school of her own. The gentleman in question has seen no such statement in The Reflector, and we cannot understand how he got any such idea in his head. Greenville does want the State school located here, and is going to leave nothing undone to secure it. The Reflector has been for the school from the beginning of the fight, and has used and will continue to use its influence to secure it.

There are two bond elections before the people of Pitt county, one in which only the people of the town vote, and the other in which the people of the town and entire county vote. The amount of bonds to be issued by the town is not to exceed $75,000, and by the county is not to exceed $50,000. So much of the proceeds of these bonds as may be necessary is to be used to secure the location of the Eastern training school for teachers at some point in Pitt county. Every citizen of the county is interested in this and every voter should vote for the bond issues. If it should require the entire amount of the two bond issues—though that is not likely—to secure the school, it will be worth every dollar of it to the county. Such a school located in the county is going to benefit everybody, both in increased educational advantages and value of property.

The unkindest cut of all is from the New York Sun, which defines Wall street as "a celebrated gambling hell".

The Letter I.

The name of "I" is in Hebrew jod or jot, a hand, and the earliest characters representative of the sound closely resemble a hand with but three fingers. Little by little one finger after another dropped off until only the little finger was left, and the letter became the smallest in the alphabet, a jot or tittle—that is, the "I" and its dot being synonymous of the most insignificant things that could be described.

For years Dr. Shoop has fought against the use of opium, chloroform or other unsafe ingredients commonly found in cough remedies. Dr. Shoop, it seems has welcomed the Pure Food Drug Law recently enacted, for he has worked along similar lines for many years. For nearly 20 years Dr. Shoop's Cough Cure containers have had a warning printed on them against opium and other narcotic poisons. He has thus made it possible for mothers to protect their children by simply insisting on having Dr. Shoop's Cough Cure. Sold by Bryan's Drug Store.

A LITTLE NONSENSE.

By the Stranger Followed the Nervous Man.

A nervous man on his lonely homeward way heard the echoing following footsteps, and dim visions of hooligans, blackmailers and crooked couriers coursed through his brain. The faster he walked the more the man behind increased his speed. He thought the nervous one took to most roundabout and devious course he could devise, still his tracker followed. At last he turned into a churchyard.

"If he follows me here," he mused, "there can be no doubt about his intentions."

The man behind did follow, and quivering with rage and fear, the nervous one turned and confronted him. "What the dickens do you want?" he queried. "Why are you following me?"

"Do you always go home like this," said the stranger, "or are you giving yourself a treat tonight? I am going up to Mr. Brown's, and the porter at the station told me to follow you, as you lived next door. Excuse me asking, but are you going home at all tonight?"

CONDENSED STORIES.

How General Miles Rebuked a Reckless Wagon Driver.

Some years ago General Miles started to drive from Red Lodge, Mont., to Cody, Wyo., to see his friend, Buffalo Bill. The road was rough, and the reckless driving of the man holding the lines made it seem rougher, but the Indian fighter compressed his lips and clung to the seat without complaint. When near Cody, the general suddenly

"THERE," EXCLAIMED MILES, "YOU HIT IT."

prodded the driver in the back with his walking stick and said curtly, "Driver, turn around."

"What?" exclaimed the astonished driver.

"Do as I tell you," commanded Miles. So the man turned the horses about and started back to Red Lodge.

"Now turn here," ordered Miles after they had driven a few yards. Convinced that his distinguished passenger had suddenly lost his mind, the driver turned about once more and started for Cody.

"There!" exclaimed Miles in a tone of satisfaction as the side wheels struck a stone and he bounded into the air. "You hit it! Now, driver, you can go back to Red Lodge and tell them that you droye seventy-five miles and never missed a rock. You've hit them, every one."—Lippincott's.

Bowwow.

Edgar Saltus, the novelist, was asked by a young lady at tea if he thought that the use of quotations was a good thing.

"Quotations are only good," said Mr. Saltus, "when they are extremely apt."

"There was once a witty Irishman, James E. Fitzgerald, who made excellent use of a quotation in a political speech.

"During this speech he was repeatedly interrupted by a butcher, the proprietor of a large sausage making plant. An adherent of Fitzgerald's finally took offense at the butcher's mocking remarks and yelled:

"Hey, you! Leave politics alone and go back to your sausage machines!"

"The butcher glared at the man and retorted:

"If I had this speaker in one of my sausage machines I'd soon make mince-meat of him."

"Then Mr. Fitzgerald quoted from the platform with a smile:

"Is thy servant a dog that thou shouldst do this thing?"

Harriman Defines Function.

Recently on a western trip Mr. Harriman made in effect this statement concerning his functions:

"My work has been to harmonize different opinions held by the members of the board of directors."

That statement went the rounds of the press and the people. As it ran on the tickers of Wall street, it raised quite a lot of comment. The writer brought it to the attention of a man who once was a director of the Union Pacific, but is not now. He laughed.

"I guess the reporter got him wrong," he said. "I guess he really said 'Harrimanize!'"—Wall Street Journal.

Has No Leaning That Way.

The Duke of Northumberland, replying to the remarks of a lord whose bill he supported for politeness' sake, told of a Scotch preacher who asked all his hearers who wished to go to heaven to stand up.

When the majority had arisen and again seated themselves the alternative choice was offered for all who were bent upon going to the other place. After an awkward pause one man got up and said to the revivalist:

"I have no particular leaning that way, but I really do not like to see you standing alone."—Rochester Herald.

A LIQUID GOLD CURE AND LAXATIVE COUGH SYRUP

The Red Clover Blossom and the Honey Bee on Every Bottle.

"A Cold or a Cough nearly always produces constipation—the water all runs to the eyes, nose and throat instead of passing out of the system through the liver and kidneys. For the want of moisture the bowels become dry and hard." Nearly all other cough cures are constipating, especially those containing Opiales. Kennedy's Laxative Honey and Tar moves the bowels, contains no Opiales.

KENNEDY'S LAXATIVE HONEY AND TAR

Relieves Colds by working them out of the system through a copious action of the bowels.

Relieves Coughs by cleansing and strengthening the mucous membranes of the throat, chest, lungs and bronchial tubes.

For Croup, Whooping Cough, La Grippe, Influenza, Bronchitis, and all Coughs, Colds, Lung and Bronchial affections no remedy is equal to Kennedy's Laxative Honey and Tar. Children like it.

Heart Strength

Heart Strength, or Heart Weakness, means Nerve Strength, or Nerve Weakness—nothing more. Positively not one weak heart in a hundred is, in itself, actually diseased. It is almost always a hidden tiny little nerve that really is all at fault. This obscure nerve—the Cardiac, or Heart Nerve—simply needs, and must have, more power, more stability, more controlling force governing strength. Without that the Heart must continue to fail, and the stomach and kidneys also have these same controlling nerves.

This clearly explains why, as a medicine, Dr. Shoop's Restorative has in the past done so much for weak and ailing Hearts. Dr. Shoop first sought the cause of all this painful, palpitating, suffocating heart distress. Dr. Shoop's Restorative—this popular prescription—is alone directed to these weak and wasting nerve centers. It builds it strengthens; it offers real, genuine heart help. If you would have strong Hearts, strong digestion, strengthen these nerves—re-establish them as needed, with
