

HYMAN-DUPREE.

Pretty Home Marriage in South Greenville.

At 9 o'clock Wednesday evening, at the home of the bride in South Greenville, Mr. Rudolph Hyman and Mrs. Judith Deans Dupree were married by Rev. M. T. Plyler.

The home was appropriately decorated for the occasion and the marriage was an exceedingly pretty one. Miss Mollie Munford was maid of honor and Prof. W. H. Ragsdale best man. The wedding march was played by Miss Bessie Patrick as the bridal party descended the stairway and entered the parlor. The bride was handsomely robed in gray silk and carried a large bouquet of carnations.

As the guests arrived they were received at the door by Misses Lizzie Jones and Mae Whitfield. Punch was served in the hall by Misses Alice Lang and Hennie Whichard. In the dining room ices were served by Misses Bessie Haskett and Lizzie Higgs.

The number of bridal presents were large and beautiful. Many friends were present to witness the ceremony and offer congratulations.

The Boy Everybody Wants.

One of the finest qualities in a workman is a disposition to do things that need to be done without being told. Young men working their way through college are invaluable if they have this quality. A tool is left out on the lawn, there is a rail off the fence; there is a window pane gone somewhere. The boy who tends to these things because they need attending to without specific directions is the boy who, other things being equal, is going to be in demand when he gets out into the great world. It is the attention to little things and habit of observation, which sees what needs to be done and then does it which makes exceedingly useful men and women. There will always be a call to come up higher. It is in one sense a small thing to do these little things without orders, but it is the doing of them that makes great captains, great engineers, great artists, great architects, great workers in any department, and it is the absence of this quality that makes commonplace men and women, who will always have to live under the dominion of petty orders, men and women who do nothing unless they are told to do it.—Home Herald.

Commissioners Meet.

The board of county commissioners held a special meeting today, the principal business being to fill any vacancies that may have arisen by any of the recently appointed registrars and judges of election for the bond election failing to qualify.

Birthday Party.

Ferrell Burch, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Burch, gave a birthday party, Wednesday afternoon, in celebration of his twelfth anniversary. A number of his friends enjoyed the occasion with him.

BLACK JACK ITEMS.

Black Jack, N. C., April 10th. They organized a Sunday school here Sunday with a large crowd present.

W. L. Clark and daughter, went to Greenville Thursday.

The measles are in this community. If any one that has not had them don't get them they will be lucky.

A. O. Clark, of Grimesland, spent Sunday afternoon near here.

Do you all get any fresh fish? If you don't get on the road near Black Jack and you can get all you want if you will just hand the money to them as they pass by.

Elder C. B. Jones preached a fine sermon for as Sunday night and spent the night with Elder G. S. Johnston.

We are having lots of rain recently. We heard of corn coming up over a week ago. It may be gone down by this time.

Misses Sadie Edwards and Maggie Hudson attended services here Sunday night.

Homes Without Housekeepers.

Can it be demonstrated that there exists a demand for group housekeeping—a term that is not as familiar, perhaps, as "co-operative housekeeping," but which means a greater advance in ease and economy?

The growing thousands of wage-earning women are just as human as if they were housewives, and just as fond of home. Often more so. There are housewives who weary of their paradise—even break down in its service. But the woman who works in mill or shop, behind the counter or at the desk; in studio or hospital, church or school,—that woman appreciates a home, and needs it.

Here is a large and growing market, a steady market, a body of respectable citizens of all classes who do demand the home without the housekeeping. They board at present, and don't like it. It is either inferior food and service and a small, cold room, or it is too expensive. Moreover a boarding-house does not furnish right ground for human companionship; for rest and recreation. The boarding-house gives you a place to eat and a place to sleep—no more.

Eating and sleeping are not living. You miss the emotional content of home life, and its element of special catering to personality, and you get nothing to counterbalance the loss except freedom from care and labor.

The business woman has come to stay and her wants must be recognized and met.

I was talking on this subject to a Woman's Club, on the lower East Side. I described to them how a block of tenements could be treated as a whole; or an apartment house built, in which the kitchen and laundry space was condensed to business limits; prepared food of steady excellence furnished more cheaply than they could provide it themselves; proper accommodation for children on the upper floor and roof; and also some provision for rest, relaxation and amusement of the adult residents; all this costing less than their present housekeeping and leaving them free to doubt the family income. They were ready for it, to a woman. Charlotte Perkins Gilman in the May Delineator.

River Trip For Carnegie Foreign Guests.

Special to Reflector.

Pittsburg, Pa. April 11.—Among the entertainments arranged for the foreign guests at a Carnegie celebration is a trip around Pittsburg by river. The foreign trip has been arranged for Saturday, April 13, and the committee accepted the tender of the steamer Island Queen, made the Coney Island Museum Company. The party will be taken for a trip up the Monogahela as far as McKeesport, stopping to see the Homestead Steel Works, and the plant of the National Tube company at McKeesport. Then the boat will take the visitors up the Allegheny river as far as the new filtration plant at Aspinwall. A short trip down the Ohio river, through Davis Island dam, so as to show the development of the upper Ohio valley from an industrial standpoint, will complete the steamboat ride.

Psi Upsilon Convention.

Special to Reflector.

New York, April 12.—The seventy-fourth convention of the Psi Upsilon Fraternity will be held today and tomorrow with the Delta Chapter at New York University. The Delta Chapter will also celebrate its seventieth birthday at the same time. It has had the longest continuous existence of any of the numerous chapters of college fraternities now located in New York City. The twenty-two chapters of the fraternity are represented by delegates. The convention banquet will be held tomorrow night at the Waldorf Astoria.

Tennessee Christian Endeavor Union.

Memphis, Tenn. April 11.—The eighteenth annual convention of the Tennessee Christian Endeavor Union opened in this city today to stay until the 14th. All sessions are being held in the Court Avenue Presbyterian Church. Sunrise meeting will also be held in the McLemore Presbyterian Church, and the Bellevue Avenue Baptist Church. The junior rally on Sunday afternoon is expected to be the most prominent feature of the session.

Bank of France Advances Bank Rate.

By Cable to Reflector.

Paris April 11.—The gold exodus from France, which has recently been increasing in conjunction with the money crisis abroad, especially in Berlin and New York, is occupying the minds of the critical and practical financiers, while the recent rise of rate by the Bank of France has drawn the attention of the commercial world to the same object. The Bank of France today raises the rate once more, this time to four per cent.

How The Jury Stands.

Special to Reflector.

New York, April 11th.—At 10:30 o'clock this morning the jury in the Thaw case had taken eleven ballots without reaching a verdict. There are various rumors as to how the jury stands, the most reliable being that it is 10 to 2 in favor of acquittal, one vote being for murder and one for manslaughter in first degree.

GOOD WORKER BUT NO JOB.

Recently a stranger walked into the railway mail service headquarters in Chicago and asked for a job weighing mails, the work of which commences some time within the next two months, says the Tribune. Judging from the number and variety of letters that he was able to show the stranger had worked in about every country of the civilized world. He had letters from officials in high positions in great seaports on both sides of the Atlantic and the Pacific ocean.

The feature that seemed to stand out in the queer exhibit made by the applicant was, that evidently he had given satisfaction in scores of different jobs, the writers testified to both his moral character and his abilities as a worker in many lines.

Despite all these facts, notwithstanding the apparent force of his testimonials and with all of the boasted prosperity that attends the industrial concerns, this man fairly plastered with letters of praise was out of a job, and in this application Uncle Sam did not accept his services.

Here was a rolling stone that had rolled in all kinds of moss, could have remained where there was good picking, but had spent nearly a whole lifetime looking around for different kinds, and still is following the same intent. He evidently had passed the fiftieth year of his life.—New Bern Journal.

Ducks and Buzzards.

This is the way the Lexington Dispatch neatly and concisely sums up the whole business:

There is not going to be any split in the Democratic party and if there were a dozen it wouldn't help that thing called the Republican party. The predicted split would be over questions of public policy and whether men shall be read out of the party because they differ with, say, Mr. Speaker Justice. Men who would leave the Democratic party over this would never think of joining hands with an aggregation peopled by political pirates and cut throats, whose hands are forever searching out the hidden recesses of their countrymen's pockets, and who are daily lopping off the official heads of good men throughout the State because they dared to express a preference for Blackburn for State Republican chairman. When men hunt ducks they don't go to a buzzard's roost.

Capt Vincent Hurt.

News has come that Capt Z. T. Vincent, a conductor for a train on the Atlantic Coast Line, in stepping from a train broke his leg. He was carried to the Coast line hospital at Rocky Mount. Capt Vincent was formerly a resident of this place and his friends here regret to learn of the accident.—Scotland Neck Commonwealth.

Capt. Vincent has made his home in Greenville the last few years, and has the sympathy of many friends here in his accident.

A Bargain.

Rather than have 100 cases of canned corn shipped back that was sent out by mistake, a large packer has turned the entire lot over to me to sell quickly, and I offer it at 90c per doz, cash. C. G. Starkey. 11 lwd.

DELIGHTFUL RECITAL.

By University Glee Club and Orchestra

The visit of the University Glee Club and Orchestra to Greenville gave much pleasure to our people, and the recital in the opera house Wednesday night was a real delight. The selections by orchestra, glee club and quartette were received with such applause that encores followed. There are some excellent musicians and splendid voices in the organization, and the young men composing it reflect credit upon the institution they represent. They will receive a cordial welcome any time they come this way again.

She'd Wait for His Return.

A Philadelphia clergyman was talking about the late Sam Small. "I once heard him speak," he said, "and his humor and eloquence impressed me deeply. "He had a happy knack of illustration. He wanted, I remember, to illustrate the frailty that is a part of even the best characters, and he told a story about a brave young soldier.

"This soldier, he said, enlisted in the Spanish-American war, and he fought like a lion for his country. The firm he had worked for, pleased with the record he was making for himself, told his wife that all the time he was away they would pay half his wages to her.

"Accordingly, at the end of the first week the young woman called at the office, and the head of the firm handed her $9.

"She looked at the money, and her face clouded over.

"'Nine dollars?' she said.

"'Yes,' said the head, a little hurt; 'that is just half. I'm sorry you are not pleased.'

"'It isn't that I'm not satisfied,' said the young woman, 'but all along he's been telling me that his pay was only $14 a week. Wait till he gets home. If them Spaniards don't kill him! I will!'"

Complimented

A few weeks ago a Philadelphia man was in a North Carolina town of very few inhabitants. One day when he was on the point of making a purchase he discovered that he had exhausted his small change.

The store-keeper could not "break" the $10 bill offered him, and the northern man went out in the main street to see how he might solve the difficulty. He asked several persons, but no one had the requisite amount for the bill. At last an old, white-haired, seedy negro came along. In sheer desperation the Philadelphia man said:

"Uncle, can you change a $10 bill for me?"

"Uncle" looked dazed for the moment. Then his shambling figure straightened. With a doffing of the hat and a bow worthy Chesterfield, he replied with dignity:

"No, marse, I can't change no $10 bill; but I done 'preciates the compliment jes' the same, sah."

Trade With Home Merchants.

Just at this time the mail order houses are active in flooding the country with big handsomely gotten up spring catalogues, quoting attractive prices on staple articles and making all sorts of big sounding claims for your cash. They do not offer to exchange their goods for the farmers' eggs, poultry, butter or other produce. They don't trust a penny's worth, but make you pay cash before you get the goods and the freight besides. If anything is wrong with the goods or they do not suit, they will not exchange them for you. They pay no taxes into your city or county treasury, with which our schools are maintained, roads, bridges and sidewalks built. They do not contribute to our churches, charitable institutions, nor to our poor.—Mt Olive Tribune.

The man who allows himself to be persuaded to oppose the bonds to secure the Eastern training school, goes on record against what is best for the county.

Every now and then a Southern man is mentioned as suitable for the presidential nomination. Of course a Southern man is as much entitled to it as anybody else, but we expect it will be a long time before one gets it.

It would be as reasonable in a man to say he would not build a house or accumulate property for his children to enjoy after he has passed away, as to say he would not help to establish a school to give them better educational advantages.

There is this thing for the people of Pitt county to consider: The State is going to locate the Eastern training school in some Eastern county. As it is to be a State institution every county in the State will bear its proportionate part of the taxes to support it. Whether Pitt county gets the school or not, every man in the county will pay his taxes for it. Then why not every man in the county do all he can to get the school in Pitt county. By getting it here this county will be the largest beneficiary.

Legislature Took Care of The Old Soldiers.

One thing the legislature did that is of universal interest, and of special interest to the old soldiers, is the appropriation of $400,000 annually to pensions. The old law regarding the amount of property a soldier owns, will stand, but the amount of the pension fund is increased so that soldiers entitled to pensions get much more. Representative Hankins tried very hard to have the property limit raised from $500 to $750, since many old soldiers who bravely making a liv have $500 of property, and yet ought to have a pension. The new law provides that every person who has for a year been a bone-fide resident of the State before making application for pension, who is incapacitated for work, and who was a soldier or sailor of the Confederacy, or a widow of one, provided she married him before April 1st, 1865, or if she has married again, is a widow when she makes application, shall receive the following sums annually: First, such as received wounds that render them totally incompetent to work, $72; second, such as lost an arm above the elbow or a leg above the knee, $60; third, such as have lost a foot or leg below the knee, or a hand or arm above the elbow or have a leg or arm perfectly useless to them, $48; fourth such as have lost an eye, and to widows and to all soldiers who are now three fourths disabled from any cause, $30. — Lexington Dispatch.

Notice is hereby given to the voters of Pitt county that the board of county commissioners at their meeting on the first Monday of April, 1907, it being the first day of said month, ordered that an election be held at the various voting places in said county on Tuesday, May 14th, 1907, for the purpose of taking the sense of the qualified voters of said county on the proposition to confer upon the board of county commissioners of said county the authority to issue and sell interest bearing coupon bonds, of said county, not to exceed the sum of fifty thousand dollars to run for thirty years and to bear interest at a rate not to exceed six per cent. The proceeds of the sale of said bonds to be used in aiding in erecting suitable buildings at some point in Pitt county for a training school for white teachers, and the excess, if any, of the fund arising from the sale of said bonds, after securing the location of said school in the county, to be used in the purchase of machinery for the use of the convicts in working the public roads and to aid building and repairing bridges in the county of Pitt.

A new registration of the voters has been ordered for said election, so that it may be definitely and accurately ascertained who are qualified voters at said election. The law authorizing said election requires those favoring the issuing of said bonds to vote a written or printed ballot with the words thereon, "for bonds" and those opposed to vote a written or printed ballot with the words thereon "against bonds." The registration books will open on Thursday, April 11th, 1907, and close at sunset on Saturday, May 4th, 1907. Only those who register can vote.

By order of the board of county commissioners of Pitt county.

This the 1st day of April 1907.

BERNINI'S FOUNTAINS.

The Way the Great Artist Helped to Beautify Rome.

In 1629 Bernini, the famous Italian architect, painter and sculptor, who was one of the architects of St. Peter's, turned his mind to another branch of ornament for Rome. Many of the most beautiful fountains had already been constructed. In the preceding century Cardinal Ippolito d'Este had made his famous garden at Tivoli, containing no less than 330. Many of these were on a very large and elaborate scale, and it seems very probable that these, which in Bernini's time were still in good preservation, may have inspired him to emulate their splendor. He certainly often visited Tivoli, as he was employed to report on some new waterworks constructed there, and there are the remains of one fountain which appears to have been added about this time and in which a seventeenth century portico is supported by columns similar to that which Bernini copied for his baldachino. However this may be, in Rome Bernini may claim to be the creator of the monumental fountain, a feature so conspicuous in the city.

Who that loves Rome but will acknowledge a debt of gratitude to the man who set the Barocaccia or open boat at the foot of the Spanish steps, who reared the dripping Triton draining his conch shell on high on the piazza of the Barberini? Who will not thank him for his gift of the famous Trevi, with its splendid facade, its wild sea gods and plunging horses, its rockless prodigality of space and material, its wealth of spouting streams? For although erected many years after the death of Bernini, still the idea and the original plans are his, and Prince Doria possesses his sketch for the central group. At intervals all through the remainder of his life he found time to add to their number, and Rome owes to him no less than twelve of her fountains. They meet us in all parts of the city. In the Piazza Navona the little sea gods blow their horns around the Fountain of the Moor, and the colossal forms symbolical of the Four Rivers recline in sleepy grandeur. Others stand in the Vatican gardens, in the Villa Mattel, etc., and are all marked by the same fertile invention and largeness of conception.—Fortnightly Review.

How to Live Well.

Be courteous to all, but intimate with few, and let those few be well tried before you give them your confidence. The friendship is a plant of slow growth and must undergo and withstand the shocks of adversity before it is entitled to the appellation. Let your heart feel for the afflictions and distresses of every one, and let your hand give in proportion to your purse, remembering always the estimation of the widow's mite, that it is not every one that asketh that deserveth charity. All, however, are worthy of the inquiry, or the deserving may suffer. Do not conceive that fine clothes make fine men any more than fine feathers make fine birds. A plain, genteel dress is more admired and obtains more credit than lace and embroidery in the eyes of the judicious and sensible.—George Washington in a letter to his nephew, Basilrod Washig, 1782, in Scrap Book.

SAVED BY A TRIPOD.

A Short but Lucky Encounter With a Mountain Lion.

The largest wild animal which frequents the Colorado desert is the mountain lion. This member of the cat family, writes Mr. James in "The Wonders of the Colorado Desert," is large enough to frighten thoroughly an unarmed man unless the man, conscious of his own kindly intentions, is willing to take those of the animal for granted. This is not always a safe thing to do, as the mountain lion, if he is driven either by hunger or by fear, will sometimes attack a man.

A friend and I, writes Mr. James, were once climbing a steep mountain trail in the heart of a dense forest. I was in the rear, carrying on my shoulder a very heavy surveyor's tripod, re-enforced with brass and with long spikes at the ends of the legs. Stopping for breath, I happened to look up, and there on the branch of a tree not ten feet away was a large mountain lion just about to leap upon my unconscious friend.

I swung up my tripod in lance-like fashion over my friend's shoulder in the uncontrollable impulse to do something, what I did not know. Was it good fortune or chance or Providence that pointed the spikes of one of the tripod's legs at such an angle as to penetrate the eye and brain of the leaping animal, swerve it from its course, render ineffective its wild, death dealing stroke and so blind it that a few blows from the brassy end of the tripod killed it?

The remarkable thing of it was that my friend was not only unharmed, but almost unaware of what had happened until it was all over. He was an old man of somewhat slow mind, and when he heard my exclamation as I threw up the tripod he turned round to see me thrown topsy turvy down the bank. The cause of it he did not see.

Before he was aware of it his amazement was made complete by my sudden and energetic rising, picking up the tripod and fiercely swinging it upon the head of some prostrate creature which until I struck it had not made the slightest sound. Then it began to shriek and scream with a fierceness that was appalling.

In far less time than it has taken me to write this story the animal was dead at our feet. The force with which he sprang can be understood by the fact that the wooden part of the tripod beyond the spike had crushed the bones surrounding the eye.

Where the Patch Belongs.

A New Englander had occasion to engage a gardener. One morning two applicants appeared, one a decidedly decent looking man and the other of much less prepossessing appearance and manner.

After very little hesitation the man of the house chose the latter applicant.

A friend who was present evinced surprise at the selection, asking:

"Has that man ever worked for you before?"

"No," replied the other. "In fact, I never saw either of them until today."

"Then why did you choose the shorter man? The other had a much better face."

"Face!" exclaimed the proprietor of the place in disgust. "Let me tell you that when you pick out a gardener you want to go by his overall. If they're patched on the knees, you want him. If the patch is on the seat of his trousers, you don't."—Success Magazine.

Prodigal in Fasting.

A French girl, one Christina Michelot, when recovering from a severe attack of fever, is said to have lived from November, 1751, to July, 1755, on water, "without any solid food of any description." Twenty years later Monica Mutchetaria, a woman of Suabia, while suffering from a complication of nervous disorders subsisted for two years on a dietary of curds and whey and water, and, to add to her discomfort, she was unable to sleep during the whole of this period, while in 1762, we learn—and we are simply quoting records of cases which appear to have been well attested—Ann Walker, a twelve-year-old girl of Harrogate, survived for eighteen months on a daily allowance of a third of a pint of wine and water.—Westminster Gazette.

Raising Chickens.

Little Girl—Mrs. Brown, ma wants to know if she could borrow a dozen of eggs. She wants to put 'em under a hen.

Neighbor—So you've got a hen setting, have you? I didn't know you kept hens.

Little Girl—No, ma'am, we don't, but Mrs. Smith's going to lend us a hen that's going to set, an' ma thought if you'd lend us some eggs we'd find a nest ourselves.—Household Words.

A LIQUID GOLD CURE AND LAXATIVE COUGH SYRUP

The Red Clover Blossom and the Honey Bee on Every Bottle.

"A Cold or a Cough nearly always produces constipation—the water all runs to the eyes, nose and throat instead of passing out of the system through the liver and kidneys. For the want of moisture the bowels become dry and hard." Nearly all other cough cures are constipating, especially those containing Opium. Kennedy's Laxative Honey and Tar moves the bowels, contains no Opium.

KENNEDY'S LAXATIVE HONEY AND TAR

Relieves Colds by working them out of the system through a copious action of the bowels.

Relieves Coughs by cleansing and strengthening the mucous membranes of the throat, chest, lungs and bronchial tubes.

For Croup, Whooping Cough, La Grippe, Influenza, Bronchitis, and all Coughs, Colds, Lung and Bronchial affections no remedy is equal to Kennedy's Laxative Honey and Tar. Children like it.

Heart Strength

Heart Strength, or Heart Weakness, means Nerve Strength, or Nerve Weakness—nothing more. Positively, not one weak heart in a hundred is, in itself, actually diseased. It is almost always a hidden tiny little nerve that really is all at fault. This obscure nerve—the Cardiac, or Heart Nerve—simply needs, and must have, more power, more stability, more controlling, more governing strength. Without that the Heart must continue to fail, and the stomach and kidneys also, have these same controlling nerves.

This clearly explains why, as a medicine, Dr. Shoop's Restorative has in the past done so much for weak and ailing hearts. Dr. Shoop first sought the cause of all this painful, palpitating, suffocating heart distress. Dr. Shoop's Restorative—the popular prescription—is alone directed to these weak and wasting nerve centers. It builds, strengthens; it offers real, genuine heart help. If you would have strong hearts, strong digestion, strengthen these nerves—re-establish them as needed, with
