WEST GREENVILLE.

GIVE THE POOR BOYS A CHANCE.

PITT SHOULD HAVE THE EASTERN TRAINING SCHOOL.

WANTED SECRET MESSAGE.

LOCAL BRIEFS.

Neasy Nots From a Hustling Town.
Ayden, N. C., April 19th.

Bonds or no bonds. First it is, and then it ain't. You can't tell.

A sick colored woman being taken from the train Wednesday morning caused some little comment as she seemed to be in a hopeless and pitiful condition. Our citizens soon made up a purse and sent her to Greenville on the noon train from where she will be taken to the home for the aged and infirm.

T. R. Boyd with his daughter, Miss Neva Boyd, of Edward, is visiting his son, W. J. Boyd.

The teachers of the graded school will give an entertainment in the opera house tonight, for the purpose of raising funds to enlarge the library of the school. Every one should attend and we sincerely hope they may.

W. G. Smith, a member of the J. R. Smith Mercantile Co., we regret to know is very sick with typhoid fever at his home on Main street. Mr. Smith's friends sympathize with and wish for him a speedy recovery.

J. M. Ormond and C. L. Hardee, of Ormondville, spent the day yesterday with J. R. and Leslie Turnage.

Graham Jackson is visiting his grandmother in the country.

Wednesday afternoon in the town of Kinston by Rev. R. H. Jones, of Ayden, Mr. C. L. Cannon, of Morehead City and Miss Ida Edwards, of Kinston, were united in marriage. Those of the bridal party who attended from here were Misses Nina Cannon, Olivia Berry, Jimmie Davis and Messrs. D. S. Moore, Elmer Gardner and J. N. Alexander. Mr. and Mrs. Cannon were formerly of Ayden, the groom being a son of Jesse Cannon, a wealthy and prominent gentleman of our town and the bride a daughter of E. S. Edwards recently moved to Greenville. They were very popular here and all join us in extending hearty congratulations and best wishes for a long and happy life together.

A. L. Blow, of Greenville, was was here Wednesday on professional business.

L. L. Kittrell, of Winterville, was here a short while Wednesday afternoon.

There have been rumors of marriages and giving in marriage in and around our town for some considerable length of time, but "nary a tie up." We hate to have our friends disappointed and maybe if the wifow will agree there will be something doing. This way of everybody staying single has grown monotonous and there must be a change.

Falls From Wagon.

Mr. Henry Sheppard, agent of the Southern Express Company, met with an accident, Thursday evening, that came near resulting seriously. He was coming down from the depot on the wagon loaded with express. On Dickinson avenue the driver run the wagon in a bad place on the street that caused it to tilt so far that Mr. Sheppard was thrown off backward. He fell across the curbing of the side walk and a heavy keg rolled out of the wagon on him. Fortunately no bones were broken but he was painfully bruised.

Have you paid off that mortgage on your home? It's easy to pay through The Home Building & Loan Association. Over $1200, is now being loaned monthly.

Fine Section to be Opened for Residential Purposes.

Through the efforts of Mr. B. W. Mosely, the real estate man, a deal has just been closed here that means a great deal for Greenville. It comprises about 35 acres in West Greenville. The land was owned by Messrs. Josiah Dixon, O. E. Warren, J. C. Tyson and James Turnage, all adjoining, and it was all brought together in the deal.

The property extends from a little south of Fourth street to the river, and Third and Fourth streets extended will both pass directly through it, and it is one of the prettiest and highest elevated pieces of property around Greenville.

Norfolk capitalists headed by Mr. J. L. Bunting are the purchasers and it is their purpose to improve the property and put it on the market for residence lots. Mr. Bunting was here Thursday to close the deal with Mr. Mosely, and told The Reflector that his company would begin work at once on the property. Streets will be opened, granolithic sidewalks laid, and the wood growth on the hill side next to the river improved and opened for a park. The location is ideal, and that section built up will be a beautiful part of the town.

Navigation Conference.

Special to Reflector.

New York, April 19.—The navigation congress called in accordance with petitions of trade and mercantile bodies in this city, met on the 17th. Many commercial bodies in many cities were represented, especially those along the Atlantic coast. The meeting was occasioned by the impression created by the terrible loss of the department of commerce and labor setting forth that many passenger steamers are manned by crews untrained as to the use of life-boats. These men, too, it is contended, are overworked and are unable to assist passengers in the time of accidents. Board of trade throughout the United States are asked to petition in the interest of a law which will compel steamship companies to train their crews.

D. A. R. Congress Convention.

Special to Reflector.

Washington, April 19.—The members of the Daughters of the Republic will assemble here today for their annual meeting. It is entirely probable that Mrs. Donald McLane will be reelected to the presidency, as nobody appears disposed to dispute the election with her. Competitors have been scared away but opposition may develop when later trains bring in the delegates from other quarters. Besides the head of the society a full national board and ten vice presidents are to be chosen. Sixteen candidates have been nominated by the opposing factions for the vice presidential honors, and intense interest is felt in the result.

Are you still paying rent? Why not own your home and let your rent money pay for it. The Home Building & Loan Association can show you how. dtf.

The Spangler fertilizer distributor is the best kind. Has the force feed, can be regulated to sow from 200 pounds to 3,000 per acre. For sale by J. R. & J. G. Moye. 5 tfd

EDITOR REFLECTOR.

I want to briefly state what a vote for bonds means and what it will cost the tax payers

The taxable property this year will be about $8,000,000, and this will increase from year to year. The interest on the bonds will be $2,500 a year. To raise the money to pay the interest it will be necessary to levy a tax of from 2½ to 3 cents on the $100 worth of property. The poll tax cannot exceed 10 cents.

The man who lists $100 worth of property will have to pay 2½ to 3 cents. If he lists $1,000 worth of property he will have to pay 25 to 30 cents. If he lists $5,000 worth he will have to pay $1.25. If he lists $10,000 worth he pays $2.50. If he lists $20,000 worth he will pay $5.00. If he lists $40,000 worth he will pay $10.

The man who lists only $100 worth of property has as much right to vote against bonds as the man who lists $40,000 worth, but I beg him not to do it. The man who lists $40,000 worth can send his sons and daughters to Raleigh, Chapel Hill, Greensboro or elsewhere. The poor man is not able to send his children away to school and his sons and daughters are dependent upon home schools. There are many poor boys and girls in Pitt county who would make strong men and women, ornaments to society and leaders of public thought, if they had a chance. I appeal to their fathers and mothers to give them a chance. The 14th of May is the time, the ballot box the place, and a vote for bonds the means. The rich man ought to be willing to give the small amount required of him to help the children of his poor neighbor.

A vote for bonds means great things for the boys and girls who live in the country places. A vote against bonds means to shut the door of hope in the face of thousands of them. I take this deep interest in these boys and girls because I know some thing of the struggle that lies before them and what an education mean to them. I have passed along that way myself and am now near its end.

Thos. J. Jarvis.

Promoter for Greenville.

The board of directors of the Chamber of Commerce have designated Mr. B. W. Mosely, the real estate man, as promoter for Greenville in connection with the Jamestown exposition. The manager of the North Carolina exhibit will direct the attention of visitors to the products and resources of the State with a view of attracting settlers, and the purpose is to have some one in the different towns to whom parties who become interested will be referred to correspond with a view of getting such information as is desired. This is the position Mr. Mosely will occupy and such persons as become interested in this section will be referred to him. It will be well for our people having any inducements to offer settlers to keep in touch with him so that he may have the facts to present to inquirers.

Got Off With Booty.

Special to Reflector.

Peoria, Ill., April 19.—A band of robbers entered the Western banking establishment at Western, blew open the safe and secured $5,000. The sheriff with a party of deputies pursued the bandits and a running battle followed. The bandits made good their escape.

EDITOR REFLECTOR :

The leaders in educational progress in North Carolina are greatly opposed to a multiplicity of State institutions, and rightly so. It is infinitely better to have a few strong, well-supported institutions rather than a large number poorly supported. For this reason, it is certain that the State will not establish any more State schools for a long time; it is entirely probable that few if any more will ever be established. The Eastern training school seems to be the last one, and geographic and climatic conditions are largely responsible for its establishment.

In June, the State board of education, composed of the governor, lieutenant governor, secretary of state, treasurer, auditor, superintendent of public instruction and attorney general, will locate the Eastern training school somewhere in Eastern North Carolina. The county which gets it must offer a site of twenty-five acres of land, and in addition, must give at least $25,000. Several towns have already offered more than twenty-five thousand dollars, so it is necessary to be supported by a large sum of money in order to make sure of securing the school. It is to be supposed that all the money Greenville and Pitt county can raise will be offered to secure the establishment of the school. But we must have enough to outbid the other towns and counties.

I wish to say to the people of Pitt county that this is the greatest educational opportunity that has yet presented itself to us. No man has ever been able to estimate the value of a great college in a community. It is something that raises the standard of living among people in an immeasurable degree. Being a native of Guilford, I have known that county before the establishment of the State normal and industrial college, as well as since its establishment. There is absolutely no comparison between conditions then and now. The people are better educated, live better and happier, have more out of life; they are better off in every way. The college is permanent; it continues to grow and its influence upon the county increases year by year. No greater blessing ever befell Guilford county than the location of the State normal and industrial college at its county seat, Greensboro.

The Eastern training school will become one of the greatest colleges in North Carolina. There are no State colleges east of Raleigh, and only one denominational college. The vast territory from which it will draw patronage will make it one of the largest colleges in the State. It will be by far the richest and best equipped school ever established in North Carolina.

The purpose of the school will be to train teachers for the public schools. The people of Pitt want good teachers for their children, and rightly so. But as the years go by, good teachers become more and more scarce. Few people realize what a difficult task we city and county superintendents have in securing suitable teachers for our schools. The task grows more and more difficult each year, and unless we get relief, it is only a question of a very few years when we simply cannot get enough good teachers for the schools. If we can only secure the Eastern training school here in Pitt, there will Sender of Telegram Did Not Want Operator to Read His Message.

A day or so ago a citizen appeared in the office of the Western Union company and stated that he had a message that he wanted to be absolutely secret. He was told that all messages are secret. This seemed to please the citizen who laid his message face down on the counter and said: "Send this for me."

"All right," said the operator, "let me check it up for you."

"I do not want you to see it," said the sender, and he then explained that he did not want any person on earth to read the message. "How am I to send the message unless I read it and know the contents?" asked the operator, but this did not suit the gentleman who was looking for an absolute private message.

"Better take it over to the Postal company," said the operator as a parting shot and also hoping to get his rivals into trouble, this being said as the gentleman with the secret message vanished through the door of the office.

If he carried the message to the Postal nothing has been heard from him. The supposition is that he mailed his letter to keep the contents a secret.—Durham Herald.

This reminds us of something that once happened in Greenville. A telegram came for a lady and in the hurry of sending it out the envelope was not sealed tightly all its length. Noticing this when it was delivered she said: "I'll bet that man in the telegraph office read this message before he sent it to me." "I'll bet so too," added the messenger.

STATE NEWS.

Happenings in North Carolina.

Reports from Wilmington say the strawberry crop has been cut off fully one half by the cold weather. The berries froze on the vines and rotted.

Three white convicts attempted to escape from the penitentiary at Raleigh, Wednesday afternoon. One of them, T. L. Snuggs, was shot and killed by the guards. He was from Guilford county and serving a sentence of two years for forgery.

There is no more trouble about teachers in the future. If we are to maintain a public school system, it is not the part of wisdom to provide a supply of teachers

We are asking for a bond issue of $50,000 by the county to aid in securing the school for Pitt. As Pitt has no bonded indebtedness, fifty thousand dollars is almost nothing. Five years ago, we bonded Guilford for $300,000 at one time, and it paid and paid well. The increase in taxation will be very slight, and surely when one considers that even if the school has only 200 students per year, if each girl spends an average of $200 per year, that the aggregate some of $40,000 per year plus the State's appropriations, would make it a richly paying investment.

Financially and in every other way, the county that gets the school will reap a rich reward. In my judgment, Pitt has a better chance to win the school than any other county in the contest. If the people will only rally to the support of the school I firmly believe it will be awarded to us. H. B. Smith, Supt. Greenville Graded Schools.

DON'T NEED IMMIGRANTS.

Six Sets of Twins in White Oak and One Woman Had Triplets.

Mr. W. B. Upchurch, of White Oak township, who was once a member of the legislature from Wake, was in Raleigh yesterday. "Wh t's the news?" I asked him.

"Nothing much except that there is no need for trying to get immigrants to come to North Carolina if as many babies are born in other parts of the State as in my part of Wake county. While the legislature was in session in Raleigh, six pair of twins were born in White Oak township, and one woman gave birth to triplets. There is no race suicide or possibility of it in White Oak township. The need is to keep our own boys at home rather than to import other people. Let us invite all to come who desire to do so, but we had better be looking out to hit upon the best methods for keeping our boys at home. We raise plenty of children—the trouble is that their homes and in other States."

Mr. Upchurch is a fair type of the North Carolina hostility to race suicide. He has raised six grown sons and a grown daughter, and, as he says, is now growing a second crop, having three children by his second marriage. If every citizen had done so much for his country as Mr. Upchurch there would be no need to preach immigration. We would raise all our own immigrants and have plenty to spare.—Raleigh News and Observer.

FRIDAY, APR. 19th, 1907

Who says Greenville is not coming? We have been telling you to watch her grow,

Mark this prediction: In ten years Greenville will have 10-000 population.

One prognosticator says the apple crop has escaped the freeze.
We are glad there will be something to eat left.

If the people only had as much interest in good roads as in some other improvements, what a great county Pitt would be.

With the other things going on and in contemplation around Greenville, we only need the Eastern training school to make the town grow by leaps.

When the committee from the Chamber of Commerce calls on you for help let the help be forthcoming. There is much work to be done between now and the holding of the bond elections.

When the matter is looked at
in its true light, we do not see how any voter in the county can be opposed to issuing bonds to secure the Eastern training school.

ing.

If every tobacco grower in the county could have been present Thursday and seen the expressions of pleasure on the faces of the stockholders of the Farmers' Consolidated Tobacco Company, as their dividend checks were handed out, it strikes us that it would have made every one of them wish he was a member of the company. In four years that this company has been in operation its dividends have aggregated 97 per cent. It strikes us as being a fine business the earnings of which lack only 3 per cent. of paying for itself in four years.
The man wants the earth who would wish for anything better.
The only wonder about it is that every tobacco farmer does not try to get in the company and sell his crop through it. Those who stand aloof from it through prejudice are simply cutting themselves out of the benefits of a good profit paying business.

The advertising merchant is these days of push and enterprise.

There are more newspaper read-history of the world. The newspaper places your business under the eyes of the buyer. He sees what he wants, and, knowing where to find it, looks up the wide-awake merchant who asked him to come and see him. Success in these days of sharp competition calls for eternal vigilance. You can't keep a hust-

Sheets In Scotland.
The custom of sleeping in one large sheet, doubled at the foot, seems to have been peculiar to Scotland and to have made special impression on more than one English traveler. Fynes Morison, writing in 1598, says, "They used but one sheet, open at the sides and top, but closed at the feet and so doubled," and John Ray, the naturalist, who visited Scotland about 1663, remarked that "it is the manner in some places there to lay on but one sheet as large as two, turned up from the feet upward." The practice, I imagine, was continued until recent times, and I have when a boy slept in a sheet of the kind. Such pieces of linen were termed "sheets," par excellence, the single coverings which are now used being called "half sheets."—Scottish Antiquary.

Didn't Expect Him.
It seems to be the ambition of all young wives to look well when any one calls. A young bride heard a ring at the front door. The maid was out, and she rushed upstairs to arrange her toilet a little before admitting the caller. There was a moment of lightning work before the dressing table. Quicker than it takes to tell it a ribbon was fastened to her throat, a flower stabbed into her hair, a flash of powder on her face and she was at the door—
all smiles and blushes. The "gentleman" said he had the cheapest clotheslines that could be bought for the money!

NOTICE TO THE VOTERS OF PITT COUNTY.

Notice is hereby given to the voters of Pitt county that the board of county commissioners, at their meeting on the first Monday of April, 1907, it being the first day of said month, ordered that an election be held at the various voting places in said county on Tuesday, May 14th, 1907, for the purpose of taking the sense of the qualified voters of said county on the proposition to confer upon the board of county commissioners of said county the authority to issue and sell interest bearing coupon bonds, of said county, not to exceed the sum of fifty thousand dollars to run for thirty years and to bear interest at a rate not to exceed six per cent. The proceeds of the sale of said bonds to be used in aiding in erecting suitable buildings at some point in Pitt county for a training school for white teachers, and the excess, if any, of the fund arising from the sale of said bonds, after securing the location of said school in the county, to be used in the purchase of machinery for the use of the convicts in working the public roads and to aid building and repairing bridges in the county of Pitt.

A new registration of the voters has been ordered for said election, so that it may be definitely and accurately ascertained who are qualified voters at said election. The law authorizing said election requires those favoring the issuing of said bonds to vote a written or printed ballot with the words thereon, "for bonds" and those opposed to vote a written or printed ballot with the words thereon "against bonds." The registration books will open on Thursday, April 11th, 1907, and close at sunset on Saturday, May 4th, 1907. Only those who register can vote.

By order of the board of county commissioners of Pitt county.
This the 1st day of April 1907.

BERNINI'S FOUNTAINS.

The Way the Great Artist Helped to Beautify Rome.

In 1629 Bernini, the famous Italian architect, painter and sculptor, who was one of the architects of St. Peter's, turned his mind to another branch of ornament for Rome. Many of the most beautiful fountains had already been constructed. In the preceding century Cardinal Ippolito d'Este had made his famous garden at Tivoli, containing no less than 360. Many of these were on a very large and elaborate scale, and it seems very probable that these, which in Bernini's time were still in good preservation, may have inspired him to emulate their splendor. He certainly often visited Tivoli, as he was employed to report on some new waterworks constructed there, and there are the remains of one fountain which appears to have been added about this time and in which a seventeenth century portico is supported by columns similar to that which Bernini copied for his baldacchino. However this may be, in Rome Bernini may claim to be the creator of the monumental fountain, a feature so conspicuous in the city.

Who that loves Rome but will acknowledge a debt of gratitude to the man who set the Barcaccia or open boat at the foot of the Spanish steps, who reared the dripping Triton draining his conch shell on high on the piazza of the Barberini? Who will not thank him for his gift of the famous Trevi, with its splendid facade, its wild sea gods and plunging horses, its reckless prodigality of space and material, its wealth of spouting streams? For although erected many years after the death of Bernini, still the idea and the original plans are his, and Prince Doria possesses his sketch for the central group. At intervals all through the remainder of his life he found time to add to their number, and Rome owes to him no less than twelve of her fountains. They meet us in all parts of the city. In the Piazza Navona the little sea gods blow their horns around the Fountain of the Moor, and the colossal forms symbolical of the Four Rivers recline in sleepy grandeur. Others stand in the Vatican gardens, in the Villa Mattei, etc., and are all marked by the same fertile invention and largeness of conception.—Fortnightly Review.

How to Live Well.

Be courteous to all, but intimate with few, and let those few be well tried before you give them your confidence. The friendship is a plant of slow growth and must undergo and withstand the shocks of adversity before it is entitled to the appellation. Let your heart feel for the afflictions and distresses of every one, and let your hand give in proportion to your purse, remembering always the estimation of the widow's mite, that it is not every one that asketh that deserveth charity. All, however, are worthy of the inquiry, or the deserving may suffer. Do not conceive that fine clothes make fine men any more than fine feathers make fine birds. A plain, genteel dress is more admired and obtains more credit than lace and embroidery in the eyes of the judicious and sensible.—George Washington in a letter to his nephew, Bushrod Washnig, 1783, in Scrap Book.

CURIOSITY.

The Proper Sphere It is a Noble and Serviceable Quality.

Curiosity is a higher level curiosity than that which is a mere serviceable quality, without which no great thing can be done in science or literature. It was intellectual curiosity which sustained a man like Darwin in his long and patient labors. He was determined to find out the how of the universe, and he had all the instinct of a curious person for the gathering and arrangement of details. He was forever observing and tracing and detecting and overlooking.

Renan's biographer tells us that to the last he was still questioning the universe, still asking what was the meaning of things and how they came to pass. Without curiosity the scholar would lose half his interest and the thinker would fall by the way. It is this instinct which makes a man wish to get at the bottom of things. If it be the affairs of his neighbor, it is base; if it be the affairs of the world, it is great. When curiosity dies within a man achievement is hopeless and hope itself is dead.

Curiosity may be a valuable asset in the equipment of a professional man. Without it the parish clergyman never will have an intimate knowledge of the affairs of his people, for he never will take the trouble to learn them. What he is told he almost certainly will forget, while a touch of curiosity will store up every piece of information and watch every passing incident and catch hold of every suggestion in conversation.

By and by the history of every one, old and young, will be in the man's possession. Of course, if he be an ignoble man, then his knowledge will be intolerable; if he be a sympathetic man, it will be most valuable.

In the same way a physician or a lawyer will be greatly helped by a legitimate and regulated curiosity about his fellow creatures. And it must be said that if curiosity of one kind makes a man detestable curiosity of another kind makes him most popular.—Jan MacLaren (Rev. John Watson).

Snakes.

The popular idea that all snakes hiss is incorrect when anacondas are in question, if we may believe a close observer of the serpent family. The sound they make is more like a growl than a hiss and has been well described by a traveler as a "low, roaring noise." Their powers of deglutition are sufficiently wonderful to make exaggeration unnecessary, credible witnesses testifying to the fact that one has been known to swallow a horse, while bullocks are not infrequently attacked also. Few nonscientific readers, by the way, are aware that not only do the jaw hinges of the boa tribe become dislocated in the act of swallowing a large animal, subsequently resuming their proper position by means of the elastic connecting tendons, but that the skull bones separate centrally, so the whole constitutes a sort of quadrangular orifice with apparently indefinite powers of expansion.

The Tailor Bird.

Sewing seems so ingenious an art that it must be reserved for the human species alone. Yet the tailor bird, the Orthotomus longicauda, and other species possess the elements of it. They place their nests in a large leaf, which they prepare to this end. With their beaks they pierce two rows of holes along the two edges of the leaf. They then pass a stout thread from one side to the other alternately. With this leaf, at first flat, they form a horn, in which they weave their nest with cotton or hair. These labors of weaving and sewing are preceded by the spinning of the thread. The bird makes it itself by twisting in its beak spiders' webs, bits of cotton and the little ends of wool.

Where Rain Never Falls.

Peru has hundreds of square miles along its coast of rainless country. In this tract rain is never known to fall from one century's end to another. Yet the region is not entirely barren of vegetation. Some parts of it indeed are comparatively fertile. This is due to the extraordinary fogs known as "garuas." They prevail every night from May to October after a summer that is sultry and extend up to a level of 1,200 feet above the sea. Above 1,200 feet rain falls.

Two Dyspeptics

If you are too fat it is because your food turns to fat instead of muscle—strength. If you are too lean the fat producing foods that you eat are not properly digested and assimilated.

Lean, thin, stringy people do not have enough Pepsin in the stomach, while fat people have too much Pepsin and not enough Pancreatine.

Kodol Dyspepsia Cure

contains all the digestive juices that are found in a healthy stomach, and in exactly those proportions necessary to enable the stomach and digestive organs to digest and assimilate all foods that may be eaten. Kodol is not only a perfect digestant, but it is a reconstructive, tissue building tonic as well. Kodol cures Indigestion, Dyspepsia, Sour Stomach, Heartburn, Palpitation of the Heart and Constipation. You will like it.

Digests What You Eat
Rests the stomach, rebuilds the tissues and gives firm flesh.

Dollar bottle holds 3 1/2 times as much as the trial, or 50 cent size.

Heart Strength

Heart Strength, or Heart Weakness, means Nerve Strength, or Nerve Weakness—nothing more. Positively, not one weak heart in a hundred is, in itself, actually diseased. It is almost always a hidden tiny little nerve that really is all at fault. This obscure nerve—the Cardiac, or Heart Nerve—simply needs, and must have, more power, more stability, more controlling, more governing strength. Without that the Heart must continue to fail, and the stomach and kidneys also have these same controlling nerves.

This clearly explains why, as a medicine, Dr. Shoop's Restorative has in the past done so much for weak and ailing Hearts. Dr. Shoop first sought the cause of all this painful, palpitating, suffocating heart distress. Dr. Shoop's Restorative—this popular prescription—is alone directed to these weak and wasting nerve centers. It builds it strengthens; it offers real, genuine heart help.

If you would have strong Hearts, strong digestion, strengthen those nerves—re-establish them as needed, with

Dr. Shoop's Restorative

TO WHOM THIS MAY COME, GREENING.

I shall be making and placing "concrete curbing" in the cemetery for the next few days and I wish all those who are interested in having their grave lots neatly and carefully preserved and ornamented to come and see for themselves what it is and what it is worth. I am also prepared to place this curbing around the yards of the homes in town or country. I specially wish the people to come to the cemetery and see for themselves the work that I am doing. They will then see what they are missing every day.
