RESOLUTIONS AS WERE ADOPTED

By Winterville Council No. 37. J. O. U. A. M.

Whereas, it has pleased the Divine Councilor that the angel of death visit the home of our brother, Wilfred Buck, and take therefrom his loving daughter, Lala, be it resolved.

1st. That we bow in humble submission to the will of our Heavenly Father from whom no secrets are hid.

2nd. That we extend to the dear brother and family our sincere sympathy, assuring them that beyond this shadow there is a life eternal of which Jesus Himself is the light that shineth forever in glory.

3rd. That a copy of these resolutions be spread upon our minutes, a copy be sent the bereaved family and a copy be sent the Reflector for publication.

Bonuses Exceed Fifty Thousand Dollars

Special to Reflector.

Denver, Col. April 30.—After the annual meeting of the American Smelting and Refining Company today a large amount of bonus money will be distributed. In 1905 the company paid $50,000 in bonuses in this State. Last year the bonus fund for Colorado amounted to $50,000. This year it will be more, because the business of the company during the fiscal year has been tremendous. It is estimated that the net earnings will be close to $15,000,000.

Bryan At Waterville, Me.

Special to Reflector.

Waterville, Me. April 30.—The Democracy are in high glee in anticipation of the glad time they will have this afternoon in listening to the great orator, Williams J. Bryan. He will speak for Colby college in the Baptist church. His subject is "The Value of an Ideal".

AYDEN ITEMS.

Newsy Notes From a Hustling Town. Ayden, N. C. April 30th.

Saturday Winterville crossed bats with our boys and it was a game too even if Winterville did win by a score of 8 to 3. There was the best behavior and everything passed pleasantly, even that wagon load of pretty girls who passed our office cheering their victors. Come again, we'll beat next time.

Mrs. H. E. Ellis from the country has been visiting relatives here for several days.

The graded school closes Friday week. The address will be delivered by Prof. Carlyle, of Wake Forest.

Evangelist Hamlic will preach a sermon next Sunday at 4 o'clock for the Masons in the Disciple church. All are invited.

A. D. Johnston, of Winterville, was here yesterday.

The series of meetings which have been in progress since Tuesday night in the Disciple church still continues. The congregations are large and attentive. While there have been but few professions yet an unusual spirit is manifested. We sincerely hope much good may be derived from these meetings and many souls saved.

Gov. Jarvis and Hon. J. L. Fleming of Greenville, addressed our people Saturday on the bond issue. Already a very material change in the sentiment of the people is perceptible and it is even almost an admitted fact that a favorable vote will be polled in favor of the issue. Both Governor Jarvis and Mr. Fleming acquitted themselves in a manner most commendable and easily explained away many of the objections heretofore held by our people. Their coming has been an incalculable good to the cause, and the imprint of their presence and excellent speeches will not easily be forgotten by those so fortunate as to hear them.

Mr. Frank Lilly received a phone message Friday announcing the death of his brother-in-law, Mr. A. T. Jones, in Pamlico county.

W. J. Kittrell and Miss Lucy Kilpatrick, of Grifton, came up Friday evening to attend the meeting.

The Grand Duke Alexis William Edward Hooks a very highly esteemed friend of our's is at home on a visit from Wilson.

A. L. Edwards, of Kinston has been here during the week selling real estate.

The boys who attended the district meeting of the Pythian order at Newbern last week have returned and report a glorious time. They are jubilant over the treatment received at the hands of the Newbern people and especially the grand manner in which they were entertained by the brotherhood of that city. The banquet they say was just immense, there being at least 250 ladies present, and could not have cost less than $700. For gallantry, chivalric worth and true nobility of manhood the material of the Pythian fraternity cannot be excelled.

Those of our citizens who attended the Jamestown exposition gave a glowing account of the display and especially were they impressed with both the army and Naval exposition. The large boats were grand, lying two by two side by side the line extended more than two and one-half miles.

J. B. Pierce has come from New Bern while in Newbern he stopped at the best hotel.

AS VIEWED BY A TEACHER.

EDITOR REFLECTOR:

We have been much interested lately in the articles on the training school, but I think it is time some of the ladies in the county who are teaching were expressing themselves. I hope you will allow me the space, for I know we, as teachers, do realize more than any one else, the necessity of such a school, and if we were allowed the votes, Pitt county would be certain of it.

Having had experience both in the rural and graded schools of this county for a few years, I feel that I am in a position to know some of the hindrances to the progress of many public school children. Even the interested patron is not aware of them often and I believe my sister teachers will bear me out in saying that we are continually brought face to face with problems which have never occurred to the parents as problems at all. The graded school has solved one of these problems, so we see that a pupil there has a decided advantage over the one in the rural school.

We do feel proud of the five graded schools already in our county, but there are several hundred of the 6,000 children left who can't reach a graded school. Then a rural school must be established and patronized. But why, the country patron says, is it so much better for me to send my child to the graded school anyway? Simply because there you find a class system which continues from year to year, there is a definite outline of study, a clearly arranged plan of action, and a uniformity of method which is noticeably lacking in many of the rural schools.

In a graded school, teachers change of course, but new ones are shown that they must fall in line, as the thread is taken up and the work of the predecessor is continued. There is the principal who is always ready to advise and suggest, and he insists there must be concerted action.

But how do we often find it in the rural school? One teacher comes in and gets the children fairly launched into phonics and the wordy truths of Buehler's grammar and Maury's geography.

Next year another teacher holds sway, and the word method is combined with phonic and Buehler is discarded as too hard and Maury as too old. So it goes and no wonder the parents are heard to exclaim, "I suppose we'd better keep Miss So-and-So another year, even if she isn't such a good teacher. The children can go on without having to learn the ways of a new teacher."

Now is there no possible chance to make the "ways" of our teachers more nearly alike? How shall we get them all to be more uniform in their methods? Our summer school helps of course, but the work of a week or two will not suffice.

It is a question of training, and if a teacher has no normal training, no matter how many suggestions are given, or how much is gathered by reading, she has after all to depend upon her own native ability in imparting her knowledge to her pupils. She may have much of that ability, or she may have little, but let us always remember that she is faithful in using that little. How may her knowledge of the best work for her pupils be increased?

She enters a training school, and there finds herself and her fellow teachers imbibing the same ideas, and studying the same well defined plan for the training and enlightenment of their pupils. In other words, they see the entire school course as a whole, and they are taught how to lead their pupils by consecutive steps to the end of it.

Now, patrons, would you not rather have a teacher who is able to do this, rather than one who wanders from one book to another with no definite aim in view? Do you not see that your child's time is at stake as well as his mind? Then, for your child's sake do give him the best teacher possible. But we cannot be the best teachers unless you give us an opportunity.

Would you call in a doctor to dress a wound if he had never been taught how to handle his instruments? Would you venture inside a dentist's office if you were not sure he knew how to treat your aching tooth? The minister must have his theological training because he is to have the charge of precious souls. Do you not think the mind is closely enough allied to the soul to need a wise guide also?

Possibly you will say that your teacher has a thorough knowledge of the branches, which she is to teach, therefore she is wise enough. But I say that she has just gotten her tools ready, she needs normal training to teach her how to use these tools wisely. This normal training must be gotten somehow, if you would have the best teachers for your children.

Now I hear someone quoting to me the immortal Shakespeare "If to do were as easy as to know what were best to do, chapels had been churches and poor men's cottages princes' palaces." Of course the thing that is "best to do" is to send our teachers on to Greensboro, but have we not seen that is too far away for the mass of our teachers to reach it? What we would spend for a round trip ticket to Greensboro would pay our board for two months in a Pitt county training school.

Out of the 110 teachers in our county at present, less than 30 have had the means to take the normal training which Greensboro affords. But if the Greensboro normal had been in Greenville, more than three times 30 of those teachers would have taken advantage of it, and your schools would be reaping the benefit now.

Here lies your opportunity and ours. Surely you would not strangle the best help that can come to you and your county because you had rather shirk than do your part.

Remember, my friends, "Nothing great is lightly won, Nothing won is lost, Every good nobly done, Will repay the cost."

If you have any pride in your State, in your county, in your home, in your children, give them an opportunity to rise. It is for them that I appeal to you, give them a chance and they will rise up to call you blessed some day.

Another Woman Writes.

The excellent letter of Miss Olivia Cox, published elsewhere, shows how the teachers regard the movement to secure the Eastern training school. They are certainly in position to see and feel the need of such a school, and such expressions as these from Miss Cox, who is one of our best teachers, ought to have weight with every voter in the county and cause him to favor the bond issue to secure the school. We do not see how any man who will give it serious reflection can hesitate a moment on a matter that means so much to the county.

TUESDAY APRIL 30th 1907.

Greensboro is having the time of its life in the present municipal campaign.

Whoop it up, good people, and see that Pitt county gets the Eastern training school.

The war path will be changed to Greensboro this week with the Red Men of the State there.

Just think of the hello raised every day. There are over three millions telephones in use in the United States.

Marion Butler is getting at top of column again in his efforts to push President Roosevelt for a third term.

To vote against bonds to secure the Eastern training school, will show that you prefer ignorant neighbors to educated ones.

Governor Glenn expresses pleasure over the prospects of North Carolina's building and exhibit at the Jamestown exposition. The Old North State will have no cause to be ashamed of her showing there.

The Wilmington Star thinks that story of the North Carolina man buying (?) the bank building in Norfolk sounds fishy, and adds that money is too hard to prize off a North Carolinian for such a story to be true.

The Durham Herald puts it mighty near right in saying schools and good roads are the only direct benefits you receive from taxation. Pitt county folks should have this in mind and vote for bonds to secure the Eastern training school.

As President Roosevelt has already established his eligibility to membership in the Ananias club, he need not mind so much to back down from his positive declaration that under no circumstances would he be a candidate again.

This is the only chance Pitt county will ever have to get a training school. If we lose now it will be lost forever. And to lose it would check both the educational and material progress of the county, a condition that no man who has pride in his county should want to see.

The chief of the fire department of Raleigh has been dismissed for graft. He is charged with padding the pay roll, selling old apparatus without turning in the money and using city team for his personal benefit. The chief denies the charge and demands investigation.

A correspondent of the Charlotte Observer suggests that a Democrat be nominated as a running mate with Roosevelt on the presidential ticket so as to force Democrats to vote the ticket. In other words the correspondent wants the Democratic national convention to meet first and nominate Roosevelt for president and a tariff reform Democrat for vice-president, and then look to the Republican convention to endorse it. That is a great scheme, in the aforesaid correspondent's eye, but it is one he will not see carried out.

It's a pleasure to tell our readers about a Cough Cure like Dr. Shoop's. For years Dr. Shoop has fought against the use of opium, chloroform or other unsafe ingredients commonly found in cough remedies. Dr. Shoop, it seems has welcomed the Pure Food Drug Law recently enacted, for he has worked along similar lines for many years. Ducky's Excursion.

Miss Duck went out one sunny day To search for puddles in which to play (Whether she found them I can't say. I didn't follow her on her way.)

The Letter I.

The name of "I" is in Hebrew jod or jot, a hand, and the earliest characters representative of the sound closely resemble a hand with but three fingers. Little by little one finger after another dropped off until only the little finger was left, and the letter became the smallest in the alphabet, a jot or tittle—that is, the "I" and its dot being synonymous of the most insignificant things that could be described.

BUTTON MAD.

The Height of the Craze in the Time of Louis XIV.

The oldest buttons at present in the museums and among the collections are the gold buttons discovered at Mycenae at the time of the excavations undertaken by Dr. Schliemann and also those found in the tomb of Childeric I. The latter were exhibited at the Louvre in the Musée des Souverains. They are made of gold and of colored glass, imitating garnet. Buttons detached from copes and religious garments of the middle ages and of the renaissance have also been discovered.

But the richest things of the kind beyond a doubt are those that were worn by Louis XIV. M. Maze-Sencier in the "Register of Diamonds and Presents to the King," at present preserved in the ministry of foreign affairs, gives an official account of the buttons of that pompous sovereign. It is as follows:

"Feb. 3, 1685.—Montarcy presented to the king eighty diamond buttons, valued at 180,030 livres.

"May 7, 1685.—Made and delivered by Sieur Bosc six diamond buttons, 30,000 livres.

"July 26, 1685.—Handed over by Montarcy to the Marquis de Seignelay for the king seventy-five diamond buttons, 586,703 livres.

"Aug. 1, 1685.—Two diamond buttons, 67,866 livres.

"Aug. 16, 1685.—Three diamond buttons, 69,660 livres.

"Dec. 20, 1685.—Four diamond buttons, 83,775 livres."

Another item in the same year:

"July 26, 1685.—Furnished by Montarcy for the king's vest, forty-eight gold buttons, each set with a diamond, and ninety-six clasps, forty-eight of which were composed of five diamonds each and forty-eight of one diamond each, 185,123 livres.

"Also 384 clasps for the doublet of the king, 162 of which were formed of five diamonds each and 162 of one diamond each, 1,006,345 livres.

"In addition there were seven ornamental clasps of three diamonds each, 201,270 livres.

"Sundry presents, thirty-three ornamental clasps, 574,366 livres."

That foots up a total of about 3,000,000 livres for the buttons of the "great king" for the single year 1685. The preceding year Louis XIV. received a lot of buttons that were valued at 1,071,000 livres. In these enumerations there is no mention of the diamonds for the shoes, the garters, the cuffs and the hats of the monarch.

We are obliged to admit, with our coats and overcoats garnished with miserable little cloth and bone affairs, we cut a poor figure in the fancy button business compared to the dudes of the days of Louis XIV.—Paris Figaro.

Where Brides Are Hungry.

How would a bride in this country care to fast on her wedding day until after the sacred ceremony, and this after enduring the hardships of a farewell party given the day before? Yet this is what a Russian girl is supposed to do. As the marriage, to be fashionable, should not occur until evening, it may easily be imagined in what an exhausted state she is to commence her new period of life. Besides bridesmaids, there are bridesmen, these latter being obliged to present the bridesmaids with sweetmeats. A personage follows the procession bearing an elegantly mounted picture of Christ in gold and silver, which is stationed against the altar. The bridesmaids do not all dress alike, and their number is unlimited.—London Answers.

His Way of Pairing.

A number of years ago at a small town in Maine an important local election was to take place, and there was strong rivalry between the Republicans and Democrats. Old Hiram Morse, the blacksmith, was a strong Democrat, but many of the farmers were Republicans. On the morning of the election a farmer came to have his horse shod. The blacksmith said to him: "We're both busy. You're a Republican, and I'm a Democrat. Let's pair off. We'll neither of us vote, and it will amount to the same as if both went to the polls." This was agreed upon. After election it was found out that Morse had paired off with five Republican farmers.

Mean.

A lady was reproaching a bachelor friend for never having married when her husband, a little bored perhaps, said gruffly: "He says he could have cut me out and married you if he had wanted to." The lady started. "Indeed!" she cried. "Why didn't he do it, then?" "He says he owed me a grudge," the husband explained, with a chuckle.

are caused by indigestion. If you eat a little too much, or if you are subject to attacks of indigestion, you have no doubt had shortness of breath, rapid heart beats, heartburn or palpitation of the heart.

Indigestion causes the stomach to expand—swell, and puff up against the heart. This crowds the heart and interferes with its action, and in the course of time the heart becomes diseased.

After eating, my food would distress me by making my heart palpitate and I would become very weak. Finally I got a bottle of Kodol and it gave me immediate relief. After using a few bottles I am cured. MRS. LORING NICHOLS, Penn Yan, N. Y.

I had stomach trouble and was in a bad state as I had heart trouble with it. I took Kodol Dyspepsia Cure for about four months and it cured me. D. KAUBLE, Nevada, O.

Indigestion

Stomach trouble is but a symptom of, and not in itself a true disease. We think of Dyspepsia, Heartburn, and Indigestion as real diseases, yet they are symptoms only of a certain specific Nerve sickness—nothing else.

It was this fact that first correctly led Dr. Shoop in the creation of that now very popular Stomach Remedy—Dr. Shoop's Restorative. Going direct to the stomach nerves, alone brought that success and favor to Dr. Shoop and his Restorative. Without that original and highly vital principle, no such lasting accomplishments were ever to be had.

For stomach distress, bloating, biliousness, bad breath and sallow complexion, try Dr. Shoop's Restorative—Tablets or Liquid—and see for yourself what it can and will do. We sell and cheerfully recommend.
