

JUDGE WEBB'S WAY.

He Would Not Try a Case Between Father and Son.

Fayetteville, N. C., May 2.—In a way that does great credit to his big heart and broad mind, Judge Webb disposed of a vexatious case in the Superior court yesterday. Pope against Pope, says the Observer, in reporting the disposition of the case, in one form or another, has occupied a place on the docket of Cumberland Superior court for many years, and if for a term or so it escapes the calendar, like the cat it is sure to "come back" later on. A brilliant array of counsel, drawn from both the Dunn and Fayetteville bars, appeared on both sides, and bright lights shone in the offices of the lawyers way into last night, where they were busy on Pope vs. Pope. A number of Fayetteville lawyers, it is said, reckon time and mark events in their experience at the bar from the time Pope vs. Pope first went on the docket. It may therefore be justly termed a casus celebre.

When the case was called this morning Judge Webb very soon discovered that it was a suit between father and sons. Then his Honor had a few words to say, and what he said was sensible and proper, if it was not technically legal. He said in substance that he had never tried a case between father and son, and never intended to that the parties should get together and settle their difficulties out of court; that they should shake hands and be friends, for life is short at best, and friendship between father and son is of more value than the land in dispute.

"I had rather pay part of the amount myself than have the case tried," concluded the big hearted judge. Immediately there was a consultation between clients and counsel, all matters of difference were compromised and the costs divided between them, and thus ended Pope vs. Pope.

Hog Kills a Flock of Sheep.

At Mr. R. S. Sherrill's farm, three miles east of town, during Wednesday night and yesterday morning, a large Poland China stock hog viciously attacked a flock of sheep in the pasture and killed five lambs and 12 grown sheep. Only one of the flock, a lamb which was in a far end of the pasture, escaped. The deadly work of the animal was not discovered until yesterday morning, when Mr. Sherrill who lives in town, drove to the farm to see his flocks and give the negro tenants on the place instructions about the farm work. A number of the sheep attacked near the barn were hardly dead when Mr. Sherrill discovered them and drove the hog away.

The hog had grown up in the pasture with the sheep and had never shown any signs of viciousness until Wednesday. Statesville Landmark.

Those who attend these commencement exercises will find them very interesting.

Superintendent Resigned.

Mr. J. A. Dunlap, who for two years has been superintendent of the water and light plants here and who has been connected with them since they were installed, has tendered his resignation, in order that he might accept a position offered him at his home town in Virginia. Under the circumstances the water and light commission accepted his resignation, expressing regret at so doing. In this regret the commissioners express the sentiment of the entire town, for all are sorry that Mr. Dunlap and his excellent wife are to leave us. They have made a host of friends during their residence in Greenville.

Immigration Past and Present.

Between 1820 and 1907 immigrants to the number of 24,032,718 came into this country.

Our early and original immigration of Anglo-Saxons numbered about 300,000, and that 300,000 who began to arrive on April 26 three hundred years ago are represented today by about 40,000,000 of people active in every American duty and industry. To 40,000,000 of American of Anglo-Saxon descent should be added 10,000,000 of Africans, leaving about 30,000,000 of persons out of 8,000,000, to represent the tide of immigration.

About two centuries elapsed between the early and the late immigration, and in these two centuries comparatively few sought these shores. We have no gold fields then, no booms of any sort, and the man who desired to find a new home went elsewhere. But in 1820, certainly in 1840, a new movement sprung up, and that movement is going on at the present time at an unprecedented rate. Fully one million persons are now arriving yearly, and the figures for the present decade will far outrun all previous records.

The arrivals at present are largely Hung, Italians and Russians, but they are thrifty and industrious, and they will be a readily assimilated as other peoples in the vast number of past decades have been. The South would be getting a fair share of the present enormous tide if the bill devised by the New England spinners and fathered by Senator Lodge had not been passed. Under its restrictions not much can be accomplished, but possibly the South can by acting unitedly secure a modification in the next Congress. Birmingham Age-Herald.

LOVE'S CONSTANCY.

Written for The Reflector by Mrs. W. G. Williams:

If I were a little raindrop
And you did pass my way
I'd fall upon your cheek
And there I'd be content to stay.

If I were a crimson rose
I'd nod my love to you,
And let you pluck me for your own
To rest on thy breast so true.

If I were one bright star
I'd watch o'er thee from above
To guide thee in the right,
And teach thee faith and love.

If I were only—what I am
And you were lone and poor,
I'd give to thee my all, my love,
And trust thee evermore.

WHICHARD ITEMS.

Whichard, N. C. May, 6th.

We are glad to say that J. H. Woolard, Sr., who had the misfortune of losing one of his arms in his saw mill a short while ago, is improving very fast.

The convicts came in last Friday to put a dam across Briery swamp.

A crowd from here attended the closing exercise of the Robersonville graded school last week.

W. S. Williams, of Pactolus, was with us Sunday visiting friends.

W. R. Whichard came in from Norfolk last night to be with his family.

C. O. Moore spent Sunday afternoon in Oakley.

Miss Ida Mooring spent Sunday afternoon with her sister, Mrs. R. O. Congleton.

Building and Loan.

A new series of stock, the third, of The Home Building and Loan Association was opened Saturday and started off with nearly one hundred shares, bringing the total number above thirteen hundred. The annual meeting of the stockholders of the association will be held in the mayor's office Tuesday night at 8 o'clock when the report of the year's work will be read and directors for the next year elected. A majority of the stock must be represented at this meeting in order to transact business, and all should come out and learn what the association has accomplished.

B. & L. Annual Meeting.

The first annual meeting of the stockholders of The Home Building & Loan Association will be held at 8 o'clock tomorrow night in the mayor's office. As the report of the year's work is to be presented, and directors for the coming year elected, it is important that the stockholders attend the meeting.

Early Oats.

Saturday afternoon Mr. J. H. Corey brought to the Reflector office a bunch of 90 day oats that were nicely headed. He says he had some headed by the first of May. This is unusually early for them to be headed.

Tank Explosion Does Damage.

Special to Reflector.

New York, May 6.—The explosion of a tank today in the house of August Belmont, in this city, caused much damage and killed one man.

Weather.

Rain tonight and Tuesday.

The King's Daughter will meet tomorrow night at 8 o'clock at the residence of Mrs. A. L. Blow.

Reflections of a Bachelor.

Tact is calling a woman's red hair burnished gold and be sure she hears you.

When a girl pretends she doesn't like candy it's a sign she is trying to grow thin.

The trouble with kissing a girl under an umbrella is she screams if it drops down her neck.

Most people over inherited money than if they earned it.

A woman is hardly ever happily married unless her husband will tell her he doesn't believe anybody else could dress as well on so little money.

After a man has had his engagement broken off he can afford even an automobile.

It makes a woman awful ashamed to have you see above her shoe tops if they are shabby looking.

When a man is making all sorts of faces at himself in a mirror he usually isn't crazy, only shaving.

A girl's idea of being bold is to forget to look daggers at a man who gives her his seat in a street car.

Women are mighty smart to be able to wear their clothes so as to make a man guess whether they are dressed or not.

Cradle Roll Day.

The Memorial Baptist Sunday school observed cradle roll day Sunday morning that is the babies whose names are on the cradle roll of the school were brought out that morning. It was a red letter day for the school, the attendance reaching 198. The babies were there—big babies and little babies, fat babies and not so fat babies, boy babies and girl babies, pretty babies but not a single ugly baby (Supervisor Roun tee is referred to as proof of this) —and the group made a pretty scene.

Not Crowded Out.

The old reporter gazed rapidly into the infinite abyss of heaven, where innumerable worlds swung in their appointed orbits.

"Wonderful!" he murmured. "You have a poetic soul," said the fair maiden at his side. "Of what do you think when you gaze at the myriad celestial lights?"

"The miracle," he answered, "that not a single one of 'em is crowded out by lack of space." He sighed profoundly.—Cleveland Leader.

Wish We Could Go.

The editor's mouth waters sometimes over visions of good things he cannot enjoy. A letter signed by the committee of managers, among whom is Dr. P. B. Lofton, who once lived in Pitt, reads in part "You are respectfully requested to attend a basket picnic and fish fry at Village landing, near Fort Barnwell, May 24th. Lay aside your troubles and cares for one day and come join us on the banks of the historic Neuse river. You can watch from the refreshing shade on the banks of the river a fine swimming contest, and after dinner can witness a game of baseball between two first class teams." And don't we wish we could. But these "troubles and cares" are so hard to lay aside even for a short time. All the same we return thanks for the invitation.

The Railroad Hustling.

Since the trestle across the mill run near Mr. L. C. Arthur's has been completed, track laying on the Norfolk & Southern railroad has been carried over it and is being pushed on rapidly toward Chocowinity. Officials of the road were here a few days ago and say they want trains to be running from Greenville to Norfolk by the middle of June. Work has also started on the depot here. The platform for the freight warehouse is up and several car loads of material for the passenger depot have arrived. The depot will be a handsome brick structure.

MONDAY MAY 6th 1907.

BEWARE HOW YOU VOTE.

If the bond issue to secure the Eastern training school is defeated in the election on the 14th, it will be the worst day's work Pitt county has ever done. It will be a blow to the educational and material progress of the county that will require years to overcome.

To lose this training school will check the educational progress of the county that in the last few years has become the pride of our citizens and given Pitt county the reputation of pressing to the front intellectually and financially.

If every voter in Pitt county could witness such a school closing as took place at Quinerly school, Friday night, he would see the advantage coming from having trained teachers in charge of the schools, and be ready to vote for bonds to secure the Eastern training school.

At the rate immigrants are arriving in this country it looks like it would not take many years to depopulate European countries.

RANDOM REFLECTIONS.

By a Contributor.

No one has suggested that Mr. Foraker nominate Mr. Roosevelt.

It must be admitted that Mr. Taft has a handicap in having to carry son-in-law Nick.

Is secretary Leob's burden more than he can bear? He is looking for another job.

President Roosevelt's Jamestown speech was a surprise because there was nothing surprising in it.

Reporters are kept away from the white house in the evening. Maybe the president is taking lessons in bridge.

Mr. Bryan apparently has the Democracy so well tamed that it doesn't shy perceptibly even at the initiative and referendum.

John L. Sullivan must have a good pair of eyes. He has discovered the shape of Gov. Hughes' chin through his whiskers.

After Mayor McClellan and Tammany get through burying the hatchet, they will no doubt try to bury a few of their political enemies.

It is announced that the president will take a vacation between June 19 and Sept. 30. Candidates for the Ananias club are asked to postpone their efforts to get in until the latter date.

The governors of North Carolina and South Carolina met at Jamestown, and as they are both prohibitionists, nothing happened. Ever since Kentucky caught the prohibition fever, things like this have been happening all around.

Obedience.

The famous Field family, Cyrus and his brothers and sisters, were brought up to obey. The father was a clergyman with $800 a year for nine children, and frugality and right living were absolutely necessary. Once a useful rat trap was missing. The father gave orders that when it was found it should be brought directly to him. A few days afterward during service, when the sermon was in full swing, there was a clattering up the aisle. It was two of the Field boys, carrying the lost rat trap. They gravely set it down before the pulpit. One of them said simply, "Father, here's your rat trap." Then they turned and went out.

How He Looked.

An old woman was being questioned by a lawyer as to how a testator had looked when he made a remark to her about some relatives. "How can I remember? He's been dead two years," she answered testily.

"Is your memory so poor that you can't remember two years back?" he persisted.

The old woman was silent, and the lawyer asked, "Did he look anything like me?"

"Seems to me he did have the same sort of vacant look," responded the witness.

The lawyer had no further questions to ask her.

THIEVES' SLANG.

The Traveling Irish Tinkers and the Romany Rye.

The origin of the thieves' slang or cant? Well, I guess that's a thing that's buried in the mists of antiquity, as the scholars say. But I once read up on the subject, and they say the Irish are responsible—at least for its introduction into our language. There used to be men who traveled the roads of England known as Irish tinkers.

They were traveling machinists and did all sorts of repair work. They were a canny lot—sort of a labor union—they were the wisest men in England in their way. It was worth a man's life to break into their organization irregularly.

Along about 1530 the Romany Rye people—gypsies, they call them—came to England from the continent. They were wanderers like the tinkers, and naturally the two classes came together. The tinkers picked up a few words of the gypsy lingo.

The tinkers took to the jargon, added new words to it, and it became the language in a way of their class. Finally it drifted to the criminal element, and thus was born thieves' patter, flash, lingo, jargon or whatever you may call it.

The origin of many of the words is quite plain when one stops to study for a moment. Now, take the word "bull," which is used to distinguish a policeman in plain clothes. In the early days the roundsmen of London carried bullseye lanterns because of the unlighted condition of the streets. Roisterers could tell the approach of the roundsmen or constables by their lanterns. "Here comes a bullseye!" was the natural cry.

This was contracted to "bull," and the appellation still sticks. Take the word "toy," which thieves use as the slang term for a watch. Years ago only the very rich could afford a watch because of the expense, and those who could not own a watch and therefore did not realize their usefulness called them "toys," as the rich were not supposed to purchase anything useful.

The word "Bible," to distinguish a pocketbook, comes from the fact that the Bible is the most respected of all books, and as thieves respect a well filled pocketbook above all things they designate it as a "Bible." So it is with most of the words.

American thieves are constantly inventing new slang terms and abandoning old expressions. Many cant words have been adopted as good English. They often have a pat quality that appeals to the mind and by constant usage are coined into the language of the realm.—Chicago Tribune.

The Unattached Woman.

Nowhere else in the world is the woman who has chosen the single life so thoroughly her own mistress, so wholly the arbiter of her own destiny, so completely at liberty to create the atmosphere that shall make for her happiness as in New York. In Paris she is declassée—an object of social suspicion, because she has not openly annexed a bread winner. In London she becomes the mother by proxy of her sister's children or some distant relative's children. In the lesser cities of the United States, a writer in Woman believes, some of the old prejudice remains against the woman who has missed or declined matrimony. She is to a degree the superfluous woman and as such is tolerated or pitied, but never approved.—New York World.

Wasn't Delicate at All.

A young man not regarded as a very desirable suitor had called upon a young lady a number of times, each time to be told by the maid that "Miss Florence is not well today."

One day in response to his card the young lady's mother, who was a recent accession to the newly rich ranks and whose education was not as sure as it might be, appeared and explained once more to the young man that the daughter was not well.

"I am very sorry, indeed," said the young man as he rose to go, "that your daughter is so delicate." "Delicate?" sniffed the mother. "Florence delicate? Not at all. Why, she is the most indelicate girl you ever met."

His Scheme Worked All Right.

It is related that a certain man was recently very sad because his wife had gone out of town on a visit, which she would not shorten in spite of his appeals to her to come home. He finally hit upon a plan to induce her to return. He sent her a copy of each of the local papers with one item clipped out, and when she wrote to find out what it was he had clipped out he refused to tell her.

The scheme worked admirably. In less than a week she was home to find out what it was that had been going on that her husband didn't want her to know about.

are caused by indigestion. If you eat a little too much, or if you are subject to attacks of indigestion, you have no doubt had shortness of breath, rapid heart beats, heartburn or palpitation of the heart. Indigestion causes the stomach to expand—swell, and puff up against the heart. This crowds the heart and interferes with its action, and in the course of time the heart becomes diseased.

After eating, my food would distress me by making my heart palpitate and I would become very weak. Finally I got a bottle of Kodol and it gave me immediate relief. After using a few bottles I am cured. — MRS. LORING NICHOLS, Penn Yan, N. Y.

Indigestion

Stomach trouble is but a symptom of, and not in itself a true disease. We think of Dyspepsia, Heartburn, and indigestion as real diseases, yet they are symptoms only of a certain specific Nerve sickness—nothing else. It was this fact that first correctly led Dr. Shoop in the creation of that now very popular Stomach Remedy—Dr. Shoop's Restorative. Going direct to the stomach nerves, alone brought that success and favor to Dr. Shoop and his Restorative. Without that original and highly vital principle, no such lasting accomplishments were ever to be had. For stomach distress, bloating, biliousness, bad breath and sallow complexion, try Dr. Shoop's Restorative—Tablets or Liquid—and see for yourself what it can and will do. We sell and cheerfully recommend.

CONDENSED STORIES.

A Joke Tip to the Boss That Landed Him.

Chief of Police is not a gambling man, but he has been having once played a horse. It was years ago. This is the story: "I didn't know the horse from another, but I heard the men in the department talking about the money they had won. If they lost a bet they never mentioned it. One day during a meeting at the Roby track a 'copper' at Harrison told me he was going to put $5 on a 'good

"WHY DON'T YOU PLAY STAYAWAY." thing," as he called it. I said to him in a joke: "Why don't you play Stayaway? That's the best horse out there today."

"The meaning I wished to convey was that if he stayed away from the track he would be a winner. He was a dense sort of fellow and didn't catch the quiet sarcasm.

"So out he went to Roby and, remembering my tip to play 'Stayaway,' he looks at the card and sees a horse named Getaway in the third race. He was 8 to 1 for first place. The 'copper,' thinking he had got the names mixed, laid his $5 on Getaway, who came under the wire about a block ahead of the others.

"When he returned to the station he handed me a twenty dollar bill, with the remark: 'I played that horse you gave me, lieutenant, and won $40. This is your half of it.'"
—Chicago Tribune.

As He Put It.

Lillian Russell was dining at an Atlantic City hotel. She had run down in the morning from Philadelphia in her seventy horsepower car, breaking most of the records by the way.

During dinner Miss Russell told a story about a handsome actor. "A letter of his," she said, "was put in another man's box at a club one evening by mistake. The other man opened the letter, saw that it was a very angry note from a tailor demanding instant payment of a bill long overdue and in dismay sealed it up again neatly and put it in the box of its rightful owner.

"Well, the rightful owner entered the smoking room that night with the letter in his hand. He ran it through, glanced round complacently, gave his mustache a twirl and murmured: "Silly little girl."

Uncle Joe's Dance at Nassau.

"Speaker Cannon never felt so good as he did at the dance at Nassau on the way back from Panama," said John C. Eversman, secretary to Representative McKinley. "Nearly 200 people of both sexes and all ages gathered to join in the fun, but the speaker had more than anybody else. He arranged the partners, called the turns and ran up and down swinging his arms and having a high old time. He induced the orchestra to play the 'Arkansaw Traveler,' a favorite with him in the old days. He wound up by dancing the Virginia reel. Mr. Cannon is more than seventy now, but you would have thought had you seen him at that dance that he was in his twenties, for he was younger in spirit than any one else there."

SMALL FIRE.

Department Quickly Puts it Out.

About one thirty o'clock this afternoon there came near being a big fire in the row of frame buildings on Fifth street opposite the market house. The row of buildings is occupied by colored people and used as shoe shops, barber shops, restaurants, etc. One negro kept a clothes cleaning and pressing establishment in which he used a gasoline tank holding about five gallons. In some way he set this tank on fire and almost instantly there was a big blaze that found plenty of material to work on.

The alarm was given, and a crowd of people hurried in the direction of the dense smoke. A hose reel station and hydrant were right close to the fire, and the firemen had a stream on and the fire put out in a few minutes. It certainly was a fine place for a fire to spread, but the fire department was too quick for it.

The alarm came just as rain was falling in torrents and many of those who went to the fire got soaking wet.
