Marriage as we Make it.

Sometimes it would seem as if marriages that are not made for love hold better than those which are; since the mutual expectations are less, so also are the disappointments.

People must change; but if they cannot change together, if the love they had when they were young does not mellow into a habit of warm affection as they grow older, then at least let them consider first their obligations to one another and bring all the pity, all the forbearance, all the kindness possible to the contemplation of their compact before they break it.

If it were so worth while—worth anything—then is it worth nothing now? Is there not something to be built on a foundation that promised happiness?

Since people cannot in general be induced to think long before they enter the married state, they might at least be brought up to make the best of it afterward. Boys and girls might easily be educated more than they are now with the view of making them better husbands and wives, better housekeepers, better fathers and mothers, better comrades to one another. Then, if love struck them like a bolt from the blue, they would still be able to go about their business with some faint idea of what those businesses were going to be, and if they had made mistakes, to bear the consequence of those mistakes just as long as there was dignity in endurance—and perhaps a little longer—Caroline Duer in 'The Delineator' for June.

Some Candidates Next Year.

Though two terms has for a number of years been the rule for State officers—except governor, who is limited by the constitution to one term—some of the present officers who will have had two terms will, it appears, offer again next year. Treasurer Lacy will be a candidate for a third term and so will Auditor Dixon. Both of these gentlemen quit us. Secretary of State Grimes has made no public announcement of his purpose and Superintendent of Public Instruction Jones will not have had two terms by next year. Attorney General Gilmer is in wretched health and there is no likelihood of his being in the running. We are not advised of the plans of Mr. Varner, Commissioner of Labor and Printing, or of those of Corporation Commissioner Beddingfield, whose successor will be elected next year. For the governorship, Mr. W. W. Kitchen and Mr. Locke Craig are now candidates and with or without authority the candidacy of ex-Lieutenant Governor Doughton is announced. There will doubtless be a sufficient number of candidates for all the places to make the next convention interesting.—Charlotte Observer.

Warships Come to New York.

Special to Reflector. New York, May 15.—A portion of the fleet of battleships and armored cruisers recently in Hampton Roads, will arrive here today under command of Rear Admiral Evans. The first division of the fleet, which includes the Louisiana, New Jersey, Connecticut, Rhode Island, Virginia, Georgia, Main and Missouri, all new ships will all be here for ten days to give their crews liberty. They will then return to Hampton Roads and the second division succeed them in New York for ten days.

WINTERVILLE ITEMS.

Notes From our Hustling Neighbor. Winterville, N. C., May 15th.

Augustus Haddock and brother, of Georgetown, S. C., who have been visiting relatives here for several days, returned to their home this morning.

Miss Lela Roach is visiting Misses Lala and Kate Chapman. Prof. G. E. Lineberry filled Rev. J. E. Ayscue's pulpit at Greenville Sunday.

R. H. Hunsucker went to Greenville Tuesday.

W. H. S gave a rehearsal last night of the Friday night concert for the benefit of the citizens of the town and community. Rev. J. E. Ayscue, of Greenville will preach the annual sermon tonight in the auditorium. All are most cordially invited to hear him.

Miss Mabel Kittrell is visiting Miss Hattie Kittrell.

There were regular services at the Free Will Baptist church last Sunday.

The election passed off quietly yesterday.

Mrs. Croom, of Kinston, is visiting her son, Rudolph, here this week.

G. A. Kittrell, our hustling pony dealer, is expecting another shipment of three today.

H. B. Mumford, of Ayden, was visiting here Sunday evening.

The Exposition Not Completed.

Special to Reflector:

Jamestown, Va., May 15.—This was the day when the exposition was to be completed but it is far from that. There are those who say it won't be completed until July, and some even declare that it won't be complete at all. Certainly everything is an air of incompleteness that is very painful. The leading to the exposition of $400,000, the sum asked by the managers, by Thomas J. Fyan, has helped its progress to a marked degree, but there has been too much to be done, and its completeness still remains in the far distant vista. The managers, however, consider that they have made good progress and assure the public that the exposition is today in a good condition.

Southern Railway Cuts Office Force

Special to Reflector.

Atlanta Ga., May 15.—Today the Southern railway made a general cut of its office. It has not been announced whether this is done in accordance with the policy of economy or is simply the usual reduction that comes every spring preparatory to the lighter summer business departments throughout the Southern and western divisions, of which Atlanta is the headquarters, and the northern and eastern, of which Washington is the headquarters, will feel the effect of the reduction. Just how many men will be laid off or lose a share of wages, is not known, but the probability is that each office will lose from four to six men.

Farmville on the Main Line.

Upon the completion of the new R. R. which will give Farmville quick transportation, low freight rates a fast mail service, places Farmville before the business world and opportunities for development which has never before presented itself is now attracting attention from prospective investors from all sides. DR. KERR SAYS MARRY.

Tells Young Dentists Kind of Girls to Choose.

The Baltimore College of Dental Surgery, the oldest institution of its kind in existence, marked the close of another year of successful achievement by its sixty-eighth annual commencement last night at the Lyceum Theatre.

Of the 41 graduates there were in the class only 2 from Maryland, the others being from many States and a few from foreign countries, where the repute of the institution is also established.

Besides getting their diplomas and their prizes and the applause of many feminine hands as well as numerous bouquets from the same admirers, the 41 new doctors received some thoughtful advice from Rev. Dr. Robert P. Kerr, the pastor of Northminster Presbyterian church.

Among the other things he advised them to do was to get married. First he complimented the class upon its handsome appearance and after telling the young men that they had a good opportunity to make a success in life he gave them advice on matrimony.

"I advise you to attempt matrimony, I would not dare to give advice against it, nor to other married man would, for fear of the consequences that he might meet when he went home."

Dr. Kerr designated the following kinds of girls as those not to marry:

Girls who write novels.
Girls who spend all their money for theatre tickets and picture hats.

Girls who ride astride on horseback.

These are the kind of girls he told the young men to marry:

Girls who know how to keep house

Girls who know how to sew on buttons.

Girls who know how to darn socks.

Girls who will keep their husbands tidy, so that other ladies will want them.

Girls who love their mother, father, their home and their church.

Girls with true hearts who mean something else besides play.

Opera House Monday Night.

On Monday night May 20th the famous Bullock Family Comedy Co., will open a two night engagements, in the Masonic opera house. The company has been here before and gave satisfaction. The bill for Monday night will be a comedy sketch of half an hour followed by a strong line of singing and dancing specialties, closing with another farce comedy of about half an hour. The singing and dancing of the Bullock sisters, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Ried, Leo Greenwood, Baby Bertha, Guss Bullock and the 3-year-old Victor Bullock is well worth the price of admission. Seats on sale Saturday morning, May 18.

The New York Legislature Cannot Adjoin Today.

Special to Reflector.

Albany, N. Y., May 15.—The legislature had fixed today, May 15, as the day on which it would adjourn, but it cannot be done. Governor Hughes seems to have the upper hand, and won't, let the body adjourn until it has passed a public utility bill acceptable to public opinion, which has been sufficiently powerful to halt the Higgs' Kitchen cabinet in its work of opposing the governor of the State.

Commencing Friday, seventeenth, the library will be open from five to seven p. m.

BOND ELECTION.

Carried by a good Majority.

Pitt county voted Tuesday on the question of issuing $50,000 bonds for the purpose of securing the location of the Eastern training school in this county. Friends of the measure worked valiantly at the polls, and the result is a good majority in favor of the bonds.

A peculiar feature about this election is that the bonds had to receive a majority of all the registered voters of the county, those not voting at all counting the same as if they had voted against bonds. The unofficial returns that have come in from the several precincts show that considerably more than a majority of the registered voters of the county voted for bonds.

The official returns which will be canvassed by the board of county commissioners and declared, will show the registered vote in each township, the number of votes cast for bonds, the number of votes cast against bonds, and the number not voting. As soon as these official figures are given out The Reflector will publish them.

Today we can give only the unofficial returns, which are believed to be substantially correct, and are as follows:

Precinct.	Reg. Voters.	For Bonds.
Beaver Dam	107	61
Belvoir	93	31
Bethel	186	80
Carolina	209	33
Chicod	378	55
Contentnea No 1	427	197
Contentnea No 2	186	43
Falkland	186	68
Farmville	195	68
Greenville	733	650
Pactolus	106	70
Swift Creek	194	128
Total	3000	1680

We have not learned yet the number of votes against bonds and the number not voting in the different precincts, but will publish these as soon as the county commissioners declare the official returns.

"WAS NOT A DOG."

But a Lustful Brute in Human Form.

Hamlet, N. C., May 14.—Late yesterday afternoon J. M. Crowson, aged 45 years, attempted to outrage the six-year-old child of Mrs Will Henderson, and but for the screams of the child the fiend would have accomplished his purpose. The little girl is Mrs Crowson's niece. With her mother she was visiting at the Crowson home. Mrs. Crowson and Mrs. Henderson stepped out of the room and left Crowson with the child. In a short while them other heard the cry of her child, and ran to her rescue. Crowson exclaimed, "Give me a stick and I will kill the dog." "It was not a dog, but you," exclaimed the child; whereupon the brute fled and has not been apprehended.

The child is not seriously hurt. But for the appearance of its mother the probabilities are that the miscreant would have killed her or accomplished his purpose. Crowson is now, and has been for several years, a township constable for Mark's Creek township, Richmond county. Officers are now after him and the probabilities are he will be taken within a few hours. Sentiment is very much against him. Mr. Henderson says that he will kill him on sight and he has the courage to do what he says.—Raleigh News and Observer.

Trial of Mrs. Bradley.

Special to Reflector. Washington, May 15.—Mrs. Anna M. Bradley, the slayer of former Senator Brown, of Salt Lake, at the Raleigh Hotel last December, will be put on trial on the indictment for murder today. Her attorneys have been urging an early trial on account of the frail health of the prisoner.

A CLOSE CALL.

But They Were in Time to Vote. There was cheering around the court house square just before the polls closed Tuesday evening. Superior Court Clerk D. C. Moore spent the day in Bethel and Mr. J. J. Harrington in Stokes. Both were coming home on the evening train to vote. When the train was bulletined fifty minutes late there were fears among the friends of the two gentlemen that they would not get here in time to vote. Vehicles were sent to the depot so that no time would be lost after the train got here. The train pulled in at 6:45 and there was a race for the court house. In just five minutes their ballots were in the box and a shout went up from the crowd on the square.

WEDNESDAY MAY 15th 1907.

The ballots tell their own tale

When Pitt county makes up mind the thing is done.

Pitt county did herself proud in the vote for bonds Tuesday.

The next thing to interest Greenville voters is the town election for aldermen.

Cotton soaring so high in price at this time of year is not benefiting many farmers.

The prospective new comer had better be picking out a building lot in Greenville.

Settle the differences of opinion now and everybody join hands in pushing Pitt county to the front.

It is now up between the county and the State board of education for the Eastern training school.

Every man in Pitt county who voted for bonds Tuesday will ere long look back to it as the proudest vote of his life.

The fifth district combine is about to give the Greensboro Industrial News an attack of "brain storm."

The way Marion Butler and Spencer Adams are swapping compliments affords some amusement to the outsiders.

All honor to the men who worked so valiantly through the campaign for bonds. Pitt county owes them a debt of gratitude.

If Pitt county does some blowing now, it is because she has a right to. That vote for bonds to get the Eastern training school shows where our people stand.

Durham is trying to get ahead of Charlotte in reducing population. The difference is Charlotte has candidates for the penitentiary while Durham kills them.

Judge Adams says the Republican party in North Carolina will not be respectable until it gets rid of Marion Butler. Right so far, but the house cleaning will have to go further than that.

Not everybody in the county was in favor of the bonds. That was not expected. But those against the measure were so from a mistake of judgment and not because they desired to hinder the progress of the county. All will yet realize that carrying the bonds Tuesday was the best day's work the county has ever done.

Young men who get turned down by the girl they are stuck on shouldn't "throw themselves away." Think of it! Four girls jilted George Washington, but he turned around and married the belle of Virginia and became president of the greatest country on earth. Don't be less of a mollycoddle than the father of his country.—Wilmington Star.

It is a spectacle to see ex-Governor Russell criticizing Judge Purnell in a way that constitutes defence of Editor Josephus Daniels but here is one of the charges he makes against Judge Purnell:

"He issued a contempt ruling and adjudged a man guilty of contempt for criticizing his official conduct. This man was deprived of his liberty, made a prisoner for doing what any American citizen has a constitutional right to do, a right without which this government would degenerate into an out and out despotism.

It is delightful to see Russell man enough with Purnell to do Josephus Daniels justice. "Ajax was always brave but most when mad."—Greensboro Telegram.

NEW ARMY PISTOLS.

This new arm, which the United States army is preparing to adopt, is an automatic magazine pistol that neither looks like the revolver nor loads like it nor shoots like it. The cartridges, in packets of ten, are inserted in the stock. The firing recoil throws out the empty cartridge, a new one rising into place. Firing is automatic at pleasure. The soldier can thus discharge the 200 cartridges he carries almost without stopping. If the man who makes two blades of grass grow where but one grew before and the man who makes four incandescent electric lights burn where but one burned before are benefactors of their race, what shall be said of the man who makes it possible for the fighting man to kill ten men where before he could kill but six?—Chicago Inter Ocean.

Alvarado and the Yaquis.

The temptation of a gift of $10,000,000 from the Mexican Croesus, Pedro Alvarado of Parral, evidently proved too strong for the Mexican government to resist, and the great sum will, it appears from the words of the Mexican minister of war, be used in supporting an army for a war of extermination against the Yaquis. The minister says Diaz will accept the offer upon condition that all the officers of the command be selected from the Mexican army and that none but Mexicans be enlisted in the campaign, which is a wise precaution, though it does not meet exactly the ideas of Alvarado.—Boston Advertiser.

Checking Watches.

The other afternoon a man stopped at the checking room of a New York department store and checked his watch. "Lots of people do that nowadays," remarked the attendant. "Somehow the impression has got abroad that an unusually large number of crooks are condensing their special line of business in department stores just now. When one begins to take precautions against pickpockets the first thing he is out for is his watch. He is not to take chances on letting the hands of his possession guard themselves, but his watch is to be kept with him as he is through the streets."—Lock City.

It's a pleasure to tell our readers about a Cough Cure like Dr. Shoop's. For years Dr. Shoop has fought against the use of opium, chloroform or other unsafe ingredients commonly found in cough remedies. Dr. Shoop, it seems has welcomed the Pure Food Drug Law recently enacted, for he has worked along similar lines for many years. For nearly 20 years Dr. Shoop's Cough Cure containers have had a warning printed on them against opium and other narcotic poisons. He has thus made it possible for mothers to protect their children by simply insisting on having Dr. Shoop's Cough Cure. Sold by Dr. Shoop's Drug Store.

TOUGH OLD CANNON.

A good story is being told at the Mare Island navy yard concerning a San Francisco contractor, who bought all the old obsolete cannon which were sold at the local yard some time ago. The cannon were all of the smoothbore kind, and in order that they might be easily landed for shipment to the city all sorts of schemes were tried in an endeavor to break them with dynamite and blasting powder, but they were unsuccessful. An electric drill machine was even set up at the yard, and the cannon were drilled full of holes in order to weaken them for breaking open with wedges, but this was also unsuccessful. The cannon were then taken away, and the last heard of them they were corralled in the hills near Point Richmond, where an effort was being made to break them open with dynamite again. The cannon which proved to be so strong were among the armament of the war craft which sailed the seas in 1812. —San Francisco Chronicle.

Squaw at a Bank.

A full blood Indian squaw attired in the regulation costume of a well bred society woman in Indian life—brightly colored blanket and skirt with beaded leggings and moccasins, with the latest approved Cheyenne coiffure, which is the same they have been wearing the past hundred years—was recently seen to walk into the El Reno State bank and fill out a check in a full round hand, which she presented at the proper window and received her pin money, supposedly. The officials at the bank say it is a common occurrence, but to the average citizen it seemed a singular proceeding.—El Reno American.

When Ohio Failed.

In the midst of C. B. Galbreath's lecture on "Lafayette" the other night at the Young Men's Christian association he spent quite a little time on the incident of the princely sum of $140,000 which he brought with him to this country and gave to congress.

"When Lafayette returned to the United States about forty-two years later congress voted him $200,000 in return for the $140,000 which he gave to us in that time of great need. When the vote was taken every state in the Union voted for it with—let us mention it softly—the exception of Ohio." —Columbus Dispatch.

Modern Forestry.

One of the curiosities of modern forestry is the care of beautiful old shade trees. The amputation of diseased or dead limbs is as carefully performed to prevent further decay from the elements as in surgical operations on human beings. Decaying cavities are cleaned and filled with a preserving cement, as is done by the modern dentist. And the latest advance is to build a tin roof along the upper surface of wide spreading branches, where little hollows might hold dampness and promote decay. Some handsome patriarchs well deserve it.

The Deepest Gold Mine.

Australia now possesses the deepest gold mine in the world. The shafts at the New Chum railway at Bendigo, Victoria, have been sunk to a depth of over 4,300 feet, and the quartz there tapped has been sampled and crushed, with the result that a yield of gold equal to an ounce per ton has been obtained. The operations in the mine have been tested by government officials in view of the fact that never before in the world's history has gold been obtained from so low a depth as three quarters of a mile.

Great Britain's Foxhounds.

There are about 170 packs of foxhounds, consisting of about 6,000 couples, in England and Wales, and as the average number of days the hounds are out is about three per week the cost of the packs alone is at least £500,000 a year. This is taking no account of Ireland's twenty-six packs, with about 1,100 couples, and Scotland's eleven packs of 390 couples.

Uses of Earthquakes.

This is a paragraph from the composition of a cynical eastern school-boy: "The earthquake and fire in San Francisco, although first looked upon as a calamity, really did a great deal of good. It purified the city of the great curse of underground Chinatown and burned down thirty-nine churches.—San Francisco Argonaut.

A Curious Cave.

An immense natural cave of great beauty has been discovered underlying three of the principal streets of Constantine, Algeria. The interior is of dazzling white stone, worn by the forces of nature into all kinds of fantastic and beautiful forms. There are three ponds, the water being lukewarm and crowded with fish.

LEFT HANDED BARBERS.

What One of the Tonsorial Craft Has to Say About Them.

"Superstitious? I should say 'yes.' They won't admit it to any one except members of the craft, but barbers are the most superstitious people in the world."

The man in charge of the second chair at one of the large hotel shops stropped his razor and loquaciously continued:

"You see that new man down at the end chair? He just came to work here this morning, and he'll have a nice large can tied to his coat tonight. Why? Because he's left handed. If he remained here every barber in the shop would quit before the week was out.

"A left handed barber is a hoodoo to any shop, and there's no getting away from it. You may think that's only a prejudice that barbers have for left handed knights of the razor, but it's a well grounded superstition, as old as the trade itself.

"We'd be apt to have all kinds of hard luck if that fellow stayed here any length of time. I once worked in a New York shop where there was a left handed barber, and almost every day an accident would happen to some of the others. We told the proprietor where the trouble lay, but as he was not a barber he could not understand what difference it made whether a man shaved with his right or left hand.

"One day a runaway horse plunged through the plate glass window, and another day a mad dog ran into the shop, followed by a policeman, who killed the beast under the left handed man's chair. Without any apparent reason the hot water faucets would get cold as ice and the razors would refuse to work properly. Customers who for years had been in the habit of getting shaved three or four times a week stopped coming, and it was all due to that left handed barber. During all the while he was there not one of us won a bet on policy, although the porter used to dream some of the best numbers I ever saw. This fellow I speak of had red hair, and that, of course, made it worse. We finally induced the boss to fire him, and just as soon as he was gone things began to get good again.

"Now, this fellow on the end, who drifted in this morning, looks to be a pretty good barber, but just as soon as the boss saw him strop a razor with his left 'mitt' it was all off for Julius. In most shops before a new man is hired he is asked whether he is right or left handed.

"Left handed men who learn the trade get on to this after awhile, and then they switch to the right hand—that is, if they can make good with the right. I'm scared to death that somebody is going to get killed around here before 8 o'clock tonight, when his 'nibs' will take off his coat and take it away with him.

"Another superstition among barbers is that they don't want to shave the first customer that comes in on Monday morning. That's a sure sign of poor business all week for the unlucky barber. Of course somebody has got to shave the first man in, but you don't see the barbers rushing madly up to their chairs and beckoning to the customer. You'll see one of them go for a drink of water, another is too busy reading the sporting page to look up, and the others are all doing something that occupies their time. Whatever chair the customer climbs into the barber who runs it is hoodooed for the week.

"Another peculiarity about barbers is that one of the craft can tell a fellow tradesman by shaving him, although he may never have seen the man before. The way a barber lies in a chair when he is getting shaved and the way he unconsciously assists the man with the razor tip him off every time. He will turn his head from one side to the other in a different way than other men who are not barbers, and when the razor is on his neck he'll raise his chin in a way that cannot be counterfeited. I never missed out on calling the turn on a barber in my life."—Chicago Record-Herald.

Ugly and Knew It.

A gentleman once said to Lord North, "Pray, my lord, who is that extremely ugly woman sitting over there?"

"That's my youngest sister," said his lordship.

"Good gracious!" said the gentleman. "I don't mean her. I mean the next."

"That is my eldest sister," replied the nobleman.

"I protest!" cried the unhappy gentleman. "I don't mean her, but the third."

"That is my wife," said Lord North.

"The mischief!" ejaculated the poor fellow.

"You may well say that," said Lord North, "for she is ugly. But console yourself, my dear sir. We are the ugliest family in England."

are caused by Indigestion. If you eat a little too much, or if you are subject to attacks of Indigestion, you have no doubt had shortness of breath, rapid heart beats, heartburn or palpitation of the heart. Indigestion causes the stomach to expand—swell, and puff up against the heart. This crowds the heart and interferes with its action, and in the course of time the heart becomes diseased.

Kodol Dyspepsia Cure

digests what you eat, takes the strain off of the heart, and contributes nourishment, strength and health to every organ of the body. Cures Indigestion, Dyspepsia, Sour Stomach, Inflammation of the mucous membranes lining the Stomach and Digestive Tract, Nervous Dyspepsia and Catarrh of the Stomach.

After eating, my food would distress me by making my heart palpitate and I would become very weak. Finally I got a bottle of Kodol and it gave me immediate relief. After using a few bottles I am cured.

MRS. LORING NICHOLS, Penn Yan, N. Y.

I had stomach trouble and was in a bad state as I had heart trouble with it. I took Kodol Dyspepsia Cure for about four months and it cured me.

Indigestion

Stomach trouble is but a symptom of, and not in itself a true disease. We think of Dyspepsia, Heartburn, and Indigestion as real diseases, yet they are symptoms only of a certain specific Nerve sickness—nothing else.

It was this fact that first correctly led Dr. Shoop in the creation of that now very popular Stomach Remedy—Dr. Shoop's Restorative. Going direct to the stomach nerves, alone brought this success and favor to Dr. Shoop and his Restorative. Worth out that original and highly vital principle, no such lasting accomplishments were ever to be had. For stomach distress, bloating, biliousness, bad breath and sallow complexion, try Dr. Shoop's Restorative—Tablets or Liquid—and see for yourself what it can and will do. We sell and cheerfully recommend.

John Evans says he is going to get married, as he needs help on the farm.

We are having plenty of rain and the farmers are getting behind.

New Life on the Farm.

Public schools, telephones, good roads and rural free delivery of mail are four conveniences which now go to make life on the farm a great deal pleasanter than it was before they were put in reach of the rural population. Farmers, families are not now nearly so isolated as they were a few years ago when their only means of communication with each other and with the towns was over roads deep in mud in winter and disagreeable because of the dust in summer. Life on the farm now is not only bearable, but is made pleasant in sections where these conveniences have been provided. A farmer living miles from his postoffice to which formerly came a weekly or semiweekly mail can now have his letters and his daily newspaper delivered daily at his door. His wife and daughters can have intercourse at will without leaving the house with friends on other farms. Good schools are near enough for the children to attend without inconvenience. Good roads make driving a pleasure and minimize the labor of getting farm products to market.

As these four aids to comfort of farm life are extended in area that life will become more popular and there will be less of the migration from country to town, which has been so noticeable in the past. The rural districts will no longer be drained of their best people, seeking towns because of the greater comforts and conveniences of the latter. Life on the farm will become a different thing, and we look for the tide to turn and to see the town people seeking the quiet pleasures and independence of life on the farm.—Wilmington Messenger.
