

W. F. M. SOCIETY.

In Session at Jarvis Memorial Church.

A delightful service, attended by many home people and visitors, was held in Jarvis Memorial church, Wednesday evening, preliminary to the convention of the Woman's Foreign Missionary Society of the North Carolina Conference now in session here. In the absence of the pastor, Rev. M. T. Plyler, the devotional service was conducted by Rev. N. H. D. Wilson, a former pastor.

Mr. Wilson read a selection from John's gospel, 16th chapter, and made an earnest talk from the words of Christ "It is expedient for you that I go away, for if I go not away the Comforter will not come unto you." At the conclusion of his talk there was a moment of silent prayer for the presence and guidance of the Comforter during the convention, followed by brief petitions from several of the delegates.

After the benediction the executive committee of the society held a session, and while this was in progress the delegates spent the time mingling together and getting acquainted with each other and also with the people of the town who were present.

THURSDAY MORNING SESSION.
The first business session of the society began at 9:30 o'clock with the president, Mrs. R. A. Willis, in the chair.

This twenty ninth annual convention was organized by calling the roll of officers and enrolling the delegates. Officers present are:

- President, Mrs. R. A. Willis.
- Corresponding Secretary, Mrs. F. D. Swindell.
- Recording Secretary, Miss Blanche Fentress.
- Superintendent of Bright-Jewels, Mrs. L. M. Henderson.
- Mrs. J. Horn, secretary of Washington district, and Mrs. M. J. Simpson, secretary of Fayetteville district.

The delegation is not full, but more are expected today. After the bar of the convention was fixed the president made her address.

In this address the splendid work of the society in the past year was referred to, and duties were pointed out by which the work of carrying the gospel to foreign lands in the next year might be enlarged. The address was much enjoyed.

The rules were then read, followed by interesting reports from the district secretaries present.

Miss Dixon made a brief but interesting talk about the "Aunt Lucy Circle" and her department in the Christian Advocate. Several questions were asked by different delegates which were answered by the corresponding secretary.

Rev. N. H. D. Wilson, Mr. Wiley Brown, the convention pages Misses Sadie Exum and Mary Brown were formally introduced to the convention.

After benediction the meeting adjourned until 4 o'clock p. m.

CARD FROM MR. SALSBUARY.

Hassell, N. C., May 21, 1907. In last week's issue of the Williamston Enterprise I had to appear my explanation of the incident growing out of the proposed recommendation by the board of commissioners for the location of the Eastern training school. There also appeared in the same issue an editorial commenting on the same, in which the editor disclaims any desire to prolong the controversy, but expresses a wish to throw further light on the matter. I am heartily in accord with the editor in both these desires. It is further noted that I am charged with having been led to commit myself to the endorsement of Greenville as a location for the school before going to the meeting of the board, and also with having pledged the unanimous endorsement of the board for Greenville. While I was in Raleigh I told some of the people that I would do all I could to secure the school. At that time I never dreamed of such a thing as our board being asked to vote on any set of resolutions in regard to this school, and as for pledging a unanimous vote of our board, I say it is a willful and unnecessary falsehood and I denounce the author as a poltroon. R. H. Salsbury.

Industries in Southern Highland.

One phase of industrial activity which is to follow the utilization of the waterpowers of the Appalachian region will certainly be the establishment throughout the mountain regions of the Carolinas and Georgia and Alabama of manufacturing enterprises for the making of finer goods in cotton and in other lines of work. In that section every range of climate desired and every advantage for giving to workmen the best conditions of life for the skill will here be found. In some of the gorges of the high mountains there are ideal climatic conditions for the spinning and weaving of the highest grade of cotton goods. In this Piedmont or mountain section, with a bracing, invigorating climate, and on the higher mountains as cold as Canada's, there can be found conditions to meet the requirements from the climatic point of view of every class of people. With an abundance of electrical energy now becoming available, there must naturally develop the finest types of manufacturing, requiring the highest skilled labor, such as is found in the mountains of Switzerland and Northern Italy. --From Manufacturers' Record, May 9.

Gone West.

Two good citizens, Messrs. G. F. Evans and T. F. Christman, left this morning for San Diego, Cal., to be gone quite a while, and may possibly locate there. We regret to lose such men. Both of them have been West before, and after a bit a longing for old Pitt county may bring them back again.

C. for the purpose of electing town aldermen.

The Summerless Year 1816.

The April of 1907 will be long remembered. The leaves of oak trees in the forest were killed. The gum, poplar and smaller trees are still green. The only way in which the chronicler of remarkable spells of weather can get a hearing is now to talk about the summer of 1816. In the New England States it is said that corn, the main source of bread, did not mature. Garden vegetable refused to grow and seed were not made. There was snow or frost every month of the year. There are no records to show what the summer was here, but some old estate books show that corn sold the fall of that year at about fifty dollars a bushel. --Spartanburg cor, Charleston News and Courier.

Wednesday night several Russian Poles who had been brought here to work on the construction of the Norfolk & Southern railroad were arrested for breaking their contract. QUEER PEOPLE IN AFRICA.

Major Powell-Cotton has found a strange people in Africa. They spend the whole time on the water of Lake Albert Edward. Their homes are all built on floating platforms attached to long poles. The main village consists of thirty huts, while two others comprise a camp and seven respectively. Some of these huts are built around a square platform about twenty feet by ten feet. This is the common back yard and playground of the world of the children. Herds of all kinds—flamingoes, pelicans and marabou—fly around regardless of the presence of man, while groups of women, girls and children cluster on the edges of their floating homes. The people are healthy, well fed and good looking and rarely marry outside their own community, for they say a land woman would be useless and unhappy if compelled to live in their lake villages.

Development In Surgery.

Surgical grafting, still in its infancy, has extended with the development of antiseptic methods and now includes tissues of all kinds, parts of organs and even entire organs. Professor Garre cites the successful transplanting of pieces of skin as large as the palm of the hand, of the tip of a toe upon a maimed finger, of a fatty tumor to replace an amputated breast, of pieces of veins and arteries and of kidneys. Bone grafting has become of great importance. The thyroid gland of a woman was transplanted upon the spleen of her four-year-old idiot child, and the astonishing result was that nine months later the child was developing mentally and learning to walk and talk. Muscle, sinew, nerve and teeth grafting have failed.—New Orleans Times-Democrat.

The Assassin Got the Ticket.

A Russian journal tells the story of how the murderer of General Lunnitz, prefect of St. Petersburg, obtained admission to the semi-official party at which the deed was committed. After the crime all the guests were detained and their tickets were examined. There was one ticket the rightful holder of which was not present. It was no other than that of Premier Stolypin himself. The murder had been committed under cover of the invitation ticket of no less a personage than the prime minister. The premier had not been able to go, and his ticket fell into the hands of a member of the secret police named Nakolene. He resold it to the revolutionists for $16,000.

Wood Pulp Silk.

Natural silk is soon to be entirely replaced by wood pulp, as madder and indigo have been supplanted by artificial products, in the opinion of the German Association of Chemical Industry. A new Belgian silk, that of Dr. Thiele, is among the latest advances. In this a thread of forty filaments is substituted for that of eight or nine in natural silk, and the thread is less tubular, more pliant and of better covering power than artificial silks with fewer strands. This process, like some others, is adapted for making artificial horsehair.—New Orleans Times-Democrat.

"Squeezing" In the Chinese Army.

The pay of a private soldier in General Ma's army is about seven Mexican dollars a month. That general is supposed to have entirely done away with the "squeezing" of the soldiers' pay. In order to do so it was necessary to behead "three or five" officers. There is some doubt, though, asserts a recent writer in the Metropolitan Magazine, whether or no this evil is entirely done away with. One soldier was asked if he would fight if China got into trouble with the Russians. "What, risk my life for $1.50 a month?" he replied. Second day he took physical culture exercises. On the third day he could not stand the strain any longer and went down in the dining room and ordered the best meal on board the boat. While eating this meal he could see in his mind's eye a picture of a cell in the bastille in San Francisco. After finishing his meal he said to the waiter, "How much do I owe you?" "Nothing," replied the waiter. "Your meals were included in your ticket."

Saw His Finish.

Mrs. Brown awoke her husband in the dead of night with the startling information that she had just heard a burglar in the room below. "Now," she exclaimed excitedly, "he's lighting one of those cigars I gave you for your birthday. I heard him pick up the box and put it down again." Then John sat up and listened. By jove, Mary, you're right!" he answered. "He is! He's actually smoking one of those—er—er—those cigars." Then he nestled once more comfortably beneath the blankets. "Go to sleep again, Mary," he said complacently. "We'll find the poor wretch in the morning."

BUTTON MAD.

The Height of the Craze in the Time of Louis XIV.

The oldest buttons at present in the museums and among the collections are the gold buttons discovered at Mycenae at the time of the excavations undertaken by Dr. Schliemann and also those found in the tomb of Childeric I. The latter were exhibited at the Louvre in the Musée des Souverains. They are made of gold and of colored glass, imitating garnet. Buttons detached from copes and religious garments of the middle ages and of the renaissance have also been discovered.

But the richest things of the kind beyond a doubt are those that were worn by Louis XIV. M. Maze-Sencier in the "Register of Diamonds and Presents to the King," at present preserved in the ministry of foreign affairs, gives an official account of the buttons of that pompous sovereign. It is as follows:

"Feb. 3, 1685.—Montarcy presented to the king eighty diamond buttons, valued at 180,030 livres.

"May 7, 1685.—Made and delivered by Sieur Bose six diamond buttons, 30,000 livres.

"July 26, 1685.—Handed over by Montarcy to the Marquis de Seignelay for the king seventy-five diamond buttons, 586,703 livres.

"Aug. 1, 1685.—Two diamond buttons, 67,866 livres.

"Aug. 16, 1685.—Three diamond buttons, 69,660 livres.

"Dec. 20, 1685.—Four diamond buttons, 83,775 livres."

Another item in the same year:

"July 26, 1685.—Furnished by Montarcy for the king's vest, forty-eight gold buttons, each set with a diamond, and ninety-six clasps, forty-eight of which were composed of five diamonds each and forty-eight of one diamond each, 185,123 livres.

"Also 384 clasps for the doublet of the king, 162 of which were formed of five diamonds each and 162 of one diamond each, 1,006,344 livres.

"In addition there were seven ornamental clasps of three diamond each, 201,270 livres.

"Sundry presents, thirty-three ornamental clasps, 574,366 livres."

That foots up a total of about 3,000,000 livres for the buttons of the "great king" for the single year 1685. The preceding year Louis XIV. received a lot of buttons that were valued at 1,071,000 livres. In these enumerations there is no mention of the diamonds for the shoes, the garters, the cuffs and the hats of the monarch.

We are obliged to admit, with our coats and overcoats garnished with miserable little cloth and bone affairs, we cut a poor figure in the fancy button business compared to the dudes of the days of Louis XIV.—Paris Figaro.

Where Brides Are Hungry.

How would a bride in this country care to fast on her wedding day until after the sacred ceremony, and this after enduring the hardships of a farewell party given the day before? Yet this is what a Russian girl is supposed to do. As the marriage, to be fashionable, should not occur until evening, it may easily be imagined in what an exhausted state she is to commence her new period of life. Besides bridesmaids, there are bridesmen, these latter being obliged to present the bridesmaids with sweetmeats. A personage follows the procession bearing an elegantly mounted picture of Christ in gold and silver, which is stationed against the altar. The bridesmaids do not all dress alike, and their number is unlimited.—London Answers.

ROUND THE WORLD TRIP.

Many of us marked an epoch for ourselves when Jules Verne wrote "Round the World In Eighty Days." Perhaps it was not possible then to go around in eighty days. The book would have been less exciting to children if it had been possible, but at all events it was nearly possible, and many of us marked down the epoch. How many people could say offhand today, however, to what those eighty days have been reduced? A writer in the Daily Mail, F. A. McKenzie, tells us that the journey can now be done in forty days, and that in comfortable trains and ships, not by the desperate expedients of Jules Verne. We are told that the tickets cost only about $325 second class and $615 first class. The journey is reckoned in this way: London to Moscow, two and a half days; Moscow to Vladivostok, thirteen days; Vladivostok to Yokohama, two days; Yokohama to London via Vancouver, twenty-one and a half days; connections, one day. The Russians understand the art of comfortable railway traveling. Their carriages and buffets are models.—London Spectator.

are caused by indigestion. If you eat a little too much, or if you are subject to attacks of indigestion, you have no doubt had shortness of breath, rapid heart beats, heartburn or palpitation of the heart. Indigestion causes the stomach to expand—swell, and puff up against the heart. This crowds the heart and interferes with its action, and in the course of time the heart becomes diseased.

Rheumatism

I have found a tried and tested cure for Rheumatism! Not a remedy that will straighten the distorted limbs of chronic cripples, nor turn bony growths back to flesh again. That is impossible. But I can now surely kill the pains and paings of this deplorable disease.

In Germany—with a Chemist in the City of Darmstadt—I found the last ingredient with which Dr. Shoop's Rheumatic Remedy was made a perfected, dependable prescription. Without this last ingredient, I successfully treated many, many cases of Rheumatism; but now at last, it uniformly cures all curable cases of this heretofore much dreaded disease. Those sand-like granular wastes, found in Rheumatic Blood, seem to dissolve and pass away under the action of this remedy as freely as does sugar when added to pure water. And then, when dissolved, these poisonous wastes freely pass from the system, and the cause of Rheumatism is gone forever. There is now no real need—no actual excuse to suffer longer without help. The State Board of Education is charged by law with selecting and determining this site, and that Board has said that they will not consider a site that contains less than twenty-five (25) acres.

The undersigned committee, therefore beg all persons having a suitable site, to submit to this committee sealed proposals for a site of not less than 25 acres, to be made upon blanks which anyone can obtain for that purpose by applying to A. L. Blow Secretary Committee. It is hoped that those offering sites will exercise all possible liberality in the location, price, etc., and they are requested to give a general description of the site in filling up the blanks.

The bids or offers for site should be handed to A. L. Blow Secty before 6:00 p. m. on Friday the 24th, instant. After the bids are in the persons making them will be expected to put their offers in legal forms by giving to the State Board of Education an option on such site conditioned in accordance with the offer, and also, upon the location of the school by State Board on site so offered. Any person or persons may make any number of different propositions, provided the site offered contained not less than twenty five acres.

This committee wishes to emphasize the fact that the acceptance or rejection of any proposed site, rests solely with the State Board of Education, and all sites offered of twenty five acres or more will be submitted to them, and that this committee is simply taking this action for the purpose of getting the matter in proper shape for the consideration of the State Board of Education.

J. L. Wooten,

FOUR MONTHS SCHOOL.

County Superintendents Instructed to Prepare Their Estimates for Guidance of County Commissioners.

State Superintendent of Public Instruction J. Y. Joyner is issuing to the county superintendents and the county boards of education instructions that they estimate carefully the amount of money that will be needed for the next year for running at least one school in every school district in the county four months, and then to present this statement to the county commissioners at the July meeting for a formal demand that this amount be included in the annual tax assessment for the county.

Mr. Joyner directs attention to the fact that in 1885 the supreme court of the State held that this could not be done because such an expense was not really a "necessary expense" of the county. However, the State superintendent takes the position that conditions have so changed that this is a necessary expense, and he has assurances that the supreme court of the State would now so rule if the question were presented to that tribunal.
