FILES A PETITION.

N. & S. Asks Exemption for Pamlico Division.

The Norfolk and Southern Railway Company has filed with the Corporation Commission the maps showing the lines of road that it asked some time ago be exempted by the Commission from the operation of the new rate law as "new lines," as reported several days ago.

In its petition asking a reconsideration and revision of the decision as to the Pamlico Division of the system, the railroad sets forth:

1. That the Pamlico Division will when constructed have a total mileage of 116.3 miles, of which 43.5 is entirely new construction and the remaining 72.8 miles is composed of what may be designated as the Washington branch (43 miles) and the Belhaven branch (29.8 miles) which is really new construction.

It is pointed out further in the petition that the Washington branch extends from Washington to Mackey's Ferry, and was originally merely a logging line from Washington to Plymouth that was extended by the company to Mackey's Ferry last year, and the Belhaven branch extends from Belhaven to Mackey's Ferry.

The Washington and Belhaven branches, since their acquisition by the railroad, have been and are being made new, being thoroughly reconstructed by correction of curvatures, strengthening of roadbed, etc. Everything on both of these branches is practically new except the roadbeds.

It is further stated in the petition that to operate the Pamlico branch successfully, it is necessary to establish a line from Washington to New Bern (35.1 miles) that is now in course of construction; that owing to recent construction and conversion of a logging line to the passenger service the travel on the Pamlico division is very light and unprofitable that it should all be considered as newly constructed road and that it is desirable both for railroad and people that there be established upon it a uniform passenger rate.

The Commission is considering the application in the light of the provision of the passenger rate bill putting it in their discretion to exempt from the operation of law certain roads constructed or in process of construction after January first last. --Raleigh News & Observer.

Every One Deserves a Job.

The Orange County Observer places in nomination for the office of State Commissioner of Labor and Printing, the names of every Democratic editor and publisher in North Carolina. They have fought a good fight, have kept the faith, and it is very amusing to see how some of them are scrambling for a front seat at the pie counter, and they are already dreaming of what a good time they will have when they go to Raleigh to live, and join the Capital Club, board at Giersch's, take ice cream with Dughi, and trade occasionally with Plummer Batchelor on the north side of the market. --Orange County Observer.

When a man has a partner in crime he doesn't know how soon the party of the second part will be helping the State to dissolve the copartnership. Be good and you will have no fear of State's evidence. --Wilmington Star.

TOO MUCH GRIP.

Punished for Shaking Hands Too Hard.

Greenville has a citizen who is known to possess a strong grip, and in times past he took pleasure in making people wince when he would shake hands with them. Once he met a farmer friend on the street, and as they shook hands he gripped down heavily. The farmer was so pained for the moment that he snatched his hand away and smote the man on the cheek with a ringing slap. Apologies were exchanged and the incident closed.

This is recalled to mind by reading in Friday's papers of an almost similar occurrence in Goldsboro, except that the conclusion was different. The news item tells that Mr. A. Roscover, editor of the Goldsboro Headlight, is also a man of iron grip and makes a practice of shutting down hard when shaking hands with people so as to note their discomfiture under the squeeze. A merchant who had been one of his victims warned him not to repeat the act. Mr. Roscover did not heed the warning, but the next time he met the merchant extended his hand for a shake. They clasped hands, the usual iron squeeze followed, when the merchant instantly pulled back and began pounding the editor's head and face, bringing the blood freely.

Storm Friday Evening.

People coming in on Friday evening train say a terrific wind and hail storm struck the vicinity of Parmele between 5 and 6 o'clock. The storm played such havoc with telegraph wires that communication here was interrupted until about midday today.

Telegraphers.

San Francisco, June 21. --The Western Union and Postal operators in San Francisco struck at 3:30 p. m. The order to strike was issued after the Western Union officials declined to arbitrate the grievances complained of.

This strike is purely local and will not affect eastern offices. President Small, of the Commercial Telegraphers' Union, has seen the statement issued yesterday by President Clowry, of the Western Union Telegraph Company, but says that it will make no difference so far as the situation in San Francisco is concerned.

President Small said that the settlement made in the east was unsatisfactory, but the situation in San Francisco would be dealt with first. The 25 per cent increase demanded for San Francisco operators would have to be granted as, in his opinion, the cost of living here is greater than in any other portions of the United States.

DR. DIXON THE JOKER

□ The Merriest Soul of the Board.

State Auditor B. F. Dixon is the joker of the State Board of Education. He loves a joke any time, any where, and when the opportunity offers he lets it come. He came to Greenville ahead of the other members of the board, and while "running on" with a party of friends in Superintendent Ragsdale's office, Friday morning, got off this one:

"You folks look just like you are after something. Let me tell you: In Rocky Mount they offered me a town lot to vote to locate the school there. Tarboro raised it, and offered me ten acres and a mule to vote for that town. It looked too much like graft to accept either proposition, so instead of giving you a chance to tempt me I am going to submit my own proposition. If you will change the name of Dickinson avenue to Dixon avenue, and pave it, I will vote for Greenville."

He was promised that the change of name and paving shall both be done.

Another thing said by Dr. Dixon was not intended as a joke, but was expressed in such fine vein of humor that we are going to tell it. The board was just finishing inspecting the last of the sites offered for the school here, when the jovial doctor remarked: "Before I saw Greenville as I have viewed it today, if some man had told me that this town was on such a high elevation, and had so many splendid hills and beautiful bluffs surrounding it, and that man had been smaller than myself, I would have called him a liar. If he had been the larger man, I would have kept my mouth shut until I got home and then told my wife that a man had told me a big lie."

THE EASTERN TRAINING SCHOOL.

By Edward Hearne.

Yesterday those men they came,
To see about the Training school,
And as the others say,
I hope we won't be fooled.

The Committee met them at the train,
And they rode around a lot.
We did not have any rain,
But the day was mighty hot.

The Girls Men Marry.

Men seldom ask girls with whom they laugh and bandy jokes to share their homes. They enjoy being amused for an hour by the girl who is witty and clever, who is sparkling and gay, and they will heap admiration to the full measure upon the girl who is beautiful. Men are, as a rule far cuter than folks imagine, when it comes to the point of marriage. True, so many sacrifice everything for the sake of a pretty face, but the majority are wiser in their generation. They see the mistakes of others and take warning. Beauty fades, wit and cleverness pall if they are backed up with no more solid virtues, and the happiness and comfort of a home cannot depend upon the power of being amusing.

When a man marries he wants a helpmeet, not a beauty upon whom he must be forever dancing attendance, not a brilliantly clever woman, at whose feet he must be forever sitting in admiration, but a woman full of love and sympathy, a partner who can bring into the partnership what he himself lacks, one who will help him and for whom he will never tire of working and serving devotedly. --Ex

There were considerable lightning and thunder and a little rain Friday evening.

A Recipe For Happiness.

It is simply when you rise in the morning to form the resolution to make the day a happy one to a fellow creature. It is easily done; a left-off garment to the man that needs it; a kind word to the sorrowful; an encouraging expression to the striving, trifles in themselves, as light as air, will do it, at least for twenty-four hours; and if young depend upon it that it will tell when you are old, rest assured that it will send you gently and happily down the stream of time to eternity. Look at the result.

You send one person -- only one -- happily through the day; that is three hundred and sixty-five in the course of the year; and suppose you live forty years only after you commence this course, and you commence this course, and you have made 14,600 human beings happy, at least for a time. Now, worthy reader, is not this simple? We do not often indulge in a moral dose, but this is so small a pill that no one needs currant jelly to disguise its flavor, and it requires to be taken but once a day that we feel warranted in prescribing it. It is most excellent for digestion, and a promoter of pleasant slumber. -- Ex.

WINTERVILLE ITEMS.

Notes From Our Hustling Neighbor.

Winterville, N. C., June, 22.

Dr. D. S. Chapman left yesterday afternoon for Greenville, where he has accepted a position again with Coward & Wooten.

Miss Nannie Braxton left Friday morning to be present at the annual Masonic meeting at the Oxford orphanage, which meets today.

C. J. Jackson is away this week at Asheville where the conference of the Y. M. C. A. is in session. He is a representative of Wake Forest college.

The report came in yesterday morning that a bear had been seen in the neighborhood of Bryant Tripp's about two miles from here. Several of our citizens, well equipped with implements suitable for dispatching animals of this type, left immediately for the scene, but no one had the opportunity of seeing the bear.

Miss Dora Cox, after a very pleasant stay of ten days at Asheville, returned home Wednesday morning.

Jesse Rollins went to Greenville Thursday.

J. D. Cox went to Greenville today.

The charter members of the Sunbeam society of Winterville, organized by Miss Laura Cox in 1901, are indebted to her for the most delightful outing of the season, a picnic which was given them on Thursday last.

It was an ideal day to spend in the woods, and shortly after the train passed about twenty of our young people hailed the coming wagons and carriages with cheers and in a few minutes all were off for the scene of action. After a jolly ride of six miles the pond of Frizzle's mill was reached and it was decided that as that was the best fishing ground in the county everybody should stop for the day.

Soon the young men had boats fitted out and they lost no time in making a start. Judging from the readiness of the young ladies to row there was no question about their having fun.

At last dinner was announced and such a dinner as it was. The way spring chicken did fly, cabbage, ham and cake disappear, was never told. The fishing feature of the occasion was the most fun of all. Immense shad and chubs were hauled in quantities and the young ladies proved splendid cooks.

About four o'clock desert was served by the young men who so kindly found a quantity of green apples and the question of where they came from was left unasked.

Around the mill were lovely shadywalks, but these "lover's retreats" proved insufficient for the games of Master Cupid, so a few couples lingered in the boats so late that it was 6:30 before the merry party was finally ready for home. But as all good things have to come to an end so did this but the memory of the day will remain when the sunburns and aching brows are a thing of the past.

Launch Sail.

Miss Nina Harris gave a party of girl friends a delightful sail, Friday afternoon, on her father's gasoline launch. They went 8 miles down the river and back and had a merry trip.

We are told that a man from another town, who wants to locate a large ice factory, was in Greenville the other day looking over the situation with that object in view.

LOCAL BRIEFS.

The almanac says this is the longest day of the year.

Deep sea mullets; at S. M. Schultz.

People are too glad to see the warmer weather to complain much about it.

ENTRY OF VACANT LAND.

J. D. Cox enters and claims about 100 acres, more or less, of vacant land lying in Chicod township, Pitt county, N. C., on west side of Creeping swamp, adjoining the lands of Jesse Sutton, Sr., A. G. Cox, J. B. Mills and others.

The Man of the Hour.

Few men's greatness, or real mission to their time, is recognized during their own life. The people closest to him did not perceive the unique place that Moses occupied in their history. Instead of co-operating with him and supporting him as a leader and deliver, they criticized and hampered him. And that is still the fashion in the case of the sent men of our own time. Half the energy of every man with a great mission has been spent in overcoming petty opposition and friction. Next to the one who does a great deed is he who loyally stands by the man who is doing a great deed. If you can't be a Moses, be a Miriam or a Hur. The day's hope is in its men who have a sense of a divine mission; who have been "called" to serve their time. The wise people follow those who are following a star. Even as Moses eventually led the Children of Israel out of their bondage into the land of promise, so there are men in our midst who are leading the way into the life of the spirit -- into a wide human liberty and into a reign of brotherhood and peace. Just as history fraught with tremendous possibilities was made in those long ago centuries, so momentous history may be even now in the making for humanity. -- Ex.

Newspaper Recipes.

In using recipes clipped from newspapers or magazines they are much easier to use if the ingredients are underscored with red ink. A glance will tell you what you want without reading the recipe through each time. Ingredients seldom are given in a separate list, except in a cookbook.

Darning by Machine.

Cut the whole square or oblong and baste a piece of net on the wrong side, then with a No. 100 thread on the machine sew back and forth close together, never taking the needle out of the goods. Then do likewise in the opposite direction, always following the weave of the material.

To Mend Leather Chairs.

Dining room chairs that are worn on the edges can be neatly mended by stretching bicycle tape firmly over worn places. Smooth carefully, then paint brown or green to match leather. A child's ten cent box of water colors will do this nicely.

FRIDAY JUNE 22nd 1907.

COMPLIMENT TO GREENVILLE.

While talking with a number of citizens here, Friday afternoon, Governor R. B. Glenn remarked "I want to say this in compliment of the people of Greenville: During the stay of our board in your midst, not one word has been heard from any one in disparagement of any other town competing for the training school, and the board appreciates this."

Governor Glenn in this compliment touched the sentiment that has been uppermost with Greenville from the beginning of the contest for the school. While this town has done everything possible to set forth her own advantages for the location of the school and to fortify herself to make a successful bid for it, she has made no fight against any other town trying to get it. All of the towns competing for the school are Eastern North Carolina towns, and all of them are good towns, hence we have seen no occasion for town's fighting each other. Though some very unkind and disparaging things have been said against Greenville elsewhere, this town has passed them unnoticed and offered no retaliation. Greenville entered the contest determined to win it strictly by her own merit, and she does not want it any other way.

The Charlotte Observer may have observed the fact that Greenville has some blood hounds that deliver the goods.

We sympathize with the Mt. Olive Tribune in the loss that paper sustained by fire Wednesday night. The building and entire plant of the paper was destroyed.

When the merchants ask for a fair deal in freight rates they ask for nothing more than is right and it would pay the railroads to meet them half way and discuss the matter on its merits.—Durham Herald.

There is a fearfully solemn lesson in the career and ultimate ruin of Franc H Jones. According to his own testimony, he found it impossible to resist when once the speculation mania had found his soul with its cankering touch. This is an evil whose results are written almost daily in a record of crime, and it is an evil that is growing with alarming rapidity.—Charlotte News.

Two Kinds of Happiness

Young man, we are after you again, and it is because we think so much of you. After you have been married a little while you are going to find that there are two kinds of happiness that you can have. You can buy a lot of home happiness with a small salary, but fashionable happiness always costs just a little more than you are making. This is not a very "new idea," but it is a true one. You can't keep down expenses when you have to keep up appearances—of something you are not. You're in the fix of a dog chasing his tail—you can't make both ends meet, and if you do, its going to give you such a crick in the neck that you won't get any real satisfaction out of your gymnastics. You have to live on a rump steak basis when alone so that you can appear on a quail on-toast basis when you have company. And while they are eating your quail and betting that they are cold storage birds, they'll be whispering to each other that the butcher told the cook that you lived all last week on soup bones and two pounds of "hamburger," that you might give this "blow-out." Then when you have sweated along at it a dozen years or so you will wake up some morning and discover that your appearances have deceived no one but yourself.—Ex

ANIMALS UNDERGROUND.

Burrowing is Performed by Various Species of Mammals. Ventilation, or rather, the want of it, is a difficulty in the underground life of almost all mammals. The rabbit and the rat secure a current of air by forming a bolt hole in connection with their system of passages, but the fox, the badger and many of the field voles and mice seem indifferent to any such precaution. There is no doubt that whatever cause the first impulse to burrow. Many animals look upon this to us most unpleasant exertion as a form of actual amusement. It also confers a right of property.

Prairie dogs constantly set to work to dig holes merely for the love of the thing. If they cannot have a suitable place to exercise their talent in they will gnaw into boxes or chests of drawers and there burrow to the great detriment of the clothes therein contained. In an inclosed prairie dog "town" they have been known to mine until the superincumbent earth collapsed and buried the greater number. A young prairie dog let loose in a small, gravel floored house instantly dug a hole large enough to sit in, turned around in it and bit the first person who attempted to touch him. Property gave him courage, for before he had been as meek as a mouse.

It is noticeable that the two weakest and least numerous of our mice, the dormouse and the harvest mouse, do not burrow, but make nests, and that these do not multiply or maintain their numbers, like the burrowing mice and voles. But the fact that there are members of very closely allied species, some of which do burrow, while others do not, seems to indicate that the habit is an acquired one.

In this connection it is worth noting that many animals which do not burrow at other times form burrows in which to conceal and protect their young, or, if they do burrow, make a different kind of a more elaborate character. Among these nursery burrows are those of the dog, the fox and sandmartin, the kingfisher and the sheldrake. Foxhound litters never do so well as when the mother is allowed to make a burrow on the sunny side of a straw stack. In time she will work this five or six feet into the stack and keep the puppies at the far end, while she lies in the entrance. Vixens either dig or appropriate a clean burrow for their cubs, which is a natural habit, or, at any rate, one acquired previously to the use of earth by adult foxes.—London Spectator.

What He Wanted.

An old negro entered a drug store the other day and looked about him doubtfully. "Something you want, old man?" inquired the clerk, stepping up. "Yais, sah; yais, sah," was his reply as he scratched his chin. "but I disremembahs 'zactly what?" "Forgot what you came for?" broke in the clerk. "Dass des 'zactly hit, sah; dass des hit!" exclaimed the old negro, his face lighting up with relief. "Eh, nickel's wuth, sah."

The clerk stared for a moment, then grinned understandingly and handed the old negro his desired 5 cents' worth of "camephor."—New York Times.

Cleanliness is always necessary. Nerves are benzine, gasoline or other like fluids in any room in which there is a light or fire. There are extremely volatile, and their flames catch fire at a great distance, the flames traveling back to the source. Explosions and scattered fire are the results.

We would never suspect how good some people are if they didn't tell us.

Bert Barber, of Elton, Wis., says "I have only taken four doses of your Kidney and Bladder Pills and they have done for me more than any other medicine has ever done. I am still taking the pills as I want a perfect cure." Mr. Barber refers to DeWitt's Kidney and Bladder Pills, which are unequalled for Backache, weak kidney, inflammation of the bladder and all urinary troubles. A week's treatment for 25c. Sold by J. L. Wooten's Drug Store.

A man's idea of a close friend is one who will boss up occasionally.

There is no case of indigestion, no matter how irritable or how obstinate that will not be speedily relieved by the use of Kodol. The main factor in curing the stomach of any disorder is rest, and the only way to get rest is to actually digest the food for the stomach itself. Kodol will do it. It is a scientific preparation of vegetable acids containing the very same juices found in a healthy stomach. It conforms to the Pure Food and Drug Law. Sold by John L. Wooten.

Music has charms in the country where the houses are a mile apart.

All stomach trouble are quickly relieved by taking a little Kodol after each meal. Kodol goes directly to the seat of the trouble, strengthens the digestive organs, supplies the natural digestive juices and digests what you eat. It is simple, clean, pure, harmless remedy. Don't neglect your stomach. Take a little Kodol after each meal and see how good it makes you feel. Money back if it fails. Sold by John L. Wooten.

It's a pity that poets can't live on food for reflection.

I will mail you free, to prove merit, samples of my Dr. Shoop's Restorative, and my Book on either Dyspepsia, The Heart or The Kidneys. Troubles of the Stomach, Heart or Kidneys, are merely symptoms of a deeper ailment. Don't make the common error of treating symptoms only. Symptom treatment is treating the result of your ailment, and not the cause. Weak Stomach nerves—the inside nerves—mean Stomach weakness, always. And the Heart, and Kidneys as well, have their controlling or inside nerves. Weaken these nerves, and you inevitably have weak vital organs. Here is where Dr. Shoop's Restorative has made its fame. No other remedy even claims to treat the "inside nerves". Also for bloating, biliousness, bad breath or complexion, use Dr. Shoop's Restorative. Write to-day for sample and free Book. Dr. Shoop, Racine, Wis. The Restorative is sold by Bryans Drug Store.

Many a married man sil-is a ent hero.

CONDENSED STORIES.

How a Ready Actor Overcame an Awkward Dilemma.

E. H. Sothern a few days before he set out on his London venture talked at a farewell dinner about stage presence of mind. "When a dilemma unexpectedly crops up," he said, "I manage, in an awkward way, to master it somehow. But I never acquit myself with the brilliance that marks the typical anecdotes of stage presence of mind. "They tell of a really remarkable case that happened in Cincinnati. It was a melodrama. The hero in the second act stood in the bow of a ship soliloquizing about love, while the waves rolled and rocked. "The waves were made in this way: Blue canvas was spread loosely over the stage and under the canvas some twenty or thirty supers lay on their backs, kicking and rolling and beating with their arms. "But it happened that at this performance there was a large hole in the canvas. Through the hole, as the actor talked passionately about love, the head of a super suddenly protruded. The head looked about in a wild, scared way, and quick as thought the actor shouted: "Man overboard!" "Then when the head disappeared he said sadly: "Alas, the perils of the deep! Another poor soul gone to his last reward!"

Blaine and the Bore.

A notorious bore came to see James G. Blaine when he was secretary of state. Mr. Blaine was busy. Still, he was polite. He was extremely sorry his engagements made it impossible to talk to the visitor, but he would be glad to see him the next day. "What time?" asked the bore. Mr. Blaine made an elaborate consultation of his engagement book. "Come at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning," he said. "I shall be glad to see you then. You understand the hour, do you not? Ten o'clock precisely." "I shall be here," said the bore. "Mark you," cautioned Mr. Blaine, "when I say 10 o'clock I mean 10 o'clock. You must be here on the exact minute. Promptly at 10, then." "All right," replied the bore. And he went away jubilant. "Blaine," asked William E. Chandler, who was present, "why did you make such a precise appointment with that man? You do not want to see him." "I know it," replied Blaine, "but I fixed the hour with exactness and impressed it on him so I shall know when to be out."—Saturday Evening Post.

Hot Weather Refuge.

The Rev. E. W. Webber, a Maine minister, who was located for awhile in a Georgia town as pastor of a Universalist church, occasionally relates this story: He was talking with William Dodson, ex-president of the Georgia senate. "I suppose you feel the heat greatly down here in the summer, don't you?" queried Mr. Webber of the southern man. "Well, it does get pretty warm here sometimes," admitted Mr. Dodson, "but every time I feel too warm I think of the visit I once made to Boston, and it sends the cold shivers all over me."—Boston Record.

Tillman on Chivalry.

"The deed," said Senator Tillman at a dinner in Washington, "is a thing I abhor. I believe, though, in manliness and pluck, and I hope the time will never come when a conversation such as was recently overheard in a New York club will be typical of American chivalry. "A New York clubman approached a friend and whispered anxiously: "Bludd threatens to kick me the next time he sees me in company. If he should come in here now, what would you advise me to do?" "Sit down," was the reply."

are caused by indigestion. If you eat a little too much, or if you are subject to attacks of indigestion, you have no doubt had shortness of breath, rapid heart beats, heartburn or palpitation of the heart. Indigestion causes the stomach to expand—swell, and puff up against the heart. This crowds the heart and interferes with its action, and in the course of time the heart becomes diseased.

Kodol Dyspepsia Cure

After eating, my food would distress me by making my heart palpitate and I would become very weak. Finally I got a bottle of Kodol and it gave me immediate relief. After using a few bottles, I am cured. MRS. LORING N. CHOLS, Penn Yan, N. Y.

I had stomach trouble and was in a bad state as I had heart troubles with it. I took Kodol Dyspepsia Cure for about four months and it cured me. D. KAUBLE, Nevada, O.

Stop That Cold

To check early colds or Grippe with "Preventics" means sure defeat for Pneumonia. To stop a cold with Preventics is safer than to let it run and be obliged to cure it afterwards. To be sure, Preventics will cure even a deeply seated cold, but taken early—at the sneeze stage—they break, or head off these early colds. That's surely better. That's why they are called Preventics. Preventics are little Candy Cold Cures. No Quinine, no physic, nothing sickening. Nice for the children—and thorough y safe too. If you feel chilly, if you sneeze, if you ache all over, think of Preventics. Promptness may also save half your usual sickness. And don't forget your child, if there is feverishness, night or day. Herein probably lies Preventics' greatest efficiency. Sold in 5c boxes for the pocket, also in 25c boxes of 48 Preventics. Insist on your druggists giving you

LAUGH AND BE HEALTHY.

Don't Bottle Yourself Up and Court Nervous Prostration.

"If I were to assign any one special cause for nervous breakdown," said the doctor, "I would say lack of a sense of humor. You may retort that a person on the eve of a collapse doesn't feel particularly humorous and dismiss my suggestion with a laugh, but there's more to it than perhaps you think. I regard humor as one of the most valuable assets of mankind. In fact, there's nothing that can replace it, and I am genuinely sorry for the mortal from whose composition it seems to have been left out. It always has been a good thing for its possessor, but in this day of rush and more or less worry it is especially to be appreciated, for the man who is able to see the funny side of things, even though the joke may be on him, has a sort of safety valve, and he isn't likely to go to pieces as the result of a nervous explosion.

"Serious folk, you see, are invariably engaged in bottling things up—experiences of various kinds, their own impressions, and so on. They don't give themselves the outlet that is enjoyed by the man fond of a laugh and whose knowledge of the ridiculous enables him to regard things in proper perspective. The unduly serious don't dismiss trifles with a shrug and a smile. They exaggerate matters which should only be given a moment or so of amused attention, and the first that they know they have so much to think of that the poor brains become over-taxed, and off they must go to sanitariums or to sea or some place where, the theory is, some of the supposedly important affairs which have been troubling them can be eliminated from the mind."—New York Press.

Lemon Juice For the Toilet.

On every washstand a lemon or two should be kept. Nothing is better for the toilet than the juice of this fruit. It is refreshing to the taste, and it is cleansing to the skin. A few drops squeezed into the water with which the teeth are cleaned not only will aid in keeping the tartar away from them, but it will also make the breath sweet and pure.

Lemon juice rubbed on the face aids in keeping the skin soft and fresh. If persistently used it will remove freckles, and when applied to the hands it will whiten them.

Sewing Room Hint.

In cutting up materials for dresses and waists many small pieces are left over. These pieces place on a safety pin, all of a kind on a pin. Hang this pin up or put it in a drawer, and without unrolling or getting disordered get any small piece just the right size by cutting it off the pin, as it was pinned on in an extreme corner. No time lost, no time wrapping up and doing up again. All the rest are in place.
