

MR. HARRINGTON RELEASED.

No Evidence to Hold Man Charged With Burning Store Because Bloodhounds Trained to Him.

Newbern, N. C., June 25, 1907. Editor of The Daily Free Press. Kinston N. C.

Dear Sir:

In a recent issue of your paper you published what purported to be an account of the burning of the storehouse of Mr. Graham, near Harlowe. It was stated that Mr. J. R. Harrington had been trailed by bloodhounds and was believed to be the man who had burned the store, and that Mr. Harrington had been arrested and held for his appearance before a magistrate in Beaufort.

Since this article appeared in your paper the case has been tried before the magistrate in Beaufort and as there was but little evidence, the solicitor, who personally conducted the prosecution, requested that the case be dismissed, which was done.

Mr. Harrington is a young man of good character, a member of the Methodist church in good standing, and belongs to a good family of people in Cartaret county. He had no connection whatever with the burning of the store and his arrest was one of these unfortunate incidents which sometimes happen in a man's life.

The store was burned on Saturday night. Many people visited the place on Sunday, and on Monday blood hounds were brought from Greenville and put upon a track which was supposed to be the track of the person who burned the store. There was no evidence that anyone had turned the store as the fire may have originated from some accidental cause. The bloodhounds followed the track which had been selected to be followed until they came to a creek, when the track was lost. The parties then took a boat and crossed the creek and went several miles without any further trace of any track. They came to a landing and the dogs started on the trail again, although there was no track there, as it is in the woods. After going some distance they entered a field where Mr. Harrington was ploughing, and when the parties came near Mr. Harrington he "mucked" the dogs and they came to him and lay down at his feet. The dogs were very tired and Mr. Harrington thought they lay down to rest. They did not bay him or do anything more than come up and lie down on the ground.

After this evidence he stated to the court that he had no evidence sufficient and thereupon the case was dismissed. The course pursued by the solicitor was very highly complimented and just prosecutor.

Mr. Harrington proved an alibi by his family and neighbors. He was at home Saturday night when the store was burned and did not leave his house that night.

I hope you will publish this, as your previous article was widely circulated and was calculated to damage Mr. Harrington's character.

Yours truly,
D. L. WARD.

VALUE OF APPRECIATION.

Why Withold the Few Words of Encouragement.

Has it ever struck you what a sweetener of life lies in a few words of appreciation and encouragement? How few of us take the trouble to stop a few moments and praise a servant for work well done, or even pause to tell our nearest and dearest how we appreciate all the daily services which we have apparently never noticed.

When our friends die we hasten to send beautiful flowers as a last appreciation of our love for them. But would it not be better if we had helped them by a little praise when they were working, or if we had cheered them in the dark days when they were troubled and suffering says Woman's Life.

Only a few words of appreciation! The cost is nothing, but the recompense is beyond price. Let the husband tell his wife how much he prizes her love for him and the wife tell her husband how truly she recognizes all his care for her. And the mother should reveal in words how much she values her children's affection, while the child who says to its mother, "Thank you for all your love to me," has rewarded her far beyond knowledge or understanding.

A Tremendous Drain on the Country.

While Eastern North Carolina is in a thousand ways a most favored region, and is especially adapted to most agricultural products, its farmers make one great mistake. They are industrious, energetic, honest and painstaking, but they have not yet learned how to make their farms take care of themselves. They have never yet properly seen the importance of raising their home supplies. Over almost every road and thoroughfare leading to and from our market towns, large or small, numbers and numbers of wagons and carts pass daily loaded with corn and hay with which to feed the teams that draw the plows in the cultivated fields. Thousands and thousands of dollars are sent west every week for these supplies which could and should be raised here at home. While here and there a fairly intelligent and seemingly successful farmer will tell you that it pays him to raise cotton and peanuts and buy corn and hay, it is hard for him to give satisfactory proof of his statement.

Indeed, intelligent and thoughtful observers will challenge such statement at every point and will give as illustrations to support the challenge the thrift and independence of the farmers who have their supplies all at home. Given a community of farmers in which every one has his corn barn, his hay lofts and his smoke house well filled with these home products, and you have a community in which there are no mortgage sales, no "distressed" cotton, nor does the tax collector have any trouble in gathering the proper tribute from such good citizens to bear their patriotic share in public expense of the county or state.—Scotland North Commonwealth.

It has just been presented in Washington with great success, and Greenville people are promised a treat in witnessing it. Further announcement will be made tomorrow and reserved seats will go on sale Saturday at Reflector Book Store.

Mrs. L. A. McGowan Dies Suddenly.

Mrs. Laura A. McGowan, widow of the late Mr. G. A. McGowan, died suddenly about 10 o'clock Wednesday night at her home on Dickinson avenue. She was apparently in usual health on Wednesday and came down town during the day. At night she suffered a stroke of apoplexy and passed away in a few minutes.

Mrs. McGowan was 51 years old and was held in high esteem by a large circle of friends. She leaves eight children, four sons and four daughters. These are Mrs. T. L. Bland, of Rocky Mount, Misses Lizzie and Stella, and Bruce, A. K. M. B., J. R. and W. O. McGowan.

The funeral will take place Friday afternoon at the family burial ground, 7 miles from town.

Nothing Like It.

Civilized man's books show that the newspaper pages are worth more to his store than all the windows he can decorate beautifully, all the front yards he can litter with handbills, all the bill boards he can plaster with posters, all the streets he can illuminate with banners, all the sandwich men he can equip, all the grotesque forms of advertising he can devise—and he has devised many. He has learned that the women, who do the bulk of the buying, have a habit of planning the shopping campaign largely along the lines suggested by the newspaper advertisement and that habit is hard to break.—Mertz's Magazine.

THE SHOW.

By Edward Hearne.

Last night the show was grand, to you Who never before have seen it, The man said "it's something you got to get use to" And the people thought he did mean it.

Si was just the best thing, And Ruth she was just grand, You certainly ought to hear them sing, You would not need a band.

To-night they have a fine play, You need not have any fear, Of its not being good as you say, Its name is "On the Frontier."

They have an Indian in this play, As full blooded as can be, And if you go you can't help say, Its the best I shall ever see.

MR. AND MRS. KING ENTERTAIN.

Reported for Reflector:

Mr and Mrs. R. W. King gave a delightful party, on Wednesday evening, in honor of Miss Hazel Mitchell, of Kinston.

Miss Mattie Moye King, assisted by Mr. Carl Wilson, received at the front door, and served crystalized fruit and bonbons to the guests as they arrived. In the rear hall, punch was served by Miss Hazel Mitchell and Mr. Norman Warren.

From the punch bowl the young people were ushered to the library where they were received by Miss Lucille Cobb and Mr. Charles Horne.

As soon as all the guests were seated in the library, Miss Amine King passed around little souvenir purses, containing fifty beans, which were used as money in the auction sale that soon followed. Mr. Blount Pearce appeared bearing a counter covered with many mysterious packages of different shapes and sizes. These he proceeded to sell to the highest bidder. Miss Jamie Bryan bid off, at twenty three beans, a package labeled "The House Keeper" which proved to be an old black cat. A package marked "A souvenir of Greenville," but which turned out to be an old vaseline bottle, was knocked down to Miss Margaret Blow at forty-nine beans.

The auction sale having been finished, the guests scattered to the spacious porch and yard where delicious refreshments, consisting of ice cream and cake, were served by Misses Mattie Moye King and Margaret Blow.

After the refreshments had been finished, the young people were recalled to the library to participate in a guessing contest. Miss Mattie Moye King asked 23 questions the answers to which was some kind of nut. To the first person who correctly answered a question, a card was given. Miss Margaret Blow, who had the largest number of cards at the end of the contest, was awarded a prize, a beautiful copy of Lucille. This was presented by Mr. Carl Wilson to Miss Hazel Mitchell in a very touching speech.

After some time spent in very pleasant conversations the guests departed, thanking the hostess for a delightful evening's entertainment and declaring that it had been one of the most enjoyable evenings that they had ever spent.

Georgia Legislature.

Atlanta, Ga., June 26.—The Georgia legislature convened today in regular annual session. The organization of both houses was quickly made by the selection of Senator John W. Akin, of Bartow, as president of the Senate, and John M. Slaton of Atlanta, as speaker of the House. Gov. J. M. Terrell's message was read in both houses. It deals largely with taxation, State finances, educational matters, monuments to Confederate soldiers and urges legislation for he better training of curses.

YOUR OPPORTUNITY.

Be Ready to Make the Most of It When It Comes.

A crucial period comes into every normal life, the psychological moment which, if grasped, brings success. It comes to the young surgeon when, perhaps, after long waiting and years of drudgery, studying and experimenting, he is suddenly confronted with his first critical operation. An accident has happened and the great surgeon is absent. Life and death hang in the balance. Will he be equal to the emergency? If so his reputation may be made. But if he has dawdled when he should have been studying, if he has idled away his precious hours at college, the opportunity will offer only danger to the patient and ruin to his reputation. Everything depends upon the accuracy of his knowledge.

An opportunity confronts a young lawyer. In a critical case a fortune or a life may hang upon his skill, upon the faithfulness which he has put into his preparation. Has he laid a solid foundation? Is he well read in similar cases? Does he know all the precedents? Can he convince the jury? Will he drag into his brief and plea the wasted hours which he has put into his preparation, the neglected opportunities in his law study, or will he bring to bear a sharp, keen insight born of earnestness, exactitude, thoroughness and conscientiousness? His opportunity confronts him. What will he do with it?

Every now and then a critical opportunity confronts a clerk in a store. A member of the firm has died or retired or the firm changes hands, and they are looking for a partner, manager or superintendent. This test will bring out what is in the clerk. Has he been watching the clock, stealing the time of his employer, doing dishonest work, putting in short hours of service all these years? Has he been indifferent, impudent, gruff or curt to his customers or has he been polite and obliging, kind, deferential and accommodating? The opportunity confronts him. What will he do with it?—Success Magazine.

Her Husband's Hair.

A man who plumes himself on his fascination for the other sex was not long ago presented to an attractive New York woman. In course of their first tete-a-tete the man with the winning ways at once took occasion to turn the conversation into his favorite channel. "I observe that you are wearing an especially fine locket," said he. "Tell me does it contain some token of a past love affair?"

Aware of the man's weakness, the handsome woman thought to humor him a bit. "Yes," smiled she; "it does contain a token of the past, a lock of my husband's hair."

"You don't mean to tell me that you're a widow?" exclaimed the man in delighted surprise as he nudged a trifle nearer. "I understood that your husband was alive."

"True," answered the beautiful creature; "but his hair is gone."—New York Tribune.

Yo Anciento Halidom.

Mrs. Green, who was deeply absorbed in a romance of the seventeenth century, suddenly paused and looked at her husband.

"Gregory," she said, "listen to this: "By my halidom," exclaimed Sir Hardyng, "it is past the hour of 12!" What is halidom?"

"What do you suppose it is?" responded Mr. Green, with a frown. "Can't you tell from the context, Marie? Sir What's-his-name said it was past the hour of 12 by his halidom, didn't he? I should think anybody could tell from that sentence that he had just consulted his halidom. Halidom is the old English name for watch, of course! Why is it that some women don't seem to be able to exercise their reasoning faculties?"—London Globe.

The Leaning Tower of Pisa.

The leaning tower of Pisa is peculiar in that it deviates about fourteen feet from the perpendicular, a peculiarity not due to original design. Beginning to keel over at the completion of the third story, the architects deliberately accepted the conditions and, adhering to the inclination, diminished the slope of the upper stories so as to keep the center of gravity well within the walls. The height of the tower is 180 feet. Its cost, reckoned in American money, was $250,000.

Society is very strict in Japan about the little matters of hair-dressing, and woe betide the woman who would neglect to abide by the prevailing custom. Not alone in the better classes, but among the poorer people as well, the eligible young woman, the widow who wishes to marry again and the widow who doesn't may always be distinguished by the way in which they dress their hair.—Kansas City Star.

THURSDAY JUNE 27th 1907.

It looks like Judge Loving is going to come clear.

You will find Greenville, on the map and can mark it as the best town in the East.

One of the newspapers in Peking, China, is five hundred years old. That beats anything over on this side by a good deal.

The number of strangers around looking over Greenville shows that more people are interested in the town besides the home folks.

It used to be that there was no great amount of campaign talk except in election years but now it goes on from one election to another.

The department of agriculture has given out the information that there is not much danger of eating unripe fruit is it done with adequate mastication. Somebody connected with the department must be interested in the sale of paregoric. At any rate if you don't want the colic you had better eschew the green apple.

According to a recent report of the government pension commissioner, the pension list has actually begun decreasing. In January, 1905, the maximum was reached when the list contained more than a million names. A few thousand have dropped off since then. Considering that it is forty-two years since the war closed, the pension list is an outrageously large one and contains thousands of names not entitled or worthy to be on it.

President Roosevelt is reported as saying to John Temple Graves, that if he was assured that he could carry the electoral vote of a single Southern State he would consent to run for the presidency again, notwithstanding his declaration that under no circumstances would he again be a candidate. This shows that there are men who so hate to see the South solid that they would even go back on their own words to break it, and the president is one of them.

The Wilmington Star tells of the shipment by D. N. Chadwick from his truck farm near that city, of a solid carload of cucumbers. The shipment consisted of 420 baskets and was consigned to Buffalo, N. Y. On the day the shipment was made, cucumbers were quoted at $2.25 a basket, which would make the value of the carload nearly $1,000. The Star says that Mr. Chadwick has 18 acres in cucumbers and will ship eight or ten cars a week for the next three weeks, or as long as the price remains firm. This seems to be an example of trucking that pays. — Charlotte Chronicle.

 "Why, no, I'm not. What makes you say that?"

Weak Kidneys

Cause more trouble than any other organ of the body. The function of the kidneys is to separate the waste matter and water in the process of circulation, and to remove them and the attendant poisons from the body through the bladder. Therefore when the kidneys become diseased and weak they are naturally unable to perform their work properly, and pains in the back, inflammation of the bladder and urinary disorders are the result. It is imperative that a prompt relief be afforded, which is impossible unless you remove the cause.

DeWitt's Kidney and Bladder Pills promptly eliminate poisons from the system and at the same time make the kidneys well and strong.

He Built a Fortune While His Friend Threw the Chance Away.

"Ever meet a man who was absent when opportunity called the roll?" asked the man who was wearing his last year's clothes. "I know a man who ran away from his opportunity."

Just what would have happened to him if he had lingered? I don't know, and he doesn't, but he ran away, and the man who stayed profited. He probably wouldn't have opened his mouth about the story if he hadn't read in a newspaper of the death of that man.

The obituary contained the information that when the man landed where he built up a fortune he had 50 cents in his pocket. The man who read the death notice simply remarked that he gave the fellow the half dollar or he wouldn't have had that.

"The two men hit the town on the same day. They had been traveling together for weeks. The man who was staked was penniless when he and his acquaintance landed. The acquaintance had a little money."

"He offered more to his fellow traveler, but the latter declined. He accepted just what he had asked for. Then the two men started to seek work."

"The first place to which they applied was a retail dry goods store. The merchant said he wanted a young man to make fires, sweep the floor and dust the counters. The pay was $2.50 a week."

"The applicant who had the small sum of money had the first option. He refused it. The other who had borrowed the half dollar got the place. When he drew his first week's wages he tendered the loan to his fellow traveler. The latter declined. He told the young man to wait until he was better able."

"The transaction remained open for a year. At the expiration of that time the $2.50 man had his pay advanced 100 per cent. He sent his friend the amount of the loan with interest."

"The benefactor was still looking around. The man with the job offered him a place in the store, but it was refused. There wasn't enough ready money in the job to suit him."

"Several years later the $2.50 man was advanced to the place of head salesman. He sent again for his benefactor and offered him a place, but this was also declined. A few years after this the $2.50 man was admitted to partnership in the house, which by this time was the great retail house of the young city."

"He made his quondam friend another offer, but the latter was not ready. The pay was not sufficient. A little while afterward the retail house established a wholesale business. It was a great success."

"The young man who had borrowed the half dollar was placed at the head of the wholesale concern. Once more he offered his old benefactor an opportunity, but the benefactor declined again, and for the same reason."

"The business kept expanding. The concern is today one of the biggest in the middle west. When the $2.50 man died the other day he was quoted at a million and a half. He had made it in twenty-two years."

"The man who told me the story, who ran away from opportunity, as he expressed it, is looking for a job in New York—anything that will give him a living and keep his body out of potters' field when he is through." — New York Sun.

A pawnshop where we could hock our troubles would fill a long-felt want.

A prompt, pleasant, good remedy for coughs and colds, is Kennedy's Laxative Cough Syrup. It is especially recommended for babies and children, but good for every member of the family. It contains no opiates and does not constipate. Contains honey and tar and tastes nearly as good as maple syrup. Children like it. Sold by J. L. Wooten's Drug Store.

We would never suspect how good some people are if they didn't tell us.

Bert Barber, of Elton, Wis., says "I have only taken four doses of your Kidney and Bladder Pills and they have done for me more than any other medicine has ever done. I am still taking the pills as I want a perfect cure." Mr. Barber refers to DeWitt's Kidney and Bladder Pills, which are unequalled for backache, weak kidneys, inflammation of the bladder and all urinary troubles. A weeks treatment for 25c. Sold by J. L. Wooten's Drug Store.

A man's idea of a close friend is one who will lose up occasionally.

There is no case of indigestion, no matter how irritable or how obstinate that will not be speedily relieved by the use of Kodol. The main factor in curing the stomach of any disorder is rest, and the only way to get rest is to actually digest the food for the stomach itself. Kodol will do it. It is a scientific preparation of vegetable acids containing the very same juices found in a healthy stomach. It conforms to the Pure Food and Drug Law. Sold by John L. Wooten.

Music has charms in the country where the houses are a mile apart.

All stomach trouble are quickly relieved by taking a little Kodol after each meal. Kodol goes directly to the seat of the trouble, strengthens the digestive organs, supplies the natural digestive juices and digests what you eat. It is a simple, clean, pure, harmless remedy. Don't neglect your stomach. Take a little Kodol after each meal and see how good it makes you feel. Money back if it fails. Sold by John L. Wooten.

It isn't always the cheerful man who does the most cheering.

Piles get quick and certain relief from Dr. Shoop's Magic Ointment. Please note it is made alone for Piles, and its action is positive and certain. Itching, painful, protruding or blind piles disappear like magic by its use. Large nickel-capped glass jars 50cents. Sold by Bryans Drug Store.

Drivers of delivery wagons are always there with the goods.

Get a free sample of Dr. Shoop's "Health Coffee" at our store. If real coffee disturbs your stomach, your heart or kidneys, then try this clever coffee imitation. Dr. Shoop has closely imitated Old Java and Mocha Coffee in flavor and taste, yet it has not a single grain of real coffee in it. Dr. Shoop's Health Coffee imitation is made from pure toasted cereals or cereals, with Malt, Nuts, etc. Made in a minute. No tedious wait. You will surely like it. Sold by T. E. Hoover & Co.

It's a pity that poets can't live on food for reflection.

I will mail you free, to prove merit, samples of my Dr. Shoop's Restorative, and my Book on either Dyspepsia, The Heart or The Kidneys. Troubles of the Stomach, Heart or Kidneys, are merely symptoms of a deeper ailment. Don't make the common error of treating symptoms only. Symptom treatment is treating the result of your ailment, and not the cause. Weak Stomach nerves—the inside nerves—mean Stomach weakness, always. And the Heart, and Kidneys as well, have their controlling or inside nerves. Weaken these nerves, and you inevitably have weak vital organs. Here is where Dr. Shoop's Restorative has made its fame. Shoop's remedy even claims to treat Nocturnal "insane" nerves. Also for bloating, biliousness, bad breath or complexion, use Dr. Shoop's Restorative. Write to-day for sample and free Book. Dr. Shoop, Racine, Wis. The Restorative is sold by Bryans Drug Store.

Many a married man still is an ent hero.

Mothers who give their children Kennedy's Laxative Cough Syrup invariably endorse it. Children like it because the taste is so pleasant. Contains honey and tar. It is the original laxative cough syrup and is unrivaled for the relief of croup. Drives the cold out through the bowels. Conforms to the Pure Food and Drug Law. Sold by Jno. L. Wooten.

CATARACT OF THE EYE.

The Cause and the Treatment of the Disease.

A cataract is a dimming or decreasing transparency of the crystalline lens of the eye. This lens serves to refract the rays of light. It is composed of a soft material inclosed in a transparent membrane called the capsule.

The loss of transparency, which causes the cataract, may reside in the substance of the lens or in the inclosing capsule, but most commonly in the substance of the lens itself. It may be what is called "idiopathic"—that is, due to no apparent cause—or "traumatic," due to direct injury. It may exist from birth, but most commonly comes on late in life, at or after the age of sixty years, and is caused by some not yet well understood degenerative change in the lens substance. The usual term for this form is "senile cataract," although the name is not well chosen, for often it occurs in individuals otherwise vigorous and giving no other manifest signs of senility.

It sometimes occurs in those suffering from Bright's disease or diabetes, but more commonly afflicts those who are otherwise seemingly in perfect health and who present no other signs of malnutrition.

Heredity seems sometimes to be an active cause of the opacity of the lens, but how it acts is as great a mystery as many other facts of the hereditary transmission of personal characteristics or of tendency to disease. It may indeed be that heredity has no part in the causation of the disease, and its successive appearance in parent and child may be a mere coincidence.

Both eyes are usually simultaneously affected, although the disease may occasionally be more advanced in one eye than the other, and rarely one eye alone may be affected. In the latter case, however, the cataract is more commonly due to accident.

Operation for the relief of this condition is usually not undertaken until the cataract is "ripe"—that is, until the loss of transparency affects the entire lens. A person with simple cataract is blind only so far as the distinction of objects is concerned, but still retains the perception of light. If the sufferer is unable to distinguish between light and darkness, there is some other disease present.

There are three kinds of operation for the relief of cataract, but this is not the place to discuss their relative merits. The choice will depend upon circumstances and must be left to the decision of the surgeon. A fair degree of vision is usually obtained from operation.—Youth's Companion.

Lunch as a Business Adjunct.

In the large cities there are so many clubs, and so many of the business men live in the suburbs, that club life plays comparatively little part in business except during the luncheon hour. This period has therefore grown to be a highly appreciated part of the business day. Meeting at such a time men come to know their competitors or customers or those of whom they do their own buying on the basis of a social, friendly and perhaps gossipy hour. It is recognized as an adjunct of business without which conditions would indeed be very different. No one will dispute, says the Iron Age, that such places have a vast advantage over those where the manufacturers meet but seldom, and then usually by chance and without the intimate friendliness which comes with repeated social hours together.

Fans in Japan.

Visitors to Japan are usually impressed with the many curious uses to which fans are put. The umpire at wrestling and fencing matches at a large fan, the various motions of which constitute a language that the combatants understand and promptly heed. Men and children as well as women use fans at all times. The servant has a flat fan made of rough paper to blow the charcoal fires with or use as a dustpan. The farmer has a stout fan to winnow his grain. Still another variety is made of waterproof paper, which, dipped in water, creates a pleasant coolness by evaporation without wetting the clothes.

Properly Sized Up.

"William," said an Oil City woman to her husband, "I gave away an old pair of your trousers today." "You did? What color were they?" "Blue, I think." "Great Scot! Woman, do you know what you have done?" "Why—no—William, I don't. Was there any money in them?" "Was there any money in them? There happened to be $50 in them which I intended handing you for a present." "William," said the woman, quietly, "I believe you are lying." Which he was, of course.—Oil City Blizzard.

are caused by indigestion. If you eat a little too much, or if you are subject to attacks of indigestion, you have no doubt had shortness of breath, rapid heart beats, heartburn or palpitation of the heart. Indigestion causes the stomach to expand—swell, and puff up against the heart. This crowds the heart and interferes with its action, and in the course of time the heart becomes diseased.

Kodol Dyspepsia Cure

digests what you eat, takes the strain off of the heart, and contributes nourishment, strength and health to every organ of the body. Cures indigestion, Dyspepsia, Sour Stomach, Inflammation of the mucous membranes lining the Stomach and Digestive Tract, Nervous Dyspepsia and Catarrh of the Stomach.

After eating, my food would distress me by making my heart palpitate and I would become very weak. Finally I got a bottle of Kodol and it gave me immediate relief. After using a few bottles I am cured. MRS. LORING N. CHOLS, Penn Yan, N. Y.

I had stomach trouble and was in a bad state as I had heart trouble with it. I took Kodol Dyspepsia Cure for about four months and it cured me. D. KAUBLE, Nevada, O.

Weak Women

To weak and ailing women, there is at least one way to help. But with that way, two treatments must be combined. One is local, one is constitutional, but both are important, both essential. Dr. Shoop's Restorative, the Constitutional. The former—Dr. Shoop's Night Cure—is a topical mucous membrane suppository remedy, while Dr. Shoop's Restorative is wholly an internal treatment. The Restorative reaches throughout the entire system, seeking the repair of all nerve, all tissue, and all blood ailments. The "Night Cure," as its name implies, does its work while you sleep. It soothes sore and inflamed mucous surfaces, heals local weaknesses and discharges, while the Restorative, cures nervous excitement, gives renewed vigor and ambition, builds up wasted tissues, bringing about renewed strength, vigor, and energy. Take Dr. Shoop's Restorative—Tablets or Liquid—a general tonic to the system. For positive local help, use as well

The Shamrock.

There is a general belief that the trefoil, or clover, is the original shamrock. But that is an error. The common wood sorrel is the plant. That has leaves with three divisions, like the clover. It is said that the shamrock was made the symbol of Ireland because St. Patrick selected it as an illustration of the doctrine of the Trinity.

Ark-tic, Not Ar-tic.

One of the principal streets in a certain seaboard city is named Arctic avenue, but nearly all the inhabitants call it Ar-tic avenue. No doubt they also call the far north the ar-tic regions. This mispronunciation is due to ignorance in many cases, but mostly perhaps to hurry and carelessness combined. Do the wide awakers ever hear their classmates say ar-tic? If so, does not the teacher at once correct the error? Remember that it should be pronounced as if written ark-tic.

Three things to wish for—health, friends and contentment.
Three things to admire—dignity, gracefulness and intellectual power.

THE SENSE OF FEELING.

A Simple and Convincing Experiment in Touch Delusion.

The various "optical illusions" by means of which straight lines are caused to appear crooked and objects of equal size are rendered to all appearance decidedly unequal are more or less familiar to every reader, but there are other striking deceptions of the senses that are not so frequently experimented with. A French savant pointed out several surprisingly easy ways in which we are misled in our perception of heat and cold and of pressure.

A simple and convincing experiment of this kind may be made in the following manner: Take two silver dollars and place one of them upon a marble table or mantel, while the other is rubbed briskly between the hands. In this manner a slight difference of temperature between the two pieces of metal will be produced.

Then ask some one to incline his head backward, closing his eyes. Lay the warm dollar upon his forehead for a moment, remove it and quickly substitute the cold one. You will hardly be able to convince him that they are of equal weight. The cold piece always seems to be much heavier than the other.

The explanation of this phenomenon is that the metal which has been rubbed between the hands has assumed nearly the temperature of the body, and when it is placed upon the forehead the sense of touch is affected by the pressure alone.

But the metal which has been cooled, being at a lower temperature than the skin, affects the sense in a double manner, and the subject of the experiment, not being able to distinguish clearly between the effects, instinctively ascribes the entire sensation to pressure alone.
