GREENVILLE CONFIDENT.

EASTERN TRAINING SCHOOL.

Senator Fleming Tells Why He Thinks Greenville Should Get the School.

Senator J. L. Fleming of Greenville is in the city today investigating a case of discrimination in 'plone service in Martin county.

Senator Fleming being asked if Greenville is going to get the Eastern Training School, said: "Sure! Why not? I am sure that the state board found Greenville centrally located in territory intended to be served; this was absolutely proved by towns on all sides of us claiming to be in such position. I am satisfied they found our health conditions and our transportation facilities equal to the very best, and our sites the most convenient and beautiful of any offered. Our offer in cash already voted and ready to be turned over to the state board is from fifteen to twenty-five thousand dollars more than that of any other town, and since the act establishing the school says that it shall be located in or near that town offering the largest financial aid, etc., Greenville will of course get the school, as has been conceded ever since our offer was made known, by the whole State, except those parties interested in its going to other towns.

"How about the large number of acres of land being offered by some towns," asked the reporter.

"Oh! they can't fool the state board any more than they can fool the people of the state by placing extravagant values on farm lands. In lieu of either of our sites, we would give a five hundred acre farm in any direction from Greenville within a half mile or a mile of the corporate limits of the town but we assumed that the state was not going into the real estate business or the farming business under an act of the legislature providing for the establishment of a training school. We did not want such a school set off in the country away from places of religious worship and the conveniences of the town. We offered within the corporate limits of the town, and within five hundred yards of the courthouse, the postoffice, the main business street, the city graded school and most of the churches of the town, at least two of the prettiest sites to be found in eastern North Carolina, ranging from twenty-five to about fifty acres, worth easily twice as much as any farm, from a half mile to a mile removed from the main business portion of the town would be worth."—Raleigh Times.

Senator J. L. Fleming, who is in the city on business before the Corporation Commission, speaking about the location of the Eastern Training School, said:

"Why not? Greenville not only spent lots of money and energy in convincing the Legislature of the necessity of such a school in Eastern North Carolina, during the sitting of the Legislature, but, afterwards, immediately went to work and voted in town and county a sufficient amount to meet the condition in the act establishing, the same, which was put in the act against the wishes of her representative, and offered the largest financial aid. Greenville is unquestionably the geographical centre of the territory to be served and as healthy and otherwise suitable a place as there is in Eastern State.

ROCK QUARRY.

Located Right Here in Greenville.

Did you know that there was a rock quarry right here in Greenville? It is a fact, and there is no telling what development may come out of it.

For sometime it has been known to a few that on property belonging to Mr. C. D. Rountree, lying along the railroad ravine between Third street and the river, there was sand rock in some quantities. When the company that is developing the property now known as Greenville Heights began looking about for suitable material to make a foundation for the granolithic sidewalks they examined into the merits of this sand rock and found it the very thing.

A deal was made with Mr. Rountree for the rock and the company commenced digging to get it out. The digging did not proceed far before blasting was found necessary, and this has led to the discovery that the deposit of sand rock in the ravine is something to demand attention.

Specimens of the rock have been brought to The Reflector office and some of them are as hard as flint. Already we have heard the suggestion that when Greenville gets ready for street paving this sand rock would make an ideal foundation for a cement surface. No doubt the entire hill side along the ravine and next to the river holds great quantities of this rock and there is no telling how much of it can be obtained there.

Red men meet tonight. Degree work and election of officers.

Trade Report.

Bradstreet's tomorrow will say for Richmond, Va. and vicinity which includes Greenville:

Manufacturers, jobbers and wholesalers in hats, caps and kindred lines are active, ordering has been liberal and from present indications this season will be a profitable one.

Wholesale dealers in dry goods have travelers out with fall samples and ordering has been satisfactory. Filling in orders were very light, but on the whole prospects are about as favorable as at a comparative period of last year.

The local produce market is devoid of special features: prices for most lines show a decline. Larger shipments of vegetables to Northern markets are noted. Reports from cotton growing districts are meagre but much more favorable than at any other time during the season. The wheat crop which is a good one is being harvested. Warm weather has greatly improved all growing crops and has given tone to retail trade. Collections show improvement.

North Carolina. Her sites are the prettiest and her transportation facilities the best. How can it be located anywhere else in the face of these conditions and the plain language of the statute providing for its location? Nine out of every ten reading and thinking people of the State, both in and out of the territory to be served, feel that Greenville ought to have it, and we have unbounded confidence in the wisdom and justice of our State Board."—Raleigh News and Observer.

Senator Fleming very correctly gives the situation in the foregoing interviews, and we believe that it is thus seen by the entire

AYDEN ITEMS.

Newsy Notes From a Hustling Town.

Ayden, N. C. June 23, 1907.

There is a force of railroad carpenters here repairing and doing other necessary work in and around the depot.

Several of our young men went to Farmville Tuesday to see a game of ball between Snow Hill and that town.

The police force of Ayden has been greatly enlarged by a reinforcement of two at a time around the corner at the home of Chief Alexander. They haven't donned their uniform yet, but have been playing at fist cuff so as to be in time.

Mrs. Bettie McCallister has been visiting Mrs. W. E. Hooks.

Tuesday morning a bear was seen in the neighborhood of Mr. Bryant Tripp's. Soon a cry was made. The neighbors, all grown and small, white and black, with every fice, bulldog and hound were on the scene. After a chase of six miles bruin took to a tree and was killed by a man named Mills. We could not learn its size, but those who saw it say it was a whopper.

Miss Olivia Cox, of Winterville, who has been on a visit to relatives here, returned to her home Tuesday.

D. Gibb is off on a pleasure trip to various summer resorts.

For a well behaved, gentlemanly set of boys the Snow Hill team and their friends who were with them yesterday cannot be excelled. They are a clever set.

Jeter Jackson returned Tuesday from Asheville where he had been as a representative of the Y. M. C. A. of Wake Forest. He reports a good time.

Miss Nancy Coward, of Greenville, is here on a visit.

George Dail came over Thursday from Snow Hill with the ball team and none seemed to enjoy the game more than he.

Miss Roe, a trained nurse from Washington, came Wednesday to be with master Ormond Edwards, a little son of W. M. Edwards, who has fever.

We are indebted to our relative and friend, Will Edward, for a handsome four in hand tie presented us yesterday. We certainly appreciate it and tender our sincerest thanks.

Herbert Hardee, of Greenville, has been here several days.

AYDEN-SNOW HILL.

In a very exciting game of ball Thursday afternoon at Ayden Snow Hill defeated Ayden by the score of 4 to 2. At no time was the game without interest from the time the first ball was thrown until the last man was caught stealing second. Minton did the twirling for Ayden, while Lane J, who pitched for Trinity college the past season, was in the box for Snow Hill. Below is the score by innings:

Ayden,	20000000	2
Snow Hill,	010201000	4
Hits:	Ayden 6, Snow Hill 3.
Errors:	Ayden 5, Snow Hill 4.
Struck out:	by Minton 7, by Lane 8.
Time of game	1.45.

Tent Theatre.

The Edsall tent had a large crowd Thursday night. Every performance gives entire satisfaction. The bill for to-night will be "Cuba's Vow." There will be a matinee Saturday afternoon and the night performance will close the engagement here.

Rev. Thomas Chapman will preach in the Delphia Moyer Chapel tonight, Saturday night, Sunday and Sunday, night 28th to 30th June, 1907. 2td.

TOWN MATTERS.

Alderman Hold Final Business Meeting.

Thursday night the board of alderman held the final business meeting of this fiscal year, six of the members being present. For the final meeting of the year that was not much business transacted.

None of the standing committees, except the finance committee, had any report to make. The finance committee reported that it had checked over the accounts of the two treasurers of the board of internal improvements which had in hand the construction of the water and light plant, and found it correct. An amount of about $600 left out of the original bond issue for improvements was turned over to the town treasures to apply to the sewerage fund.

The several officers made report of collections for the month. Accounts amounting to $1,117-12 were allowed and ordered paid.

EASTERN LEAGUE.

How The Games Stand.

Following is the result of Thursday's game:

At Washington:	Washington 1, Kinston 2.
At New Bern:	Rocky Mount 5, New Bern 3.
At Tarboro:	Tarboro 4, Wilson 2.

STANDING OF THE CLUBS.

	Won.	Lost.	Pct.

New Bern	5	8	38%
Tarboro	8	10	28%

And So It Goes.

Man that is born of woman is of few days and full of microbes. He goeth to school when a youngster and gets the seat of his pants paddled for something he didn't do until he is sick at heart. He groweth up like a weed in a back yard, and he soon reaches the age when he is composed largely of feet, freckles and an appetite for pie. About the time he gets too long for short trousers and not long enough for long ones he goeth away to college, learneth how to monkey with a three dollar mandolin and play whiskey poker. He cometh home a bigger fool than ever and marrieth a sweet young thing whose pa is supposed to be wealthy, but whom he subsequently ascertaineth couldn't buy the prize rooster at a county fair. He worrieth along from year to year, gradually acquiring offspring, until his house resembles a Sunday school class just before Christmas. He fretteth through the day and lieth awake at night trying to figure out how to keep himself and his dependent population out of the poor house. Efforts are rewarded by having his daughters run away and get married and bring him home a nice son-in-law every few days to feast at his board. His sons grow up and call him governor and set him back a five spot every day or two. About the time he has acquired enough lucre to make it worth while for his heirs to quarrel over, he contracts a cold and is hurried away before he has time to have a talk with his family, and as a finishing touch his sons blow in his estate on bad whiskey and hats.—Exchange.

There was a heavy rain early this morning.

A DASTARDLY CRIME ATTEMPTED BY BRUTE.

There Can be Only One Result if Fiend is Caught.

Yesterday morning about 8 o'clock at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Scott, very respectable people, living near Black Creek, a negro brute, dressed in overalls and cap, attempted to assault Mrs. Scott.

Only the prompt arrival of a party prevented the nefarious crime, for his hands clutched the lady's throat despite her screams and struggles to release herself from his grasp.

The negro ran and parties armed with guns are scouring the woods searching every nook and corner.

If caught speedy work will follow, for the men of Black Creek township are excited and determined.

Mrs. Scott, whose husband we cannot learn at this writing, because of a storm, preventing the use of the wires, is not hurt, but considerably frightened.

The negro is believed to be one of the floating railroad gang that is engaged in building the Raleigh and Pamlico Sound Railroad.—Wilson Times.

Half a Thousand Lives Lost in the Burning of a Theatre.

Victoria, B. C., June 27.—A horrible holocaust is reported in advices from Hong Kong, where 500 Chinese of the audience of a Chinese theatre and ten of the actors were burned to death when the native theatre was destroyed by fire.

The flames spread rapidly and the building collapsed, blocking the entrance with burning debris. The origin of the fire is said to have been due to the igniting of explosive concealed under the floor of the theatre. The fire followed the explosion.

LOCAL BRIEFS.

Law About Tobacco Sales.

Commissioner of Agriculture S. L. Patterson is preparing to put into operation the act of the last legislature for the regulation of statistics of leaf tobacco sold in the leaf-tobacco warehouses in the State, the act being effective August 1. All warehouses are required to make these reports to the commissioner and the blanks and letters of instruction are to be mailed out in a few days.

One prime object is to get more accurately the original sales as differentiated from the resales. Violations of the act by any warehouseman is punishable by $500 fine and imprisonment at the discretion of the court. These reports are to be published in the bulletin of the agricultural department and in one or more journals published in the interest of the growth and sale of tobacco.

An Old Custom.

An old custom of great antiquity still prevails in the town of Oakham, in Rutlandshire, says the Dundee Advertiser. Every peer of the realm passing near the castle which was built by Walkelin de Ferrers is expected to deliver a shoe from the foot of one of his horses or to pay a fine in default. The fine usually takes the form of an ornamental horseshoe, often surmounted by the coronet of the peer presenting it. The total number of shoes at present in possession of the local authorities is 300, and among the most valued are those presented by Queen Elizabeth, King George IV., Queen Victoria and Queen Alexandra.

Whiskers.

"Whiskers" was a word formerly used to designate the hair on the upper lip. Scott more than once speaks of "whiskers on the upper lip," and so does Defoe in "Robinson Crusoe." Johnson defined a "whisker" as "the hair growing on the upper lip or cheek unshaven, a mustachio." It seems to have taken its name from a fancied resemblance to a small brush, to "whisk" properly meaning to sweep, and a "whisker" having been a particular kind of feather brush; also, in the slang of a former time, a switch or rod. In the seventeenth century a "whisker" signified, among other things, a brazen lie, a "whopper."

Recipe For Good Manners.

Of unselfishness, three drams; of the tincture of good cheer, one ounce; of the essence of heart's ease, three drams; of the extract of rose of Sharon, four ounces; of the oil of charity, three drams and no scruples; of the infusion of common sense and tact, one ounce; of the spirit of love, two ounces. The mixture recommends Sabia A. Oliver, in the London Gentlewoman, to be taken when there is the slightest symptom of selfishness, exclusiveness,anness or I-am-better-than-youness.

FRIDAY JUNE 28th 1907.

Texas has sent forward the first bale of new crop cotton and it brought 40 cents a pound at auction in New York.

The fall summer weather was not in long business before reports began coming from some of the cities of people dying from heat.

Hon. Williams Jennings Bryan is to visit North Carolina again. It is announced that he is to speak at the State fair in Raleigh Oct. 17th.

The testimony shows that Judge Loving was considerable of a booze artist, and the pity of it is his daughter seems to have inherited a taste for it.

The American Tobacco Company listed for taxation in Durham over $6,000,000 worth of tobacco stored in that city. No wonder Durham is glad to have the A. T. Co. around.

At this writing we have not learned the reason of the State Board of Education postponing the location of the Eastern training school, but take it for granted that it had a good one. At the same time we believe every town interested will be glad when the decision comes to a close.

The contest of the railroads against the 2 1/2 passenger fare law passed by the last legislature is being heard before U. S. Judge J. C. Prichard in Asheville. The outcome of the case is watched with interest as the result will show to what extent the States have power to regulate railroad traffic.

Congressman E. W. Pou, of the Raleigh district, declares that he is not ready to pull out and quit the race. Because of the condition of his health it was hinted that he would not stand for nomination again, and forthwith candidates began to announce themselves as willing to take the honor. Mr. Pou's statement may put some of them out of the race.

It will doubtless interest hundreds of our farmer readers to know that Prof. W. F. Massey, so long an unsuccessful identified with the Practical Farmer, has severed his connection with that paper and will hereafter write regularly for The Progressive Farmer, of Raleigh, N. C. Certainly no man in Southern agricultural work has won a greater following than Prof. Massey, and as his life work has been in the South, he will hereafter contribute only to Southern farm papers. His letters will appear in The Progressive Farmer each week.

"A New Man In Town."
 L. J. Eastwood, who has had the management of the Christian Lumber Co., here, has resigned and gone to Cuero, where the company has more extensive interests. Mr. Eastwood is a young man of fine business ability, coupled with a high sense of honor and justice to all, which, during his brief stay in Alice endeared him to all with whom he was associated, either in business or the social life, and all regret to lose him, but wish him continued prosperity in his new field of labor.

Mr. J. B. Jarvis, of Greenville North Carolina, has accepted the position made vacant by Mr. Eastwood's resignation, and he and Mr. Shultz have the joint management. Mr. Jarvis began his duties the latter part of the week. He has had considerable experience in this line, having, prior to coming here, held the responsible position as assistant manager for the Dent Lumber Co. at Veneer, La. He comes highly recommended as a young man of splendid business ability and moral worth, and will doubtless fill his position in a very satisfactory manner. We welcome him to Alice.—Alice Texas Echo.

It always gives The Reflector pleasure to not the success of a Greenville boy.

Sour Stomach

No appetite, loss of strength, nervousness, headache, constipation, bad breath, general debility, sour risings, and catarrh of the stomach are all due to indigestion. Kodol relieves indigestion. This new discovery represents the natural juices of digestion as they exist in a healthy stomach, combined with the greatest known tonic and reconstructive properties. Kodol for dyspepsia does not only relieve indigestion and dyspepsia, but this famous remedy helps all stomach troubles by cleansing, purifying, sweetening and strengthening the mucous membranes lining the stomach.

Mr. S. S. Ball, of Ravenswood, W. Va., says: "I was troubled with sour stomach for twenty years. Kodol cured me and we are now using it in milk for baby."

His Third Marriage.
 An interesting case of the superstition regarding the third time is given by a Lahore paper. An inhabitant of the city of Badaon (upper Burma) lost two wives in quick succession and was about to contract a third marriage when he received the following mandate from the relations of the bride: "We are told that when a man has already lost two wives his third also dies very soon. In order to satisfy the angel of death you are requested to marry a doll, and thereafter come and marry our daughter, who should be your fourth wife and not your third." The man did as he was told. He married the doll, then gave out that she was dead, buried her with great pomp, and proceeded to marry his fourth wife.

A Dry Bath.
 A Scotchman was once advised to take shower baths. A friend explained to him how to fit up one by the use of a cistern and colander, and Sandy accordingly set to work and had the thing done at once. Subsequently he was met by the friend who had given him the advice and, being asked how he enjoyed the bath, "Man," said he, "it was fine! I liked it rale weel and kept myself quite dry too." Being asked how he managed to take the shower and yet remain quite dry he replied, "Dod, ye dinna surely think I was sae daft as to stand below the water without an umbrella?"—London Answers.

Don't Run From Hornets.
 Last summer Ned went to the country to visit his Cousin Will, and one day the two boys walked out into the woods. They were sitting on a log poking around with a stick when suddenly a crowd of yellow jackets swarmed out from a hole intent upon punishing the disturbers of their peace. Ned took to his heels and ran, waving his hat in all directions, while Will stood perfectly still. The bees pursued poor Ned and stung him frightfully and paid absolutely no attention to Will.

This will invariably happen. If you keep perfectly quiet bees will seldom attack you, but if you run they will surely follow.

Deafness Cannot be Cured
 by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.
 We will give One hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh cure. Send for circulars, free.

Bob Barber, of Elton, Wis., says "I have only taken four doses of your Kidney and Bladder Pills and they have done for me more than any other medicine has ever done. I am still taking the pills as I want a perfect cure." Mr. Barber refers to DeWitt's Kidney and Bladder Pills, which are unequalled for backache, weak kidney, inflammation of the bladder and all urinary troubles. A week's treatment for 25c. Sold by J. L. Wooten's Drug Store.

A man's idea of a close friend is one who will loosen up occasionally.

There is no case of indigestion, no matter how irritable or how obstinate that will not be speedily relieved by the use of Kodol. The main factor in curing the stomach of any disorder is rest, and the only way to get rest is to actually digest the food for the stomach itself. Kodol will do it. It is a scientific preparation of vegetable acids containing the very same juices found in a healthy stomach. It conforms to the Pure Food and Drugs Law. Sold by John L. Wooten.

Music has charms in the country where the houses are a mile apart.

All stomach trouble are quickly relieved by taking a little Kodol after each meal. Kodol goes directly to the seat of the trouble, strengthens the digestive organs, supplies the natural digestive juices and digests what you eat. It is a simple, clean, pure, harmless remedy. Don't neglect your stomach. Take a little Kodol after each meal and see how good it makes you feel. Money back if it fails. Sold by John L. Wooten.

It isn't always the cheerful man who does the most cheering.

Dr. Shoop's Health Coffee Imitation is made from pure toasted grains or cereals, with Malt, Nuts, etc. Made in a minute. No tedious wait. You will surely like it. Sold by T. F. Hooker & Co.

It's a pity that poets can't live on food for reflection.

I will mail you free, to prove merit, samples of my Dr. Shoop's Restorative, and my Book on either Dyspepsia, The Heart or The Kidneys. Troubles of the Stomach, Heart or Kidneys, are merely symptoms of a deeper ailment. Don't make the common error of treating symptoms only. Symptom treatment is treating the result of your ailment, and not the cause. Weak Stomach nerves—the inside nerves—mean Stomach weakness, always. And the Heart, and Kidneys as well, have their controlling or inside nerves. Weaken these nerves, and you inevitably have weak vital organs. Here is where Dr. Shoop's Restorative has made its fame. No other remedy even claims to treat the "inside nerves". Also for bloating, biliousness, bad breath or complexion, use Dr. Shoop's Restorative. Write to-day for sample and free Book. Dr. Shoop, Racine, Wis. The Restorative is sold by Bryans Drug Store.

Many a married man sil-is a ent hero.

Mothers who give their children Kennedy's Laxative Cough Syrup invariably endorse it. Children like it because the taste is so pleasant. Contains honey and tar. It is the original laxative cough syrup and is unrivaled for the relief of croup. Drives the cold out through the bowels. Conforms to the Pure Food and Drug Law. Sold by Jno. L. Wooten.

BOYS WANTED.

"Boy Wanted" is a sign that is seen more frequently in the windows of business places now than for many years, according to the Philadelphia Record. Business men of all classes and conditions are complaining of the scarcity of boys of a suitable age who are willing to work, and a bright, active lad of the legal age will find no trouble in securing his choice of any number of good offers. The reasons advanced for the scarcity are varied. Some men of business say it is a direct result of the labor laws, which keep a boy from working as young as was formerly possible. There are many offices in which a boy is required to act only as messenger, and the wages are not sufficient to attract a boy of the age required by law. Others say that the lack of working boys is due to the prosperity of the masses of the people, making wage earning by the younger members of the family less a matter of necessity than it was years ago.

History of Creased Trousers.

"Did you ever hear the history of the crease now uniformly worn in trousers and occasionally extending to the sleeves of coats? No. Well, it's a funny one. In former years creased trousers were the signs of a hand me down suit," says a fashionable tailor. "One day while on his way in a carriage to the Goodwood races, in England, King Edward happened to spill a glass of red wine on his light fawn colored broadcloth trousers, and, unwilling to return to the palace, he stopped at a ready-made clothing store and bought a pair. In his haste he could not wait to have the creases ironed out. As a consequence he was seen at the races with creased trousers. The fashion was set, and it has stayed ever since. Yes, we're all—that is, all men—subjects of King Edward in a sartorial sense. Fortunately he is a careful dresser or the consequences might be serious." — Philadelphia Record.

Tobacco in Colonial Days.

The Jamestown exposition brings to mind many incidents showing the important part which tobacco played in the early history of the country. It was the famous James Rolfe, the husband of Pocahontas, who first adopted from the Indians the idea of cultivating tobacco, and he sold his first crop in London for $2.50 a pound. Shortly afterward it became a form of currency in the colony, and before the century was out the women went trading, followed by a cart of green tobacco in charge of their servants. On one occasion anyway this tobacco currency exercised a transcendently important function. In 1619 there came to Jamestown a shipload of maidens as wives for the settlers, and the price set upon each damsel was 120 pounds of tobacco.—Exchange.

A Young Man's Essay.

About forty years ago the adjudicators of the Arnold historical essay prize at Oxford university were wearily plowing through the usual lot of commonplace compositions when they suddenly lighted on one which was not commonplace. The subject was "The Holy Roman Empire," and it is not too much to say that these cynical dons were electrified to enthusiasm. Hastily awarding it the prize, they opened the sealed envelope and found that it was the work of one James Bryce, aged twenty-five, who is now British minister to the United States. His essay has been reproduced in several languages and to this day is a standard on the subject.

He Didn't Care.

The usual large crowd was gathered at the New York end of the Brooklyn bridge waiting for trolley cars. An elderly lady, red in the face, flustered and fussy, dug her elbows into convenient ribs irrespective of owners. A fat man on her left was the recipient of a particularly vicious jab. She yelled at him, "Say!" He winced slightly and moved to one side. She, too, sidestepped and thumped him vigorously on the back. "Say," she persisted, "does it make any difference which of these cars I take to Greenwood cemetery?" "Not to me, madam," he answered, slipping through an opening in the crowd.—Bellman.

Maxims of Medical Value.

The bulletin of the Kansas state board of health contains some maxims which, while at first thought seem somewhat out of place in such a publication, really have a therapeutic application. Here they are: Get busy. Monotony kills. Faith in one's cause is half the battle. Nine-tenths of your troubles are imaginary. Turn it around. Look at the other side. You have mistaken the purpose of your grindstone if you are holding your nose to it.

are caused by indigestion. If you eat a little too much, or if you are subject to attacks of indigestion, you have no doubt had shortness of breath, rapid heart beats, heartburn or palpitation of the heart. Indigestion causes the stomach to expand—swell, and puff up, against the heart. This crowds the heart and interferes with its action, and in the course of time the heart becomes diseased.

Kodol Dyspepsia Cure

digests what you eat, takes the strain off of the heart, and contributes nourishment, strength and health to every organ of the body. Cures Indigestion, Dyspepsia, Sour Stomach, Inflammation of the mucous membranes lining the Stomach and Digestive Tract, Nervous Dyspepsia and Catarrh of the Stomach.

After eating, my food would distress me by making my heart palpitate and I would become very weak. Finally I got a bottle of Kodol and it gave me immediate relief. After using a few bottles I am cured. MRS. LORING N CHOLS, Penn Yan, N. Y.

I had stomach trouble and was in a bad state as I had heart trouble with it. I took Kodol Dyspepsia Cure for about four months and it cured me. D. KAUBLE, Nevada, O.

Weak Women

To weak and ailing women, there is at least one way to help. But with that way, two treatments, must be combined. One is local, one is constitutional, but both are important, both essential. Dr. Shoop's Night Cure is the Local. Dr. Shoop's Restorative, the Constitutional. The former—Dr. Shoop's Night Cure—is a topical mucous membrane suppository remedy, while Dr. Shoop's Restorative is wholly an internal treatment. The Restorative reaches throughout the entire system, seeking the repair of all nerve, all tissue, and all blood ailments. The "Night Cure", as its name implies, does its work while you sleep. It soothes sore and inflamed mucous surfaces, heals local weaknesses and discharges, while the Restorative, secures nervous excitement, gives renewed vigor and ambition, builds up wasted tissues, bringing about renewed strength, vigor, and energy. Take Dr. Shoop's Restorative—Tablets or Liquid—as a general tonic to the system. For positive local help, use as well

"WHO FEARS TO SPEAK OF '98?"

When the late John Kells Ingram, formerly senior fellow and vice-provost of Trinity college, Dublin, wrote the ballad "Who Fears to Speak of Ninety-eight?" by which he was so well known, he was a young student in his twentieth year. A writer in the Manchester Guardian tells that about the time when the ballad appeared preparations were being made for the arrest and prosecution of the "Young Irelanders" for high treason. The whole tone of Trinity college was then, as it is now, anti-Irish, and the college authorities took the alarm. His own friends and relations joined in persuading Ingram not to write any more ballads. The result of the influences brought to bear upon the youthful poet was that he never again wrote a word of what may be called Irish national literature. It is said that in after life he was anxious to let it be known that he had ceased to entertain the views of his student days, and a Dublin wag once said that the true answer to the question, "Who fears to speak of ninety-eight?" was "John Kells Ingram." But this imputation seems to be without foundation. — Westminster Gazette.

Mme. Marchesi.

In my opinion the greatest living teacher of singing is Mme. Marchesi of Paris. I think her a marvel of scientific method and when she goes from us we shall have lost a personality impossible to replace. The spirit of her method—derived in turn from old Manuel Garcia and directly through him from the long line of Italian masters—may be crudely summarized as follows: "Change to the middle notes on F. Begin the head notes on F sharp, and once on the head notes always sing pianissimo." While with her I took only three short lessons every week. But I worked eight hours a day studying theory, tradition and technique—the old Italian technique that tells a pupil how to "filare il tuono"—to spin a tone as subtly and delicately as a spider spins its almost impalpable web of silk.—Nellie Melba in Century.

The Wood We Use.

Every person in the United States is using over six times as much wood as he would use if he were in Europe. The country as a whole consumes every year between three and four times as much wood as all of the forests of the United States grow in the meantime. The average acre of forest lays up a store of only ten cubic feet annually, whereas it ought to be laying up at least thirty cubic feet in order to furnish the products taken out of it. Since 1880 more than 700,000,000,000 feet of timber have been cut out for lumber alone, including 80,000,000,000 feet of coniferous timber in excess of the total coniferous stumpage estimate of the census in 1880.—Caspar Whitney in Outing Magazine.

CLIMBING A CLIFF.

A Moment of Extreme Peril and an Odd Substitute For a Rope.

Major John W. Powell, whose right arm was shot off during the civil war, undertook and brought to a successful issue one of the most daring feats of modern times. While making his explorations of the canyons of the Colorado river in 1869, says the author of "The Masters of Fate," he was called upon to face great dangers and toils. His own account of his explorations gives some idea of the difficulties encountered.

"I have a barometer on my back, which rather impedes my climbing. The walls of the fissure are smooth limestone, offering neither foot nor hand hold, so I support myself by pressing my back against one wall and my knees against the other, and in this way lift my body in a shuffling manner a few feet at a time until I have perhaps made twenty-five feet of the distance, when the crevice widens a little, and I cannot press my knees against the rocks in front with sufficient power to give me support in lifting my body, and I try to go back. This I cannot do without falling. So I struggle along sideways farther into the crevice, where it narrows.

"I find I can get up no farther and cannot get back, for I dare not let go with my hand and cannot reach foothold below. I call to Bradley for help. He cannot reach me. Then he looks around for some stick or limb of a tree, but finds none. The moment is critical. Standing on my toes, my muscles begin to tremble. If I lose my hold I shall fall to the bottom and then perhaps roll over the bench and tumble still farther down the cliff. "At this instant it occurs to Bradley to take off his trousers, which he does, and swings them down to me. I hug close to the rock, let go with my hand, seize the dangling legs, and with this assistance I am enabled to get to the top."
