

KIN WEL SENDS CONGRATULATIONS.

Wishes Success of Greenville and The Training School

The first congratulatory message that came to Greenville after the news that the Eastern training school had been located here, was a telegram last night from the mayor of Kinston to the mayor of Greenville, the spirit of which is much appreciated here. Kinston was regarded as our strongest competitor for the school, and was the town that Greenville feared most in the contest, and it is gratifying to note that the contest has closed with no ill feeling left behind. The telegram was as follows:

Kinston, N. C., July 10.
Frank M. Wooten, Mayor.

Greenville, N. C.
Heartiest congratulations on your victory. Success to Greenville training school.

W. D. Laroque, Jr. Mayor.
Mayor Wooten replied by letter this morning, and well expresses the sentiment of the people of Greenville. His letter was as follows:

Greenville N. C. July 11th.
Hon. W. D. Laroque, Mayor,
Kinston, N. C.

My Dear Mr. Laroque:

I am deeply grateful to you and your people for the spirit which prompted the sending to Greenville your very satisfying congratulatory telegram of yesterday. The message will be published today, that the people of Greenville may share alike, gratitude for this splendid spirit and kind expression of yours.

I am very gratefully yours,
F. M. Wooten, Mayor

The Mills Monument.

We desire in this public way and on this special occasion to add our unqualified endorsement to the proposition by Mr. C. B. Edwards that a monument be inaugurated for the erection of a suitable monument to John H. Mills, the founder of the orphanage work in North Carolina.

In the face of smiling incredulity (the hardest opposition in the world to overcome) this great-hearted humanitarian struggled on until he had laid an enduring basis on which is resting the present magnificent work for orphan children in North Carolina. No State in the South is so well organized or doing such efficient work in this direction.

We are coming to honor more and more the men who have wrought nobly for our State. Our capitol square in Raleigh is growing rich with the memorials of our grateful affection. How immensely richer it would become if the rugged form of Jack Mills, with hands outstretched to the children at his feet, had a place in this Mecca of our devotion to our dead!

We have no suggestion to offer. In view of the mighty work done by this man we are constrained to join our voices with those who have spoken in behalf of this monument, and we hope from the heart of our State, which Mills so often touched, there will come a response so strong and earnest that the work of love will be speedily begun.—Charity and Children.

GREENVILLE GETS THE SCHOOL.

Will Be Located on the Harrington Property.

Greenville has been awarded the Eastern Carolina Training School for Teachers, authorized by the last legislature, and it will be located on 43 acres of the Harrington property on the east side of the town.

This fact was settled by the State Board of Education at the meeting held in Raleigh Wednesday. We had looked to the Raleigh News and Observer today for a full report of the meeting of the board, but owing to a misconnection of trains the paper failed to come on the noon mail so we give it as told us by some of the gentlemen from Greenville who were present.

The board held an open session beginning at 10 o'clock, read the bids from all the towns and heard any of the representatives of the towns who were present and desired to speak. This open meeting lasted about three hours, when the board went into executive session. The board carefully considered all the details of the bids of the competing towns, and at a little past 4 o'clock announced their decision as Greenville on the Harrington property.

The decision for Greenville meets the approval of almost the entire State, and the Harrington site gives more satisfaction to the people here than any other offered. The site is a beautiful one and on it the school will compare with any institution in the State. Greenville and Pitt county are delighted that the school comes here, and later the occasion will be appropriately celebrated.

The Self-Made Man.

As a rule when a man rises from poverty to wealth, from obscurity to eminence, from an exalted position, he is pointed out as a self-made man. In the strictest sense, there are no self-made men. And about the most haughty and unbecoming man you ever find is one who thinks that he is self-made. Self does not make any man, but it un-makes many a one. Self stands in the way and obstructs the man. He who seizes his opportunity and makes the most of it, is the man who comes to usefulness and influence. We were struck most forcibly with this paragraph in the Sunday School Times recently "Self never made a man, though we hear a good deal of talk to the contrary. A railroad president who is widely known for his sensible, keen-piercing comments on life and character, Mr. Lucius F. Tuttle of the Boston & Maine Railroad, said recently at a banquet of Railroad Y. M. C. A. men: "I am tired of hearing about self-made men. There is not a self-made man in the world. The so-called self-made man is the man who has seized his God-given opportunities, and these given him by circumstances, and has made use of them." And the man who can best use his God-given opportunities is the man who turns away from self to God for strength to sink in the service of others.—Ex.

Come to Greenville.

The thing to do now is buy a lot in Greenville as soon as possible, take stock in the building and loan association and get ready to own a home here. There will not be a time you can do this as cheaply as now, and the longer you wait the higher you will find property.

PERSONAL POINTS.

People who Come and Go

W. B. Wilson went up the road this morning.

Mrs. Whit Hardee went to Scotland Neck today.

Mrs. W. B. Wilson returned today from Littleton.

Rev. W. E. Cox returned this morning from Grifton.

J. F. Stokes and family left this morning for Danville.

Mrs. Florence Dancy left this morning for Bristol, Tenn., to visit her son.

Misses Jamie Bryan and Ethel Skinner left this morning for a visit to Reidsville.

Miss Rosa Dail, of Snow Hill, is visiting Mrs. Josiah Dixon and Mrs. J. L. Sugg.

Mrs. F. G. Whaley, of Shermidine, passed through this morning going to Suffolk.

Jack Perry, of Kinston, came over Wednesday evening to visit Hugh Ragsdale and returned home today.

N. G. White returned Wednesday evening from Greensboro. His brother, Hazel came with him for a visit here.

W. H. Ragsdale, F. G. James and J. L. Fleming returned today from Raleigh where they had been in the interest of the training school.

Trade Report.

Bradstreet's to-morrow will say for Richmond, Va. and vicinity which includes Greenville.

Wholesale dealers in food manufacturers of drugs and sundries have had a successful season and future prospects are encouraging. Manufacturers of flavoring extracts and specialties here have extended their territory and foreign shipments are noted. Those engaged in this line are working at full capacity and ordering for the summer season has been liberal. Wholesalers of dry goods continue to receive satisfactory orders for fall shipments, but few filling-in orders are noted.

The weather generally is favorable for growing crops, in some sections rain is needed. The wheat and hay crop, both of which are fair to good are being harvested. Collections are fair. Retail trade is more active. The usual end season dullness is on in the produce market and prices for most all lines show a decline this week. Larger shipments of southern melons are noted.

New Buyer For A. T. Co.

Mr. W. R. Watson has come to Greenville to represent the American Tobacco Company as buyer on this market. Mr. Watson was formerly of Warrenton, but for the last five years has been in Darlington, S. C., where he bought for the same company. The Darlington papers recommend him most highly to the people of Greenville and he is assured of a cordial welcome to this town. He will move his family here in September.

Tobacco Ahead of Cotton.

We heard Mr. Henry Harris, of Falkland, say that riding along the road from his home to Greenville he saw more acres of tobacco than of cotton, and that he never saw tobacco looking better nor cotton looking poorer. This seems to be the condition over most of the county, tobacco being reported better than any other crop this season.

Three Professions Poorly Paid.

It is easy for almost anyone to conclude that he belongs to the class of persons who are poorly paid, or at least not paid as well as other people, considering the services he renders to the world. But sometimes one can look at such matters not purely from a personal or interested standpoint, but from the point of view which shows how others than himself are affected. Some days ago we heard two gentlemen of considerable observation discussing the remuneration which certain classes and professions receive for their labors of various kinds, and they agreed that the three most poorly paid professions are the teacher, the editor and the preacher. And the further observation was made that the men in these three professions have done more for humanity, and are still doing more, in uplifting, educating and maintaining a true moral standard than any other three professions that can be named.

And when one comes to think of it, the conclusion is quite reasonable and we do not seriously question it. Taking into consideration the needful preparation that men must make for these professions before they can serve the world to the best advantage, it is perhaps true that almost every other profession is better paid. Perhaps fewer men in these professions accumulate good estates than in any other which furnish employment to men of equal ability and application. There is one thing that cannot be successfully questioned, and that is that the teachers, the editors and the preachers of the land are more unselfish in their services than many other.

No one who has not engaged in these professions, or made close observation of them, has any idea of the demands made without any thought of remuneration. Seldom does one even consult a lawyer without having to pay for the advice secured, and certainly if the lawyer does any service it has to be paid for. The same thing holds true concerning the physician, and we are not condemning it; for it is right that these professions and others also should be paid for services. But the three professions here discussed are not only set at lower figures, but are asked for more gratuitous service than perhaps any other.—Scotland Neck Commonwealth.

THE GREAT CITIES.

Of the world's great cities Paris has the greatest number of inhabitants per acre. For its 2,731,000 inhabitants an area of only 19,275 acres is available, so that each acre has 142 inhabitants.

Berlin is almost as thickly populated, inasmuch as its city ground (now almost entirely built up) comprises only 15,568 acres, and in this space 2,034,000 people live, or 131 to each acre.

The conditions are considerably better in London, where 4,536,000 people live in an area of 75,370 acres, or 60 to the acre.

Vienna has only 39 inhabitants per acre, the city ground comprising 42,503 acres and the population being 1,675,000.

Of the great cities New York has the smallest ratio of population to the acre. Its 3,716,000 inhabitants have an area of 203,866 acres (by far the largest city territorially in the world), so that there are 18 people to an acre.

Why He Was Spared.

A motor bus without passengers came tearing into the Boulevard des Capucines, Paris, from a side street, ran into a cab, knocked it to pieces and threw over the horse, the cabman having luckily just got down, lurched across the road, then back again, spreading terror, hurtled off into the Rue Drouot, apparently bent on demolishing the Figaro offices, but changed its mind and charged into a bakery at the corner of the Rue Rossini. It stopped at last in a wreckage of loaves, rolls and broken glass. By a miracle no one had been hurt. But the crowd which had collected was in a temper to damage the chauffeur. He was dragged out of his seat, and things looked ugly for him. But he yelled: "Surre me! It was my first trial trip!" And the crowd was tickled and disarmed.—Paris Cor. London Telegraph.

FOR THE LITTLE ONES.

Strong Muddled Boys and Girls Will Find Turtle Game Amusing.

Any number may play turtle, and no one player is "it," for all are "it" together. The game commences by each choosing the kind of a turtle he intends to be. One perhaps is a land tortoise, another a snapper, another a mud turtle, and so on. Then they all sit in a row, resting their chins on their knees and each holding his left ankle with his right hand and his right ankle with his left hand. This is a very difficult position to keep. At a given signal the turtles start for a goal, a short distance away. It is the object of the game for the turtles to waddle to the goal and go back to the starting point without removing their hands from their feet. Many let go before the proper moment; the others shout, "Don't turtle," and keep on, leaving their unfortunate companion in the background. The rules of the game demand that he wait there until the first successful racer reaches him on his way back and touches him with his elbow, by which he is supposed to instill new life into the poor dead turtle. The latter immediately starts out again and finishes in the best style he can. As there are always several dead turtles, he is never lonely in his effort to succeed. The winner is, of course, the one who returns to the starting place first.

The District of Columbia.

The District of Columbia since 1878 has been governed by three commissioners, all of whom are appointed by the president and confirmed by the senate. Congress makes all laws for the District. Citizens of the District have no vote for national officers. There is but one government for the entire District, with which the city of Washington is now considered as co-extensive.

GREENVILLE GETS TRAINING SCHOOL.

About 4:30 o'clock Wednesday afternoon the first news came unofficially through the telegraph and telephone offices that the State Board of Education had selected Greenville as the location for the Eastern Carolina Training School for Teachers, and some later this was confirmed by telegrams to The Reflector and several citizens. People had been waiting since 10 a. m. around the telegraph and Reflector offices, and call after call from the town and all parts of the county had been made over the phone for news, and as soon as a bulletin was put up announcing that Greenville had been selected there was general rejoicing.

The contest for the school has been long and earnest, continuing through six months, and it is cause for congratulation that Greenville has won the prize. This town and county made a vigorous campaign for it, yet everything was done on a high plane and without bitterness or hard feeling. Other towns also contested earnestly to win the school, as they had a perfect right to do, and while the contest was warm Greenville carefully avoided saying or doing anything to the detriment of any other place seeking it. Now that it is all over, except building and opening the school, all should come together and help make it what Greenville and Pitt county have determined it shall be, the pride of Eastern North Carolina.

While many of our citizens have done nobly their part toward securing the school, the people of Greenville and Pitt county can never repay ex-Gov. T. J. Jarvis and County Superintendent W. H. Ragsdale for what they did in bringing it here. Without the efforts of these two gentlemen we do not believe Greenville would have gotten the school.

Greenville is on the spot with the goods.

Now you watch Greenville and Pitt county push ahead of any town and county in the East.

All the other competing towns have an invitation in advance to come to Greenville to the corner stone laying of the Eastern Training school. Greenville and Pitt county will cordially welcome them and show them there is no unkind feeling arising from the contest.

The price of oil has advanced again so the company will be ready to pay Rockefeller's fine out of the pockets of the people.

If the training school matter had been much further prolonged some of the sites offered for it might have served the State will as the location for an insane asylum.

The Observer as a correction for the hot weather suggests a session of the legislature to pass a law That would be in keeping with present ideas. It is certain that we have only a limited number of ways of relief. Pass a law is one—sue the company is piece other; that is about all to be relied on in serious times.—Concord Tribune.

You boys don't seem to have cut your wisdom teeth. If you want the hot weather stopped why don't you apply to a Federal judge for a restraining order? Passing a law is not a dodge to that.

Nature Study

With a heart attuned to "nature study," a little Hingham girl in the Canadian north exclaimed, "Yah, teacher, it's so beautiful on our prairie, where the birds and the small sheep run about rax." It is this girl's brother who states, "Plumage is the foliage of a parrot or hen."—Century.

The Humorous Governor.

When Wolcott was governor of Massachusetts his youngest son, Oliver, was in one of the primary classes of a school. The teacher was one day asking questions of her little pupils, to give them a chance to show what they knew about one thing and another, for the entertainment of a lady who was visiting the school, and she finally inquired:

"Can any one tell me who is the governor of Massachusetts?" No one could tell, not even little Oliver. The teacher then told every one of the pupils when he got home to ask his father, so as to be ready to tell her the next day. Accordingly when the class assembled the following morning she gave out the question, calling on Oliver to see what he might have to say about it. Oliver answered: "Pa says he's the governor. But I don't believe it, 'cause he's always making fun of everythin'."

He Won the Pie.

When Barham, the author of "The Ingoldsby Legends," was a boy at Canterbury, he, in company with a juvenile companion, entered a Quakers' meeting house, and looking around at the grave assemblage, held up a penny tart and said solemnly, "Whoever speaks first shall have this pie." "Go thy way," said a drab colored gentleman, rising, "go thy way and"—"The pie's yours, sir, exclaimed Barham, and, hastily dropping it before the speaker, made his escape.

Not For Him.

A quiet and retiring citizen occupied a seat near the door of a crowded car when a masterful stout woman entered.

Having no newspaper behind which to hide, he was eyed and scrutinized by her glittering eye. He rose and offered his place to her. Seating herself without thanking him—she exclaimed in tones that reached to the farthest end of the car:

"What do you want to stand up there for? Come here and sit on my lap." "Madam," gasped the man as his face became scarlet, "I beg your pardon, I—"

"What do you mean?" shrieked the woman. "You know very well I was speaking to my niece there behind you."—Ladies' Home Journal.

The Host Could Not Leave.

At a large evening party one of the guests stood in a corner yawning.

"Are you very much bored, sir?" asked his neighbor. "Yes, dreadfully," was the answer. "And you?" "Oh, I am bored to death too." "How would it do, to clear out together?" "I am sorry I can't. I am the host."

A Discrepancy.
Two sailors, one Irish, the other English, agreed to take care of each other in case of either being wounded in the battle of Trafalgar. It was not long before the Englishman's leg was shot off by a cannon ball, and Paddy took him up to carry him to the doctor, according to their agreement, but had scarcely got his companion on his back when a second ball struck off the poor fellow's head. Paddy, through the noise and bustle, had not perceived his friend's last misfortune, but continued to make the best of his way to the surgeon. An officer, observing him with the headless trunk, asked him where he was going. "To the doctor," says Paddy. "The doctor!" says the officer. "Why, the man has lost his head." On hearing this the Irishman laid the body down and looked at it attentively. "That's strange," he said, "more than strange. Why, he told me 'twas his leg!"

are caused by indigestion. If you eat a little too much, or if you are subject to attacks of indigestion, you have no doubt had shortness of breath, rapid heart beats, heartburn or palpitation of the heart. Indigestion causes the stomach to expand—swell, and puff up against the heart. This crowds the heart and interferes with its action, and in the course of time the heart becomes diseased.

Kodol

digests what you eat, takes the strain off of the heart, and contributes nourishment, strength and health to every organ of the body. Cures indigestion, Dyspepsia, Sour Stomach, Inflammation of the mucous membranes lining the Stomach and Digestive Tract, Nervous Dyspepsia and Catarrh of the Stomach.

After eating, my food would distress me by making my heart palpitate and I would become very weak. Finally I got a bottle of Kodol and it gave me immediate relief. After using a few bottles I am cured.
MRS. LORING N. GHOLS, Penn Yan, N. Y.

I had stomach trouble and was in a bad state as I had heart trouble with it. I took Kodol Dyspepsia Cure for about four months and I cured myself.

Weak Women

To weak and ailing women, there is at least one way to help. But with that way, two treatments must be combined. One is local, one is constitutional, but both are important, both essential. Dr. Shoop's Night Cure is the local. Dr. Shoop's Restorative, the Constitutional. The former—Dr. Shoop's Night Cure—is a topical mucous membrane suppository remedy, while Dr. Shoop's Restorative is wholly an internal treatment. The Restorative reaches throughout the entire system, seeking the repair of all nerve, all tissue, and all blood elements. The "Night Cure", as its name implies, does its work while you sleep. It soothes sore and irritated mucous surfaces, heals local weaknesses and discharges, while the Restorative, ceases nervous excitement, gives renewed vigor and ambition, builds up wasted tissues, bringing about renewed strength, vigor, and energy. Take Dr. Shoop's Restorative—Tablets or Liquid—as a general tonic to the system. For positive local help, use as well

About That home Do You Contemplate Owing One?

If so the first thing to consider is a good lot in a desirable location and you cannot be better suited in a lot than the

Sam White Property.

No property surpasses this for a desirable home. Lots can be bought there now at reasonable prices and on easy terms. There is every indication that property around Greenville is going to be higher, and the longer you defer buying the lot the higher it will cost.

This property is located only 5 minutes walk from the business part of the town. See Sam White and let him explain prices and terms.

Notice of Dissolution of Partnership.

The partnership heretofore existing between A. H. Taft and W. H. Ricks in the town of Greenville under the firm name of A. H. Taft and Company is this day dissolved by mutual consent. A. H. Taft will continue to do business in the store next to Taft and VanDyke and W. H. Ricks in the store next to Fleming and Mooring. Those indebted to the firm will make their payments according to their contracts with the firm and a prompt settlement is requested. Each debtor will be notified at which store to make his payment but no one need wait for such notice to make his payments. He may call at either store and each of us will be glad to see him and all other friends to whom we return thanks for their patronage and of whom we solicit a continuance. Greenville, N. C. July 1st, 1907.

NEVER TALK BACK.

Never talk back; such things are reprehensible. A fellow who hurts himself that jaws a man that's hot. In a quarrel, if you'll only keep your mouth shut and not sensible. The man that does the talking 'll get worried every sheck. Never talk back to a fellow that's abusing you. Just let him carry on and rip and snort and sweat. And when he finds his blamin' and defaming 'a fellow, you're gettin' him clear kerkummed, and you want to hold him there! Never talk back and wake up the whole community. And call a man a liar over law or politics. You can hit and land him further and with greater impunity. With a good bit of silence than in half a dozen kicks. —James Whitcomb Riley.

The Savory Seem'less Roaster.

Is far superior to any other Roaster made. Not an ounce of substance lost. Other roasters waste from 10 to 20 per cent. The Savory seamless roaster needs no water, grease or attention of any kind. It simply asks to be let alone. Retains all juices and flavors, renews the youth of the toughest fowl. One great feature of the Savory roaster is the oval bottom, with the ordinary flat bottom roaster the moisture brought out of the meat by cooking has no chance to accumulate and is burned and dried up in the bottom of the pan. In the oval bottom this meat juice flows continuously to the lowest point of the bottom, where it is turned into steam and condensed on the surface of the meat. This condensation continues until the roast has become heated through to the temperature of the atmosphere in the roaster, when the condensation stops and the brown ing of the roast begins.

The Savory roaster is self basting and self browning. The bottom is raised off the oven by the outside heat-retaining jacket, which applies a uniform heat to the roast from all sides.

The Savory roaster is in a class to itself. Is guaranteed to give satisfaction when used according to directions. Buy one, take it home, go by the directions, use it thirty days, if not all we claim forth, return it to us and we will give you back your money, providing the roaster when returned, is in good condition.

See our window display of the Savory roasters. We will be glad to show you. Call and see them.
