NUMBER 3960

AWAITING ACTION GRAND JURY

Twenty Minutes Session of Federal Court Yesterday.

(Editorial Correspondence)

Beaufort, N. C., Aug. 7.—One days session of the Federal court and in the small county court house, with so large a crowd gathered in it, caused hunt for more comfortable quarters, and today the court was moved to Davis hall, on the water front, that is large, airy and comfortable.

Carteret county, by the way is now having a new court house built at a cost of $35,000, and it will be a handsome, well provided building. A stroll around Beaufort shows quite a number of improvements going on.

We have found some people well known in Greenville, engaged in business here. H. B. Clark, once a Greenville merchant, is conducting a large dry goods business. S. W. Chamberlain, who for some years was connected with the Greenville tobacco market, is conducting a drug store here. Benjamin May, of Farmville section, is a partner in a large hardware establishment.

It was 10:30 when court met this morning. After being called to order District Attorney Harry Skinner announced that upon authority of the Attorney General, Ex. Gov. T. J. Jarvis would appear with counsel for the government in the peonage case. Attorney W. W. Clark, of counsel for the defense, announced that Attorney F. G. James would appear with counsel for defense, and as he had not been sworn before the Federal court desired that the oath be administered to him.

Judge Purnell then stated to the grand jury that he had heard that it was circulated around Beaufort Tuesday afternoon and night that he had on yesterday charged the grand jury not to find a true bill in the peonage case. He had made no such charge but did say that formerly the peonage statute had been construed to apply only to New Mexico and the Western States, where peonage existed, and that a decision of the United States Supreme court three years ago made it apply to every State under control of the United States. Sufficient notice had been given through the courts and the press that peonage is a crime and must be stopped. He could not say whether these reports that had reached him were circulated for the purpose of influencing this grand jury in favor of any particular defendant. If this grand jury failed to find a true bill it would not end the matter, but will be taken up again by the grand jury of the next regular term of court in New Bern. He then instructed the grand jury to retire and pass upon the bill.

The witnesses for the government were then called and sworn. Yakove Spivakovik, of St. Petersburg, was sworn as interpreter, and through him the oath was administered to the several foreigners, the alleged peons, who have been held by the government as witnesses.

Today's session of the court occupied only about 20 minutes, adjournment being taken until 10 o'clock tomorrow morning waiting for the action of the grand jury.

Southern Stops Doubletracking.

Greensboro, Aug. 7.—The Southern Railway has stopped work on the double-track north of the city. It is stated upon good authority that the company has ordered all double tracking work on the lines of the road to be stopped pending the rate legislation that is now going the rounds of the higher courts. Yesterday Judge Robert M. Douglas served notice on the company forbidding them to trespass upon the property alleged to be a part of that owned by the widow of the late Judge Dick, for whom he is attorney. One man said jokingly that as soon as they received notice the workmen threw up their hands and declared that all was over for the present.

Lid on Tight.

Charlotte, N. C., Aug. 7.—Following the failure of the open Sunday element of the Board of Aldermen last night to carry their point, City Attorney J. A. McRae today gave an opinion on what he considered to be necessities.

The board voted almost unanimously to put the lid as tight as it could be, and the attorney's opinion was asked for in order that the policemen might be instructed how to act.

The fight has been on for six weeks and has been a hard fought battle on both sides.

Bring the Roses Back to Your Sweetheart's Cheek.

The following appeared recently in the Progressive Farmer over the signature of some gentleman in Iredell county, who, evidently, has taken a sensible view of things:

"Strange to say, but 1999 years ago the most exquisite punishment and excruciating pain which could be studied out by the minds of men and inflicted on their prisoners was to bare their heads and cause water to drip on them, one drop at a time. Not fast, mind you, but just drip—drip—drip incessantly, day and night until it became the most intense torture imaginable. Yes, it amounted to what modern people call the "impossible." Twasn't so bad for awhile at the start, but it invariably would up in insanity of the most raging, raving type.

"Now history is repeating itself and great hordes of us old mossy-backed farmers with scales over our eyes as thick as walnut hulls are subjecting our wives to a similar torture to that employed by our old bighted grand-daddies in punishing their prisoners.

"They cook the breakfast New Year's morning. They wash the dishes and tidy up the house. They cook the dinner New Year's day, wash the dishes and tidy up the house. They cook the supper, wash the dishes and tidy up the house. Next day the same, next the same. Three times a day three hundred and sixty five days a year, the same old monotonous routine of drip—drip—drip. It is any wonder that the insane asylum shows such a preponderating per cent of farmers' wives among their inmates? Shouldn't we be ashamed of our miserable thoughtless selves? We get change. Our work is varied. We get a day off now and then and rest on Sunday, but those faithful tireless uncomplaining wives of ours go from year to year without a day's surcease from care and worry."

Friend's Yearly Meeting.

Greensboro, N. C., August 7.—The two hundred and tenth annual meeting of the Friends of North Carolina began yesterday, at Guilford College. Many prominent Quakers from all parts of the State were present at the meeting which will continue the rest of the week and through next Monday. President L. L. Hobbs, of Guilford College, is the presiding officer. The first Yearly Meeting was held in 1697 and less than one day was required to transact the business which came before the body. However, the Friends have increased in numbers until now it takes about a week to transact the business. The records show that the first religious service ever held in North Carolina was a Quaker meeting and was conducted by an Englishman named William Edmondson.

Lives in a Cave

The reporter has not seen the man nor his abode, but he has seen them that have. He is a veritable hermit if one half they tell of this strange man is true. So far only members of his own race, negroes, have seen him, as the reporter is informed.

For six months an aged man of the most unkempt variety has been living in the woods on the King farm, three miles northwest of this place. He lives in the ground in a cave that he dug. Around and about it is a great variety of articles, old clothing forming the major part, but there are pieces of scrap iron, bottles of all kinds, old shoes and many other things. Around and above his hole in the ground these are piled.

How he lives, those who have seen him and his dwelling do not know. The Southerner informants could only recall his first name, Read or Rease. Near his domicile he is growing several vegetables, but only one of each variety.—Tarboro Southerner.

WILL INDICT SOUTHERN.

State of Alabama Has Blood in its Eyes for This Railroad

Montgomery, Ala., Aug. 7.—A special to the Hearst News Service from Marion, Ala., says that there is a likelihood of the arrest of Southern Railway employes in that city, and that the local line running from Selma to Akron will be tied up. An indictment was returned from the Perry county grand jury today against the Southern Railway for doing business without a license, and Solicitor Fritz Thompson states that he will enforce the law and a bill of indictment will be returned against the road for every day that business is transacted without the authority of the state.

It is common report on the streets of Akron that the station agent and the crew of the local freight are to be arrested and the 80 miles of track tied up. This, it is said, will not interfere with interstate commerce in any way, but it will work great harm to many towns along the line. Hamburg, Marion, Scotts; New Bern, Greensboro and Sawyersville would be affected. Business men and the public are much concerned.

Agricultural Lecture.

Dr. F. L. Stevens, of the A. & M. college, will deliver an illustrated lecture on Modern Agriculture in the court house in Greenville on Thursday, August 15th, at 8 p. m. under the auspices of the Farmers' Institute and State Department of Agriculture.

This lecture will treat of and illustrate agriculture as practiced in the most progressive parts of the country, recent improvements in agricultural practices, the methods employed in improving cotton and corn, cross-breeding plants, methods of repressing diseases of many kinds, soil improvement and many other phases of practical agriculture.

A choice collection of lantern slides will be used to abundantly illustrate this lecture.

The lecture will be free, and everybody is invited.

Green Quits The Southern.

Raleigh, N. C., Aug. 7.—Mr. T. E. Green, city ticket agent for the Southern Railway here, who was arrested and committed to jail in the famous litigation against the Southern to force the company to observe the 24 cent passenger rate law, is to leave the service of the company this month and his successor is already in the office getting on to the "ropes." He is C. C. Phett, of Greenwood, S. C. Mr. Green has for some time owned an extensive interest in the grocery business of The J. B. Green Co., one of largest and most successful grocery houses in Raleigh and it is understood that he will devote his personal attention to his interest in this business.

Sp. of Cotton Going Up.

Where will the women of America be if this goes on?

Cotton, plain, ordinary sewing cotton, is to cost 10 cents a spool. This has been ordained by the thread trust, the same trust which caused the same cotton to be raised only last month to 6 and 7 cents a spool, when for years it could be purchased at 4 cents, sometimes two spools for 5 cents.

The local department stores have not yet raised their prices, but all indications, according to rumors from the factories, are to the effect that the change will be made before the end of this month.

Trust managers and independents alike agree that cotton and labor are higher. The trust companies maintain that spools cost more, but this the independents deny, saying that spools come from Maine at the same price as for the past ten years.

At any rate, cotton is going up, up, up, and unless the "big stick" is effectively flourished by the Department of Justice, women will have to bow before the great power of the trusts and pay almost four times as much for a little spool of thread as they did when they began their spring sewing.—Washington Post.

Mr. Bickett's Joke.

Mr. T. W. Bickett, of Louisville, one of the foremost lawyers of the State, tells a joke which happened somewhere some time. A boy in school was asked to write a composition on the backbone. Here is what he wrote:

"The spine is the backbone. The spine is the long bone running down a man's back. His head sets on one end and he sits on the other."

The new track between Wilson and Raleigh on the Norfolk & Southern was joined last night, and trains will now commence running between those points. There is only a few miles of track to be laid between Greenville and Wilson, and when this is completed through trains will be put on from Raleigh to Washington with close connection for Norfolk.

The name of N. T. Cox should have appeared as a member of the committee of 50 appointed to organize a permanent development company for Pitt county. Mr. Cox's name was omitted by error and we gladly make this reference to the fact. Mr. Cox is from a township that is making rapid strides along the lines of progress and is an excellent member of the board of county commissioners. He will always be ready to advance along any and every line.

Mr. Farmer, does the rural mail carrier pass your home? If he does, ask him if he carries as much mail as he ought to. If he does not, get about among your neighbors and see if you can't persuade them to take another paper—your county paper is always glad to put the farmer on its list, and you will thus build up your route to the required standard.

South's Presidential Timber.

Washington, Aug. 7.—Chairman James M. Griggs, of the Democratic congressional committee, was in Washington yesterday.

Speaking of Democratic national politics, the committee chairman said:

"Colonel Bryan will be our candidate if he wants the nomination. The west and south will be for him, and even though the east may object, those sections would be powerful enough in the convention to overcome its opposition. Should Mr. Bryan conclude not to be a candidate again, I think the south will probably furnish the nominee. We have some excellent and acceptable men to choose from, among whom are Senator Culberson of Texas, Senator Daniel of Virginia and Representative John Sharp Williams of Mississippi. It seems to me that on account of his standing with the democrats of the north Mr. Culberson might be regarded as about the most available."

I will mail you free, to prove merit, samples of my Dr. Shoop's Restorative, and my Book on either Dyspepsia, The Heart or The Kidneys. Troubles of the Stomach, Heart or Kidneys, are merely symptoms of a deeper ailment. Don't make the common error of treating symptoms only. Symptom treatment is treating the result of your ailment, and not the cause. Weak Stomach nerves—the inside nerves—mean Stomach weakness, always. And the Heart, and Kidneys as well, have their controlling or inside nerves. Weaken these nerves, and you inevitably have weak vital organs. Here is where Dr. Shoop's Restorative has made its fame. No other remedy even claims to treat the "inside nerves". Also for bloating, biliousness, bad breath or complexion, use Dr. Shoop's Restorative. Write to-day for sample and free Book. Dr. Shoop, Racine, Wis. The Restorative is sold by Bryans Drug Store.

HIS CHANCE IN LIFE

An Incident Showing on What a Slender Thread Fate May Hang.

Talking to a New York newspaper man one day, a western millionaire said: "So far from feeling blue, it was more like a yellow streak I felt one day about twenty years ago in San Francisco."

"I stood outside of a restaurant without a dime, but was indulging in an optical feast, gazing at the display of good things, garnished and altogether lovely, in the window of that food shop. The song, or, rather, its refrain, 'Thou Art So Near and Yet So Far,' was whispered to me by the gaunt brownie of hunger. Then a prosperous looking man who was flipping a half dollar in his hand dropped the coin, which tinkled through an iron grate and fell into the cellar below."

"The man gave an almost unconcerned glance in the direction the coin had gone and then walked away, humming a popular tune."

"I was determined to have that coin. The occasion was one of those frequently spoken of as a 'ground hog case.' I was out of meat, also bread, and needed that half dollar in my business."

"I spoke to the proprietor of the place, told him that I had dropped a five dollar goldpiece through the grate, and asked if I might go and retrieve it."

"Certainly," he said, and he gave me a hatchet with which I might remove a wooden bar that had been nailed across a door leading from the basement to the opening under the grate."

"There was much litter and dust down there, and, scratching for the lost coin, I found many others that had been lost in a similar way. Thus I cleaned up $8 from the prospect drift. That amount supplied me with a place in which I could exercise my abated appetite. It also gave me the entry to a clean shirt and a proportionate supply of self respect and self reliance. I visited men of influence and affluence that I had not been sufficiently courageous to meet in the immediate theretofore, and I have not been seriously in debt since that date. Thus you may see on what a slender thread off hangs a chance in life."

Vigorous Language.

A story is told in the National Magazine of Senator Knute Nelson, who spent some of his early years in a logging camp. He there discovered the necessity of certain emphatic language in order to make mules move. "All varieties" of tongues were in demand in that camp—Scandinavian, German and Italian—but none of the words used seemed to have the explosive force to adjust the tempo of the mule to the desired pace. Along came a strapping Irishman, who used some popular expletives, usually indicated in print by blank, blank, or ———. The mules moved! "There's a language all mules understand," said the Irishman, "and it's not me mother tongue ayther."

Her View.

A laborer in a neighboring city died recently, and the members of the fraternal order in which he held membership called upon his widow to find how they might be of most assistance in her distress. They made all arrangements for the order's attending the funeral, but before settling upon the final details for the obsequies they desired to know if the deceased had any special church affiliation.

"Did your husband belong to any church?" was asked.

"W'y, no," said the woman in astonishment. "He never done nothin' to belong to church fur."—Chicago News.

He Wasn't Afraid.

Little Tommy and his younger sister were going to bed without a light. They had just reached the bottom of the stairs when Tommy, after vainly endeavoring to pierce the darkness, turned around and asked:

"Ma, is it polite for a gentleman to precede a lady when they have to walk in a dark place?"

"No, my son," replied the mother. "The lady should always take the lead."

"I thought so," said Tommy delightedly. "Go ahead, Sue."—Pearson's Weekly.

Angelic Bore.

Not one man in 500 pictures his future wife in the surroundings of the ordinary girl. Where is the Adam who dreams of meeting his Eve, short of skirt and strong of arm, in the hockey field or striding over the turf with a golf ball or plunging madly after a tennis ball? On the contrary, he pictures her clad in "something soft and clinging," a being more angel than woman, who as a daily companion would undoubtedly prove the most withering bore a man could be cursed with.—London Throne.

Rheumatism

I have found a tried and tested cure for Rheumatism! Not a remedy that will straighten the distorted limbs of chronic cripples, nor turn bony growths back to flesh again. That is impossible. But I can now surely kill the pains and pangs of this deplorable disease.

In Germany—with a Chemist in the City of Darmstadt—I found the last ingredient with which Dr. Shoop's Rheumatic Remedy was made a perfected, dependable prescription. Without that last ingredient, I successfully treated many, many cases of Rheumatism; but now, at last, it uniformly cures all curable cases of this heretofore much dreaded disease. Those sand-like granular wastes, found in Rheumatic Blood, seem to dissolve and pass away under the action of this remedy as freely as does sugar when added to pure water. And then, when dissolved, these poisonous wastes freely pass from the system, and the cause of Rheumatism is gone forever. There is now no real need—no actual excuse to suffer longer without help. We sell, and in confidence recommend

Two Dyspeptics

If you are too fat it is because your food turns to fat instead of muscle—strength. If you are too lean the fat producing foods that you eat are not properly digested and assimilated.

Lean, thin, stringy people do not have enough Pepsin in the stomach, while fat people have too much Pepsin and not enough Pancreatine.

Kodol Dyspepsia Cure

contains all the digestive juices that are found in a healthy stomach, and in exactly those proportions necessary to enable the stomach and digestive organs to digest and assimilate all foods that may be eaten. Kodol is not only a perfect digestant, but it is a reconstructive tissue building tonic as well. Kodol cures indigestion, Dyspepsia, Sour Stomach, Heartburn, Palpitation of the Heart and Constipation. You will like it.

Digests What You Eat
Rests the stomach, rebuilds the tissues and gives firm flesh.

Flour Polish

For a useful floor polish take two ounces of white and yellow wax, an ounce of white soap and a quart of boiling water. Shred the soap and the wax and melt them in a saucepan with the water over the fire. Mix by stirring and pour into a jar or bottle until wanted for use.

Apply with a woolen rag or a piece of flannel, then rub with another flannel and polish well until all stickiness is removed.

For Spongy Gums.

Sometimes there is a sort of spongy softness about the gums, very unpleasant. For this rub them several times daily with a mixture of half an ounce of Peruvian bark with six grams each of powdered ratanhia and chlorate of potash. A little soft brush dipped in pure lemon juice and applied to the gums where they are soft or slightly ulcerated will sometimes effect a cure.

For Sunburn.

Mix buttermilk with enough talcum powder to make a paste and spread it on the face when retiring. Another homemade remedy is to rub the skin thoroughly with the inner side of the rind of a freshly pared cucumber, and still another is baking soda—sovereign healer of all burns—either made into a solution for washing or applied in hot compresses.

Smothered Bread.

Dip thick slices of bread in milk, just enough to moisten, then fry in a little butter and lard. While this is cooking, fry in another spider, closely covered, a lot of sliced onions. Let the onions be cooking before starting the bread. When both are done, heap the onions on the bread. See that they are well seasoned and serve piping hot.

Glycerin in Cookery.

Good cooks know the value of a few drops of glycerin added to the flour in cake making, in the proportion of a teaspoonful to every pound of flour. This makes the cake light and feathery. Three teaspoonfuls to every pound of fruit in making preserves prevents the fermentation of the sugar and obviates all danger of crystallization.

Remove Soot from Walls.

Should a bit of soot or other black dust make a spot on a clean white shirt waist, to remove the spot place under the waist a piece of muslin and rub over the soiled place white crayon, that used in schools. Rub the spot with a clean white cloth and the spot will disappear.

The Savory Seamless Roaster

Is far superior to any other Roaster made, not an ounce of substance lost. Other roasters waste from 10 to 20 per cent. The Savory seamless roaster needs no water, grease or attention of any kind. It simply asks to be let alone. Retains all juices and flavors, renews the youth of the toughest fowl. One great feature of the Savory roaster is the oval bottom, with the ordinary flat bottom roaster the moisture brought out of the meat by cooking has no chance to accumulate and is burned and dried up in the bottom of the pan. In the oval bottom this meat juice flows continuously to the lowest point of the bottom, where it is turned into steam and condensed on the surface of the meat. This condensation continues until the roast has become heated through to the temperature of the atmosphere in the roaster, when the condensation stops and the browning of the roast begins.

The Savory roaster is self basting and self browning. The bottom is raised off the oven by the outside heat-retaining jacket, which applies a uniform heat to the roast from all sides. The Savory roaster is in a class to itself. Is guaranteed to give satisfaction when used according to directions. Buy one, take it home, go by the directions, use it thirty days, if not all we claim forth, return it to us and we will give you back your money, providing the roaster when returned, is in good condition.

See our window display of the Savory roasters. We will be glad to show you. Call and see them.

Experimental Building.

As they passed a brownstone front boarding house she remarked on the age of it, and, in fact, it had the look of being about to cave in. It was as if it could hardly stand through the rest of the summer.

"How old is it?" he asked.

"About a hundred years old, I should say," she replied.

"The idea!" said he. "Why, at home in England I lived in a house that was 300 years old. We never thought of its caving in. It was one of the new houses of the town. I suppose the difference is that we build our houses better than you do yours. We take more time to it."

"We don't have to bother taking so much time," explained she. "We just put them up to see how they'll look here in New York. Then if we don't like the looks of them we tear them down and put up a skyscraper."—New York Press.

Queer Process of Preservation.

It has been reported from Brazil that two doctors of San Paulo have applied to patent a discovery to preserve the body after death so that it may do duty as a statue by simply placing it on a pedestal. The inventors claim that their process provides a surface equal to marble in appearance and one which is even better in resisting fire and atmospheric influences. They add that such statues would be more lifelike than the work of any sculptor. The patent authorities received with the documents a long wooden box which contained the body of a negro boy preserved by the inventors' method and kept for nearly six years.

Incandescent Train Lamps.

Germany claims to have made a discovery of great importance for the lighting of railway trains. Up to the present, except in those rare cases where electricity is used, acetylene has been the principal illuminant. So far all efforts to adapt the use of incandescent lamps to the conditions of railway traffic had failed. At last the difficulty has been surmounted by the obtaining of an incandescent gas lamp which will resist the rough shock and jostlings of railway carriages. Thirty-five thousand carriages on the Prussian and Hessian state lines will shortly be equipped with these lamps.—London Globe.

Sworn In.

In command of a certain western post is a well known veteran of the army, soon to be retired, who, General Miles used to declare, "was the most profane officer in this or any other army."

A day or two prior to the departure of this officer from Washington to take the post mentioned, a lady at a reception inquired of General Miles whether the officer first referred to had duly qualified for his new command.

"Yes, madam," responded Miles gravely. "He swore himself in yesterday."—Harper's Weekly.

ALL OVER THE HOUSE.

What to Do When Table Linen Grows Thin—Helpful Hints.

Too little attention is paid to the wear and tear of tablecloths and napkins, as a rule. They are washed and ironed and put away regardless of the places that are becoming thin and worn until these spots become holes and it suddenly dawns on the dismayed housekeeper that her table linen is "going all to pieces."

If tiny holes are found in table linen the first thing to do is to darn them neatly, selecting the numbers of thread or cotton best suited to the material to be darned, using as fine a needle as possible. If the material is much worn it is best to lay a piece of the same under the thin place and darn down upon it. This gives strength, though it does not look quite as neat as it would without the extra piece of material beneath. A ragged tear always must have an extra piece beneath.

Kitchen Helps.

Those who have tried it say that to hold a pin or needle between the teeth when paring onions keeps the eyes from watering.

A jelly tumbler with close fitting cover is a good receptacle for the sifted flour which is so handy to have ready for thickening gravy.

Soaking ham overnight in sweet milk before boiling or frying improves the flavor greatly.

A few drops of lemon juice added to the water in which rice is boiled will whiten the kernels.

Prevention of Cooking Odors.

Odors from cooking, the careful housewife may be glad to know, can be prevented by tying up in a linen bag a lump of bread about the size of a billiard ball and placing it in the pot with the boiling greens, ham, etc. This will absorb the gases which oftentimes send such an effluvia to the regions above. A few red peppers or pieces of charcoal put into the pot are also said to stop the unpleasant odor which generally fills the house when green vegetables are boiled.

PLACE fifty different makes of Womens shoes together. Ask ten women to make a choice. Nine of them will pick the "QUEEN QUALITY" SHOE. We have tested and proved this. There must be a reason why "QUEEN QUALITY" outsells all other women's shoes in the world.
