TRUE BILL AGAINST KLINE.

Jury Selected and Taking of Testimony Began this Morning.

(Editorial Correspondence)
Beaufort, N. C. Aug. 8.—Last night there was a dead calm with the sound as smooth as glass, and today was very warm even for a seaside resort. As the day wore on the breeze revived and the torridity more or less dispelled.

Upon the opening of court at 10 o'clock District Attorney Skinner stated that he was advised by the marshal that only one panel of petit jury had been summoned for this term and as one would likely be needed when the peonage case comes up requested the court to direct the marshal to summon twelve other jurors and have them in readiness and the marshal was so directed.

Judge Purnell announced that the foreman of the grand jury had returned a true bill for peonage against E. A. Kline. Attorney Clark for the defense stated that he understood there were 96 counts in the bill, and asked permission of the court for himself and associate to examine the bill and have time to prepare their defense. While this examination was going on the case against Thomas Ross for moon shining was taken up. Ross entered a plea of guilty and was sentenced to one year in the United States prison at Atlanta and fined $100 and costs.

In order to get the Charles Tripp case of retailing, out of the way before the peonage case, that was also taken up. After examining several witnesses and government resting Judge Purnell stated that there was no evidence of guilt and ordered the clerk enter a verdict of not guilty. The peonage case against E. A. Kline was then called, and the selection of the jury and reading the bill of indictment consumed the remainder of the day's session. The taking of testimony will begin Friday morning. D. J. W.

Trade Report.

Richmond, Va., August 8.—Bradstreet's to-morrow will say for Richmond, Va., and vicinity;

Wholesale dealers in dry goods and notions are receiving satisfactory orders but the volume of business is not altogether as large as has been expected, owing partly to slow collections and late conditions of the tobacco and cotton crops. These conditions are also true of a number of other staple lines. Produce dealers are receiving large orders for locally grown vegetables, other than this, this market is generally inactive. In southern Virginia and North Carolina advanced sales of the new crop of tobacco are noted and prices received have been good considering the quality. Cotton shows an improvement and with continued favorable weather growers anticipate and average crop. The market shows a weakening on metals Retail trade is fair. Collections are not good.

"Jack the Hugger."

Pottsville, Pa., Aug. 8.—The bold escapades of "Jack the Hugger" the past three nights has led to extraordinary efforts on the part of the police to capture the person who has held some of the leading women of town in close embrace. Miss Marion Leonard was so terrified by the chase the hugger gave her that she dropped in a dead faint. The police have a unique theory that the hugger is a woman dressed in man's clothes.

Shot Wife for Burglar.

"My God! I've killed my wife!" Shortly before 12 o'clock Monday night this agonized cry rang out from the bed room of H. B. Krumholz's home, at 139 South Fourth street.

Neighbors rushed in and found Krumholz, who is a Pole and runs a barber shop in the basement of the Gould building, No. 19 Decatur street, bending over a young woman about 32 years old, his wife. Blood was spurting from a wound in her head. "We had heard burglars in the house," the husband explained. "I thought she was beside me when I fired. Then I got up and looked and found her dying over there in the corner."—Atlanta Journal.

PRINCESS TRIxie.

One of the Features of the Warpath at Jamestown.

Jamestown Exposition, Aug. 8.—Princess Trixie, justly styled "The Queen of All Educated Horses," has a reputation throughout America and Europe as being the only horse in the world that possesses the power of individual thought, her marvelous feats in spelling, calculating, and evident knowledge of everything that her trainer says to her almost bordering on the supernatural.

"Trixie" will tell you the exact number of ladies, men or children that occupy any row of seats. She will describe them accurately, picking out the color of their hats, neckties, the trimming on their dresses, color of their badges, etc., and will point out by this means all the ladies that she thinks are pretty, rarely making a mistake, according to the male opinion.

In addition to this, she will ring up any sale asked on the cash register, giving the correct change, and print a souvenir slip of the amount which she gives to the person asking for the test.

"Trixie" will tell you the time by your own watch, no one seeing it but yourself and the horse, the trainer being on the other side of the stage. You can change it in any manner you may wish, but apparently you can't fool her. She has a good knowledge of music and will play short selections on a set of musical chimes with startling correctness.

It is hard to explain how it is done, and the brightest brains of Europe and America have puzzled over the subject. The Psychological Society of Great Britain held an investigation last January, when she was playing at the Palace Theatre, and came to the conclusion that the mare was capable of responsive thought.

On January 23 of this year she received a royal command to appear at Windsor Castle before King Edward VII and the royal family. He it was who conferred the title, "Queen of All Educated Horses," and who was one of her greatest admirers, sending his own veterinary surgeon to attend her during an attack of pneumonia she had last winter. "Trixie" was the "top money" attraction at Portland, Oregon, Exposition, and is doing the same thing at Jamestown. She is easily the favorite of the Warpath, especially among the fair sex, with whom her admirers are legion.

COMING TO A HEAD.

The Big Fight in Alabama Will End Peaceably.

Montgomery, Ala., Aug. 8.—A compromise in the Alabama railroad fight is in sight this morning. It may not be definitely concluded today, but it is progressing and will in all probability be amicably arranged according to indications this morning.

A peaceable adjustment is desired, not only by the commission, but by State officials generally, as no railroad war is desired in this State, but if the road showed a disposition to force the fighting a serious clash is certain.

The Whistle Blowing.

To The Reflector.

It has been suggested by someone who seems more fortunate than others who have to work and go at it early that it is up to the Ordinance Committee of the Board of Aldermen to put a stop to so much whistle blowing from 5 to 7 o'clock in the morning.

It strikes me that if the Board of Aldermen could offer some inducements for others to come to Greenville and start a few more whistles to blowing, and wake up the sleepers, instead of trying to stop the few that she already has, it would be a great deal better for the people of the town. An Advertiser.

Bargain Sale.

Go early and avoid the rush. To-day at 12:01 p. m. the Southern Railway will put on brand new tickets for sale. It is a forced sale and all prices have been reduced from 3 1/4 cents to 2 1/4 cents. All goods marked down by order of the firm of Glenn, Long & Co.—Rhamkatte Roaster.—News and Observer.

Each Wants the Other Half.

El Paso, Tex., Aug. 8.—One-half of a man's body held by the authorities of one state and the other half held by another state and each state refusing to give up that it holds, is the situation now existing in Mexico.

Miguel Martinez, a Mexican Central brakeman, went to sleep under one of the cars of his train while it was on a siding at Espirito Santo, Zacatecas. The train started up and cut him squarely in two at the belt. Half the body rolled to the side of the track and the other half, becoming tangled in the brake beam, was carried to Salinas, San Luis Potosi. The coroner in each state took possession of half the body and each refuses to turn that of it it has over to the other. No official investigation can proceed until a whole corpse is had as a basis, hence the authorities are at swords points and the relatives of the dead man are unable to do anything.

SOUTHERN FACES THE MUSIC.

Comes Across in Alabama and Puts on 2 1-2 cent Rate.

Montgomery, Ala., Aug. 8.—Governor Comer and the officials of the Southern railway reached an agreement late this afternoon and the license of the railroad in Alabama will be restored.

Beginning September 1, the railroad and its allied lines will put into effect the two and a half cent passenger rate and the measure of reducing freight rates on 110 commodities.

The agreement was not reached without concessions being made by both sides, but in the main it is a victory for the State.

No Coin is Coming.

Washington, Aug. 8.—The Treasury Department is not enthusiastic over the way the Jamestown Exposition is meeting its payments of the million dollar loan.

The first payment was due July 15th, but at that time Director General Barr came up and had a conference with secretary Cortelyou. Mr. Cortelyou agreed to extend the time for the payment of this installment of one hundred thousand dollars until Aug. 1st, with the understanding that it should be met at that time, and that $100,000 should be paid every fifteen days thereafter.

Acting Secretary Reynolds said yesterday that he has as yet seen no coin from Norfolk, neither had he heard its voice. He says that he has received no advice as to when the payment is going to be forthcoming, but that no big stick is to be drawn just yet to force it out.

Under the law the Treasury Department is empowered to take charge of the exposition gate receipts at any time the payments are defaulted, but this will be done only as a matter of last resort.

Arrested in Virginia.

Ben and Anderson Peebles, negroes, were brought here today from Dinwiddie county, Va., where they were arrested a few days ago for the murder of another negro near Shelmerdine more than two years ago. It is said one of the negroes has confessed the crime but the other stoutly denies any connection with it. They were placed in Pitt county jail to await the next term of Superior court.

North Carolina in Norfolk.

Nothing that Norfolk can do to indicate her interest in, and good feeling toward North Carolina will be amiss. This city numbers among its most eminent business and professional men many natives of our sister state, and we are bound by every possible tie, and are nearer to North Carolina in sentiments and business than to any other State.

North Carolina has evinced from the beginning a lively interest in the exposition, and has contributed in many ways to its success, and now that the State is to have no "day," but a week, there should be some especial effort made to indicate our appreciation of the spirit she has shown.

The "down homer" could not only be the splendid product of a great State. The poet described him when he wrote.

"Take the bright shell from its home on the sea, And wherever it goes it will sing of the sea.

Take the fond heart from its home and its hearth, And 'twill sing of its loved to the end of the earth."

North Carolinians have reason to be proud of their State, and to love her best, and then next should come Virginia, to whose prosperity she has contributed and within whose borders so many of the "down homers" live and are honored. No welcome could be too royal for North Carolina, and she should be greeted with banners of her colors when her people come to enjoy the exposition.—Norfolk Ledger-Dispatch.

Aged Man Shoots His Wife.

Raleigh, N. C., Aug. 8.—This morning Ransom Godwin, aged 73 years, near Kenly, N. C., following a quarrel with his wife, shot her dead in her tracks. He took to the woods soon after the murder and has not been captured. The sheriff of Johnston county is pursuing him with bloodhounds. The old man is armed with a Winchester rifle with which the crime was committed.

Jefferson Life Begins Business.

Today the Jefferson Standard Life Insurance Company which is said to be the biggest corporation ever launched in North Carolina, will begin actual business. Its license was signed by Insurance Commissioner James W. Young late yesterday afternoon at his residence, he being unable on account of a recent accident to be at his office. Quite a number of soliciting agents had been appointed in advance and they were last evening apprised by telegram of the readiness of the company for business.—News and Observer.

Standard Oil Tries to Get Out.

Chicago, Aug. 8.—A motion for a hearing on a writ of error has been made before Circuit Judge Grosscup by attorneys for the Standard Oil Company in connection with the fine imposed upon that company by Judge Landis in the decision recently rendered. Judge Grosscup promised to take up the matter as soon as possible. The motion for the hearing on a writ of error was filed by Attorney Moritz Rosenthal, with Judge Grosscup as presiding jurist of the circuit court of appeals.

This move means the opening of one of the greatest legal battles the country has ever witnessed—the attempt of the Standard Oil Company to make good its statement issued through its press agent that it will not pay the fine of $29,240,000.

THE RAILROADS AND THE PEOPLE

The sudden turn in affairs in Alabama brings the suggestion that the railroads have decided to obey the laws of the land. This is good news. We are not much given to the idea of jumping on the railroads with both feet every time we disagree with them; it is not disputed that they have been the greatest factors in the upbuilding and development of the country, and for many other things they merit commendation. The conductors, and some of the other employes, of the Coast Line especially, are ever alert to the comfort and convenience of passengers, and they are a clever, genial set of men.

But in the matter of the railroad rate reduction by legislatures in several Southern States, the "higher up" officials of the railroads have made a blunder. The ordinary individual has to obey the laws regardless of hardships and unpleasantness, and the big corporations should have no more consideration than the individuals. If the railroads would treat the people decently, and obey the laws of the land, there would be no trouble. But the policy of some of the railroads, "the people be damned," invites criticism and enmity, and makes enemies of their very best friends.

The fight in Alabama is different from that in North Carolina. The former State has a statute wherein the penalty for a corporation removing a case from the State to the Federal court is the revoking of the corporation's charter to do business within the State. The Southern Railway's charter was cancelled several days ago, but now that their bluff is wearing out, the news comes that the matter will be settled peaceably, as was done in North Carolina.

Let the railroads and the people come closer together, and all will be well.

The crime wave in New York has been attributed to undesirable immigrants. This may be true. At any rate there are no such crime waves in the South.

Chicago is wrought up over the death rate of men in proportion to women, and the big city may become an "Adamless Eden."

Here is one for Col. Fairbrther: "Ingridofabel," and it comes from the Washington Herald.

Half of North Carolina will be in Norfolk next week. The other half will stay at home to keep house.

Now those papers who were flinging at Governor Glenn about that Boston trip can take it all back.

We should hate to see Dr. Broughton and Mrs. Nation on different sides.

BROOM CORN.

The Connecticut Meadows Started the Industry in This Country.

No article of household convenience is more familiar than the brooms and brushes made of broom corn. The plant is now cultivated extensively in the valley of the Mohawk river between Amsterdam and Johnstown and in the middle west. Spraker's flats have been devoted to the cultivation of it for many years. The crop has the advantage that it is of rapid growth, and even if the spring freshets drown out the first and second plantings there is yet time enough for a third planting to escape the early frosts of September. But it was upon the Connecticut meadows that the industry had its beginning in this country. The story of its introduction here is told in the pages of "Historic Hadley."

Levi Dickinson, a native of Wethersfield, who went to Hadley in 1786 and settled on the "back street," brought with him a queer new kind of "corn seed," which he showed to his friends, saying that when fully grown it would make better brooms than they had ever seen.

The Hadley housewife laughed at him. "Husk brooms" to sweep the ovens and "splinter brooms" made of birch were good enough for every day, and the bristle and hair brooms brought from England certainly could not be surpassed by any kind of corn.

Thus reasoned the incredulous. Levi Dickinson, however, not discouraged, kept his own counsel, harvested the first crop of broom corn from his garden, contrived a method of scraping the seed from the brush with a knife and afterward with the edge of a hoe, and sitting in a chair with the twine in a roll under his feet he wound it around the brush in his lap and thus made brooms.

Not asking his neighbors to buy, in 1798 he peddled his brooms in Williamsburg, Ashfield and Conway. He said that the day when he sold his first broom was the happiest day of his life. In 1790 he carried brooms to Pittsfield and in 1800 as far as New London.

Then Hadley people began to realize that a new and profitable industry had been started in their neighborhood. Men in Whately and Hatfield went into the business, and Levi Dickinson, smiling to himself, calmly drove his teams loaded with brooms to Boston and to Albany and found a ready market. As he made his own handles and spun the twine from his own flax, the cost of the broom was little, and the demand for the finished product was great.

In 1810 70,000 brooms were made in Hampshire county, and before the death of Levi Dickinson, in 1843, people in all parts of the country were using Hadley brooms. His triumph was complete.

They Got Even.

The friends of a detective attached to a west side precinct are having a laugh at his expense. While riding on a Broadway surface car a few nights ago he detected two pickpockets at work and immediately arrested them and started for the station. A hansom was obtained, and the three entered, the detective in the middle. Some time during the trip the "dips" managed to get to the detective's pocketbook, containing the greater part of his month's salary, and threw it out of the window. The plain clothes man did not discover his loss for some time. He then went over the ground the hansom had traversed, but some one had already appropriated the wallet.—New York Tribune.

A Catastrophe.

"Billkins' cat yelled for three hours the other night, and then I got up and threw a lump of coal at it."

"Hit the cat?"

"Nope. I hit Billkins, who had just come out to let the cat in."

"There must have been some satisfaction in that."

"There was for the moment, and then Billkins returned the coal through one of my plate glass windows. But that wasn't the worst of it."

"No?"

"No. He went in the house and left the cat outside yowling."—Exchange.

A Gentleman.

What is it to be a gentleman? Is it to have lofty aims, to lead a pure life, to keep your honor virgin, to have the esteem of your fellow citizens and the love of your friends, to bear good fortune meekly, to suffer evil with constancy and through evil and good to maintain truth always? They are the happy man whose life exhibits these qualities, and I am sure will salute as a gentleman whoever his rank may be. ### HE NEVER TOLD.

The Man From the Country Was Willing, but Didn't Get a Chance.

It was clear that he was from the country, says Judge. For several minutes he stood on the sidewalk, oblivious to the smiles and comments of passersby, gazing up at the top story of a tall trust company building across the way. Then he scratched his head and stroked his chin.

"Waal," he muttered, "it may be all right, I suppose, but I might as well find out for sartin."

He crossed the street, pushed his way into the trust company office and approached the nearest window. The brass plate over it was inscribed, "New Accounts."

"Well?" asked the man behind the window without looking up from his ledger.

"Waal," drawled the man from the country, "it may be all right an' correct, uv course, but while I wuz lookin' over—"

"The bookkeeper 'll fix that for you. Third window to the left."

After slight hesitation the countryman doubtfully made his way over to the bookkeeper's window.

"Well, sir, what can I do for you?" demanded the bookkeeper.

"Nothin'. I don't know why they sent me over to you. I ain't got any account here. I wuz just wonderin' whether you happened to know—"

"Information department," said the bookkeeper brusquely. "Sixth window to the right."

The countryman started to say something, but the bookkeeper had resumed his writing. He walked over to the "information window."

"Say," he opened up without waiting for an invitation, "you folks needn't be so tarnation flossy. I jest wanted ter tell yer durned old company that their—"

"Complaint department. Last window, rear," growled the clerk.

The countryman glared. For a moment he seemed undecided. Then, his jaws set with determination, he strode down to the complaint window.

"Well, what's the matter with you?" demanded the complaint clerk.

"Ain't none!" snapped the countryman. "I jest wanted to say ter yer gosh blamed old company that it appears to me as how their buildin' is—"

But he got no further. "Fire! Fire! Fire!" came the cry from all parts of the building. Instantly everything became bustle and confusion. "Fire! Fire!"

"Humph!" grunted the disgusted countryman as he followed the crowd out. "They'd knowed a half an hour ago if they'd only listened to me."

A Superstitious Conductor.

There were six male passengers in a Haddington bound car the other morning, and yet there wasn't one whole man in the collection. In a front seat was a man with one arm and next to him a negro with but one eye. Directly across from them was a one legged peddler, who was starting out on his daily rounds. On one of the side seats was a well dressed man with but one foot, while opposite him was an old Italian with only one hand. In a rear seat of the car sat a blind man. "This is a sad looking bunch," said the conductor, who was somewhat superstitious, "and I wish this ride was over." Just then a man got on the car, and the conductor breathed a sigh of relief as he said, "Here's one who isn't partly missing." He felt better until the man handed over his fare. The conductor received it with much misgiving, for three fingers were absent from the man's right hand. — Philadelphia Record.

The Second Mate.

A widow coy and sweet was wooed by a bluff old sailor who thought the world of her; but, not trusting himself to make a direct proposal of marriage, he decided to speak to her in the metaphor of the sea.

"Kate," he said, "your boat is drifting down the sea of life, with no strong hand to steer it safely past the rocks. May I be your captain and sail it for you?"

"No, Jack," she answered, with an engaging blush, "but you may be my second mate if you like!" — Kansas City Independent.

It Would Fidget.

"The word 'fidget,'" explained the teacher, "means to move about. Now, children, I want one of you to step to the blackboard and write a sentence containing the word 'fidget.'"

Forth stepped the little Wise boy who wrote, "This store will fidget the first of the month."

"But who ever heard of a store fidgeting, Johnny?" asked the teacher.

"I don't know, but the sign on a store downtown says that it will move about the first of the month." — Judge.

Weak Kidneys

Weak Kidneys, surely point to weak kidney nerves. The Kidneys, like the Heart, and the Stomach, find their weakness, not in the organ itself, but in the nerves that control and guide and strengthen them. Dr. Shoop's Restorative is a medicine specifically prepared to reach these controlling nerves. To doctor the Kidneys alone, is futile. It is a waste of time, and of money as well.

If your back aches or is weak, if the urine is cloudy, or is dark and strong, if you have symptoms of Bright's or other distressing or dangerous kidney disease, try Dr. Shoop's Restorative a month—Tablets or Liquid—and see what it can and will do for you. Druggist recommend and sell.

Dr. Shoop's Restorative

Two Dyspeptics

If you are too fat it is because your food turns to fat instead of muscle—strength. If you are too lean the fat producing foods that you eat are not properly digested and assimilated.

Lean, thin, stringy people do not have enough Pepsin in the stomach, while fat people have too much Pepsin and not enough Pancreatine.

Kodol

Dyspepsia Cure

contains all the digestive juices that are found in a healthy stomach, and in exactly those proportions necessary to enable the stomach and digestive organs to digest and assimilate all foods that may be eaten. Kodol is not only a perfect digestant, but it is a reconstructive tissue building tonic as well. Kodol cures Indigestion, Dyspepsia, Sour Stomach, Heartburn, Palpitation of the Heart and Constipation. You will like it.

Digests What You Eat

Rests the stomach, rebuilds the tissues and gives firm flesh.

Dollar bottle holds six times as much as the trial, or 50 cent size.

The Savory Seamless Roaster

Is far superior to any other Roaster made, not an ounce of substance lost. Other roasters waste from 10 to 20 per cent. The Savory seamless roaster needs no water, grease or attention of any kind. It simply asks to be let alone. Retains all juices and flavors, renews the youth of the toughest fowl. One great feature of the Savory roaster is the oval bottom, with the ordinary flat bottom roaster the moisture brought out of the meat by cooking has no chance to accumulate and is burned and dried up in the bottom of the pan. In the oval bottom this meat juice flows continuously to the lowest point of the bottom, where it is turned into steam and condensed on the surface of the meat. This condensation continues until the roast has become heated through to the temperature of the atmosphere in the roaster, when the condensation stops and the browning of the roast begins.

The Savory roaster is self basting and self browning. The bottom is raised off the oven by the outside heat-retaining jacket, which applies a uniform heat to the roast from all sides. The Savory roaster is in a class to itself. Is guaranteed to give satisfaction when used according to directions. Buy one, take it home, go by the directions, use it thirty days, if not all we claim forth, return it to us and we will give you back your money, providing the roaster when returned, is in good condition. See our window display of the Savory roasters. We will be glad to show you. Call and see them.

Caesar and the Rubicon.

The Rubicon, a small river separating Italy proper from Cisalpine Gaul, or Italy north of the Alps, was the southern boundary of Caesar's province, and he was forbidden to cross it at the head of an army. Caesar was one of several who aspired to the leadership of Roman affairs. Greater than them all, and conscious of the fact that he was being plotted against by the politicians of the capital, he came to the boundary stream with his army, thought the matter over, exclaimed at the end of his cogitations, "The die is cast," plunged in and crossed and so inaugurated the civil war which was to make him emperor and the "foremost man of all the world."

The World's Seven Wonders.

The seven wonders of the world—none of them in America—were the pyramids of Egypt, the hanging gardens of Babylon, the tomb built for Mausolus, king of Caria; the temple of Diana at Ephesus; the Colossus of Rhodes, Jupiter's statue of Phidias, and the Pharos or watch tower built by Ptolemy Philadelphus. Of these ancient wonders all but one, the pyramids, are no more.

How England Got Its Name.

England means "angle" and "land," or the land of the Angles. It was not until A. D. 829 that the name was given, by Egbert, first king of the English. The English were not the original inhabitants of the country to which they gave their name. A Celtic people known as Britons first possessed the island, from which they were driven by the English in 449.

Temperature of Mars.

Hitherto the chief obstacle to the belief that Mars is habitable by any such beings as inhabit the earth has been the extremely low temperature probably obtaining on the Martian surface, but Professor Lowell shows that by taking all the phenomena into consideration this obstacle may be removed. Previous calculations of the temperature have been deduced solely from the relative distance of Mars from the sun, and a recent investigation gave 33 degrees F. as the mean temperature of the planet. He finally deduces by taking all known factors into account that a mean temperature of 47 degrees F. is obtained.

Clock and Fan.

A very singular clock has been made by an ingenious Swiss workman. It consists of a dozen leaves hinged like an ordinary fan. The number of the hour is marked from 1 to 12 at the end of each of these leaves. The fan timepiece starts at 6 o'clock and expands regularly for twelve hours, when it suddenly closes up and starts all over again. The half hour is indicated by the leaf of the fan being only half extended.—Montreal Standard.

Submarine Electric Light.

To test the qualities of a submarine electric light a diver at Aberdeen, Scotland, descended twenty feet in muddy water, taking a newspaper and the light down with him. While seated on an anchor at the bottom of the harbor he read aloud for ten minutes to the men above, the words being conveyed through the telephone in his helmet. The paper was held eighteen inches from the lamp.

Cucumbers and Freckles.

"Is it true, doctor," asked the summer girl, "that eating cucumbers will remove freckles?" "Of course," replied Dr. Kidder, "under certain circumstances." "Really? What circumstances?" "Well, provided the freckles are on the cucumbers."—Philadelphia Press.
