

IMPORTANT HEARING.

Bond Case to be Tried Monday.

While there was a large majority cast "For Bonds" at the election in Pitt in May last, still there was a very respectable vote "Against Bonds." Some of these gentlemen who voted "Against Bonds" have brought a suit to enjoin the board of county commissioners from issuing the bonds to aid in the erecting and equipment of the buildings of the teachers' training school. The plaintiffs have employed Messrs. T. C. Wooten and Emmett Wooten, of Kinston to prosecute the case for them. These are known to be able, high minded attorneys, who exhibit great ability and fairness in the trial of their cases. We are sure they will present to the court with their usual ability and fairness all there is in the case for the plaintiff. The case by agreement will be tried on Monday, as we are informed, and now that the case is in the courts we trust that all sides and shades of opinion will be ready to abide by and carry out in good faith the judgments which may be rendered.

Working the Hair Oil Racket—May Visit Statesville.

The Tribune says a man and woman calling themselves W. R. Bass and wife did considerable business in Concord recently. They called on ladies at private residence and would exhibit a beautifully labelled bottle containing hair tonic. The tonic, they claimed, was given away. But there was a condition with each gift. The purchaser was to pay them one dollar for which they would later deliver free of further cost a set of beautiful chinaware. The chinaware was to be delivered within a few days, but it never came at all.

The good women bit readily and after the town had been thoroughly worked the esteemed Mr. and Mrs. Bass departed. If they come to Statesville they will do some business. If they don't it will be surprising. Statesville Landmark.

Strays Taken Up.

I have at my home on Pitt street, 3 cattle that strayed into my lot on the night of Friday Aug. 16 1907 which I've had advertised since that time. The owner having not called for them I shall offer them at public auction at the court house door on Wednesday, Oct. 9th, 1907, owners can recover same by calling for them and paying feeding expenses, etc. H. C. Foreman. Sept. 18, 1907.

WITNESS STOOD ASIDE.

Too Much Whiskey to Know What Took Place.

A witness was put on the stand in court to testify as to what he knew about a case that was being tried. One of the questions asked him was if he was not drinking on the day the trouble occurred, and he replied that he had drunk between a half gallon and three quarts of whiskey. Judge Lyon stopped his testimony and told him to stand aside, remarking that a man with that much whiskey in him was in no condition to remember anything that took place.

A white man who makes a criminal assault is entitled to no more consideration than a negro who does the same thing, and the speak easy attitude of some newspapers when the man is white is worthy of condemnation. He is as much of a brute, and as black—in his heart—as the sabbled brute.—New Bern Sun.

Transformer Burned.

By being overloaded, the transformer to the electric light wires in front of Hotel Bertha burned out, about 8:30 o'clock Wednesday night, and also burned two of the lead wires in two. The power had to be cut off for a few minutes until the trouble could be repaired. The most amusing thing about it was when the ends of the burned wires went to spitting fire, a bystander wanted to call out the fire department to turn a stream of water on the wires.

Giant Turtle Tows a Boat.

Capt Perry Pell, "Hen" Hartman and "Pat" Gecks, three City Island saits were fishing yesterday in Pelham Bay, off Bedlow's Point, First thing he knew, Capt. Pell's blackfish hook was taken in tow by a giant turtle. The monster towed the three men and their rowboat a mile. Then they got a gaff hook into him and brought him to the surface, and he reached out a flipper and capsized boat and all. The old salts managed to climb up on the bottom of the overturned boat with the turtle still on the line. They fought him for three hours with only an oar for a weapon. Finally the turtle died and was towed ashore. He weighed 267 pounds.—New York American Trade Report.

Richmond, Va. September 18, 1907. Bradstreets Saturday will say for Richmond, Va. and vicinity:

Sales of dry goods and kindred lines are up to, and in some instances, exceed the average.

Lots of filling-in orders are being received. Manufacturers of and dealers in paper and paper bags and wine are doing an active business, however, the raw material and finished products are high in price. The new cotton crop is being marketed in small amounts, prices show a decline from those received last week. Prospects for the late crop are still favorable. In North Carolina and Southern Virginia the new crop of tobacco is being marketed, prices thus far, have been satisfactory and the demand active, especially for the better grades. The produce market shows more activity, receipts are larger and in all lines of provision the demand is increasing as the vacation season is nearing its end and the residents of the cities are returning. Retail trade is inactive. Collections show slight improvement over last week.

STRANGE FORTUNE.

Scholarly Confederate Officer in Aims House.

Strange fortunes have followed some of the men of the Confederacy. It has just been discovered that B. F. Grant, secretary to Judah F. Benjamin, Attorney General of the Confederate States, is an inmate of the poorhouse at Montgomery, Ala. The matter gained publicity through the application of Grant to the mayor for money enough to buy a Greek Bible. He is famous as a scholar, and the interesting part is that he is a native of North Carolina, having been born in Newbern, in 1835. Men whom fate serves this way generally have queer ideas, and possibly Grant would resist an effort to take him away from the poorhouse, but it might not be amiss for the North Carolina veterans to see what they could do for his comfort.—Charlotte Chronicle

Will Stick to Newspapers.

The Retail Merchants' association of Newcastle, Ind., has placed the ban on all advertising schemes and will have nothing to do with programmes, so called business directories or other devices to separate a merchant from his cash. Newspaper advertising is recognized as the only profitable publicity method and will be strictly adhered to in the future.—American Press.

A Trusted Domestic.

One of the most remarkable financial transactions recorded in years in this or probably in any other city took place on Thursday last. An elderly colored woman, poorly dressed, entered one of the large banks in the financial district and insisted upon seeing the president himself. No one else would do and the attendant was eventually obliged to conduct her into that official's private office. Arrived there, the old woman, with much simplicity of manner, asked whether the financial disturbance was past, and was smilingly assured that it was. Thereupon to the amazement of the financier, she drew from the folds of her dress a bank book and twenty-six bills, each of the denomination of $1,000 and asked that they be placed to the credit of her "marster's account." The book was in the name of one of the oldest and wealthiest customs of the bank, a retired and superannuated merchant, who nowadays rarely leaves his house, but who had every confidence in his old domestic.—Phila. Record.

Harrison Commits Suicide.

Norfolk, Va. Sept. 18.—Rather than spend twenty years in the North Carolina penitentiary for the crime of kidnapping, a crime of which one of his last acts was to declare himself guilty, Joshua Harrison took his life here in the new Gladstone Hotel at 5:30 o'clock this afternoon.

THE COLONEL'S STORY.

How Jim Adkins Went to War, Got Buried and Was Resurrected.

"Talking about war times," said the old colonel, "did any of you ever hear the story of Jim Adkins?"

"No."

"Well, I'm surprised. Everybody in the settlement knew it. Jim was a no 'count sort of a fellow, and the old man was anxious to get rid of him, so when the war broke out and they were looking around for men the old man gave him away."

"Gave him away?"

"Yes, Jim was in the hayloft, and they were about to leave without him when the old man winked and pointed to the barn."

"That was enough, and they got him and marched him to the front."

"The old man was sorry after Jim was gone, and his conscience hurt him bad. But he hoped for the best, until one day he got a message that told him Jim had been killed and buried on the battlefield."

"Then he packed his grip and started right off to bring Jim's body home if possible, for the grief-stricken mother would have nothing else and made life miserable for him with her reproaches."

"He went to Virginia and was there informed that it would be impossible to remove the body. So he stood over the spot where it was buried and wept for three days. Then he went sadly home."

"And, lo and behold, the first man he met as he neared his gate was Jim—safe, sound and right side up with care!"

"It was some time before the old man could say a word, but when he found it was really Jim—in flesh and blood—that they had got Jim mixed up with some other Adkins, and he hadn't been killed at all, the old man was hot! He slowly divested himself of his coat, then rolled up his sleeves and made for him! It was the liveliest scrap you ever saw—the old man on top and the two of 'em wallowing in the dust!"

"It took the old lady and the three girls and two stout darkeys to pull the old man off."

"He never did explain why he did it, and Jim didn't ask any questions, but the next morning he told his mother that while his furlough wasn't out, still he knew his country needed him and he couldn't stand to stay at home under those circumstances, so he left his blessings for the old man and took the first train for the front."—Atlanta Constitution.

Why Do Sootsmen Succeed?

"Johnny, dear!" said the visitor. John MacTurk turned around, while the family cat seized the opportunity of rescuing her tail from his grubby list.

"Now that you're going to school," continued the visitor, "I want to ask you a little question. How many marbles would you get if I gave you twenty to be divided between you and Andrew MacDonald?"

Johnny thoughtfully rubbed the point of his nose where the cat had scratched him.

"I dinna ken," he said.

"Come, come," said his elder.

"How's that?"

"Weel, na'am," said Johnny, "ye see it's a' according. If ye gie me them when we're both here we'd hae ten apiece. If Andrew was here and I wasna I'd only hae about five. But if I were to get them when Andrew wasna here I dinna ken whether he'd hae any at a'."—Dundee Advertiser.

A Homemade Curfew.

Every family should have a curfew which should positively "ring tonight" and every night if needed. These curfews are inexpensive and can be homemade. Take a piece of siding two feet long and whittle one end down to a handle. Then take the child that needs the curfew and bend him over a barrel. Now take the piece of siding in the hand and use it for a clapper. Put it on hot. Divide the strokes evenly and see that none miss. Good for a boy or girl up to the age of sixteen, and applications are warranted to cure the most pronounced case of street loafing that exists. The music this curfew makes is finer than singing "Where Is My Wandering Boy Tonight?"—Popular Mechanics.

POSTMASTERS' CONVENTION.

Many Prominent Officials to Attend the Meeting in Raleigh Next Week.

Raleigh, N. C., Wednesday, 18.—Postmaster Willis G. Briggs returned this morning from Washington, where he extended invitations to a number of officials of the Postoffice Department to attend the North Carolina Postmasters' convention to be held in Raleigh October 15-16. The invitations were accepted and the following officials will attend: Postmaster General Meyer, First Assistant Hitchcock, Fourth Assistant T. B. McGraw, W. R. Spilman, superintendent of rural free delivery routes, and Chief Postoffice inspector W. J. Vickory. The last named has issued an order to all postoffice inspectors in the State requiring them to attend.

A general official call has been issued to all postmasters in the State to be present. There are over 2,100 postmasters in North Carolina.

While in Washington Postmaster Briggs secured an appropriation for two additional carriers in Raleigh and an appropriation of $225 for carriers to use in buying street car tickets.

Stole a Barrel of Whiskey.

Joe Kitchen, colored, was a surprised man show day when another colored man whispered to him that the officers wanted him. Joe started off in a run, but Deputy Sheriff Frank Dawson was soon up with him, and in a few minutes he and Police-man Leggett had him secure. Joe was wanted in Greenville, where he is charged with breaking open a car and stealing a barrel of whiskey. An officer came up and escorted him down to Greenville.—Tarboro Southern.

Chief of Police J. T. Smith brought Joe in Wednesday evening and lodged him in jail. He is the negro who helped steal the barrel of whiskey out of a car two Saturday nights ago.

When Airships are Common.

A baker in Nied, a village near Frankfort-on-the-Main, had a fine batch of plum cakes which were cooling on his roof ruined the other day by a shower of sand ballast thrown over from above by a passing aeronaut. His misfortune calls attention to a new discomfort of civilization. When airships are as common as automobiles, and the air is as full of falling sand as it is now of gasoline fumes, must we roof over the entire earth in order to be protected from aerial assaults? Or must nature readapt us to our environments, so that we shall enjoy sand in our plum cakes as much as we now enjoy the delicious and refreshing aroma of gasoline as an indispensable element of "pure air."—New York Tribune.

Thursday Afternoon, Sept. 19

It was not the first time Greenville has suffered through neglect on the part of her own people.

The new State of Oklahoma made a good start in electing an entire Democratic ticket Tuesday.

They now depend more on the big speakers than on the big pumpkins to draw crowds to the fair.

The saloons ought to appear good by closing their doors during the meeting of the anti-saloon league in Norfolk.

If the warehousemen are called on to turn over a $500 fine they will be careful to send in their reports to avoid a second fine.

If the exposition managers would give more attention to the show and less to their personal differences it would be better for all concerned.

Owing to the advanced price in the cost of making a newspaper, the Washington Star announces a change in subscription price from $5 to $6 beginning October first. There is no enterprise harder hit in the advance of material than the newspaper.

Democrats of Greensboro and Guilford county are preparing to give W. J. Bryan a big banquet when he comes to speak at the fair there. Nothing is intimated yet about seats for the "conservative force."

Cassie Chadwick has come before the public eye again, but this time in pitiable plight. It is stated that since confinement in the Columbus prison she has become totally blind and a physical wreck. Poor Cassie! "Let him that is without sin first cast a stone at her."

J. M. Barr, director-general of the Jamestown exposition, has never become satisfied over the late unpleasant relations between himself and President Tucker, and has resigned. This leaves the official household of the exposition in somewhat of a muddle again.

It seems to be a fact not generally known that it is against the game laws of the State to hunt on any land without the permission of the owner. It is not necessary for a man to post his land to make hunting on it by others unlawful.

The Charlotte Observer expresses the belief that if the country had known Judge Parker as well three years ago as it knows him now he would have been elected president. It is another case of the country seeing its mistake, but whether it will profit by it is entirely another question. Judge Parker has proven himself sound and right on all public questions, a claim that can never be truthfully made for the man who defeated him for the presidency.

PARISIAN DUELS.

There Are Three Kinds—Tricks to Gain Time While Fighting.

Duels are common enough in France nowadays, but they are robbed of their picturesque side, says the Household Brigade Magazine. They may be divided into three categories, which I place in the order of their frequency of occurrence—journalists' duels, duels that are the outcome of a tongue too well hung or lubricated by an overdose of alcohol, and, thirdly, those where the opponents are out to kill if they can. The above order also represents the degree of publicity accompanying each.

Of those due to an ill considered or ill bred remark comparatively few come to an interchange of shots or thrusts, but fizzle out after an interchange of cards. Morning brings a more reasonable frame of mind, and things are quieted down by these unfortunate individuals who have been selected as seconds. When such encounters do take place at least one of the principals is only too desirous for privacy to be maintained, the safest possible conditions are arranged, and one only hears about the affair after it is all over.

The materials for disagreement are usually a night restaurant and the one extra bottle which might have been dispensed with. Only recently a respectable married man found himself confronted in combat by an unknown Argentine with whom he had apparently had a disagreement the night before at a well known second rate cosmopolitan cafe much frequented between about 2 a. m. and breakfast time.

Neither of the gentlemen knew quite what it was all about, but their seconds said it was all right, so they had to go through with it, and no harm was done. The third type of duel is serious and very rare. It usually takes the form of a row about a lady.

There are a good many tricks to gain time in dueling. Dropping the sword is one, resting the point on the ground or making a wide parry so as to scrape the ground is another. In either of these cases the point has to be sandpapered and treated with an antiseptic or held in a flame, so that there may be no risk of a wound being poisoned.

With pistols the conditions are arranged according to the seriousness of the quarrel. As a rule, dueling pistols at twenty-five paces are used. The dueling pistol is muzzle loaded and rifled. Its pull off is regulated by the circumstances; also the powder charge. Seconds often arrange to put in only sufficient powder to drive the bullet out of the bore. Sometimes they drop the bullet into the left hand when loading and hammer an imaginary one down the barrel.

Sermon in a Few Words.

We are very much impressed by something we saw and heard while passing along the street a few evenings since. A young girl was standing in front of a store, and near her, with a hangdog expression on his face, was a young stripling of a youth. As we passed the two the girl said to the boy, "Any one who speaks of my father as 'the old man' is not worthy of my respect." From the tone of her voice we knew that the girl spoke from the impulse of a moment, but there was a whole sermon in her utterance. We don't know the girl, but if she lives she will develop into a noble womanhood, and the world will be better for her having lived in it. And the boy, if he has any redeeming qualities in him, will profit by the lesson given him in that one sentence.—Burlington Chronicle.

Show a Bad Example.

A grocer who was noted for his carefulness had an advertisement inserted in a local newspaper for a message boy, and a young fellow who understood the kind of a gentleman who was advertising came to apply for the situation, and while the grocer was telling him how careful he must be a fly settled on a bag of sugar, and the grocer caught it and threw it away. The boy then said:

"If you want me to be careful you are showing me a bad example."

"Why?" replied the former. "Because," said the boy, "you have thrown that fly away without brushing the sugar off its feet."—London Mail.

Be Not Afraid.

He has not learned the lesson of his life who does not every day surmount a fear. If you have no faith in a beneficent power above you, but see only an adamant fate coiling its folds about nature and man, then reflect that the best use of fate is to teach us courage. If you have no confidence in any foreign mind, then be brave because there is always one good opinion which must always be of importance to you—namely, your own.—Ralph Waldo Emerson.

An Elephant's Teeth.

Whoever has looked inside an elephant's mouth has seen a strange sight. Elephants have no front teeth, and they never eat flesh or any food that requires tearing apart. Eight teeth are all they have, two above and below on each side, huge yellow molars as wide as a man's hand and about two inches thick. Over these hay or fodder is shifted by the greatest, ugliest tongue in the whole animal kingdom, a tongue that is literally hung at both ends, having no power of movement except in the middle, where it shifts back and forth from side to side, arching up against the roof of the big mouth like an immense wrinkled pink serpent.

Proof Positive.

Mrs. Perry thoughtfully regarded the package the maid had just brought in and then remarked to her husband that she had meant to buy a mauve broche.

"What did you get?" he asked. "Pink Louisiana."

Her husband could not quite conceal a significant smile, and Mrs. Perry went on hurriedly: "I know what you are thinking, Joe—that I don't know my own mind. But I can prove that I do."

"Did you ever know me to go to a grocery and bring away a can of peaches instead of a bar of soap? Certainly not!" she concluded triumphantly.—Youth's Companion.

Figures Won't Lie.

Benjy came home from school one day with "1776" pinned across his shirt front.

"What does that mean, Benjy?" his mother asked.

"You don't know no more 'n teacher," he grumbled. "That's just what she wanted to know."

"But what does it mean, son?" repeated his mother.

"Those figures," answered the little man proudly, "stand for the 'Declaration of Appendicitis!'"—Lippincott's.

JOB PRINTING AT THE REFLECTOR

I will mail you free, to prove merit samples of my Dr. Shoop's Restorative, and my Book on either Dyspepsia, The Heart or The Kidneys. Troubles of the Stomach, Heart or Kidneys, are merely symptoms of a deeper ailment. Don't make the common error of treating symptoms only. Symptom treatment is treating the result of your ailment, and not the cause. Weak Stomach nerves—the inside nerves—mean Stomach weakness, always. And the Heart, and Kidneys as well, have their controlling or inside nerves. Weaken these nerves, and you inevitably have weak vital organs. Here is where Dr. Shoop's Restorative has made its fame. No other remedy even claims to treat the "inside nerves". Also for bloating, biliousness, bad breath or complexion, use Dr. Shoop's Restorative. Write to-day for sample and free Book. Dr. Shoop, Racine, Wis. The Restorative is sold by Bryans Drug Store

The wise man looked not at the thermometer during July and August.

When you feel the need of a pill take DeWitt's Little Early Riser. Small, safe pill, sure pill. Easy to take, pleasant and effective. Drives away headaches. Sold by John L. Wooten's drug store

You can never make another noise with the cracker that has been exploded.

A prompt, pleasant, good remedy for coughs and colds, is Kennedy's Laxative Cough Syrup. It is especially recommended for babies and children, but good for every member of the family. It contains no opiates and does not constipate. Contains honey and tar and tastes nearly as good as maple syrup. Children like it. Sold by John L. Wooten's Drug Store.

Some bargains are expensive.

Get a free sample of Dr. Shoop's "Health Coffee" at our store. If real coffee disturbs your Stomach, your Heart or Kidneys, then try this clever Coffee imitation. Dr. Shoop has closely matched Old Java and Mocha Coffee in flavor and taste, yet it has not a single grain of real Coffee in it. Dr. Shoop's Health Coffee Imitation is made from pure toasted grains or cereals, with Malt, Nuts, etc. Made in a minute. No tedious wait. You will surely like it. Sold by T. E. Hooker & Co

Politics sometime makes strange cellmates.

All stomach trouble are quickly relieved by taking a little Kodol after each meal. Kodol goes directly to the seat of the trouble, strengthens the digestive organs, supplies the natural digestive juices and digests what you eat. It is a simple, clean, pure, harmless remedy. Don't neglect your stomach. Take a little Kodol after each meal and see how good it makes you feel. Money back if it fails. Sold by John L. Wooten.

Worry never completed a task worth while.

Bert Barber, of Elton, Wis., says "I have only taken four doses of your Kidney and Bladder Pills and they have done for me more than any other medicine has ever done. I am still taking the pills as I want a perfect cure." Mr. Barber refers to DeWitt's Kidney and Bladder Pills, which are unequalled for Backache, weak kidneys, inflammation of the bladder and all urinary troubles. A weeks treatment for 25c. Sold by J. L. Wooten's Drug Store.

The vacation earned is the vacation enjoyed.

There is no case of indigestion, no matter how irritable or how obstinate that will not be speedily relieved by the of Kodol. The main factor in curing the stomach of any disorder is rest, and the only way to get rest is to actually digest the food for the stomach itself. Kodol will do it. It is a scientific preparation of vegetable acids containing the very same juices found in healthy stomach. It conforms to the Pure Food and Drugs Law. Sold by John L. Wooten.

The pies are just as good as ever—your "taster" is out of whack.

For scratches, burns, cuts, insect bites and the many little hurts common to every family, DeWitt's Carbolyzed Witch Hazel Salve is the best remedy. It is soothing, cooling, clean and healing. Be sure you get DeWitt's. Sold by J. L. Wooten's Drug Store.

The vacation we miss is the one we would have enjoyed the most.

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh cure. Send for circulars, free. F. J. GENEVY & CO., Toledo, O. Sold by Druggists, 75c. Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

The Reflector Book Store, which is sole agent in Greenville for the Parker Fountain Pen, is going to give away one of these famous Pens, absolutely free, to the person who guesses exactly or nearest to the number of pounds of tobacco sold on the warehouse floors of the Greenville market during the month of September.

The only condition in this guessing contest is that you come to the Reflector Book Store in person and write your name and guess, with a Parker Fountain Pen, on a list prepared for the guesses. Cough Caution

Never, positively never poison your lungs. If you cough—even from a simple cold only—you should always heal, soothe, and ease the irritated bronchial tubes. Don't blindly suppress it with a stupefying poison. It's strange how some things finally come about. For twenty years Dr. Shoop has constantly warned people not to take cough mixtures or prescriptions containing Opium, Chloroform, or similar poisons. And now a little late though—Congress says "Put it on the label, if poisons are in your Cough Mixture." Good! Very good! Hereafter this very recommendation, and others, should insist on having Dr. Shoop's Cough Cure. No poison marks on Dr. Shoop's labels—and none in the medicine, else it must by law be on the label. And it's not only safe, but it is said to be by those that know it best, a truly remarkable cough remedy. Take no chance, especially with your children. Insist on having Dr. Shoop's Cough Cure. Compare carefully the Dr. Shoop package with others and note the difference. No poison marks there! You can always be on the safe side by demanding

Two Dyspeptics

If you are too fat it is because your food turns to fat instead of muscle—strength. If you are too lean the fat producing foods that you eat are not properly digested and assimilated.

Lean, thin, stringy people do not have enough Pepsin in the stomach, while fat people have too much Pepsin and not enough Pancreatine.

Kodol

contains all the digestive juices that are found in a healthy stomach, and in exactly those proportions necessary to enable the stomach and digestive organs to digest and assimilate all foods that may be eaten. Kodol is not only a perfect digestant, but it is a reconstructive, tissue building tonic as well. Kodol cures Indigestion, Dyspepsia, Sour Stomach, Heartburn, Palpitation of the Heart and Constipation. You will like it.

TO MY FRIENDS.

Having been away for several months I wish to announce to my friends and patrons of the "empire" of Pitt that I am still connected with the firm of Chas. M. Stieff, and if each of us are allowed to misuse the happy term home as a synonym for a "hanging out place" I still call Greenville my home, and while I intend to be away from Greenville a great deal of my time during this fall a postal care of box 325, Greenville, will reach me within a day or two. We now have a number of slightly used upright pianos, some of which have been rented during the summer months, others which were temporarily used by artists at the exposition and for orchestra work, at bargain prices. We also offer a special school piano for $225.00 fully measuring up in standard to any $350.00 instrument. This piano is especially built for college and school work for the special price named above and is full guaranteed by my firm for 10 years. Those interested in a school piano or in a good slightly used piano for the home should write me at once and I will profit by it, and as ever I am always mindful of my patrons' protection and interest as well as my firm's interest. Grateful of past patronage. Very respt., G. G. Fineman, Box 325 Greenville, N. C.

THE TOAD.

Its Eyes and Its Venom and the hanging of its Skin.

"Moving slowly through the long grass is a small, rough skinned creature, almost the color of the earth that shows at the roots of the trees," writes a nature observer. "It is a toad just emerged, somewhat tardily, from his winter hiding place (a hole about as big as himself) and only now awake to external influences. Lethargic and sleepy though he is, he is quite sufficiently alert to know that I am looking at him and wondering to see how his skin has lost all its color from the long absence of the light. It is hardly possible to trace any shade of olive green and dusky yellow or ashen gray and brown upon the warty surface of his back. And the darker markings which sometimes form irregular bands over the back and legs are merged into the general dullness and dustiness of the soil which has covered him for so long. As a rule, toads and frogs and other hibernating animals are seen in the open as soon as the first warm days of spring restore their lowered temperature.

"Some people wonder what Shakespeare meant by the 'precious jewel in its head.' The brilliant eyes with their yellow rings, like a gold setting to the onyx, are as gems laid upon its head. Wonderful eyes they are in their range of vision and able to see meal worms placed to the rear far quicker than when some distance ahead. The venom of the toad, which is an acid, milky fluid concealed in the glands at the back of the head, has been many times described by naturalists as harmless unless it touches some abrasion of the skin, when it causes local irritation. But though not particularly virulent when swallowed by another animal, yet injected into a wound it is very active and causes ulceration and all the symptoms of irritant poisoning. A dog which has once seized a toad and tasted this bitter fluid and burnt his tongue will never attack one again. Snakes will starve rather than swallow a toad.

"During the warm weather the skin is sloughed, and the ponderous toad shakes off the thin film that covers him and emerges in a new skin, fresh and bright. So also do the frogs change their skins in the course of the summer, assisting in the process themselves. The old cuticle divides down the center of the back and the two halves gradually fold and recede farther and farther from the center. By continued twitching the folds are brought down the sides, and then the hinder legs, first one and then the other, are brought forward under the arm, which presses down upon it and thus draws off the old skin inside out."

Truthful Boy.

"Thomas," said Mr. Smith as he gazed into his son's eyes with a soul-searching look, "have you eaten any of those peaches I put in the cupboard?" "Father," said Tommy, "I cannot tell a lie. I have not touched one." Mr. Smith eyed him wrathfully as he plunged his hand into the pocket of his coat and drew forth five incriminating stones, which had each once been enshrined in the luscious flesh of a peach, but which were now staring in all their horrid nakedness.

"Then how is it," said the parent, "that I found these peach stones in your bedroom, and there is only one peach left in the cupboard?" "Father," said Thomas as he silently but swiftly left the room and placed a chair in such a position that Mr. Smith would fall over it if he followed too quickly, "father, that is the one I never touched!"

False.

He was a country cousin on a visit to London, and as he sat in the theater he observed that a long silken tress was hanging down the back of the lady in front of him. "Excuse me, miss," he said, leaning over, "but your hair is coming down." She turned upon him a face acid enough to make several gallons of homemade lemonade.

"My hair?" she asked icily. "But the country visitor was not so verdant as his native fields. "I beg your pardon," he said, with all humility, "I thought it was your hair." Fortunately the band struck up just then and drowned the fair maiden's reply.—London Answers.

The Blind Man's Laugh.

A blind man was sitting with a number of persons. When they laughed he would laugh also. Some one asked him, "What have you seen that you should laugh so heartily?" The blind man said, "I am only echoing your laugh." "We are laughing at you," some one said. "Then I am laughing at myself," the man replied.—From the Chicago Herald.
