A NEW PLAN TO IMPROVE RACE.

Great Scheme of a College President.

San Francisco, Cal., Sept. 18 — "If we could have a great drought once every fifteen years, killing off two-thirds of the population, and great care were taken to see that the best third, mentally, morally and physically, were preserved, what a magnificent race of people we would soon have," declared David Starr Jordan, president of Stanford University, in his annual address to the newly arrived freshmen. This statement was made in the course of an account he was giving of his impressions of Australia and New Zealand, and the sheep-raising industry there. "The desert atmosphere extends over the sheep-raising country and when there is a drought, many sheep die," he continued, "but those left are the finest in the world, and it so happens that the sheep-raisers get more for their stock in a year of drought than they do in a normal year."

AS TO CALLING.

Visits Should be Paid at Least Once a Year.

It will be a sad day when the art of calling dies out. It will mean we shall either have no friends at all, or only those friends we can count on by bribery or payment, namely, the offer of a meal.

Everyone is not a millionaire. Every young married couple cannot afford to give a luncheon or a dinner; but everyone — yes even the poorest can afford to offer a cup of tea.

When a man or a woman calls they pay their hostess a real compliment. They go to see her uninvited, unbribed; in fact they go for the pleasure of seeing her and renewing her acquaintance. An afternoon call is a compliment to a woman. The acceptance of an invitation where food is offered is quite the other way round; the compliment then comes from the hostess, and not from the guest, as in the case of an afternoon visit.

"Life is too short to call!" someone exclaimed. Life is nothing of the kind. Life is rarely too short to accomplish what we really want to do; but its brevity is an excuse to cover our laziness and our sins. The people who nothing to do never find time to do anything of value to anyone; but the really busy people bring so much order and method into their lives they find time to accomplish practically everything they want. In cities it is certainly difficult to make calls at long distances on particular days, but even that can be accomplished, and should be at least once a year. — Exchange.

Others may claim, but we've got the show. Come in and see for yourselves. We can supply all the books on the list by the time school begins. Let this appeal to you; — go to a drug store for drugs, a hardware store for hardware, a grocery store for groceries, a racket store for racket, and a book store for books. A nice blotter and memorandum book free to all school children. Evans' Book Store.

I have on display at my residence a beautiful assortment of silverware, suitable for wedding presents. Mrs. J. B. Cherry.

How To Do It In Kansas.

In answer to the question, "Please tell when and where are, or is, the correct time for a gentleman to lift or remove his hat," we reply: Without consulting authorities on etiquette, in fact, giving it to you offhand, so to speak, we should say at the following times, and on the following occasions, respectively, the hat should be lifted or removed as circumstances indicate: When mopping the brow; when taking a bath; when eating; when going to bed; when taking up a collection; when having the hair trimmed; when being shampooed; when standing on the head. — Wichita Beacon.

NORTH STATE'S SHINING PAST.

Some Great Things Wherein This Commonwealth Led All the Rest.

Northern historians grow eloquent when they write about the blood shed at Lexington and Bunker Hill, but they have little to say about the blood shed at Alamance, Camden, Cowpens, Guilford Court House, Eutaw Springs, Charleston and King's Mountain, in which many of the pioneers of Tennessee gained imperishable renown.

The first organized resistance to British tyranny in America was by the people of North Carolina in 1770. The first battle of the revolution, which gave independence to the colonies and the first blood shed in that cause was on the 16th of May, 1771, when the forces of Governor Tryon, numbering 1,100 men, met about 200 of the "Regulars," at Alamance, in Orange county, North Carolina. In the battle that ensued there was "stubborn fighting until the ammunition of the Regulators was exhausted and they were driven from the field. Twenty of these brave men were killed and several prisoners were taken, one of which was hung without trial, and twelve others were convicted of high treason and executed. The loss of the British in killed, wounded and missing were sixty one men.

North Carolina, the mother of Tennessee, was the first of the colonies to throw the gauntlet of defiance in the face of the British. The battle of Lexington was fought on April 19, 1775, and one month and a day later, on May 20, the Mecklenburg declaration of independence was signed at Charlotte, twenty-seven men affixing their names thereto. A number of the descendants of these signers found their way to Tennessee, among them the Brevards and the Alexanders, ancestors of the families of those names now residents of Sumner and other counties in Tennessee.

Edmund Burke said: "Where ever slavery exists, in any part of the world, those who are free are by far the most proud and jealous of their freedom — and these people of the southern colonies are much more strongly and with a higher and more stubborn spirit attached to liberty than those to the northward."

Bancroft said: "We shall find that the first voice publicly raised in America to dissolve all connection with Great Britain came not from the Puritans of New England, or the Dutch of New York, nor the planters of Virginia, but from the Scotch Irish Presbyterians of North Carolina, the mother of Tennessee. But the Scotch Irish were not all Presbyterians, many of them were Methodists, and it appears that large numbers of the early pioneers of Sumner county were of the later faith — J. G. Cisco, in Nashville American.

Prof. J. A. McArthur arrived from Fayetteville Tuesday and will be present at the opening of the graded school of which he is principal, Miss Annie Barnes, one of the teachers has also arrived. The other teachers will be here on this evening's train. The prospect for a full attendance is bright.

It looks so natural to see our old friend, J. W. Taylor. We shall certainly regret when he leaves.

Mr. Oscar Dixon, one of our popular young men left Wednesday morning for Littleton to enter school.

Ayden has eight cotton buyers. All of them are anxious for business. Bring cotton here and secure the highest price.

Miss Helen Quinerly has returned to Raleigh to resume her studies at St. Mary's.

Mrs. B. F. Early left Tuesday to visit her daughter, Mrs. Flynn in Norfolk.

Mr. Walter Hooks, a prominent lawyer from Kenly, has been here during the week prospecting. He has decided to locate here permanently for the practice of his profession. He has returned to make preparation for the removal of his family to this place. Mr. Hooks is a gentleman of prepossessing appearance and impresses one as a man of good sense and sound sense. This has been a long needed want in Ayden and we have not the slightest idea but that all our people will like and give him a liberal patronage.

Messrs. W. C. Jackson and W. O. Bilbro are away on a business trip.

Misses Hattie Armstrong and Esther Jones have been on a visit to Renston.

Mrs. Caleb Tripp continues seriously ill at her home on Third street.

A public debate will be had each Tuesday night at the seminary. The subject for next Tuesday night is, "Should women vote."

REMAINS BROUGHT HOME.

Mr. W. M. Daniel Dies of His Injuries.

Mr. Will M. Daniel, who was reported badly hurt and in an unconscious condition in the hospital at Rocky Mount, died of his injuries at 3 o'clock this morning.

Mr. Daniel was a freight conductor on the Atlantic Coast Line with a run between Rocky Mount and Florence. The accident that proved fatal occurred Wednesday evening. His train left Selma about 5 o'clock going north and somewhere near Wilson the crew missed Conductor Daniel. A stop was made at the next station and a telegram sent to headquarters advising that the conductor was missing. The message was answered that he had been found and the crew was instructed to take the train on to Rocky Mount.

As we can learn the particulars, Mr. Daniel was found lying beside the track by the section master not far from a little station called Aycock. His head and right shoulder were badly injured and he was then unconscious so that nothing could be learned of how the injury occurred. It is supposed that he fell off his train while it was running and struck on the track. His train went twenty miles before the crew missed him.

A second section of the freight train carried Mr. Daniel to Rocky Mount where he was placed in the railroad hospital. He never regained consciousness and died at the time above started.

Mr. W. C. Hines, a brother-in-law of Mr. Daniel, went to Rocky Mount Thursday evening and was there at the time of his death, and came back with the remains which were brought here on the midday train. A younger brother, Mr. H. B. Daniel, and another brother-in-law, Mr. Edward Purdie, both of Dunn, also came with the remains. Six employees of the Coast Line came from Rocky Mount to Greenville as an escort. These were Messrs. J. N. Stevenson, C. G. Speed, W. A. Stroud, R. G. Murchison, W. T. Moore and W. H. James.

The remains were taken to the family burial ground, about four miles from town, for interment this afternoon, leaving the residence of Mr. Hines at 3 o'clock. The funeral services were conducted by Rev. J. E. Ayscue.

Mr. Daniel was a member of the Pythian lodge at Dunn, and a committee of Greenville Pythians met the body at the train here and attended the burial. He was just 25 years old and a son of the late Mr. M. G. Daniel, and a nephew of Mr. W. H. Harrington. Two brothers and two sisters survive him.

Mr. Daniel had many friends and was held in high esteem by the railroad officials and his fellow employees. His faithfulness to duty in the railroad service service had brought him rapid promotion.

Jealous Lover Kills Rich Girl.

New York, Sept. 18. — Screaming "Julius, you wont kill me, will you?" Miss Draga Siegel, a pretty twenty-year-old girl, was shot down early today by Julius Hoffman, a former lieutenant in the Austrian army, in a furnished room at No. 215 east 37th street.

The girls dying in Bellevue Hospital from three bullet wounds and Hoffman is locked up in the 25th street station. Jealousy led to the tragedy. The victim is the daughter of a colonel in the Austrian army, who died recently, leaving her $100,000, which she was to receive on her 21st birthday. — Raleigh Times.

DECLARED HIS INNOCENCE.

Joshua Harrison's Written Statement in Contemplation of Suicide.

Norfolk, Sept. 19. — Joshua Harrison's body was today sent to Jarvisburg, N. C., for burial.

In a note found, Harrison said: "I am an innocent man. God knows it; my family know it. I am about to end my life. No one is in any way responsible save the cruel ones who imposed that awful sentence."

It was a sad scene enacted when Detective Wright broke the news as gently as possible to Mrs. Maggie Gallop, of 192 Duke street, a daughter of Mr. Harrison. The officer told Mrs. Gallop and Mr. Harrison's wife that he had met with an accident. The women in a trembling voice inquired what the trouble was.

When told that Mr. Harrison had shot himself, she almost fainted, but gasped that she expected that something would happen when a new trial was denied by the courts. Mrs. Gallop was then joined by her mother, the wife of the dead man, who declared between her daughter's and her own tears and sobs that Mr. Harrison was innocent.

Mrs. Harrison declared that her husband was asleep the night in February, 1905, that Kenneth Beasley was kidnapped and carried away. She tried to comfort her daughter with the assurance that her father was a martyr, having been innocent of the crime for which he was convicted.

Troubles of the Stomach, Heart or Kidneys, are merely symptoms of a deeper ailment. Don't make the common error of treating symptoms only. Symptom treatment is treating the result of your ailment, and not the cause. Weak Stomach nerves—the inside nerves—mean Stomach weakness, always. And the Heart and Kidneys as well, have their controlling or inside nerves. Weaken these nerves, and you inevitably have weak vital organs. Here is where Dr. Shoop's Restorative has made its fame. No other remedy even claims to treat the "inside nerves". Also for bloating, biliousness, bad breath or complexion, use Dr. Shoop's Restorative. Write to-day for sample and free Book. There is no case of indigestion, no matter how irritable or how obstinate that will not be speedily relieved by use of Kodol. Deafness Cannot be Cured by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh cure. Send for circulars, free. F. J. GENEY & CO., Toledo, O. Sold by Druggists, 75c. Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

TO MY FRIENDS.

Having been away for several months I wish to announce to my friends and patrons of the "empire" of Pitt that I am still connected with the firm of Chas. M. Stieff, and if bachelors are allowed to misuse the happy term home as a synonym for a "hanging out place" I still call Greenville my home, and while I intend to be away from Greenville a great deal of my time during this fall a postal care of box 325, Greenville, will reach me within a day or two. We now have a number of slightly used upright pianos, some of which have been rented during the summer months, others which were temporarily used by artists at the exposition and for orchestra work, at bargain prices.

We also offer a special school piano for $225.00 fully measuring up in standard to any $350.00 instrument. This piano is especially built for college and school work for the special price named above and is full guaranteed by my firm for 10 years. Those interested in a school piano or in a good slightly used piano for the home should write me at once and will profit by it, and as ever I am always mindful of my patrons' pleasure and interest as well as my firm's interest. Grateful of your patronage. Very resp., G. G. Fineman, Box 325 Greenville, N. C.

HUNTING THE WALRUS.

The Guards of the Herd Are Shot, the Rest Killed With Axes.

Whalers begun to turn their attention to walrus catching about the year 1868. During the first part of every season there is but little opportunity to capture whales, they being within the limits of the icy barrier. As a result much of the whalers' time during July and August was devoted to capturing walrus.

Men would be landed on the Alaska shore in June and left to watch for the animals to haul up on the beach at certain points. According to the government reports, the walrus must either come ashore or get on the ice to sleep. When a herd is well ashore one or two old bulls are generally left on watch.

The best shot among the hunters now creeps up and by a successful rifle shot or two kills the guard. Owing to their very defective hearing the noise made by the rifle does not wake them. The gun is then put aside and each hunter, armed with a sharp ax, approaches the sleeping animals and cuts the spines of as many of them as possible before the others become alarmed and stampede for the water and escape.

The white hunters rarely make use of anything but the two long, curved tusks with which the animal is equipped and which average about five pounds to the pair. If time permits, however, the flesh is boiled and the oil saved. To many of the Eskimos, especially on the arctic shore, the walrus is almost a necessity of life, and the devastation wrought among the herds by the whalers has been and is yet the cause of fearful suffering and death to many of the natives.

The flesh is food for men and dogs. The oil also is used for food and for lighting and heating the houses. The skin when tanned and oiled makes a durable cover for the large skin boats. The intestines make waterproof clothing, window covers and floats. The tusks are used for lance or spear points or are carved into a great variety of useful and ornamental objects, and the bones are used to make heads for spears and for other purposes.

In addition to hunting the walrus themselves the whalers also purchase from the Eskimos the tusks, or ivory, that they have secured.—New York Sun.

Not Infallible.

Harriet Martineau, the English author, was shrewd and practical and had what men are pleased to call a "masculine intellect." But she was not always correct in her deductions, a fact illustrated by the following anecdote, told in her "Memoirs," by Sir Charles Murray, who was then the English consul general in Egypt:

One afternoon we met at the villa of my old friend, S. W. Larking, on the banks of the Mahamoudieh canal. In the course of our stroll through the garden we came to a small gate, the pattern of which was new to Miss Martineau, who was walking in front.

She stopped and, looking at the gate in an attitude of intense admiration, exclaimed:

"How truly oriental! What wonderful taste these easterners have in design!"

She went on, and as Larking and I followed through the gate he whispered to me, "I got it out last week from Birmingham."

Queer Ideas of Beauty.

The amiability of Moorish women strikes me greatly, writes an Englishwoman in Morocco in the National Review. I visited some the other day, and they were full of kindly interest. They liked my fair hair, they liked my clothes. One old crone suggested how lovely I would be were I to paint my cheeks a brilliant red, stain my under lids coal black, adding three black vertical lines on my forehead and one in the middle of my chin also stain my teeth with walnut juice, my hands with henna! therefore rubbed my cheeks with my handkerchief till they turned crimson. "That amused them highly, and they laughed and said I needed no paint, but I need henna and blacking! Another woman gazed at my waist and groaned, exclaiming she would be ill had she a waist as small as mine.

No Benefit.

A well known actor, lying on his deathbed, according to the physicians, was approached by a brother Thespian, who said: "Blank, old man, you are long for this world yet. We are going to get up a benefit!" The dying man of tragedy lifted himself up by his left elbow and, shaking his long index finger of the right hand in the visitor's face, hissed: "Benefit! Benefit! Benefit! Oh, Shakespeare! Now indeed do I know that death is at hand. My time is come. A benefit! Goodby, old boy. See that I am decently buried. But no benefit!"—New York Press.

BOTH ARCHITECT and BUILDER

ARE needed when a house is to be erected. The more perfect plans will not insure a safe and comfortable home, unless a reliable builder is employed. And the best life insurance policy ever devised will fail to protect the family, unless it is issued by a company financially strong and skillfully managed.
