DOINGS AROUND FARMVILLE.

Farmville, N. C. Sept 21, 1907.

Hurrah! for the Pitt county hospital! Let's have it, and why? Because we need not only the immediate benefits and conveniences but the honorable opportunities it would give to our young, energetic girls to become useful and self-supporting women.

Miss Mary Moye left last Monday for Hartsville, S. C., where she has accepted a position as vocal music teacher in the Hartsville College. Miss Moye is a graduate of the A. C. College of Wilson, N. C. and has taken special training in vocal music in one of the best New England colleges. We hope her pleasant stay while in the old Palmetto State.

J. T. Joyner left on this afternoon's train for Chocowinnity to enter his son Roland in the military school.

Mrs. Mary Tyson lost a valuable mule last Friday night from acute indigestion.

J. L. Flanagan lost a fine drive horse last Monday.

One of the most satisfactory revivals that has been held in our community for some time closed Sunday at Marlboro Free-Will Baptist Church with thirteen new additions to the roll. On Sunday there was a joint baptism at Middle Swamp with twenty-two converts, the others being from Friendship church in Greene county. Rev. Mr. McCaskey, of Ayden, conducted services at Marlboro and Rev. Mr. Corbett at Friendship.

Misses Alice Lang, Helen and Glenn Forbes of Greenville spent Wednesday night in Farmville, the guests of Mrs. J. F. Joyner. The young men gave them a complimentary hay ride over to the Green Spring with a four mule team. The moon was shining brightly, the boys were happy too; so we heard 'em say.

While trying to catch a runaway horse Sunday night on the corner near the Christian church, B. S. Shepard ran in contact with an iron post and received quite a painful sprain or hurt in his left knee. We understand the horse belonged to one of our courting young men and it is supposed he had become tired waiting his master and broke his halter and was making his way homeward at full speed. We did not learn when the owner arrived, but guess the moon was well up to light his pathway while taking his two mile homeward march.

Miss Lizzie Caraway, of Washington is visiting Miss Blanche Worsley.

Miss Bessie Jones returned Saturday to her home in Oakley, after spending a very pleasant visit with the Misses Gay near Farmville.

Mrs. W. B. Burnette is quite sick with typhoid fever, we are sorry to note. Hope she may soon recover.

Miss Lettie Savage, of Speed, and Mrs. Lula Peebles of Macky field, are visiting Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Warren.

Mrs. Herbert Sumerel is quite sick at her father's home in the country, A. C. Hemby's.

Tobacco is selling very satisfactory on our market, so our farmers say. Cotton is opening very rapidly although there has been but little brought in yet.

Strays Taken Up.

I have at my home on Pitt street, 3 cattle that strayed into my lot on the night of Friday Aug. 16 1907 which I've had advertised since that time. The owner having not called for them I shall offer them at public auction at the court house door on Wednesday, Oct. 9th, 1907, owners can recover same by calling for them and paying feeding expenses, etc. H. C. Foreman. Sept. 18, 1907.

AGED WOMAN TELLS OF WORLD'S END.

Seeress of Peculiar Settlement Fixes October 21 as Date For the Judgment.

Keating, P. I., Sept. 23. Visions and weird signs the solemn striking of a long silent clock, the troubled lights of the heavens at night, the falling of a white dove at midnight these and her own prophetic inspirations lead Ancient Sophie Smoke, the West Keating seeress, to huddle about among her people and exhort them to prepare for the end of the world. She fixes the time of the October full-moon—the 21st—for its coming.

Mrs. Smoke is the most interesting character of an interesting settlement of half-castes in the heart of the forest in West Keating township. Years ago a negro and a white woman fled from Williamsport and made their homes in the woods. Their descendants constitute the settlement, and Sophie Smoke is the seeress, po-wow doctor and herbist of the community. These people believe in her prophecy, and are preparing for the judgment, but other people of the section laugh at the old woman and point out that many of her prophecies of past years have failed of fulfillment.

What is a Home?

What constitutes a home? Folk or furniture? A house, or those who inhabit it? This is a mystery that the wayward pen cannot solve with a flourish. A home is expansive, indeed, for it includes all who are born in its charmed circle, and many more besides; but is it a thing that goes, this subject of education? Make the answer to suit yourself; let it be whimsical or serious; but you may be sure that the spirit of home is not to be found in warehouses, nor in the market places of the world. It is an ethereal essence, with a fluency which fills every corner from cellar to garret, and gives out its perfume even to the stranger that enters the door. And if you have ever had a whiff of this subtle perfume, count yourself fortunate among the children of men!—Joel Candler Harris in Uncle Remus's Magazine for October.

Kansas Hospitality.

Only forty five persons sat down to dinner at John Armstrong's home near Doniphan Sunday. There was no special attraction or occasion, and nothing unusual about it, and that as high as sixty persons have been to the Armstrong home for dinner at one table. There are fifteen persons at the Armstrong home who are there all the time—Mr. and Mrs. Armstrong, eleven children and two hired hands.

The rest of those that were present Sunday at dinner were kin who dropped in without notice to spend the day. Nothing was said about the large crowd and to those present it seemed as ordinary as a family gathering of a dozen or less. Mrs. Armstrong has a great reputation as a cook and it is said that anyone eats of her cooking is never satisfied until he is back again.—Wathena Times.

The New York World insists that Secretary Cortelyou should resign because of his campaign fund activities of 1904. Mr. Cortelyou is too busy thinking about contributions next year to be disturbed by ancient scandal.

WINTERVILLE ITEMS

Notes From Our Huddling Neighbor

Winterville, N. C. Sept. 25

Miss Kate Chapman went to Darden's Tuesday.

Miss Mabel James, of Robertsonville, came in Monday night to spend some time here with relatives.

We regret to note the death of Charlie Vincent, which occurred Sunday morning at 3 o'clock at the home of his father about 2 miles from town. Charlie was a carpenter by trade. He spent the past two years in the employ of the A. G. Cox Mfg. Co. On account of declining health he moved to his father's home last spring and remained there until his death. He is survived by a wife and three children. His remains were laid to rest in the Reedy Branch church cemetery Monday evening. He was a member of the above mentioned church and was a good citizen. His bereaved wife and relatives have our deepest sympathy.

Rev. T. H. King, of LaGrange, filled his regular appointment at the Baptist church Sunday morning and night. The congregation at both services were large and very attractive. His sermons were of a high order. At the close of the morning service Mrs. J. A. Baldree was received into the fellowship of the church. The church has also decided to make some extensive improvements upon the building which will add greatly to its appearance and comfort.

Lewis Speight and Arden Manning left for the exposition yesterday.

Carolina Day.

State Superintendent Joyner has arranged part of the programme for North Carolina day in the public schools of the State. The subject this year will be the Scotch-Irish settlements in North Carolina, these include Mecklenburg, Guilford, Orange, Rowan and various other counties in that part of the State. The date fixed by law is October 12, but it is always varied to suit the convenience of the schools. Private schools observe the day to quite a large extent.

"The Girl of the Sunny South"

As sweet as Magnolia blossoms and as pure as driven snow is the story of the latest of successful romances "The Girl of the Sunny South." There is a breeziness that is most refreshing to the jaded palate of the theatre goer in witnessing a performance of such intense merit. The play is interspersed with many new and up-to-date specialties and the plantation revels by the famous Cotton Blossom Quartette are a feature in themselves. The scenery is most adequate and very picturesque. At the Opera House Friday, Sept. 27.

MOVEMENTS OF THE PEOPLE.

Those Who Come and Go—Some You Know—Some You Know.

Dr. Charles Laughinghouse went to Williamston today.

L. H. Bowling returned this morning from down the road.

R. R. Cotten went to Baltimore today.

Miss Mary Higgs left this morning for Statesville to attend a house party and also to be a bride's maid at the marriage of Miss Elizabeth Steele which takes place next week.

DIDN'T EVEN JAR HIM.

White Man Strikes Negro and Loses Three Fingers.

"It is no joke about a negro's head being hard," said a man from a neighboring village.

"Why?" asked the reporter.

"Well that was tested in my town the other day, when a merchant flew into a passion at a negro, picked up a two-pound, round weight, gripped it in his fingers and struck the darky on the top of the head. Everybody looked to see the African fall but instead the ends of three of the white man's fingers dropped to the ground. You never saw a fellow so taken back. The blow never even jarred the negro, who folded up his fist to strike back, when the merchant broke out crying with pain from his mashed hand."—Charlotte Observer.

Music and Silver

After the rehearsal last night the members of the Second Regiment Band marched to the corner of Queen and Washington streets and serenaded Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Jordan. Mr. Jordan has been a member of the band since its organization and to express their appreciation for his zealous work in the interest of the band the members decided to give him a little surprise last night. After playing for a while they called for Mr. Jordan and his bride and presented them a set of silver knives, forks and spoons. Mr. H. W. Cummings, Jr., presented the silver on behalf of the band in a cleverly prepared speech which was accepted by a characteristic response from Mr. Jordan.—Kinston Free Press, 24th.

This is the couple who came over to Greenville last Friday afternoon and were married here.

Fitzgerald is a town in Georgia settled chiefly by Northern people, most of whom are ex-soldiers of the Union army drawing pensions. They were attracted there by the salubrity of the climate. And yet, strange to say, they do not favor any colored people residing in their town!

Last week they made an organized effort to drive out of the town all negro residents, and twenty-seven of the white law-breakers were arrested by the chief of police assisted by a special posse. So great was the feeling against the colored people that the local militia was held in readiness to aid the civil officers, if necessary, and the Governor of the State was notified that the militia might be needed.

This reminds us that Southern Pines, in this State, a town settled almost exclusively by Northern people, has no, or at least very few, colored residents.—Pittsboro Record.

Music at the Graded School

The board of trustees of the Greenville Graded schools will maintain a department of music, instrumental and vocal, this year. Miss Gaston, the teacher, is a graduate of the school of music of Syracuse University, New York, and comes to us very highly recommended.

We shall be in position to give the people the best of advantages. Rates of tuition will be the same as those usually charged in Greenville.

We are now enrolling music pupils. Persons interested would do well to see Supt. H. B. Smith at an early date. 5 3wks

MINISTERS SHOULD BE MORE CAREFUL.

They Should Not Marry Persons Who Show Evidences of Being Unsuitable to Each Other.

It will be generally conceded by fair-minded people that the divorce laws in many of the States of the Federal Union are bad, and, what is even worse, are often badly administered. It cannot be doubted that easy divorce is a menace to the family, and that it threatens the disruption of the home, says the Delinquent for October. It will, moreover, be generally agreed that something would be done toward checking the evil if young people were more scrupulously trained in respect to the solemn responsibilities of married life so that hasty and ill-advised unions might be avoided; and if ministers of religion were more careful not to lend their assistance to the formation of unions which they regard as improper. It needs no argument to show that many of the infelicities of married life would be patiently borne if the way to an annulment of the marriage were not known to be so easy, and that it would be better for society that a few should lead unhappy lives than that the sacredness of the family should be undermined by making legislative provision for a quick sundering of the marriage bond.

THE BONDS ARE VALID.

Judge Lyon so Holds and Denies the Injunction.

Judge C. C. Lyon this morning rendered his judgment in the case of A. D. Cox and others against the board of county commissioners in which they were seeking to restrain the board from issuing and selling the $50,000 in bonds voted for by a majority of the qualified voters of the county at an election held on the 14th day of May, last. Judge Lyon holds that the act of the General Assembly authorizing the issuing of the bonds and under which the election was held, is constitutional and valid. That the election held on the 14th of May was regularly and lawfully held, and that said election was in all respects according to law. That the bonds when issued under said act will be valid obligations of the county of Pitt. That the motion for injunction restraining the board is denied and the action dismissed.

The plaintiffs gave notice of appeal and it is understood that the case will immediately be sent up to the Supreme court for final adjudication.

GRADED SCHOOL OPENS.

Strong Faculty and Large Attendance.

The Greenville graded school for the white race opened this morning for the fall session with an attendance that made all hearts glad. There were 340 pupils present at the opening, which was fully ten percent more than at any former session, and they are not all in yet. The only work of the first day was assigning the pupils to their classes and giving them lessons to begin regular work Thursday.

The faculty is a strong one and is made up as follows:

Prof. H. B. Smith, superintendent

Miss Annie L. Irvine, first grade.

Miss Bessie Harding, upper first grade.

Miss Elizabeth Wade, second grade.

Miss Catherine McEnery, third grade.

Miss Edith B. Payne, fourth grade.

Miss Lillie Bennett, fifth grade.

Miss Bettie Wright, sixth grad.

Miss Bertie McKinney, seventh grade.

Miss Eula Cox, eighth and tenth grades.

Miss Harriett Parker Hankins, drawing and assistant in third grade.

Miss Olive Gaston, music.

There is every indication of good work during the session, and Greenville has cause to be proud of the school. Our citizens should give it their undivided support.

Deafness Cannot be Cured

By local applications, and they can be cured by the use of the Ear Tube. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result. Unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh cure. Send for circulars, free. F. J. GHEENEY & CO., Toledo, O. Sold by Druggists, 7c. Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

THE STORMY PETREL.

Why the Bird Revels in a Tumult of the Wind and Waves.

The stormy petrel, alias Mother Carey's chicken, Procellaria pelagica, or Oceanites oceanicus, according as we have reference to the species of the eastern or western Atlantic, has not got the epithet of "stormy" for nothing. The bird appears to revel in a tumult of the winds and waves and actually does so for a good and sufficient reason. This is that its food supply is very much more abundant when the ocean is agitated than when it is at rest. Then the petrel has a decided habit of following ships, which has really nothing to do with impending storm. No, it seeks the ship not because it is afraid or lonely, but simply because the ship agitates the waters. Very likely as it follows a storm may spring up, and then, seeing the bird so obviously delighted, poor superstitious Jack not unnaturally thought there was some connection between them. From this to a belief in a companionship in evil was only a step.

The queer notions about the stormy petrel did not end here. It was believed—and the naivete of this belief is decidedly racy of poor Jack—that it carried its eggs under its wing and hatched them on the water. It was also believed that it could appear at will in the neighborhood of a ship anywhere about the ocean. All this certainly pointed to necromantic or uncanny power, and it is not to be wondered at that the bird became such an object of fear and aversion to the poor man before the mast.

The poet Coleridge has left us a fine picture of the terrifying influence of the albatross on the ancient mariner, but no poet seems to have awakened to the possibilities of the stormy petrel as a theme. However, we read much about it off and on in old chronicles or tales of the sea. In one of these it is recorded that the sailors, seeing the herald of storm join the ship too near land, as they supposed, mutinied and refused to proceed.—Forest and Stream.

The Wrong Leg.

There is an enterprising Liverpool tailor who has never been known to acknowledge that he did not have anything a possible customer might ask for.

One day a customer entered the shop and asked if he had any trousers made especially for one legged men.

"Certainly," replied the merchant. "What kind do you want?" "Dress trousers," said the man. "The best you've got."

Hurrying into the rear of the store, the enterprising merchant snatched up a pair of trousers and snapped off the right leg with a pair of scissors. Hastily turning under the edge, he presented them to the customer.

"That's the kind I want. What's the price?"

"One guinea."

"Well, give me a pair with the left leg off."

A month later the merchant was pronounced convalescent and on the high road to recovery.—Pearson's Weekly.

Some Extraordinary Mothers.

Probably the youngest grandmother of whom we have record was a Lady Child of Shropshire, England. She had married at twelve years of age and had a child before her thirteenth year was completed. This child in turn married while still very young, with the result that Lady Child was a grandmother at twenty-seven. The most extraordinary cases of motherhood were those of Mrs. Honeywood of Charing, in Kent, and Lady Temple of Stow. When the former died, on May 19, 1620, aged ninety-three, she counted as her descendants sixteen children, 114 grandchildren, 228 great-grandchildren and nine great-great-grandchildren. The other case was even more remarkable. Lady Temple, who died in 1656, had given birth to four sons and nine daughters and lived to see more than 700 descendants.

Puzzled the Queen.

The queen of Denmark once paid a visit to the Danish colony in Iceland, where the good old bishop did his utmost to show her everything which was worth seeing. The queen paid many compliments to her host and, knowing that he had children, asked how many. Now it happens that the Danish word for "children" is almost identical with the Icelandic name for "sheep," so the good bishop, whose Danish was not quite so good as it might have been, understood that her majesty was asking how many sheep he owned and answered, "Two hundred." "Two hundred children!" cried the queen in amazement. "How can you possibly maintain such a number?" "Quite easily," said the prelate, smiling cheerfully. "In summer I turn them out on the hills to graze and when winter comes I eat them."

Cough Caution

Never, positively never poison your lungs. If you cough—even from a simple cold only—you should always heal, soothe, and ease the irritated bronchial tubes. Don't blindly suppress it with a "sufficing" poison. It's strange how some things finally come about. For twenty years Dr. Shoop has constantly warned people not to take cough mixtures or prescriptions containing Opium, Chloroform, or similar poisons. And now—a little late though—Congress says "Put it on the label (poisons are in your Cough Mixture)." Good! Very good! Hereafter for the very reason mothers, and others, should insist on having Dr. Shoop's Cough Cure. No poison marks on Dr. Shoop's labels—and none in the medicine, else it must be law on the label. And it's not only safe, but it is said to be by those that know it best, a truly remarkable cough remedy. Take no chance then, particularly with your children. Insist on having Dr. Shoop's Cough Cure. Compare carefully the Dr. Shoop package with others and note the difference. No poison marks there! You can always be on the safe side by demanding

Two Dyspeptics

If you are too fat it is because your food turns to fat instead of muscle—strength. If you are too lean the fat producing foods that you eat are not properly digested and assimilated. Lean, thin, stringy people do not have enough Pepsin in the stomach, while fat people have too much Pepsin and not enough Pancreatic.

Kodol Dyspepsia Cure

Take all the digestive juices that are needed for a healthy stomach, and in exactly the proportions necessary to enable the stomach and digestive organs to digest and assimilate all foods that may be eaten. Kodol is not only a perfect stomach tonic, but it is a reconstructive, tissue-building tonic as well. Kodol cures indigestion, Dyspepsia, Sour Stomach, Flatulence, Palpitation of the Heart and Constipation. You will like it.

THE DRUMMER'S ERROR.

It Turned a Cry into a Laugh and Spoiled the Scene.

It might have happened over on Staten Island. Anyhow, it occurred in Greater New York and at a stock company house. The company put on an uproarious farce one week, during the course of which the leading lady made several burlesque falls. In order to accentuate the comedy of these the stage manager directed the drummer in the orchestra to give the bass drum a resounding whack every time the leading lady fell to the stage. He followed instructions faithfully at every fall except one at the opening performance. The stage manager was furious. After the show he had a heart to heart talk with the drummer in his dressing room.

"That was the place where the 'boom' would have got the biggest laugh, and you let it pass!" he roared.

The drummer scratched his Teutonic head. "Well, it looked serious dere," he answered.

"No, that's burlesque," said the manager. "Now, every time you see her fall don't think anything, but just wallop that drum. See?"

"Chess," said the drummer, and at every performance thereafter the boom of the drum never failed.

The following week the bill was "Sapho." The leading lady took her part seriously and studied great effects in business for the "big scene" at the close of the third act when Jean leaves her. It would be her great personal triumph, she thought, and truly her work was a triumph, and the audience thought so, too, as the play proceeded. Not an eye in the house was dry when the leading lady threw herself against the door through which Jean had just passed with his angry farewell. Her form shook with sobs, and the very atmosphere was tense with emotion. Slowly she staggered from the door, then, with a great cry of agony, threw up her hands and as the curtain descended fell prone to the floor while a burly boom came from the bass drum.

Tears fled from the eyes of the audience, the roar of applause was stopped as it began, and only laughter, wild and long, went up at Sapho's agony to the accompaniment of a bass drum, while on the stage the leading lady bit a great piece out of the floor rug and hoarsely demanded to be led to that drummer that she might wallow in his gore.—New York Press.

TO MY FRIENDS.

Having been away for several months I wish to announce to my friends and patrons of the "empire" of Pitt that I am still connected with the firm of Chas. M. Stieff, and if such persons are allowed to misuse the happy term home as a synonym for a "hanging out place" I still call Greenville my home, and while I intend to be away from Greenville a great deal of my time during this fall a postal care of box 325, Greenville, will reach me within a day or two. We now have a number of slightly used upright pianos, some of which have been rented during the summer months, others which were temporarily used by artists at the exposition and for orchestra work, at bargain prices.

We also offer a special school piano for $25.00 fully meeting up in standard to any $350.00 instrument. This piano is especially built for college and school work for the special price named above and is full guaranteed by my firm for 10 years. Those interested in a school piano or in a good slightly used piano for the home should write me at once and will profit by it, and as ever I am always mindful of my patrons' protection and interest as well as my firm's interest. Grateful of past patronage. Very respt.,

G. G. Fineman,
Box 325 Greenville, N. C.

THE new Fall overcoats are certainly very snappy; you'll find your kind here. It is hardly necessary to say that Hart Schaffner & Marx clothes are always all-wool; you get no cotton mixture stuff under that name.
