LEASED HIS FARM.

Mr. O. L. Joyner Will Devote All His Time to Farmers Consolidated Tobacco Company.

Mr. O. L. Joyner, who for a number of years has been conducting a stock farm about two miles west of Greenville, and who has developed one of the best farms in Eastern Carolina, has leased it for a term of years to Mr. B. N. Sykes, of Harrellsville, Bertie county, and the latter will take charge at the close of the present year.

While conducting the farm Mr. Joyner has also been engaged in the tobacco warehouse business in Greenville, and since its organization has been president of the Farmers Consolidated Tobacco Company. This company has grown so rapidly under his wise direction that its large and increasing business make such demands upon him that he could not judiciously continue to look after his farming operations, hence gives up the latter so as to devote all of his time to the interests of the company. This means still greater development for the Farmers Consolidated Tobacco Company, for no man is more capable of pushing such a business to the highest success than Mr. Joyner.

He is also fortunate in securing such a man for his farm as Mr. Sykes, and Pitt county is to be congratulated upon getting a man of his standing. He comes highly recommended as a man of character and industry, and a farmer of broad experience.

How to Become Rich.

In order to become rich it is necessary merely to follow the perfectly simple procedure of any kind of finance. Thus:

Borrow all the money you can upon the property you already own.

With the money buy more property.

Combine the two properties, float a loan upon them, and with the money buy a third property.

Merge the three properties, use the merger as security for a loan and with the money buy another large property.

Consolidate this with the others, select a board of directors, and authorize yourself to float twice as much stock as there is.

Sell this stock, and with the money buy five or six more properties.

Organize a holding company which will carry the stocks of all the properties.

You are now so wealthy and influential that you do not need to take any more loans.

Increase the stock of your properties, and sell bonds upon them.

Authorize yourself to buy everything in sight with this money.

Now you will have control of everything; also you will have the say so in any number of subsidiary companies and controlling voice in eight or nine insurance companies and national banks.

After this there doesn't seem to be much for you to do except to get the dyspepsia, get bald and prattle gently about the excellence of moral proverbs.—Ex.

That is good news from Pitt that the bonds voted for the Eastern Teachers' Training School are valid. No county has done anything more commendable or that will tell better for good. It would have been a misfortune if its action had been taken in an illegal manner.—Raleigh News and Observer.

WINTERVILLE ITEMS.

Notes From Our Hauling Neighbor
Winterville, N. C. Sept. 23

The students that board in the dormitories were the recipients of nice basket of grapes Friday afternoon from Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Cox. The students always have a tender place in their hearts. When the good things are passing Mr. Cox never forgets the students and teachers.

Bishop Robt. Strange held service in the Episcopal church last night, assisted by the rector, Rev. W. E. Cox.

Bruton Bryan, Gordon Johnson, Jeanette Cox and Esther Johnson were confirmed, Bruton Bryan received the ordinance of baptism. There was communion service this morning at 10 o'clock.

Mrs. E. E. Cox has returned from Seven Spings, where she spent some time with her daughters, Mesdames Uzzell.

Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Cox report that one of the sweetest things on earth is to have a crowd of nice sweet girls like we have here in Winterville school visit your home with such quiet step that you dont know they are there until the sweet singing begins and as they sing the sweet songs such as Rock of Ages and others with their sweet voices it completely drives away the weighty cares of life and makes us feel that we are in the better land. Such was their experience last night after they had retired and they say God bless such sweet girls.

Prof. G. E. Lineberry and Misses Elizabeth Busby and Vivian Roberson left Friday morning to attend the Sunday school convention of the Neuse Atlantic associations at Morehead beginning Friday and continuing till Sunday night.

Miss Selma Hardee, of Hugo, spent Friday visiting the school. She is an old pupil and we were glad indeed to see her.

Mrs. J. H. C. Dixon has returned from a visit to Darden's. The base ball team of W. H. S. will cross bats with Green Diamond team this afternoon.

Dr. R. L. Carr, of Greenville, spent Wednesday here examining the teeth of all the students of W. H. S. The trustees have this done each year. Dr. Carr says that he has noticed great improvement in the condition of the children's teeth since this has been instituted.

W. B. Wingate went to Morehead Friday to attend the Sunday school convention.

Geese Get on a Spree.

Martin Beck, a farmer on the Conewaga Hills, relates a story while attending market this morning to the effect that three of his geese went on a disgraceful spree after having eaten some pulp from a cider mill.

Sometime after the eating of the pulp the peculiar actions of the fowls attracted the attention of the farmer. They swayed from side to side and cackled hoarsely. Finally one by one they fell limp and apparently dead.

Mrs. Beck carried the fowls into the house with the intention of plucking them, believing that they were dead. She had about half finished with the first when she detected a quiver in the body and dropped the goose in astonishment. Soon after the geese revived. The farmer then realized what had happened.

The pulp lying in the sun had fermented and his poultry had been indulging in sprees upon the sand.—York, Pa., Dispatch to Baltimore American.

MOVEMENTS OF THE PEOPLE.

Those Who Come and Go—Some Know You—Some You Know.

Miss Elba Cotten left this morning for Baltimore.

Mrs. J. O. Bobbitt and Miss Blanch Ferebee, of Sheldandire, came up Friday evening to visit Mrs. D. L. James.

Misses Nan Good or, of Kinston and Sophia Sadler, of Baltimore, arrived Friday evening to visit Misses Glenn and Helen Forbes.

Rev. J. E. Aycue is attending the union meeting at Plymouth, and there will be no preaching in the Memorial Baptist church tomorrow.

THINKS.

Do you prime it at the muzzle.
When you want a shot or two?
Do you wind it with a key
Like your father used to do?

How'd you like to ride a horse—
Like you did long years ago?
Dont the auto beat the ox-cart?—
Well! I rather reckon so!

Do you argue that an hour glass
Beats a Waltham all to smash?
Do you use the same old system
Keep in 'b'oks and countin' cash?

Do you trim a goose quill neatly
When you want the ink to flow?
Dont you think there's been improvement
In the last decade or so?

Dont the wireless way of sending
Put the other out of sight?
Dont you think the incandescent
Beats the candle for a light?

And when it comes to writers,
Will you argue that its right
To place the writing underneath,
Instead of in plain sight?

Had the first one been constructed,
Like the OLIVER writes today,
Would there ever, ever, ever,
Been one built the other way?

The Oliver Typewriter has no equal.
D. C. James, Agent.

Fine Action.

"The Girl of the Sunny South" presented in the opera house Friday night by the Corinne Runkel company was a fine attraction and made good in every particular. The play was interesting and amusing, and every one in the cast was strictly up on his part.

The company went to Kinston from here.

The official organ of the coal dealers declares that more coal was mined during the past summer than ever before in the same period of time. Therefore the price must be raised of course.

Sugar in Coffee.

The average amount of sugar used in coffee is a study which has become so much of a fascination to a young man who frequents restaurants pretty constantly that he has taken to going to different places for each meal in order to enlarge the sphere of his observations among different classes of people, says the Philadelphia Record. "Poor people, as a rule," he says, "use more sugar than rich people, and it's a pretty constant rule that men drink sweeter coffee than women and that old men have the sweetest tooth of all when it comes to coffee. It is noticeable too, that drinkers of after dinner coffee make it very much sweeter than that which they take in the morning. I know a middle aged man who takes just two lumps to a cup in the morning which is below the average, but into the little cup he takes after dinner he puts six full sized lumps. This makes a sort of syrup of the drink, which, I suppose, takes the place of after dinner bonbons."

The Pitt county Eastern Training School bonds have been declared valid. This is a matter of congratulation. We never did think anything else would be the final outcome. We hope that the whole question will soon be settled and that no other impediments will be placed in the way of the school as planned.—Kinston Free Press.

Weather.

Rain tonight and Sunday.

Bishop Potter says: "It is safer to think than to speak." Yes, but it is so much harder work for some people.

A Most Pathetic Figure.

The most pathetic figure in all this world today; to our thinking is that of little Prince Alexis, heir to the crown of all the Russians, prospective head of the royal house of Romanoff, and imperial guardian-to-be of the ancient orthodox Muscovite Greek church. Some day, unless a revolution comes to his father's empire, this little prince will be Czar, King, Grand Duke, several of them, in fact, and—oh, well, he will bear titles innumerable, wear crosses and decorations without end, head orders of knighthood by the dozen, and all of that sort of trimming, trapping and insignia that goes along with royalty.

At present, he is just a little boy—doubtless possessed of the ordinary longings, inclinations and desires of any ordinary little boy. No doubt he would like to go wading, in a branch somewhere in the woods; perhaps he would enjoy a frolic with other little boys of his age—he has no brother. And, while now he is very, very young, the day is fast approaching when he would enjoy a fishing expedition, out in the open air, carefree and permitted to prow about in search of promising fish-holes of his own estimating. But this is not to be for little Alexis! Ever at his elbow—even now, when he is such a tiny tot—stands the grim and stern-faced terrorist. Better be thankful—so genuinely and joyously thankful—when you put your little boy on the head and start him off to school that he is not Alexis, czarowitz, and heir apparent to the blood-stained but gorgeous throne of Ivan the Terrible, Catherine, Peter the Great, and all of the Russian legal line. Better send your boy along his way a thousand times, laughing and blessed with a mother's kiss, than wish for an instant to see him cursed as is Alexis, with a fate from which there is no fleeing.—New York Herald.

Dr and Mrs. Moyer Entertain.

Friday evening at their home on Evans street Dr. and Mrs. E. A. Moyer gave a delightful reception complimentary to the guests of Misses Glenn and Helen Forbes, sisters of Mrs. Moyer.

As the guests arrived they were cordially greeted by Dr. and Mrs. Moyer and Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Forbes at the front door.

In the receiving line in the parlor were Miss Glenn Forbes with Mr. Harry Skinner, Jr., Miss Helen Forbes with Mr. Frank Quinerly, of Kinston, Miss Nan Goodson, of Kinston with Mayor F. M. Wooten, Miss Sophia Sadler, of Baltimore with Mr. F. J. Forbes.

In the sitting room frappe was served by Miss Margaret Skinner with Mr. E. B. Ferguson, and in the dining room Misses Pattie Wooten and Ruth Cobb served ice cream.

The color scheme of the dining room was red, the decorations in other portions of the house being flowers.

There were many young people present and the reception was an occasion of much pleasure to all.

Every afternoon except Sunday... By J. W. RICHARD... Editor and Proprietor... GREENVILLE, NORTH CAROLINA

SATURDAY - SEPT. 28TH. 1907

We are listening for the music of the trowel on the buildings for the East Carolina Teachers Training School.

Now the effort is to put a stop to the examination of the Southern railway's books, as the State's attorneys are digging up too much out of them.

It used to be that candidates did the canvassing after nominations had been made.

Many people do things they would actually be ashamed to stand off and see others do.

Possibly a better way to put it is that they do things which they would be among the first to denounce other people for doing.

Honestly, we would not occupy Senator Drewry's and Manager Crater's position for the six thousand.

It is not likely that the tobacco warehouses of Greenville will fail to make report to the State commissioner of agriculture of their sales for the month of September.

The five stove foundries in Evansville, Ind., are dealing with a strike whose cause is out of the ordinary.

RANDOM REFLECTIONS.

By a Contributor.

The Jamestown exposition which had a great many knockers at first, is now receiving praise from every direction.

HUNTING THE WALRUS.

The Guards of the Herd Are Shot, the Best Killed With Axes. Whalers begun to turn their attention to walrus catching about the year 1868.

Men would be landed on the Alaska shore in June and left to watch for the animals to haul up on the beach at certain points.

The best shot among the hunters now creeps up and by a successful rifle shot or two kills the guard.

The white hunters rarely make use of anything but the two long, curved tusks with which the animal is equipped.

The flesh is food for men and dogs. The oil also is used for food and for lighting and heating the houses.

In addition to hunting the walrus themselves the whalers also purchase from the Eskimos the tusks, or ivory, that they have secured.

Not Infallible.

Harriet Martineau, the English author, was shrewd and practical and had what men are pleased to call a "masculine intellect."

She stopped and, looking at the gate in an attitude of intense admiration, exclaimed: "How truly oriental! What wonderful taste these easterners have in design!"

Queer Ideas of Beauty.

The amiability of Moorish women strikes me greatly, writes an Englishwoman in Morocco in the National Review.

No Benefit.

A well known actor, lying on his deathbed, according to the physicians, was approached by a brother Thespian, who said: "Blank, old man, you are long for this world yet."

DE PACHMANN'S SARCASM.

Vladimir de Pachmann, the Russian pianist, and Goldmark, the famous opera composer, met in front of the latter's Vienna home a short time ago.

As De Pachmann and Goldmark walked away from the composer's house the pianist pointed backward over his shoulder and said, "That modest little edifice will be signally distinguished some day after you are dead."

"Indeed!" murmured Goldmark, blushing with pleasure. "Yes," continued De Pachmann, "they will decorate it with a tablet."

No Changes in Esperanto.

Some Esperantists have recently been getting themselves heartily disliked by their associates by trying to improve Esperanto.

The row is just beginning, and developments are likely, for the would be reformers are stubborn and some of their suggestions are logical.

How He Would Go.

In connection with its account of the international convention of Zionists at The Hague a writer in a German paper says: "The national sentiment was advocated by Stein-schneider in Prague in 1835 and Moses Hess in France.

Amusing Signs in Japan.

Major General Hoad, who was the Australian officer attached to the Japanese army during the war with Russia, saw some amusing shop signs in Tokyo.

Beautiful Mixed Metaphor.

I think your readers may be interested in a mixed metaphor which recently appeared in the Egyptian Standard, the paper of Mustapha Kamel Pasha.

He Waited.

Frau Mommson, widow of the Roman historian, bore the great historian sixteen children, of whom twelve, six sons and six daughters, are still living.

Holiday Fashions.

There is a fashion in holiday resorts as in apparel, and there is little doubt that the tide of fashion is setting strongly in favor of Holland.

Deafness Cannot be Cured

Medical applications, as they cannot be used, are of no use. The ear is only one way to cure deafness that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflammation of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or perfect hearing, and when it is closed, deafness is the result, unless the inflammation can be treated and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten caused by catarrh, which is nothing more than an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

Troubles of the Stomach, Heart or Kidneys, are merely symptoms of a deeper ailment. Don't make the common error of treating symptoms only. Symptom treatment is treating the result of your ailment and not the cause. Weak Stomach nerves—the inside nerves—mean stomach weakness, always. And the Heart, and Kidneys as well, have their controlling or inside nerves. Weaken these nerves, and you inevitably have weak vital organs. Here is where Dr. Shoop's Restorative has made its fame. No other remedy even claims to treat the "inside nerves". Also for bloating, biliousness, bad breath or complexion, use Dr. Shoop's Restorative. Write to-day for sample and free Book. # Cough Caution

Never, positively never poison your lungs. If you cough—even from a simple cold—you should always heal, soothe, and ease the irritated bronchial tubes. Don't blindly suppress it with a stupefying poison. It's strange how some things finally come about. For twenty years Dr. Shoop has constantly warned people not to take cough mixtures or prescriptions containing Opium, Chloroform, or similar poisons. "Put it on the label, Good!" Hereafter for this very reason mothers and others, should insist on having Dr. Shoop's Cough Cure. No poison marks on Dr. Shoop's labels—and none in the medicine, else it must be law to be on the label. And it's not only safe, but it is said to be by those that know it best, a truly remarkable cough remedy. Take no chance then, particularly with your children. Insist on having Dr. Shoop's Cough Cure. Compare carefully the Dr. Shoop package with others and note the difference. No poison marks there! You can always be on the safe side by demanding

NOT A CRIMINAL

He Was Only Serving Ten Years For Just "Quarreling."
The standard of morals is not the same all the world over. In Montenegro, for example, conduct is seen from another point of view than among our selves. This lends interest to a report in "The Land of the Black Mountain" as to crime in that little out of the way country of Europe. The author visited the only prison of the land.

Only three men were chained, and of these one remained moodily seated, staring on the ground before him. He formed such a contrast to his fellow prisoners' smiling faces that we observed him more closely and noticed that his clothes were such as the officials and better class wear.

"Who is he?" I asked.
"A government clerk convicted of embezzlement," was the answer. "Six weeks in chains is his sentence."

"And what have the other criminals done?" was our next query.
"Oh, they have mostly quarreled among themselves. They are not criminals. We have very few thieves and robbers in Montenegro. This youth," went on our informant, pointing to a young man with a pleasant face and who grinned with joy as he noticed the attention with which we favored him, "has a ten years' sentence for quarreling."

"But, quarreling," we repeated, "is it punishable to quarrel?"
"Yes. Too many lives are lost," was the laconic reply.

"Oh," we exclaimed, a light breaking in upon us, "you mean murder! They are all murderers?"
"We have no murderers," came the indignant response. "Our land is as safe from murder as any other in the world. No one kills to rob or steal in Montenegro. But we just quarrel among ourselves. We are hot blooded and shoot quickly, that is all."

The English Habit.
The man from London paused in front of the little shop and read and reread the mysterious sign that was suspended from the wall. It read: "Englishmen will please not stand over this grating while talking."

The more the Londoner read the sign the more he was mystified. Finally he summoned up his courage and entered the shop.

"Good afternoon," he greeted politely. "Could you tell me why you have that sign out there which reads, 'Englishmen will please not stand over this grating while talking'?"

"I can, sir," replied the shopkeeper. "And why, my good man?"

"Well, you see, if they stood there talking they would drop their hats, and the porter would have to lose time, going down in the basement looking for them."

And the man from London walked away after remarking that America was a "bloomin' queer country!" —Brooklyn Citizen.

It Did Not Fit Him.
The Hartwells were entertaining a distant relative, a man of ponderous physical attainments, who weighed nearly 300 pounds. On the morning after his arrival he came down to breakfast rather late and looking as if he had not had a good night's rest.

"You are not feeling well this morning, are you, Mr. Barnes?" asked his host, with some anxiety.
"Oh, it's nothing serious," said the guest. "I have caught a little cold, that is all."

"Papa," whispered Bobby, the youngest member of the family, loudly enough to be heard by the visitor, "how can a man as big as he is have a little cold?" — Youth's Companion.

It Wouldn't Work.
The wise old doctor was impressing upon his little patient the essentials of mastication.

"My lad," he advised, "no matter what you eat, always chew each mouthful thirty times."

But Jimmy shook his head significantly. "That wouldn't do at our house, doctor."

"And why not, my son?"
"Because I'd always be hungry. The rest of the kids would clean the table off before I got through with that one mouthful." — Kansas City Independent.

Harking Back.
Mrs. Acklins—I don't want to be impertinent, but how old are you anyway? Some of the ladies were discussing your age at the club the other day, and several of them claimed that you were at least thirty-five, but I insisted that you were not more than thirty-three.

Mrs. Biswick—I'm glad you were so kind. Of course you didn't mention the fact that you were ready to leave the grammar grade when I was in the primary class at school, did you?

CHARITY NATURALLY PAINFUL

General Booth, the head of the Salvation Army, was discussing the antisuicide bureau that his church has opened.

"Kindness and charity," he said, "are factors of these bureaus. The charity will be of the right kind, I trust. There are, you know, two kinds of charity, and too much of it is like the barber's."

"There was a poor deacon in Warwick who had no money and needed to be shaved, and he went from barber to barber, but none of them, despite his holy office, was willing to shave him for nothing."

"In the end, though, he found a barber who on hearing his tale said gruffly: 'Sit down there in that chair.'"

"And this barber shaved him. But the razor he used! Dear me! Its dull edge and the nicks in it! Under the operation the tears flowed in rivulets down the poor deacon's cheeks."

"Suddenly the barber's dog in the adjacent room set up a terrific howling."

"Be still, there!" cried the barber, and he muttered anxiously, "What can they be doing to him?"

"Alas," said the deacon, "I shouldn't wonder if some one was shaving him out of charity." — Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Lord Mayor a Drummer.
When the present lord mayor of London, Sir William Treloar, president of the London branch of the United Kingdom Commercial Travelers' association, attended the annual dinner of that organization he told a story of his early traveling life.

"Forty years ago," he said, "I called on an upholsterer in Southampton, whose daughter, a very nice looking girl, rang the bell for her father. As soon, however, as she recognized the visitor she gently called up the stairs: 'You need not come down, pa. It's only a drummer.'"

"When she returned to the shop the girl remarked, with a pleasant smile, 'I took you for a gentleman.' 'I apologized,' added the story teller, "and expressed my regret that my appearance should have deceived her, and so we became excellent friends." — London Strand.

A Judge in Skirts.
The first woman justice of the peace to be appointed in Lynn and the second woman to be named to this position in Essex county is Miss Louise Fairchild, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry C. Fairchild of 95 Grant street, Lynn. Miss Fairchild, who is only twenty-one years of age, has just been appointed a justice of the peace by Governor Guild. She is a native of Milford, Conn., but moved to Lynn with her parents when a child. She was graduated from the English High school of Lynn and entered Boston University Law school, from which she will be graduated next year. After her graduation Miss Fairchild will practice law in Lynn. She will have the distinction of being the first woman to enter the legal profession in that city. — Boston Herald.

Making "Stage" Money.
It is a curious coincidence that most of the "stage" money flashed by villains in melodramas and for which there is so much blood-letting and murder in sensational plays is made in Washington almost within the shadow of the bureau of engraving and printing. The demand for it has caused it to develop into quite a little industry. It is widely used as "property" for regular dramatic productions and also for amateur theatricals. It is engraved on green paper, like greenbacks.

A recent issue of "stage" money contained the picture of Cassie Chadwick, whose frenzied financial manipulations landed her in prison. — Saturday Evening Post.

Thrilling Climax.
Two men were out, the bases were full and the pinch hitter of the team was at bat.

The umpire had called three balls and two strikes.

The excitement was intense, but too deep for words, and when the pitcher began to wind himself up preparatory to delivering the ball the silence was painful.

It was broken by a loud, penetrating voice in the grand stand. "Ladies and gentlemen," exclaimed the owner of the voice, "who wants another bag of this justly celebrated popcorn?" — Chicago Tribune.

An Indian Superstition.
Up in Canada the Cree Indians have some queer ideas in regard to delirium. The other day a Cree chief and a medicine man were arrested at Norway House, Keewatin, for the murder of a squaw. According to the custom of the tribe, the woman was strangled while she was suffering from delirium, with the idea of preventing the evil spirit from escaping.

The Second Mate.
A widow coy and sweet was wooed by a bluff old sailor who thought the world of her; but, not trusting himself to make a direct proposal of marriage, he decided to speak to her in the metaphor of the sea.

"Mate," he said, "your boat is drifting down the sea of life, with no strong hand to steer it safely past the rocks. May I be your captain and sail it for you?"

"No, Jack," she answered, with an engaging blush, "but you may be my second mate if you like!" — Kansas City Independent.

It Would Fidget.
"The word 'fidget,'" explained the teacher, "means to move about. Now, children, I want one of you to step to the blackboard and write a sentence containing the word 'fidget.'"

Forth stepped the little Wise boy, who wrote, "This store will fidget the first of the month."
"But who ever heard of a store fidgeting, Johnny?" asked the teacher.
"I don't know, but the sign on a store downtown says that it will move about the first of the month." — Judge.

TO MY FRIENDS.

Having been away for several months I wish to announce to my friends and patrons of the "empire" of Pitt that I am still connected with the firm of Chas. M. Stieff, and if bachelors are allowed to misuse the happy term home as a synonym for a "hanging out place" I still call Greenville my home, and while I intend to be away from Greenville a great deal of my time during this fall a postal care of box 325, Greenville, will reach me within a day or two. We now have a number of slightly used upright pianos, some of which have been rented during the summer months, others which were temporarily used by artists at the exposition and for orchestra work, at bargain prices. ### Truthful Boy.

"Thomas," said Mr. Smith as he gazed into his son's eyes with a soul searching look, "have you eaten any of those peaches I put in the cupboard?"
"Father," said Tommy, "I cannot tell a lie. I have not touched one."
Mr. Smith eyed him wrathfully as he plunged his hand into the pocket of his coat and drew forth five merminating stones, which had each once been ensnared in the luscious flesh of a peach, but which were now staring in all their horrid nakedness.

"Then how is it," said the parent, "that I found these peach stones in your bedroom, and there is only one peach left in the cupboard?"
"Father," said Thomas as he silently but swiftly left the room and placed a chair in such a position that Mr. Smith would fall over it if he followed too quickly, "father, that is the one I never touched!"—Pearson's.

False.

He was a country cousin on a visit to London, and as he sat in the theater he observed that a long silken tress was hanging down the back of the lady in front of him.
"Excuse me, miss," he said, leaning over, "but your hair is coming down."
She turned upon him a face acid enough to make several gallons of homemade lemonade.
"My hair?" she asked icily.
But the country visitor was not so verdant as his native fields.
"I beg your pardon," he said, with all humility, "I thought it was your hair."
Fortunately the band struck up just then and drowned the fair maiden's reply.—London Answers.

The Blind Man's Laugh.

A blind man was sitting with a number of persons. When they laughed he would laugh also. Some one asked him, "What have you seen that you should laugh so heartily?" The blind man said, "I am only echoing your laugh." "We are laughing at you," some one said. "Then I am laughing at myself," the man replied.—From the Chinese.
