Manufactures and Liberal Arts Building Day at the Jamestown Exposition

The exhibitors and concessionaires in the palace of manufactures and liberal arts building have designated Wednesday, October 15th, as manufacturers and liberal arts building day. The greatest attendance in the history of the exposition is expected as ten thousand dollars worth of prizes, including cash, will be given away to holders of tickets purchased at the gates on that day.

A movement to have a special day was inaugurated but a few days ago, and in twenty fours over three thousand dollars worth of prizes were received by Major Wheeler, director of the manufactures and liberal arts building.

Major Wheeler has been appointed chairman, and H. P. Webster, cashier of the Atlantic Safe and Trust Deposit Company, treasurer, of this occasion.

There will be music by several bands and the Tyrolean and Fiske jubilee singers. The soft drink and restaurant concessionaires will sell their wares at half price on that day, while the purchaser of the souvenir tickets will receive cards which will admit them to all shows on the war path for just half the regular price. The holder of these tickets will also receive cards to the grand ball, which will be held in convention hall the following night, Thursday, October 17th.

Every souvenir ticket will bear the director general's signature, showing that the holder was a visitor to the Ter-Centennial. These tickets will bear a handsome design on one side while the other will bear an advertisement. This space for advertising will be bid for, the firm or person submitting the highest bid securing the privilege.

The East India exhibitors, in addition to donating several prizes, will give each and every visitor a cup of tea.

Some of the principal prizes received to date are: two Columbia phonographs valued at $300; Roth and Egglehardt harmonist, $200; York safe, $200; Underwood typewriter, $100; Singer sewing machine $65; one dozen pairs of shoes, $60; amber necklace, $25; and jewelry, laces, woollens and china from Japan, Russia, Sweden and Austria.

Never in the history of exposition or fair has such an array of prizes been given away absolutely free of cost.

Made a Good Run.

On Saturday one of Winterville's good citizens, who is so fat that he is almost as high around as he is up, came to Greenville to spend part of the day. He wanted to return home on the midday train and on his way to the depot stopped to talk with a friend. He apparently forgot that time was slipping by on him, until the whistle of the train for the station warned him that there was yet considerable distance between him and the depot, and he must be moving if he covered it in time. Not standing on ceremony he struck out at a 2:40 gait, and his fat figure made a picture as he flew through the street. Everybody gave him right of way and he made it just in time to swing on the train as it started to pull out.

Weather.

Increasing cloudiness and warmer tonight, possibly rain in extreme western portion. Tuesday showers.

MOVEMENTS OF THE PEOPLE.

Those Who Come and Go—Some Know You—Some You Know.

E. B. Ficklen went to Williams today.

L. P. L. Wance left this morning for Panacea Springs.

The little child of Mr. and Mrs. R. O. Jeffers, that was quite sick last week from ptomaine poison, is now much better.

R. T. Evans returned Sunday evening from Norfolk.

A boy at seventeen can practically determine for himself whether he will be a simple burden bearer for others as long as lives, a leech on society or whether he will be a broad-minded, useful and successful man. If the boy at this age has no ambition to be anybody and is content to simply let things flicker and take his chance with others just like him, frittering away his opportunities to acquire knowledge and caring for the trivialities of life, he can make up his mind to carry a hod, ride the brake beam of a freight car or dodge the police as he lives, or he can resolve to be a man in the highest sense seek every means for physical, mental and moral growth and development and must graduate into an ever-widening field of utility and success. It matters little what his boyhood environment may be, if he but has the ambition and well grounded purpose he will climb out of it.—Pittsburg Press.

Red Men District Meeting.

A district meeting of Red Men will be held with Witalacooche Tribe in Greenville on Thursday night, 10th. The district covers Pitt, Greene and Edgecombe counties and embraces fifteen tribes, and a large gathering of the warriors is expected. After the district meeting a banquet will be given.

BROTHER SLAYS BROTHER.

James Jefferson Killed by Thomas Jefferson.

Information reached here today that James Jefferson was killed Sunday night by his brother, Thomas Jefferson, at their home near Fountain in the western portion of the county. The brothers were well to do men and lived together on the Bynum plantation which they purchased some years ago.

The particulars of the tragedy are meagre, the report being James Jefferson, while supposed to be insane, without warning made an assault upon his brother Thomas, and the latter killed James in self defense.

Our informant also stated that insanity was hereditary in the family. The father of these men spent several years in an asylum and another went insane last year.

Rather too Friendly.

Suffer a word in defense of the town pastor. We have seen them outrageously imposed upon by thoughtless people, usually young men at school, who come to town to sell books or spend a day or two "looking round" and make themselves comfortable in the pastor's home, because he was a guest in the neighborhood last fall when he held a meeting there. Now of course the preacher cannot say a word, and no preacher ever opened his lips in complaint to this writer; but we have seen a few things which we jot down as we go along. We have often felt sorry for pastors who treat with decency people with no manners. On one occasion a pastor's wife lay suffering, and needed all his attention, when one of these visitors knocked at the door, and when it was opened walked in, set his valise down and hung up his hat to spend a day or two. And he remained, though a bull bat ought to have seen that he wanted to be wanted, and was seriously in the way.

People who have no more perception than to thus obtrude themselves upon a family ought to be gently admonished to step over to the hotel; but nine out of ten of our pastors will suffer the injustice and save the dead beat a dollar a day. A man who is pursuing a business that will not feed him ought to quit and try another job; and if his business will pay his board he ought not to make the preacher do it. Sometimes these are people who thoughtlessly impose upon the pastor who lives in town, and we have no hope of reaching any other class than these, for a dead beat has neither conscience or taste. It is a very good idea when one goes to town to spend the night to take money enough along to pay his expenses.—Charity and Children.

Chamber of Commerce Meeting.

There will be an annual meeting of the Chamber of Commerce Monday night, Oct. 8th, at the mayor's office. This meeting should have the attention of every member and business man in Greenville. At this meeting your board of directors elects a president, vice president, secretary and treasurer. Much depends on the action taken at Monday night's meeting for the working of the Chamber for the next year. Do not overlook this meeting and remember the hour is eight o'clock, p. m.

HEARING AT GRIFTON, N. C.

Hearing on Proposed Bridge Matter in Pitt County Next Week.

The following notice was issued yesterday from the United States Engineers' office in this city:

"Whereas, Good reason exists to believe that the proposed location of a bridge over Contentnea Creek, N. C., to be built by the commissioners of Pitt county, N. C., would offer an unreasonable obstruction to the free navigation of said Contentnea Creek, on account of its proximity to a bend in said Contentnea Creek, it is proposed to hold a public hearing.

"In order to give you an opportunity to be heard as required by the Act of Congress approved March 3, 1899, you are hereby notified that the said public hearing will be had before me, at Grifton, N. C., in Lang's Hall, at 12 o'clock, noon, on the 18th day of October, 1907, where and when you will be given an opportunity to be heard in the matter.

"As all the papers will be laid before the secretary of war for his decision, it will perhaps best suit your purpose to submit in writing whatever you may wish to present.

"By authority of the secretary of war.

Earl I. Brown,
Captain Corps of Engineers, U. S. Army.

—Wilmington Star.

Having decided to go out of the stock business, I have a number of fine milk cows, which I will sell at reasonable prices. Those interested better see me soon as I am going to sell this stock before cold weather.

Funeral of Mr. Sugg.

The funeral of Mr. J. L. Sugg, who died Friday night, took place Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock. Services were conducted at his late residence by Rev. M. T. Plyler, and at the grave in Cherry Hill cemetery by the Masonic fraternity. More than sixty Masons took part in the service, and the attendance upon the funeral was very large.

Warning.

All persons are hereby warned, under penalty of the law, from hunting with gun or dog, or in any way trespassing upon our lands, known as the Johnson farm, north of the river.

Mrs. J. B. Cherry,

Wrong Leg.

There is an enterprising Liver pool tailor who has never been known to acknowledge that he did not have anything a possible customer might ask for.

One day a customer entered the shop and asked if he had any trousers made especially for one legged men.

"Certainly," replied the merchant. "What kind do you want?"

"Dress trousers," said the man. "The best you've got."

Hurrying into the rear of the store, the enterprising merchant snatched up a pair of trousers and snipped off the right leg with a pair of scissors. Hastily turning under the edges, he presented them to the customer.

"That's the kind I want. What's the price?"

"One guinea."

"Well, give me a pair with the left leg off."

A month later the merchant was pronounced convalescent and on the high road to recovery.—Pearson's Weekly.

Young and Beautiful.

A man married a beautiful wife who made a fortune generally. He came home and would take her to the theater. She was presently found for a number of miles into a cornfield. "What are you doing here?" he asked, and she replied "Pack my provisions because I just read in the paper that you will die before the first and second acts."—London Leader.

PARISIAN DUELS.

There Are Three Kinds—Tricks to Gain Time While Fighting.

Duels are common enough in France nowadays, but they are robbed of their picturesque side, says the Household Brigade Magazine. They may be divided into three categories, which I place in the order of their frequency of occurrence—journalists' duels, duels that are the outcome of a tongue too well hung or lubricated by an overdose of alcohol, and, thirdly, those where the opponents are out to kill if they can. The above order also represents the degree of publicity accompanying each.

Of those due to an ill considered or ill bred remark comparatively few come to an interchange of shots or thrusts, but fizzle out after an interchange of cards. Morning brings a more reasonable frame of mind, and things are quieted down by those unfortunate individuals who have been selected as seconds. When such encounters do take place at least one of the principals is only too desirous for privacy to be maintained, the safest possible conditions are arranged, and one only hears about the affair after it is all over.

The materials for disagreement are usually a night restaurant and the one extra bottle which might have been dispensed with. Only recently a respectable married man found himself confronted in combat by an unknown Argentine with whom he had apparently had a disagreement the night before at a well known second rate cosmopolitan cafe much frequented between about 2 a. m. and breakfast time.

Neither of the gentlemen knew quite what it was all about, but their seconds said it was all right, so they had to go through with it, and no harm was done. The third type of duel is serious and very rare. It usually takes the form of a row about a lady.

There are a good many tricks to gain time in dueling. Dropping the sword is one, resting the point on the ground or making a wide parry so as to scrape the ground is another. In either of these cases the point has to be sandpapered and treated with an antiseptic or held in a flame, so that there may be no risk of a wound being poisoned.

With pistols the conditions are arranged according to the seriousness of the quarrel. As a rule, dueling pistols at twenty-five paces are used. The dueling pistol is muzzle loaded and rifled. Its pull off is regulated by the circumstances; also the powder charge. Seconds often arrange to put in only sufficient powder to drive the bullet out of the bore. Sometimes they drop the bullet into the left hand when loading and hammer an imaginary one down the barrel.

Sermon in a Few Words.

We are very much impressed by something we saw and heard while passing along the street a few evenings since. A young girl was standing in front of a store, and near her, with a hand dog expression on his face, was a young stripling of a youth. As we passed the two the girl said to the boy, "Any one who speaks of my father as 'the old man' is not worthy of my respect." From the tone of her voice we knew that the girl spoke from the impulse of a moment, but there was a whole sermon in her utterance. We don't know the girl, but if she lives she will develop into a noble womanhood, and the world will be better for her having lived in it. And the boy, if he has any redeeming qualities in him, will profit by the lesson given him in that one sentence.—Burlington Chronicle.

Show a Bad Example.

A grocer who was noted for his carefulness had an advertisement inserted in a local newspaper for a message boy, and a young fellow who understood the kind of a gentleman who was advertising came to apply for the situation, and while the grocer was telling him how careful he must be a fly settled on a bag of sugar, and the grocer caught it and threw it away. The boy then said:

"If you want me to be careful you are showing me a bad example."

"Why?" replied the former.

"Because," said the boy, "you have thrown that fly away without brushing the sugar off its feet."—London Mail.

RANDOM REFLECTIONS.

"Congressman Burton is still holding on to his congressional job," says The Commoner. Sure he is; a job in the hand is worth two in the bush.

"The octopus should have been fined $100,000,000" says a contemporary. Still, if it would only come up with that $29,240,000, all would be forgiven.

Perhaps they might get at it easier in Kentucky, by trying to figure who didn't kill Gov. Goebel.

The czar certainly has a hard time of it. He went out yachting one day and his boat got stuck in the mud; he went out again, and Emperor William met him and preached a sermon.

"Eat what you like" advises the Philadelphia Inquirer. And so we should if the butcher, the baker and the candle-stick maker did not show such an ugly and vulgar disposition to haggle over the price of things.

A New Haven man married a woman, decided she was not his "affinity," got a divorce, thought it over and remarried her. And still, people talk about a woman's predilection for changing her mind.

General Linevitch says the United States relies too much on its fleet. The General doesn't understand; our fleet is not of the style he has been used to.

The Standard Oil Company is preparing to exploit the oil fields of Japan. After a little while, the Mikado will be permitted to stand aside and let the company run the government for him.

The Atlanta Journal and the Atlanta Constitution are engaged in a discussion about freight rates on stoves. The argument is getting warm, too.

It is said that Mr. Roosevelt's forthcoming message to congress will be "extremely long." Well, it takes a lot of space to touch up everything from nature faking to not mentioning the tariff.

Mr. Andrew Carnegie may feel that he should die on the threshold of the poorhouse, but he doesn't seem to care particularly to have the tax collector help him get there.

A number of people are so distressed concerning the business morals of Mr. John D. Rockefeller that they actually would do those things themselves if they had the chance, just to keep the old fellow in the straight and narrow path.

Attorney General Bonaparte will now try to apply the shingle to the lumber trust.

There is no case of indigestion, no matter how irritable or how obstinate it will not be speedily relieved by Kodol. The main factor in curing indigestion of any disorder is rest, and rest is to be gotten by actually eating the food for the stomach itself. Kodol will do it. Deafness Cannot be Cured by local applications, and they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

I will mail you free, to prove the samples of my Dr. Shoop's Restorative, and my Book on either Dyspepsia, the Heart or The Kidneys. Troubles of the Stomach, Heart or Kidneys, are merely symptoms of a deeper ailment. Don't make the common error of treating symptoms only. Symptom treatment is treating the result of your ailment, and not the cause. Weak Stomach nerves—the inside nerves—mean Stomach weakness, always. And the Heart and Kidneys as well, have their controlling or inside nerves. Weaken these nerves, and you inevitably have weak vital organs. Here is where Dr. Shoop's Restorative has made its fame. No other remedy even claims to treat the "inside nerves." Also for bloating, biliousness, bad breath or complexion, use Dr. Shoop's Restorative. Write to-day for sample and free Book. Dr. Shoop, Racine, Wis. The Restorative is sold by Bryans Drug Store.

You can never make another noise with the cracker that has been exploded.

A prompt, pleasant, good remedy for coughs and colds, is Kennedy's Laxative Cough Syrup. It is especially recommended for babies and children, but good for every member of the family. It contains no opiates and does not constipate. Contains honey and tar and tastes nearly as good as maple syrup. Children like it. Sold by John L. Wooten's Drug Store.

Get a free sample of Dr. Shoop's "Health Coffee" at our store. If real coffee disturbs your Stomach, your Heart or Kidneys, then try this Coffee imitation. Dr. Shoop has closely matched Old Java and Mocha Coffee in flavor and taste, yet it has not a single grain of real Coffee in it. Dr. Shoop's Health Coffee Imitation is made from pure toasted grains or cereals with Malt, Nuts, etc. Made in a minute. No tedious wait. You will surely like it. Sold by T. E. Hooker & Co.

All stomach trouble are quickly relieved by taking a little Kodol after each meal. Kodol goes directly to the seat of the trouble, strengthens the digestive organs, supplies the natural digestive juices and digests what you eat. It is a simple, clean, pure, harmless remedy. Don't neglect your stomach. Take a little Kodol after each meal and see how good it makes you feel. Money back if it fails. Sold by John L. Wooten.

Cough Caution
Never, positively never poison your lungs. If you cough—even from a simple cold—try should always heal, soothe, and ease the irritated bronchial tubes. Don't blindly suppress it with a stupefying poison. It's strange how things finally come about. For twenty years Dr. Shoop has constantly warned people not to take cough mixtures or prescriptions containing Opium, Chloroform, or similar poisons. And now—a little late though—Congress says "Put it on the label. Very good! However for the very reason mothers and others, should insist on having Dr. Shoop's Cough Cure. No poison marks on Dr. Shoop's label—and none in the medicine, else it must be law on the label. And it's not only safe, but it is said to be by those that know it best, a truly remarkable cough remedy. Take no chance then, particularly with your children. Insist on having Dr. Shoop's Cough Cure. Compare carefully the Dr. Shoop package with others and note the difference. No poison marks there! You can always be on the safe side by demanding

PANACEA MINERAL WATER CURES.

Read one among a hundreds of such testimonials. "I have suffered with NERVOUS Dyspepsia for past 10 years and have received more beneficial and lasting results from the use of PANACEA MINERAL WATER than from any other remedy of the many I have had prescribed for me. It gives me great pleasure to testify to its marvelous results in my own case and many others I have personally observed."

NAPPER BROWN

When They Know It All.
The proud father includes among his boasts the following school essay of his young hopeful:
"A horse gets up by giving a sudden jump to its front legs and then gets on its hind legs."
"A cow drinks by putting its mouth in the bucket and sucks the water."
"A duck picks up the food by its bill, then throws his head back."
"Maple leaves begin to bloom about the 1st of May."
"A locomotive while going around a corner bends very much to the inside."
"A passenger train when about to stop the wheels of the locomotive stop revolving and slides along the tracks."
"A locomotive has to be very much heavier than the train to overcome the weight of the train against it. Because when a body gets a-moving it has a tendency to keep moving."—New York Post.

To Refreshen Butter.
If the butter loses its flavor, put it in a bowl of water, salt and stir with a wooden spoon. Let it stand for about five minutes and change two or three times. You may also add a little baking soda.

Fard Dates.
Stuff dates with fresh cream cheese, dip in a thin sugar sirup and roll in freshly grated cocoanut and you have a wholesome confection suitable for a dessert with crackers and coffee.

A Cake Hint.
Try dipping stale cake in milk and rebaking it in a moderate oven. It is said to taste as if newly baked.

To Smooth Broken Tumblers.
Emery paper, if tacked upon a board, is useful for smoothing slightly broken edges of thin tumblers. By carefully rubbing the glasses back and forth a smooth surface is obtained, but not if the glass is cracked badly.

Every lovely, kindly grace is worth cultivating and will add much to your happiness and usefulness when you are older. A rude, ill-mannered person is shunned and disliked in every circle, and unless the opposite habits are formed in early life they are seldom formed at all.

Keeping Posted.
Every day, in a serious way, As grown up as you choose, Away up there in her own high chair Her babyship reads the news.
Quite undismayed, she's not afraid Of the longest words that grow, Nor cares she whether the clerk of the weather Decides if it will rain or snow.
It can but be, it seems to me, That she skips an item or two, For she reads so fast that the reading insists But a minute, and then it's through.
Her political views are hard to choose, But I have my private notion, From the wrinkle that grows just over her nose, She's planning a revolution!

Talking Chop.
"How about the stovepipe joke?" inquired the first humorist.
"I didn't have the nerve to take it down this year," responded the second gloom dispenser.
"What of the automobile joke?"
"I'm working on the new model now."
"And the bathing suit joke?"
"More abbreviated than ever this season."
"How about the spinach joke?"
"Ah, cut it out!"—Louisville Courier-Journal.

An Idea.
"An idea," said a fat man, "for the makers of underwear, of socks, drawers and shirts. Why do they put the thick seams and knots and roughness inside, next to the sensitive skin, instead of outside, where they would not be felt?"
"Have you not often had your underwear prick you, the knots bruise you, the seams set up an itching? Well, all that could be abolished. The inside of underwear should be turned outside."
"Looks is the only possible objection to my idea. But, after all, in underwear, which is invisible, comfort means more than looks."—New Orleans Times-Democrat.

The Deafness of Fish.
Much controversy has taken place on the question of the sense of hearing in fish, and many experiments have been tried with a view of settling it. Some of the latest of these are those of which M. Marage has given an account in the Paris Comptes Rendus. The fish experimented with were carp, tench, pike, eel and others, and the author finds no evidence of a sense of hearing. Sounds were transmitted into the water close to the fish with an energy capable of affecting deaf mutes. No effect was produced on the fish.—Forest and Stream.

Abbreviated.
Carrie Nation, the smasher, did some smashing in Washington not long ago and was arrested and taken to the police station.
"Name, please?" said the desk sergeant.
"Carrie Nation."
"What is your occupation?"
Mrs. Nation assumed a dramatic pose and shouted, "I am a servant of the Lord!"
"Servant," wrote the unemotional desk sergeant. "Officer, take her back."—Cleveland Leader.

A LITTLE NONSENSE.
Troubles of a Principal of One of Detroit's Public Schools.

A principal of one of the Detroit public schools was sitting at his desk, talking to a friend, the other day.
The telephone bell interrupted the conversation, and the principal took down the receiver.
After a few minutes of irascible talk over the wire he slammed down the receiver and turned to his friend with a scowl.
"What's the matter?" queried the visitor.
"What's the matter?" repeated the principal. "Oh, it's just another of those loving mothers. They make me tired—keep calling me up all day long and treat me as though I were the office boy or janitor."
"What did this one want?" ventured the friend.
"What do you think?" asked the principal, breaking into a smile.
"Can't imagine," came the reply.
"Well," explained the principal, "she has a daughter in the fourth grade, and she calls me up at least once a day. This time she told me at great length and with much feeling that her little daughter had gone to school without her rubbers on and asked me if I would please go down and feel of her feet and send her home if they were wet. Now, what do you think of that?"—Harper's Weekly.

A Pertinent Query.
"Beg pardon, sir," began the beggar, stopping a suburbanite at the ferry. "Can you spare a few cents to help me across the river?"
"Haven't you any money at all?" inquired the pedestrian.
"Not a cent," replied the beggar.
"Umph!" grunted the pedestrian.
"What difference does it make which side of the river you're on?"—Lippincott's.

NOT A CRIMINAL.

He Was Only Serving Ten Years For Just "Quarreling."
The standard of morals is not the same all the world over. In Montenegro, for example, conduct is seen from another point of view than among ourselves. This lends interest to a report in "The Land of the Black Mountain" as to crime in that little out of the way country of Europe. The author visited the only prison of the land.
Only three men were chained, and of these one remained moodily seated, staring on the ground before him. He formed such a contrast to his fellow prisoners' smiling faces that we observed him more closely and noticed that his clothes were such as the officials and better class wear.
"Who is he?" I asked.
"A government clerk convicted of embezzlement," was the answer. "Six weeks in chains is his sentence."
"And what have the other criminals done?" was our next query.
"Oh, they have mostly quarreled among themselves. They are not criminals. We have very few thieves and robbers in Montenegro. This youth," went on our informant, pointing to a young man with a pleasant face and who grinned with joy as he noticed the attention with which we favored him, "has a ten years' sentence for quarreling."
"But, 'quarreling,'" we repeated, "is it punishable to quarrel?"
"Yes. Too many lives are lost," was the laconic reply.
"Oh," we exclaimed, a light breaking in upon us, "you mean murder! They are all murderers?"
"We have no murderers," came the indignant response. "Our land is as safe from murder as any other in the world. No one kills to rob or steal in Montenegro. But we just quarrel among ourselves. We are hot blooded and shoot quickly, that is all."

The English Habit.
The man from London paused in front of the little shop and read and reread the mysterious sign that was suspended from the wall. It read:
"Englishmen will please not stand over this grating while talking."
The more the Londoner read the sign the more he was mystified. Finally he summoned up his courage and entered the shop.
"Good afternoon," he greeted politely. "Could you tell me why you have that sign out there which reads, 'Englishmen will please not stand over this grating while talking?'"
"I can, sir," replied the shopkeeper.
"And why, my good man?"
"Well, you see, if they stood there talking they would drop their h's, and the porter would have to lose time going down in the basement looking for them."
And the man from London walked away after remarking that America was a "bloomin' queer country!"—Brooklyn Citizen.

It Did Not Fit Him.
The Hartwells were entertaining a distant relative, a man of ponderous physical attainments, who weighed nearly 300 pounds. On the morning after his arrival he came down to breakfast rather late and looking as if he had not had a good night's rest.
"You are not feeling well this morning, are you, Mr. Barnes?" asked his host, with some anxiety.
"Oh, it's nothing serious," said the guest. "I have caught a little cold, that is all."
"Papa," whispered Bobby, the youngest member of the family, loudly enough to be heard by the visitor, "how can a man as big as he is have a little cold?"—Youth's Companion.

It Wouldn't Work.
The wise old doctor was impressing upon his little patient the essentiality of mastication.
"My lad," he advised, "no matter what you eat, always chew each mouthful thirty times."
But Jimmy shook his head significantly.
"That wouldn't do at our house, doctor."
"And why not, my son?"
"Because I'd always be hungry. The rest of the kids would clean the table off before I got through with that one mouthful."—Kansas City Independent.

Harking Back.
Mrs. Acklins—I don't want to be impertinent, but how old are you anyway? Some of the ladies were discussing your age at the club the other day, and several of them claimed that you were at least thirty-five, but I insisted that you were not more than thirty-three.
Mrs. Biswick—I'm glad you were so kind. Of course you didn't mention the fact that you were ready to leave the grammar grade when I was in the primary class at school, did you?

CONDENSED STORIES.

Senator Hanna's Remark to an Aspirant For the Vice Presidency.
Few men have come closer to being president of the United States and failed than Timothy L. Woodruff of New York. He had strong backing for the vice presidential nomination in the Philadelphia convention of 1900, but Governor Theodore Roosevelt, wearing a rough rider hat, walked down an aisle, and it was all off with Woodruff's ambition. Had it not been for that rough rider's hat, Woodruff's friends declare, he and not Roosevelt would have succeeded to the presidency when William McKinley was shot.
Senator Mark Hanna, who was then the dominant figure in the Republican party, didn't want Roosevelt for vice president, nor did he want Woodruff. His heart was set on the nomination of Cornelius N. Bliss.

"I HEAR YOU WANT TO BE VICE PRESIDENT."
One day shortly before the convention Woodruff was in Washington, and Hanna sent for him.
"I hear, Tim," said the Ohio senator, "that you want to be vice president."
"Well, my friends have been talking of me for the nomination," replied the New Yorker.
"But you're too young, Tim; entirely too young," declared Hanna. "If you'd carry that chubby face of yours into the senate chamber, people would take you for a page."
Woodruff pointed out that he was several months older than Governor Roosevelt and also that he was old enough to have a son in the junior class at Yale.
"Yes, yes, I know," assented Hanna, "but if we were to put you to the job of bossing those baldheaded old senators one of them would be sure to turn you across his knee and spank you."
Grammar and Glory.
Job E. Hedges was one of the prize students at Princeton. While Mayor Strong's secretary he was compelled to prepare in a jiffy a mayor's message to the board of estimate and apportionment. In the rush and tear one glaring grammatical error and two or three expressions of doubtful rhetorical accuracy appeared in the message. The following day a New York city newspaper severely criticized Mayor Strong for his incoherent use of the language. The mayor and Mr. Hedges were rather chagrined.
"See here, Mr. Mayor," said Mr. Hedges, "you know I can write and speak grammatical English, and I know you can, and I want you to let me tell the newspaper boys that I was the villain in this case. I don't want you to be the victim for my heedlessness."
"Job," replied Mayor Strong, "suppose this newspaper had said that that message was the most brilliant message ever issued by a public officer, do you suppose I'd come out and say you wrote it? No, sirree! Not by a jugful! I'd appropriate all the glory. You keep mum."—New York Sun.

President Castro's Conceit.
Many stories have been told of Cipriano Castro, president of Venezuela, and of his monumental conceit. During the Russo-Japanese war the fall of Port Arthur was being explained to him.
"Pshaw!" he exclaimed. "With 600 Venezuelans I could have taken it in four days."
"With a thousand in one day, your excellency," said the diplomatic representative of a European power.
Castro was so pleased at what was intended to be sarcasm that, it is said, the diplomat succeeded next day in securing satisfaction of a claim that his government had been vainly pressing for years.—Boston Post.

TO MY FRIENDS.

Having been away for several months I wish to announce to my friends and patrons of the "empire" of Pitt that I am still connected with the firm of Chas. M. Stiff, and if each of us are allowed to misuse the happy term home as a synonym for a "hanging out place" I still call Greenville my home, and while I intend to be away from Greenville a great deal of my time during this fall a postal care of box 325, Greenville, will reach me within a day or two. We now have a number of slightly used upright pianos, some of which have been rented during the summer months, others which were temporarily used by artists at the exposition and for orchestra work, at bargain prices.

We also offer a special school piano for $225.00 fully measuring up in standard to any $350.00 instrument. This piano is especially built for college and school work for the special price named above and is fully guaranteed by my firm for 10 years. Those interested in a school piano or in a good slightly used piano for the home should write me at once and will profit by it, and as ever I am always mindful of my patrons' protection and interest as well as my firm's interest. Grateful of past patronage. Very respct.,
G. G. Fineman,
