AYDEN ITEMS.

News Notes From a Hustling Town Briefly Told

Ayden N. C. Oct. 9, 1907

This scribe went out in the country Monday and in walking across the fields fell in a ditch about ten feet deep, and had it not been for two kind friends who lent their aid, one by pulling and the other by pushing, the probability is he would have been in that ditch right now. From a ramble across the field and a fall in a ditch we sincerely hope we may always hereafter be delivered. Those kind friends who so greatly aided us will live in our memory so long as the mountains shall last and the ditches are never more.

Mrs. F. Lilly left Tuesday to visit friends at Maple Cypress.

The whole Hardee generation were here from Chicod Tuesday in attendance upon a magistrate's court.

J. T. Smith, Sr., has been confined at his home for several days with sickness. He is very much improved at this time.

Two prominent families from Winterville have moved to Ayden and will make this their home. We extend them a hearty welcome.

We hear the sermon of Rev. Marvin Ormond, in the Methodist church last Sunday night, very highly complimented. Many say he is destined to fill a high place in his noble calling.

The last quarterly meeting of the Baptist Association of this section will be held in the church at this place next Saturday and Sunday. All members are especially invited to be present at the Saturday meeting as much important business is to be transacted.

There were several families from Ormondsville to leave here Tuesday for the exposition.

In a trial here Saturday before a J. P. for the burning of the tobacco packhouse last week of Mr. Caleb Cannon, enough evidence was secured to hold Levi House in a bond of $500 for his appearance at next term of court. The same party was given a hearing for larceny and required to enter into a bond of $300. Upon failure to comply he was sent to jail.

Mr. and Mrs. Davenport, of Kinston, are visiting the latter's mother, Mrs. Sack Smith.

George and Fred Worthington are at Scotland Neck filling a large contract for tinning. Their's is good work and is meeting a steady demand.

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

Board of Directors Elects Officers.

The board of directors of the Chamber of Commerce of Greenville met Tuesday night in the office of Dr. D. L. James and elected the following officers of the chamber:

President—D. J. Whichard,
Vice-Pres.—H. W. Whedbee,
Secretary—C. E. Bradley,
Treasurer—J. L. Little,
Executive Committee—D. L. James, F. M. Wooten and L. C. Arthur.

W. A. Bowen was elected a member of the board to fill a vacancy in the one year term.

The Chamber of Commerce should have the interest and cooperation of every business man in the town to properly fill its mission.

Weather.

Fair and warmer tonight and Thursday.

TARBORO HAS A HOBO.

Taken From the Tarboro Southerner.

It would be more accurate to state that Tarboro has a citizen who was a hobo, or one who most successfully enacted that role. His name is John R. Peele.

Hearing that the Southwest air would cure asthma from which he was a sufferer, he determined to try it without calling on his parents for the usual wherewith. He made the trip even to Los Angeles, and to San Francisco, "beating" his way, doing odd jobs at places when hunger forced him to stop over. His experiences were varied, exciting and caused him to see life and scenes in varying phases from the Atlantic to the Pacific, in the moist verdure producing sections as well as in the arid home of the cactus, the Llano Estacado.

Upon his return, his health much improved. Mr. Peele has written and had published a very graphic, interesting and instructive narration of his experiences. These are embodied in a book of 140 pages with appropriate illustrations. It is well written and also well printed because Edwards & Broughton, of Raleigh, are the typographic artificers.

It is very readable book from preface to finish and can be read with profit. Price 25 cents at all Drug Stores.

Mr. Peele was in Greenville Tuesday arranging to put his book on sale here. He is an interesting talker as well as good writer.

SHOT BY HIS BROTHER-IN-LAW.

Colored Man Named Chauncey Brought Here to Hospital.

A negro man by the name of Chauncey was brought to the Washington Hospital yesterday in a critical condition, from having been shot through the intestines by his brother-in-law.

Chauncey, who lives at Stokes, a small station on the Coast Line in Pitt county, had some trouble with his wife last Saturday night, and she left the house, going to her brother's, a short distance away.

Chauncey shortly afterward followed, and it is presumed had trouble with the other man, with the result that he was shot in the side, the ball passing through the intestines three times.

The condition of the wounded man is very serious.

The particulars of the affair are very meager, and Chauncey is unable to talk to-day—Washington Messenger.

Expensive Children

Peter Pechin in Southern Farm Magazine, of Baltimore, for October:

Considerable discussion has followed the announcement of a Chataquan lecturer that it costs about $25 00 to raise a child to years of independence in this country, and the subsequent statement from abroad that it costs $37,500 to do the same thing for a child in England. Study of the itemized account of child-raising in England clearly proves that a comparatively small number of children are being raised so expensively either in England or in this country. Further consideration of the subject suggests that, judged by the products in thousands of cases, a good deal of money spent in child raising is worse than wasted, and that if less attention was paid to the cost that cannot be put into figures, the cost of developing good manners and common sense, the children of the present day would be far more productive and desirable members of society than they are.

MOVEMENTS OF THE PEOPLE.

Those Who Come and Go—Some Know You—Some You Know.

G. J. Fineman went to Rocky Mount today.

Mrs. J. T. Meadows went to Oxford today.

Mrs. L. W. Tucker went to Spring Hope today.

G. E. Cherry went to Tarboro today.

G. A. N. Coppedge went to Kinston today.

Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Cherry came home today from Baltimore.

Warning Financial Signals.

Recent statistics of insolvencies are attracting no little attention in the financial world. Liabilities of insolvents during the three summer months were twice as great as in either of the last two summers, and now Dun's figures for September show an even worse situation. For the first three quarters of this fiscal year totals are the worst in a decade. It is happily true, however, that the number of insolvents shows little change and that the increase in liabilities arises chiefly from the failure of more large manufacturing concerns than usual. Owing to an over-strained money market, these manufacturers were unable to get accommodations upon which they were accustomed to rely, and hence went under. What further damage the already protracted money stringency will cause before departing is the question at present. Bountiful crops afford reasonable assurance for the time being, but the course of things later on does not yet appear. If the country will only hope for the best and prepare for something not quite so good, doubtless the present financial strain will disappear without working serious harm.—Charlotte Observer.

YOUNG TARBORO AUTHOR.

Taken from the News and Observer, Raleigh N. C.

His book on "From North Carolina to Southern California without a Ticket and How I Did It."

John Peele a young man of Tarboro, has written a book entitled "From North Carolina to Southern California without a ticket and how I did it." The book is now on sale at 25 cents a copy, at all drug stores.

Mr. Peele, who is nineteen years old, and in order to cure asthma he started a "hobo" trip across America, beginning his journey with five dollars and his nerve. He made the trip, but there were trials and tribulations, and there were all kinds of adventures. He gives facts and figures about his trip, with names of towns and jails in which he stopped, and the book has in it many interesting things that happened to this Tarboro lad, thousands of miles from home without money and with no trade except the ability to "bluff." He did all kinds of things but neither stole or starved, and his story is an interesting one of western life as he saw it in a trip that was full of hardship and adventure. 1 d 1 tw

It Was Good.

The Jamestown Reproduction Company gave a good moving picture show in the opera house Tuesday night. It was the best of its kind that has been here. A fair sized audience witnessed it and all were pleased.

A Problem For Publishers.

"One of the most serious problems that confronts the newspaper publishers of the country, especially those of the smaller dailies and weeklies, is the impending increase in the price of print paper, which will probably be double what it now is. There will be few outside the strongest of the minor publications that will be able to weather the storm and continue the present price of subscription. The greatest to suffer will undoubtedly be those weeklies whose proprietors say the price of subscription from $2 and $1.50 to $1.00."—The Decatur Herald.

This unfortunate cut in price occurred when the country was in the clutches of hard times, and the people were not able to pay their bills. When prosperity struck the country, and prices of commodities naturally went up, the price of the country weekly was kept at one dollar, and now every subscription taken at that price is well-nigh a financial loss. It will be at a loss when the new price of paper goes into effect.

There is but one thing for small publishers to do and that is to increase the price of their papers. They should not expect to make the advance less than fifty cents on $1 subscriptions, and the same amount on $1.50 rates.

No man can publish a decent weekly newspaper nowadays at $1.00, and no subscriber ought to expect to get a paper for that amount.—Newspaperdom

DOINGS AROUND FARMVILLE.

Farmville, N. C., Oct. 7, 1907.

W. R. Horne and W. M. Lang went to Kinston on a business trip last Thursday and returned Saturday.

Misses Reid Long and Lady Turage, who are attending school at Atlantic Christian College at Wilson, came home Saturday on a visit to their parents and returned Monday. They report a very full school.

The Woman's Betterment Association of the graded school had a rummage sale Saturday afternoon and cleared $16 for the improvement of the building and grounds of the school.

Mrs. John Barrett departed this life last Saturday morning. She had been in poor health several months and went to the hospital in Tarboro hoping to be benefited, but the grim messenger death, who calls the fairest called her away.

Her infant child died only a few minutes previous and was buried with her.

She was a faithful member of the M. E. church and her friends were numbered by her acquaintances. She leaves a husband and several small children to whom we extend our deepest sympathy.

The youngest child of Mrs. Mary Thigpen, who died a few weeks ago, died last Sunday.

More Peach Blossoms.

A few days ago The Reflector told of peach blossoms on a tree in the yard of Senator J. L. Fleming, but Mr. W. H. Ricks can go ahead of this. He tells us that he has several peach trees that are in bloom in October, and one of the trees has ripe peaches, young peaches and blossoms all on it at the same time. We have a wonderful climate down this way.

MUST CHANGE HER RELIGIOUS BELIEF.

Will Not Recognize Miss Vanderbilt Unless She Joins Catholic Church.

A New York dispatch says: Gladys Vanderbilt must change her religion when she becomes the bride of Count Taszoi Szechenyi or the Austrian autocracy will not recognize the marriage. The so-called "black aristocracy" of Vienna has become scandalized of the engagement and unless the young woman becomes a Catholic the marriage will not be legally recognized in Austria. The Count being a Catholic, Miss Vanderbilt will continue to remain Miss Vanderbilt in Austria unless she changes her religion, although in the Count's country, proper, the marriage will be considered perfectly legal and the young woman's name will be encribed as a full-fledged countess in the roster of Hungarian nobility.

Issue of the marriage of the Szechenyi would be looked upon as illegal in Austria. Hence the "black aristocracy" is convinced that Miss Vanderbilt, in order to gain a standing in Austria, as well as in Hungary must embrace the Catholic faith, as Anna Gould did when she married Castellane.

It is understood, however, that Emperor Francis Joseph does not share in the extreme views of the "black aristocracy" on marriage, and that as long as he lives he will insist that the American woman gets full recognition of the laws notwithstanding.

Rev. J. N. H. Summerell's Son Injured

Friends throughout the State will sympathize greatly with Rev. J. N. H. Summerell and Mrs. Summerell, of Norfolk, because of an injury to their son, who is a nephew of Mrs. J. R. Chamberlain, of this city. Of the accident the Norfolk Landmark of Sunday says: "As the result of injuries sustained by being struck on the head by a piece of timber, while he was at play at Atlantic City school No. 2, Howard Summerell, son of Rev. J. N. H. Summerell, is painfully injured. The boy was unconscious for probably half an hour but rallied and was much better yesterday afternoon."—Raleigh News and Observer.

Asheville Goes Dry.

Asheville, N. C., Oct. 8.—Asheville has gone "dry" and the prohibitionists are tonight wildly enthusiastic. The verdict of the people today was rendered in language plain. They literally swept the city clean and sent the saloon to its death beneath an avalanche of votes. The prohibitionists carried every voting precinct in the city and won by a majority of eight hundred and forty eight.

While the voting continued all this afternoon the tale was practically told at noon. In fact before 10 o'clock this morning the saloon advocates saw the handwriting on the wall and realized that the tide had set against them. After the first four hours of balloting it was simply a question of majority. The total number of votes polled was 1,700.

AROUND ABOUT TOWN

Some of the Things that Happen in Greenville and Hereabouts

There was a light frost this morning and but for the wind last night there might have been more.

The cooler weather helps out the fall trade.

Highest cash prices paid for cotton seed. Liberal meal exchange basis.

The Pitt County Oil Co. Winterville, N. C.

It will not take much of this to call for heavier underwear.

If you had wanted to make a pretty day to your liking today would be hard to improve on.

In the month of Oct. Mrs. G. Bland, of Grifton, will place her entire stock before the trade at a considerable discount. Never before has Grifton known such values. It will pay all to look at them. 7 6 d

The midday train was away off of schedule again today.

The Norfolk & Southern railroad will run excursions to Raleigh two days next week during the state fair.

There was considerable cotton on the street today.

New Buckwheat at S. M. Schultz.

Farmers are not helping to put up the price of cotton when they sell on a low market.

We take orders for engraved cards, wedding invitations, stationery, etc. Prices reasonable, quick service, and satisfaction assured. Evans' Book Store. 4 1 wkd

The way to keep a project moving is to articulate it. Keep up the street paving talk.

Coming Next Week.

Those favorites with Greenville theatre goers, the Four Pickerts, will begin a three nights' engagement in Masonic opera house next Monday night. The company this season is stronger and better than ever, and press notices show they are playing to large houses. All who witness their performances are well pleased.

There Had Been Trouble at Home.

"As odd a client as you can imagine" said Jerome K. Jerome at a lawyers' dinner. "called on a legal friend of mine in Rye one morning.

"She was an extremely pretty client but her clear, soft eyes were red with weeping. Indeed, she was in tears as she entered my friend's office. Her little form shook with sobs.

"Well, my dear," said he (perhaps I should explain that this client was hardly more than seven or eight years old)—well, my dear, what can I do for you?"

"Please sir, said the child, weeping piteously, 'I want to get a divorce from my papa and my mama.'—Woman's Home Companion.

Did they try to lose the president in the Louisiana hunting trip?

There are a lot of good things in store for Greenville, that is if we go right down after them.

Keep street paving in your mind and it will be no great while before Greenville goes into the paving business.

With the Drewry matter quieting down and the Rowland trial off of hand, Raleigh can take a few days' rest before pulling off the State fair.

Asheville has a decided dry look. The prohibitionists carried the election in that city Tuesday by about a thousand majority. Salisbury and Wilmington should it up and take notice.

The city of New Bern held an election Tuesday on the question of issuing $50,000 bonds for street improvements, and the vote was overwhelming in favor of bonds. Good for New Bern! These eastern towns are taking their places in front of the column of progress.

The General Convention of the Episcopal Church, in session at Richmond, is having trouble over the race question. The Southern bishops want a separation so that each race can have its own churches and its own bishops, while the Northern and Western bishops oppose such division.

There is no case of indigestion, no matter how irritable or how obstinate that will not be speedily relieved by the use of Kodol. The main factor in curing the stomach of any disorder is rest, and the only way to get rest is to actually digest the food for the stomach itself. Kodol will do it. It is a scientific preparation of vegetable acids containing the very same juices found in healthy stomach. It conforms to the Pure Food and Drugs Law. Sold by John L. Wooten.

Deafness Cannot be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

Troubles of the Stomach, Heart or Kidneys, are merely symptoms of a deeper ailment. Don't make the common error of treating symptoms only. Symptom treatment is treating the result of your ailment and not the cause. Weak Stomach nerves—the inside nerves—mean Stomach weakness, always. And the Heart, and Kidneys as well, have their controlling or inside nerves. Weaken these nerves, and you inevitably have weak vital organs. Here is where Dr. Shoop's Restorative has made its fame. No other remedy even claims to treat the "inside nerves". Also for bloating, biliousness, bad breath or complexion, use Dr. Shoop's Restorative. Write to-day for sample and free Book Dr. Shoop, Racine, Wis. The Restorative is sold by Bryans Drug Store.

Cough Caution

Never, positively never, poison your lungs. If you cough—ever from a simple cold only—you should always heal, soothe, and ease the irritated bronchial tubes. Don't blindly suppress it with a purifying poison. It's strange how some things finally open about. For twenty years Dr. Shoop has constantly warned people not to take cough mixtures or prescriptions containing Opium, Chloroform, or similar poisons. And how a little bit of cough—Congress says "Put it on the label if poisons are in your Cough Mixture." Good! Very good! Here is the very reason why mothers and others, should insist on having Dr. Shoop's Cough Cure. No poison enters on Dr. Shoop's Cough Cure—and none in the medicine, also it must be used on the spot. And it's not only safe, but it is said to be by those that know it best, a truly remarkable cough remedy. Take no chance then, particularly with your children. Insist on having Dr. Shoop's Cough Cure. Compare carefully the Dr. Shoop package with others and note the difference. No poison marks there! The can always be on the safe side by demanding

When some distance ahead. The venom of the toad, which is an acrid, milky fluid, concealed in the glands at the back of the head, has been many times described by naturalists as harmless unless it touches some abrasion of the skin, when it causes local irritation. But though not particularly virulent when swallowed by another animal, yet injected into a wound it is very active and causes ulceration and all the symptoms of irritant poisoning. A dog which has once seized a toad and tasted this bitter fluid and burnt his tongue will never attack one again. Snakes will starve rather than swallow a toad.

"During the warm weather the skin is sloughed, and the ponderous toad shakes off the thin film that covers him and emerges in a new skin, fresh and bright. So also do the frogs change their skins in the course of the summer, assisting in the process themselves. The old cuticle divides down the center of the back and the two halves gradually fold and recede farther and farther from the center. By continued twitching the folds are brought down the sides, and then the hinder legs, first one and then the other, are brought forward under the arm, which presses down upon it and thus draws off the old skin inside out."

The Cecard Mate.

A widow coy and sweet was wooed by a bluff old sailor who thought the world of her; but, not trusting himself to make a direct proposal of marriage, he decided to speak to her in the metaphor of the sea.

"Kate," he said, "your boat is drifting down the sea of life, with no strong hand to steer it safely past the rocks. May I be your captain and sail it for you?"

"No, Jack," she answered, with an engaging blush, "but you may be my second mate if you like!"—Kansas City Independent.

Serves a Good Purpose.

Caller—I sent you a poem about three weeks ago. What have you done with it?

Editor—I'm holding it. Every little while lately I get to thinking that we are not getting out as good a paper as we ought to, and then I take that poem and see how much worse the sheet might be, and that makes me cheerful again. Lay, how much'll you take for it?—Chicago News.

THE TOAD.

Its Eyes and Its Venom and the Changing of Its Skin.

"Moving slowly through the long grass is a small, rough skinned creature, almost the color of the earth that shows at the roots of the trees," writes a nature observer. "It is a toad just emerged, somewhat tardily, from his winter hiding place (a hole about as big as himself) and only now awake to external influences. Lethargic and sleepy though he is, he is quite sufficiently alert to know that I am looking at him and wondering to see how his skin has lost all its color from the long absence of the light. It is hardly possible to trace any shade of olive green and dusky yellow or ashen gray and brown upon the warty surface of his back. And the darker markings which sometimes form irregular bands over the back and legs are merged into the general dullness and dustiness of the soil which has covered him for so long. As a rule, toads and frogs and other hibernating animals are seen in the open as soon as the first warm days of spring restore their lowered temperature.

"Some people wonder what Shakespeare meant by the 'precious jewel in its head.' The brilliant eyes with their yellow rings, like a gold setting to the eyes, are as gems laid upon its head. Wonderful eyes they are in their range of vision and able to see meat worms placed to the rear far quicker than complished the winning rider is fully repaid for his pains. His ox is surrounded by the enthusiastic spectators and decorated with garlands and flowers, and the lucky owner receives a cash prize.—Pittsburg Post.

Lady of the Lamb.

In a certain Oxfordshire village there was formerly on the Monday after Whitsun a custom of providing a fat live lamb to be competed for by the maidens of the parish, the conditions being that each lass should have her thumbs tied securely and should run after the lamb with open mouth. She who succeeded in catching hold of and retaining the lamb by means of her teeth was declared the winner. After having been dressed with the skin on the animal was then slung on a long pole and was carried in front of the successful candidate to the village green, where music and dancing were the order of the day. The following day a third of it was baked, a third boiled and the remainder roasted and distributed among the lady's companions, who sat at table with her, she being designated Lady of the Lamb.—Modern Society.

Political Platforms.

No political party held a national convention prior to 1831 or adopted a platform of principles prior to 1832. Before these dates nominations were made by congressional caucuses and by the several legislatures. The anti-Masonic party was the first to hold a national convention. This was convened in Baltimore on Sept. 26, 1831. It named William Wirt for president, but adopted no platform. This example was followed by the Whigs, who met in December of the same year and put Henry Clay in nomination, but framed no declaration of principles. It was not until the Democratic party met in convention, also in Baltimore, on Sept. 22, 1832, that the modern custom of stating the issues of the campaign was in-

A CURIOUS CONTEST.

Ox Race That Is Run Under Peculiar Conditions.

A race that in a peculiar sense is not to the swift is one that is run, if the word may be used in such a connection, every year in the provincial districts of Germany.

Early in May during the celebration of a festival that to a certain extent corresponds to the English May day an ox race is held. The entrance fee is small, but the conditions are peculiar. Each ox must be ridden by its owner and ridden bareback. No whip, spur, yoke, harness or any means of guiding the animal is allowed. The rider must depend entirely upon his voice to accomplish the end he has in view, and as the oxen do not race on a track, but across a large open field, the training of the animals and the skill of the rider are severely tested. Speed is a secondary consideration in this race, for the rider who can induce his steed to go in a straight line is sure to win. The start is made at one side of a field a mile square, the finish at the opposite side.

When the competitors are lined up and the signal is given the fun begins. Despite the efforts of the riders the majority of the oxen refuse to head toward the opposite mark, and as spectators are allowed in the field and are at liberty to do anything they wish to interfere with the rider except touch him or his mount the difficulties of the race are not inconsiderable.

As is well known, oxen are not as a rule excitable beasts. But when they are confronted by the shouts of the spectators and the general hullabaloo that always ensues at such affairs as well as the exciting efforts of the riders to control them they are soon reduced to a state of complete bewilderment. It often happens that an hour has passed before one of the oxen has succeeded in getting "under the wire."

But when once the task is ac-

THE SHOEMAKER SAINTS.

Story of the Roman Brothers Who Perished by the Sword.

St. Crispin and his brother, Crispinian (always associated together in the calendar), were two natives of Rome who, having become converts to Christianity, set out for Gaul to preach the faith about the middle of the third century along with St. Quintin and others. The brothers settled at Soissons, where, in imitation of the apostle Paul, they preached publicly in the daytime and worked with their hands at night, earning their own subsistence by making shoes, though nobly born. They supplied the poor at a low price, and a legend tells us that an angel supplied them with leather. The heathen listened to their instructions and were astonished at the charity, disinterestedness, piety and contempt of glory displayed in their lives, and many were converted to the Christian faith.

After they had been thus engaged for several years the Emperor Maximianus Herculius came into Belgic Gaul, and a complaint was made to him against the brothers. He, desiring to gratify their accusers as well as to indulge his own savage cruelty, gave orders that they should be brought before Rictius Varus, the most implacable enemy of the Christians of that time. The saints bore with patience and constancy the most cruel torments and at length finished their course by being beheaded with the sword about 287 A. D.

According to a Kentish tradition, their remains, being cast into the sea, were washed ashore at Romney marsh. In the sixth century a great church was built in their honor at Soissons, and St. Eligius richly ornamented the shrine.

From their martyrdom to the present time they have been regarded as the patron saints of shoemakers, who were accustomed to honor their day (and are yet in some towns) by great festivity. One special ceremony was a procession of the brethren of the craft with banners and music, while various characters representing King Crispin and his court were sustained by different members.—St. James' Gazette.

The Laurel and the Sunflower.

The laurel and the sunflower have been found, according to Country Life, to be of the greatest use in damp situations. People who live in such spots, especially near undrained land, think there is no help for them but by removal. Successful experiments have shown that it is possible materially to improve the atmosphere in such neighborhoods by the planting of laurels and sunflowers. The former give off an abundance of ozone, while the latter are potent in destroying the malarial conditions. These two, if planted even on the most restricted scale in a garden or any ground close to the house, will be found to increase speedily the dryness and salubrity of the atmosphere.

From Limerick.

There was a young maiden of Leigh. A talented lady was sheigh. She baked some mince pies as a pleasant surprise for her bough, who was coming to teigh.

But when the youth tasted her dough he groaned out a terrible "Ough!" In anguish he bawled. Then the doctor was cawled to see what ailed Mabel's bough.

Said the doctor in accents most gruff, "I'm afraid this young man's had it ruff!"

Cried Mabel: "Oh, my! He had only one py!"

Quoth the doctor: "Hope's off! That's enuff!"—London Answers.

A Financial Genius.

An old gentleman who had dismounted from his horse walked into a wayside inn at Burley-in-Wharfedale and left the animal in charge of a scantly clad urchin. On returning he found another poverty stricken boy holding the horse. Examining the little lad through his eyeglasses, he exclaimed:

"You're not the boy I left with my horse?"

"No, sir," replied the boy; "I just speculated and bought him from 'other lad for a penny."

For his candor the boy received sixpence.—London Penny Magazine.

Domestic Courtesy.

At a Lambeth guardians' and officers' dinner Mr. Frank Bryant told a story of a Lambeth lad who was questioned by his schoolteacher as to his father's Christian name.

Teacher—What's your name?

Boy—Jones.

Your father's name?

"Jones."

And his other name?

"Mr. Jones."

No, no! What does your mother call him?

"Old fat head."—London Express.

A GREAT DETECTIVE.

Some of the Tricks Played by a Noted English Sleuth.

It was in 1881 that Thomas Gregory joined the London metropolitan force. In his time Gregory arrested many notorious criminals. He captured a gang who were known as the "Cabinet of Crime" and under whose guidance all big robberies were carried out. Gregory was gifted with a faculty for disguising, and he appeared in many characters. In order to enter and raid a club in Soho he was given the task of gaining admittance to the premises. At an appointed time, dressed as a poor old man, he was lurking up against the door laden with a basket of groundsel. The doorkeeper, a pugilist, knocked him over into the road, but this gave the waiting officers an opportunity for getting inside and effecting their mission.

One summer for weeks he might have been seen daily outside the general postoffice as a boot cleaner, and eventually he brought off the arrest of a gang.

Obtaining the position of valet to a wealthy coiner, who kept a mansion in Westminster, Gregory, with other officers, contrived a big coup, four confederates being sent to penal servitude.

An amusing story is told of one of Gregory's adventures. He was keeping observation on the corner of Dean street west and had adopted the plan of selling matches. He had only two boxes, a large and a small one. A Scotchman went up to him and offered a halfpenny for the large box, at the same time handing the officer a penny. Gregory said he could not let him have that one, but would try to get one for him. Just at this moment the man he was watching passed by, and Gregory went after him and located his residence. Some forty minutes afterward Gregory returned to the corner of Dean street and found the Scotchman awaiting him for his matches and change.

A Bond street capture is quite a dramatic little story. One morning Gregory noticed in Bond street a landau stop outside a jeweler's shop. A woman dressed in the height of fashion alighted and looked into the window. She somehow attracted the detective's attention and was seen to drop her parasol through the grating under the window.

The shop assistants noticed her trouble and came out to help her recover the article. No sooner had they left the shop than two "swells" entered and proceeded to fill their pockets with jewelry. The detective got assistance and arrested all three, who turned out to be old convicts.—Pearson's Weekly.

Food For Canaries.

The best of food for young canaries is hard boiled egg mixed with a little wheat bread. Cut up the egg fine and add to it a part of a roll that has been soaked in water for a few minutes and then squeeze dry. Great care must be taken that the food be fresh, for if it be the least sour it will kill the birds. The young ones are nearly always fed by the male bird, but in about two weeks they will feed themselves. When they are a month old put them in a cage by themselves. Feed them on the egg and bread mixed with some of the seed that you give the old birds, and, having continued this diet for four or five weeks, you may treat them as you do the old ones. Keep your cage perfectly clean, give the birds plenty of light and fresh air and keep them out of drafts. Sudden changes of temperature will be sure to make them sick.—Scotsman.

Funny Irish Sayings.

Here are a few Irish bulls: An Irish member of the Ventnor local board some thirty years ago proposed that St. Boniface down should be planted with some fine old oaks.

Horace Walpole records one which he pronounces the best he ever met with. "I hate that woman," said a gentleman, looking at a person who had been his nurse. "I hate her, for when I was a child she changed me at nurse."

This was a perplexing assertion, but a similar instance is recorded in the autobiography of an Irishman, who gravely informs us that he "ran away early in life from his father on discovering he was only his uncle."—London Telegraph.

Try This.

Without any preliminary ask a number of persons to kindly draw from memory the figure which indicates 6 o'clock exactly as it appears on the dials of their watches. Now ask them to take out their watches and look at them. Most of them will discover that the characters they saw so clearly at the foot of the imaginary watch floating before their mind's eye have no existence at all on the dial of the real watch, where its place is taken by the small seconds hand dial.—Strand Magazine.

TO MY FRIENDS.

Having been away for several months I wish to announce to my friends and patrons of the "empire" of Pitt that I am still connected with the firm of Chase M. Stiff, and if each of you allowed to misuse the happy term home as a synonym for "hanging out place" I still call Greenville my home, and while I intend to be away from Greenville a great deal of my time during this fall a postal card of box 325, Greenville, will reach me within a day or two. We now have a number of slightly used upright pianos, some of which have been rented during the summer months, others which were temporarily used by artist at the exposition and for orchestra work, at bargain prices.

We also offer a special school piano for $225.00 fully measuring up in standard to any $350.00 instrument. This piano is especially built for college and school work for the special price named above and is full guaranteed by my firm for 10 years. Those interested in a school piano or in a good slightly used piano for the home should write me at once and will profit by it, and as ever I am always mindful of my patrons' protection and interest as well as my firm's interest. Grateful of past patronage. Very respt.,
