GRADED SCHOOL NOTES.

Work Among the Pupils This Term

The senior class of the graded school organized last week and elected officers for the year. The president is Conrad Lanier; vice-president Miss Lucille Cobb; secretary Miss Lillie Tucker. Committees were appointed to select class colors, also to choose a suitable class pin. The class colors are yellow and black; the class pin will be diamond shaped of gold, and will have a black enamel front with '03 engraved upon it, making a very handsome pin.

The graduating class of this year is a most excellent one, both in preparation and in number; should all graduate, they will number fifteen, the largest class by far in the history of the school. The names of the members are as follows:

Conrad Lanier, Wiley Brown, Bruce Hocker, John Bagwell, George Prichard, Jr., Royce Tucker, David Watson, Cecil Cobb, Ethel Skinner, Jamie Bryan, Margaret Blow, Lillie Tucker, Lillian Rureh, Essie Ellington, and Lucille Cobb.

A number of the class will compete for the scholarships to University and to Trinity College. Both scholarships are quite valuable, and the winners of them may feel with certainty that they have something of which they may justly feel gratified. Supt. Smith hopes to be able to capture one or two more scholarships at an early date.

The literary societies organized last Friday for the year before them. The boys chose officers as follows: President, Wiley J. Brown; vice-president, Bruce Hocker; secretary, Royce Tucker. The first debate will be held one week from next Friday, the query being "Resolved, That Abraham Lincoln was a friend to the South." The boys are already at work on their speeches, and no doubt they will have a lively discussion.

The girls chose officers for the first term as follows: President, Miss Jamie Bryan; vice-president, Miss Ethel Skinner; secretary, Miss Essie Whichard. It is the purpose of the girls to spend some time studying the history and literature of North Carolina.

At some time during the year the societies of the school hope to have Dr. Alphonso Smith of the State University, and some of the other leading professors and educators to speak before them and their friends. It is confidently believed that this will be a most excellent feature of school life, and it will also be a valuable contribution to the refinement and culture of the community.

STATE NEWS

Mrs. W. S. O'B. Robinson, of Goldsboro, committed suicide a few nights ago by cutting her throat with a razor.

In Goldsboro Sam Watts, a prominent young man, was shot and killed by a woman of ill repute.

The dry kilns of the Kinston Lumber company, at Kinston, were destroyed by fire Monday morning.

One of the large storage sheds of the Navassa Guano company, was burned Sunday morning near Wilmington.

Weather.

Fair tonight and Thursday, continued cool tonight.

Prayer meetings in the churches tonight.

AYDEN NEWS.

News Notes from a Hitting Town Briefly Told

Ayden, N. C., Oct. 16, 1907.

All the teachers from here attended the teachers' meeting in Greenville Saturday.

Postmaster Proctor spent the day in Greenville Saturday.

W. J. Boyd has discontinued his brokerage business and is now traveling for a large mercantile firm.

Peter Braswell is here in Hendersonville on a visit to friends.

Miss Lizzie Hines, who has been on a visit up in the western part of the State for several months has come home.

Louis McLawhorn, after several years absence has returned home.

F. L. Carr and family spent Sunday with Mrs. Agnes Blount.

J. F. Barwick left yesterday for Greensboro on matters pertaining to insurance business.

There is a new constable down at W. J. Hemby's and his name is— (?)

The Four Pickerts will be here Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, Oct. 21, 22 and 23. They come well endorsed and we bespeak for them a large crowd.

Large quantities of cotton are still coming in.

Chas. F. G. James was here Monday and J. Benj. Higg, Thursday, both from Greenville.

The crowds from the association and the convention have all come home.

WINTERVILLE ITEMS.

Notes From Our Hauling Neighbors

Winterville, N. C., Oct. 16

The series of meetings at the Free Will Baptist church closed Sunday morning. Excellent interest was shown throughout the meeting. There were five accessions to the church. The ordinance of baptism was administered at the Forbes Mill Sunday afternoon. Rev. Mr. Jackson returned to his home at Clinton Monday morning.

Miss Mollie Bryan returned to her school near Stokes Monday morning.

W. F. Carroll and son left this morning for the exposition.

J. R. Smith and family spent Sunday at the home of A. G. Cox.

Rev. T. H. King came over Monday morning and conducted devotional exercises at the opening of school.

Rev. W. E. Cox, of Greenville, was in town Tuesday.

Miss Sadie Carroll, from the country, was here awhile Tuesday.

Our farmers have been saving a lot of nice hay. This county ought to raise all the hay needed. By so doing they would save quite an amount of money. A farmer does not realize what an item feed is until he has to buy all he uses, paying probably a dollar per bushel for corn and $28 to $30 per ton for hay during the summer months.

A. G. Cox and L. F. Elliott left this morning for the State fair.

Dr. Nah is aiding Rev. B. E. Studied in a meeting at the Methodist church this week. God-sized congregations are attending the services and we hope much good will be accomplished.

Flagman Killed.

Mr. Wright Nelson, of Bethel, who was a flagman in the freight service of the Atlantic Coast Line, running between Pinner's Point and Rocky Mount, fell off his train Sunday night and the cars running over him cut his body into fragments.

The Raleigh fair is getting pretty weather and big crowds.

Hon. Champ Clark, of Missouri, will lecture in Kinston Friday night.

The folks went to Raleigh today, a whole push of them, and more will go tomorrow.

The Norfolk & Southern station here sold fifty tickets to the Raleigh fair this morning, and the number will probably be larger tomorrow.

Continues to Delight.

The Four Pickerts had another large audience in the opera house, Tuesday night, and all were delighted with the presentation of "Pink Dominoes." The specialties were especially fine, the Indian dance being the best ever seen here. This was so much enjoyed that there were numerous requests for it to be repeated tonight.

The bill for tonight is "Flower of the Ranch," a play that is thrilling and pleasing. Don't miss this closing performance.

"Eighty per cent of the human family is sane," is the opinion expressed by a Tennessee alienist. Then how does he account for the fact that a majority of American voters permit the Republican party to hoodwink them into voting to keep it in power so it can tax them unreasonably and outrageously for the benefit of the comparatively few beneficiaries?—Wilmington Star.

What Was It?

On Sunday about half-past 12 o'clock there was consternation prevailing among the sinners and saints by reason of a strange rumbling, rushing sound in the elements. Some thought it blasting other thunder, but the sound was too uncanny for either and was heard in all parts of the county. It seemed to have passed over from northwest to the southeast, and there have been various conjectures as to what it was. The general opinion inclines to the belief that it was a meteor shooting through space—and probably it was, but this religious scribe, being at church, was undisturbed and has no opinion to express.—Cleveland Star.

MEANING OF MUSIC.

What It Can and What It Cannot Say to You.

Music is called the universal language, and yet when you are struggling to understand what a composer is trying to say always remember that he is speaking a primitive language that frames vaguely a sentiment or a mood or a tangled fabric of sentiments and moods.

"The best definition I ever heard of music," says Rupert Hughes in the Delicatore, "is that of Taine, 'Music is a cry, and, to my thinking at least, the best music is that in which to the largest degree each note represents an outcry. But then a cry may mean so much or so little!'"

"The spirit of brooding music may be found in the story of Robert Schumann and his cherished friend, Frau Voigt. One summer evening he took her out in a rowboat, shipped the oars and sat for an hour in complete silence. When they landed again Schumann pressed her hand in farewell and said: "We have understood each other perfectly."

"There is the message of contemplative music in a nutshell. We have understood without words, and with words we could not explain."

"Music cannot even hint at a glorious contour or a ripple of music which sculpture can make immortal, nor suggest the color of a landscape or a woman's eyes, which painting can give to posterity, nor spin out skeins of thoughts well chosen and deftly arranged as poetry and prose are wont to do. It cannot with a gesture grip your heart or with a grimace make you laugh as drama can. It cannot narrate a romance nor indulge in the whimsies of an essay, the patriotic fire of an oration, the fact mosaics of a history, the massive flights of architecture."

"Music is eternally debarred from even attempting any of these fields. And yet one finds compensation in being allowed to nestle a little closer to the heart of things in themselves and emotions as emotions than any other of the muses that make the world worth while."

Greatest Volcanic Eruption.

The greatest volcanic eruption of all history was the eruption of Krakatoa, in the strait of Sunda, between Java and Sumatra, in 1883. It caused a cloud seventeen miles high. It was heard 3,000 miles away. If it had taken place in London, it could have been heard in New York, Constantinople, St. Petersburg, Cairo, Egypt, and Greenland. The velocity of the explosion was three times that of an Armstrong gun. It raised tidal waves 100 feet high that rolled up over the land for miles. It created dust finer than any rock can be ground by man. This dust was carried around the earth for three years in the air. It caused air waves that encircled the earth several times. It broke windows more than 100 miles distant.—New York American.

Dr. Chiropodist and His Sign.

Didn't Know the Dialect.

It is probably a fairy tale, but nevertheless it is told that Andrew Carnegie had just emerged from the White House when he was approached by a newspaper man.

"What did the president say to you, Mr. Carnegie?" questioned the reporter.

"Hoot, mon, gang aw!" answered the ironmaster in the language of his boyhood.

"Yes," said the reporter, "and I see you went away, but did you hoot?"—Woman's Home Companion.

REAL MAGNATE HER GUEST.

"It has happened at last," exulted the woman. "I have dined at the same table with a real magnate. I knew it would happen if I kept on going to that little Hungarian restaurant where they are all magnates, exiled princes and things."

"It happened last night. I hadn't been there for a long time. I sat at the big square table where I always sit. Not far from me was a very distinguished looking man with iron gray hair and such a manner! He passed me everything on the table. He bowed so courteously every time he did it in a noble way; nothing servile; just a high and mighty courtesy, you might call it. At last he said to me:

"This is an interesting little place, isn't it? Have you ever been here before?"

"This is my first visit," he replied, with a smile. "I heard so much of it I thought I would come down and look it over. I am in the same business myself." He bowed and smiled again as he revealed the nature of his business.

"I am head waiter at the Hotel Astor," he said.—New York Press.

The Georgian Bay Canal.

The Georgian bay canal survey has been completed after two years of work and a heavy expenditure of money. It is an undertaking comparable with the Panama canal, for the rough estimates of its cost already reach a total of $125,000,000, and the revised estimates, based on the survey just finished, may be materially higher. The project calls for a channel with a minimum depth of twenty-two feet from the great lakes to Montreal by way of French river, Lake Nipissing and the Ottawa river. Its completion would mean the shipping of cargoes from great lake ports to any part of the world without breaking bulk. How such a plan will appeal to the powerful transcontinental Canadian railways will not be seen until the report on the canal is made public.

A Fan Run by a Lamp.

In India the intense heat during most of the year makes fans of some kind a necessity to the comfort of Europeans, and great success is predicted for the new apparatus that is being introduced by a German firm and which consists of a portable fan driven by a hot air engine using kerosene as fuel.

The lamp, holding about a quart of oil, has a small glass chimney fitting into a larger metal chimney connected with the engine, and the fan, resembling the ordinary electric fan, is hung upon the top of the engine. The speed is regulated by turning the flame up or down. One filling of the lamp is sufficient for more than twenty-four hours, and the cost of running is only one-fifth of that of the electric fan.—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

Wireless From the Orient.

"Our country will be completely tied down by the conditions you would impose," protested the Moroccan diplomat.

"Yet why should you object to being Morocco bound?" argued the French plenipotentiary.—Kansas City Times.

Insult Plus Injury.

"Oh, you can laugh all you want to," said Green, with a show of impatience, "but I'm not as big a fool as you think I am."

"Well," rejoined Brown, "to tell you the truth, I didn't believe it could be possible."—Detroit Tribune.

More Misrepresentation.

"Bliggins is always telling something that his small boy said."

"Yes," answered the politician. "Bliggins isn't the first man to distort the facts when he gives out an interview."—Washington Star.

Within the Limit.

Redd—[See the blood thrown out by the heart travels seven miles in an hour.]

Greene—That's all right. That's under the speed limit.—Yonkers Statesman.

Cutting Both Ways.

She, [trying to make him jealous]—Isn't it odd that every man has a different way of proposing?

He [differ]—Yes, and to a different girl each time.—Baltimore American.

THE OPTICAL LEVER.

The delicate measurements demanded by modern scientific processes and machines have led to the invention of many instruments of precision that surpass the uninitiated by their capabilities, which are often based on extremely simple principles. Among these is a little apparatus recently put upon the market in France for determining the thickness or, one might say, lack of thickness, of extremely thin plates, wires and threads. The inventor likens its action to that of a lever in which a ray of light takes the place of the beam. Essentially the apparatus consists of two carefully ground plates in contact with one another, the upper one being attached to a movable arm. When an object is placed between the edges of the plates the upper plate is displaced a little in level, and the effect of this displacement is magnified by a reflected ray of light which falls upon a graduated scale. Thus the most delicate measurements of thickness are easily and quickly made.—Youth's Companion.

Historic Texan Oak.

When General Zachariah Taylor came to Texas on his way to Mexico during the Mexican war he landed at Rockport on a point adjacent to the Bavvier hotel. He then marched his forces up to where Fulton now stands and halted there before going on to Corpus Christi. When Taylor's army halted General Taylor camped beneath the shady boughs of an oak that is still standing sentinel there.

This oak is over eight feet in diameter and is probably the largest oak in Texas. It is gnarled and battered. Vandals have built fires against it that have almost eaten its heart out, but still the leaves are green upon its branches and its friendly shade is sought by the hundreds who frequent the locality.

It is king of a grove of large and stately oaks. One peculiarity about these and all other trees in this locality is that the prevailing wind has bent their branches so that they lean toward the northwest.—San Antonio Express.

"Passed With Distinction."

An incident is recorded that is characteristic of a section of Russian studentdom of the present day. A leaving examination, a certificate to which is a valuable credential, was held at the Baku grammar school. As the students took their seats for the examination, each pulled from his pocket a revolver, which he coolly laid on his desk. The examiners not only did not venture to interfere, but, tamed by the sight of the weapons, allowed the students to discuss the examination papers at their own sweet will. They finally granted to every one a certificate declaring that its holder had passed "with distinction."—St. Petersburg Cable to New York Sun.

Conundrums.

Why can't regular soldiers sit down? Because they belong to the standing army.

How can you tell the age of a hen? By the teeth. (Your own, of course.)

Have you heard the story of the smoky window pane? No? If I told you you wouldn't see through it.

What are the features of the cannon? Cannon-mouth, cannon-ize, cannon-cers.

Why is a judge's nose like the middle of the earth? Because it is the center of gravity.

Why don't they collect fares from the policemen on the electric? Because they can't take a nickel from a copper.

A Butterfly Farm.

A novel farm is found in England. Half an acre of land has been planted with shrubs and trees for the purpose of providing a home and food for thousands of butterflies of all varieties. Scientific men from all parts of the world are supplied with specimens from this farm.

Typo Riddle.

What is better than a large room to take real estate off your hands? None.

What is the western part of a horse's eye? The rear of it.

What is the best time to be a doctor? When you are sick.

In this State it is still the fashion to call extra terms of court and to permit terms to go by default on account of the sickness of a judge. Advertising to this condition of affairs, The Greenville Reflector says that to meet such emergencies, "the State could do no better than to elect an extra judge whose duty it shall be to hold the special terms of court and also take the place of any judge who may be sick, so that no courts may be missed." Efforts have been made for years past to induce the legislature to remedy this deficiency in our judicial system, but to no avail. As it is, important law suits are delayed and the State put to much expense every year that could be easily avoided. One or two extra judges are needed.—Charlotte Chronicle.

Cough Caution

Never, positively never poison your lungs. If you cough—ever from a simple cold only—you should always heat, soothe, and ease the irritated bronchial tubes. Don't blindly suppress it with a stupefying poison. It's strange how some things finally come about. For twenty years Dr. Shoop has consistently warned people not to take cough mixtures or prescriptions containing Opium, Chloroform, or similar poisons. And now—a little late though—Congress says "Put it on the label if poisons are in your Cough Mixture." Good! Very good! However, for this very reason, cough mixtures and others, should insist on having Dr. Shoop's Cough Cure. No poison marks on Dr. Shoop's labels—and none in the medicine, else it must be law on the label. And it's not only safe, but it is said to be by those that know best, a truly remarkable cough remedy. Take no chances then, particularly with your children. Insist on having Dr. Shoop's Cough Cure. Compare carefully the Dr. Shoop packages with others and note the difference. No poison marks there! You can always be on the safe side by demanding

Deafness Cannot be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh cure. Send for circulars, free. F. J. GHENEY & CO., Toledo, O. Sold by Druggists, 75c. Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

I will mail you free to prove merit samples of my Dr. Shoop's Restorative, and my Book on either Dyspepsia, The Heart or The Kidneys. Troubles of the stomach, Heart or Kidneys, are merely symptoms of a deeper ailment. Don't make the common error of treating symptoms only. Symptom treatment is treating the result of your ailment, and not the cause. Weak Stomach nerves—the inside nerves—mean Stomach weakness, always. And the Heart, and Kidneys as well, have their controlling or inside nerves. Weaken these nerves, and you inevitably have weak vital organs. Here is where Dr. Shoop's Restorative has made its fame. No other remedy even claims to treat the "inside nerves". Also for bloating, biliousness, bad breath or constipation, use Dr. Shoop's Restorative. Write to-day for sample and free Book. There is no case of indigestion, no matter how irritable or how obstinate and will not be specially relieved by the use of Kodol. The main factor in curing the stomach of any disorder is rest, and the only way to get rest is to actually digest the food for the stomach itself. Kodol will do it. It is a scientific preparation of vegetable acids containing the very same juices found in healthy stomach. It conforms to the Pure Food and Drugs Law. Sold by John L. Wooten.

FOR THE LITTLE ONES.

The Shepherd and the Wolf is a Good Outdoor Game.

The children stand in a long line, one behind the other, holding each other's dress or coat. The one at the head of the line represents the shepherd. His little followers are the lambs. One player stands apart from them, and he is the wolf. He prowls stealthily around the flock, and the shepherd calls out, "Who goes around my house this lark night?"

The other answers, "I am the wolf."

The shepherd says, "I beg of you not to hurt my lambs." The wolf then says, "I only wish for one, and I mean to have this little lamb." And he jumps at the last player in the line. The shepherd swings around to save his pet lamb, followed, of course, by the others. The wolf is sly and pretends to turn aside, only watching his opportunity to grab. When he catches the lamb she must try to slip away, and if she succeeds she in turn becomes shepherd. The wolf must then pay a forfeit and relinquish his place to the last lamb in line, taking his place.

Spanish Tag.

Spanish children play a kind of tag which they might have taken from some fairy game book if such a thing existed. One child, chosen by lot, is the moon and must keep within the shadow. The others are the morning stars and are safe only in lighted spaces. The game is for the morning stars to run into the shadow, daring the moon, who, if successful in catching one, becomes in turn a morning star and passes out into the light. This, of course, leaves the one caught to act the part of the moon. As the morning stars run in and out of the moon's domain they sing over and over:

O the moon and the morning stars,
O the moon and the morning stars,
Who dares to tread—O,
Within the shadow?

"Silent" Smith's Kindness.

"Silent Smith," said a New York broker, "was an eccentric man, but in many ways a kind one. To his friends and employees he was exceedingly kind. Once, indeed, his kindness saved a lad from ruin. Mr. Smith, a good many years ago, employed a young man in a confidential capacity. Another employee came to him one day and told him he had better look out for the young man, as he was living beyond his means.

"Mr. Smith frowned. 'Living beyond his means, is he?' he said. 'Dear me, that won't do. Send him to me at once. I'll have to raise his salary.'"—Pittsburg Chronicle-Telegraph.

Few Whites in Bolivia.

Bolivia extends for nearly 1,200 miles from north to south and almost 700 miles from east to west. In all this vast extent of territory there are only about 1,600,000 people, more than half of whom are full blooded Indians, degenerate descendants of the valiant Incas. In number of inhabitants to the square mile the hermit republic ranks the lowest of all the nations of the world, having at the last census only ninety-nine one hundredths of a person to every mile, while Tripoli, which comes next in this respect, has one full inhabitant to the mile. —Boston Transcript.

The Cave of Minneapolis.

It was discovered some years ago that a part of the business district of Minneapolis was built over a great subterranean cavern, whose rocky roof lay some sixty or more feet below the surface. But the fact has been kept quiet until now, when the roof of the cave has been put upon the support of great concrete pillars. The cave had been caused by a subterranean waterway, which has been diverted. When it was first discovered the cavern contained a lake of fine ice cold water, ten feet deep and large enough to have supplied the city. —Argonaut.

Saving Further Trouble.

Ambassador Bryce at a dinner in Urbana, Ill., gave a young lady some tips on European travel. "And above all," he said, "don't fail to tip your cabman liberally. Hansoms and four wheelers would be cheap in London if one only paid the legal fare for them, but he who tries to pay the legal fare—well, he doesn't try it more than once.

"One day I saw an old lady stop a hansom, look up at the driver and say timidly:

"Driver, I want to go to Ludgate circus. I see by the book that the legal fare is 2 shillings. If I give you 3 shillings will you promise not to swear at me afterward?" —Indianapolis Star.

Poor Wages.

John B. Lennon, treasurer of the American Federation of Labor, delivered recently in Bloomington an address on strikes.

Turning to the amusing features of the strike question, Mr. Lennon said:

"I remember a strike of bobbin boys. These boys conducted their fight well, even brilliantly. Thus the day they turned out they posted in the spinning room of their employer's mill a great placard inscribed with the words:

"The wages of sin is death, but the wages of the bobbin boys is worse." —New York Tribune.

A Famous Pitcher.

Elmer Stricklett, the "spit ball" pitcher, had been listening a long while in a New York club to the boasting of a rival.

"Well," he said, exhausted at last, "you are pretty good, Mike, but out in Mountain View there is a young fellow who can beat you. You'll hear from him next season. His specialty is the slow ball. This young fellow has such a slow ball that when he pitches it and sees that it is going to be hit he can run after it and fetch it back again." —Exchange.

Not Posted.

"Hands up!" said the footpad. "And if I refuse?" queried the belated pedestrian.

"Well, in that case," resumed the footpad, "I can only say that you don't know the rules of the game. I decline to negotiate with one so grossly ignorant. Good night, sir." —Philadelphia Ledger.

Not Appreciated.

"Do you keep anything from your wife?"

"Well," answered Mr. Meekton, "I try to tell her everything. But she finds my conversation so dull that she generally goes to sleep before I am half through." —Washington Star.

Thwarted.

The airship inventor was puzzled. "If I could manage to apply the hot air I talk about my machine to the machine itself I'd fly, all right," he added.

But he couldn't. —Brooklyn Life.

She Won Out.

Her—Before her marriage Grace was a girl with a mission.

Him—What was her mission? Her—To marry a man with a mansion—and she won out. —St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

An Excellent Start.

"Dumley says he thinks he'll go in for yachting this summer. He's more than half equipped already."

"Got the yacht, has he?"

"No, the clothes." —New York Press.

Disproved.

Mrs. Newpop—Shakespeare said that "good luck lies in odd numbers."

Mr. Newpop—But his wife never blessed him with triplets.

Not the Original Amount.

"Her face is her fortune, isn't it?"

"Yes, and she's raised the check too."

THE CAR OF JUGGERNAUT.

Fanatics Believe to Be Crushed Under It Is to Gain Heaven.

In the third week in June, following a custom established over a thousand years ago, Hindoos by tens of thousands flock to Pouri, in Orissa, India, for the religious festival of Juggernaut.

From the temple the famous car of Juggernaut is brought forth and dragged through the streets. It heads the annual procession of devotees of the god Vishnu, or Juggernaut, lord of the universe, whose image or statue, without legs and with stumps of arms, rests within the colossal car.

Hundreds of pilgrims harness themselves to the stout cables by which the car is drawn. As they pull the ponderous car on its clumsy wheels many work themselves up to a degree of religious fervor little short of madness. And fanatics attempt to throw themselves to destruction under the murderous wheels as a voluntary sacrifice to their idol. British civil officers prevent any act of suicide.

Hindoo belief that to gain the favor of Juggernaut opens for them the gates of heaven. Therefore in the days before the British occupation of India natives occasionally cast their bodies under the car to be crushed to a pulp, the belief being that self immolation thus would be speedily rewarded by entrance into paradise.

The car is forty-three feet high. Its wheels are each more than six feet high. A wooden cage around the top, an addition of recent years, keeps fanatics from jumping upon their idol within. Body and wheels are of wood beautifully sculptured and inlaid, and for the festival the car is draped with gold cloth.—Exchange.

Lucky Escape.

"Many years ago," says an Alabama congressman, "a son of Erin had the misfortune to be charged with stealing pork. Being without counsel, the court appointed a young sprig of the law to represent him. It was a poor effort made to defend the prisoner, and the members of the jury without leaving their seats returned a verdict of guilty. The court asked the prisoner if he had anything to say why sentence should not be pronounced. His reply was: 'Your honor, it is hard for a man to go to prison without a fair trial.'

"You've had a fair trial," said the judge. "The court appointed counsel to defend you."

"The Irishman cast a glance at the young lawyer and muttered: 'Sure, an' if I'd had two such this jury would have hung me for murder.'" —Life.

Coals of Fire.

That the Cornishman does not always appreciate metaphor is well illustrated by the following story: A district visitor in a small town was calling at the house of a poor woman whose husband occasionally came home much the worse for liquor. "It's a turr'ble trouble, ma'am," the poor woman complained. "Many's the time I've 'ad to git out uv bed and trapse [walk] over the stairs and open the door to un and car un [carry him] to bed, 'e bein' so drunk I cud mos' [almost] bate 'im to a jelly." "But," remonstrated the lady visitor, "you should try gentler means and heap coals of fire upon his head." "Cawls of fire! Fancy that, now, and I never thought upon ut! Many's the time I've thraved bilin' water over un, but cawls of fire—well!" —Grand Magazine.

The Green Peril.

Absinth is a liquor prepared by steeping several herbs, especially anise and wormwood, in alcohol for several days. It is greenish in color. It was introduced into France by soldiers stationed in Algiers between 1830 and 1850, for whom it had been prescribed as a febrifuge. Its indulgence becomes a habit like that of alcohol, opium, cocaine, etc., but its effects are more demoralizing than those of most liquors or drugs. Absinthism produces hallucinations and loss of mental balance without destroying the power of action. Its habitual use brings on tremors and paralysis in the arms especially, with epilepsy and delusional insanity.

Singular and Feminine.

Little Mabel had often spoken to her father over the telephone, but she had never gone through the formalities necessary for calling him up.

At last, however, she wanted to do this, so she took the receiver from the hook.

"I want to speak to daddy!" she shouted.

"Number, please?" asked central in that calm, passively resistant voice which is to be found only in telephone ladies.

"Singular!" replied little Mabel, surprised at the question and proud of her knowledge of grammar.

ALL OVER THE HOUSE.

Care of Body and Bed Clothing—Air-ing Shoes and Slippers.

There is a neatness which is not desirable and is not clean. It is neat to fold all one's clothes when taking them off for the night, but it is not hygienic to do this, for the garments must be aired if they are to be sanitary. Even if they have been worn only a few hours odors of the body have been absorbed and should be given an opportunity to evaporate. This is best accomplished by spreading every piece of clothing so that it will air, and in the morning, if not put on, then it may be folded neatly and put away, having been cleaned by its air "wash."

At all seasons beds should be stripped of covers every morning and spread near a window, where the sun will strike them for a time. Pillows should be put into the windows where not only sun, but draft, will play about to air and keep them from getting musty. This may be done early in the morning without offending the eyes of the neighbors. Mattresses should be half turned and allowed to stay in the sunlight in order to be surrounded by air.

Other things that need airing are shoes and slippers. To keep them properly they should be put into a window as soon as taken off and allowed to remain there for hours. At least once a week all should be placed where a strong sun will beat into them, but before this sunning they should be wiped with soda water.

Long or Short Sleeves.

Here is a scheme by which one may have a long or short sleeve in one gown. Make a sleeve that reaches to the wrist. Finish so that it will be large enough for the elbow also. Then take a strip of embroidery that has perforations on its lower edge in color like the waist and stitch it straight around the sleeve five inches below the shoulder seam. Make a band of the goods one inch wide and sew pretty buttons in groups all around it. Stitch this about five inches—this will depend upon the sleeve length, also whether elbow length or not is preferred—below embroidery perforations. Fasten the perforations over the buttons if you desire short sleeves and unbutton when you wish them long. The decoration is attractive on either. Unbutton when you wash waist.

Home Nursing.

A bottle full of hot water at the back of the neck will often cure nervous headache.

For neuralgia on the left side of the face put the right hand in water as hot as can be borne. If the pain is on the right side, hold the left hand in the water. Neuralgia is purely a nerve ailment, as its name implies, and this simple treatment warms the chilled nerves which are suffering.

Some one who has tried it says that charcoal will heal an ingrowing toe nail when less simple remedies have no effect. Burn the head of a match and powder the charred part, pressing it down around the nail.

Codfish Hash.

Cut fine one cup of potatoes as for hash and add one cup of salt fish, washed and shredded into small pieces. Put the fish and potatoes into a frying pan and cover with boiling water. Cook until potatoes are tender, drain, add lard or any fat you may prefer and fry. If you have any salt pork or bacon, it makes it delicious to cut it into small pieces and add to the hash when frying.

Baked Salt Codfish.

Cover one cup of salted codfish with cold water and let it come to a boil. Drain off the water, cut the fish in small cubes and mix it with two cups of mashed potatoes, one-half a cup of melted butter, two cups of milk or cream, two well beaten eggs and a little pepper. Bake in a quick oven for one-half hour.

Potato Fritters.

Grate five boiled potatoes, mix well with five tablespoonfuls of flour, one teaspoonful of baking powder and a little salt, mixing as lightly as possible. Add one-half cup of milk and two well beaten eggs. Drop the mixture by table spoonfuls in boiling fat for eight minutes. Drain well and serve.

To Clean Mica.

Aluminum stoves are generally fitted with little mica windows. If these get dirty wipe them carefully with a cloth dipped in warm vinegar, and afterward polish with dry duster. Never use water for cleaning the mica. It will only make it dull looking.

Liquid Face Powder.

To one-half ounce of tincture of benzoin add one ounce of glycerin, one ounce of alcohol and two ounces of prepared chalk. This liquid powder is perfectly harmless.

TO MY FRIENDS,

Having been away for several months I wish to announce to my friends and patrons of the "empire" of Pitt that I am still connected with the firm of his M. Stieff, and if back logs are allowed to misuse the happy term home as a synonym for a "hanging out place" I still call Greenville my home, and while I intend to be away from Greenville a great deal of my time during this fall a post office box 25, Greenville, will receive within a day or two. I now have a number of slightly used upright pianos, some of which have been rented during the summer months, others which were temporarily used by artists at the exposition and for orchestra work, at bargain prices.

We also offer a special school piano for $225.00 fully measuring up in standard to any $350.00 instrument. This piano is especially built for college and school work for the special price named above and is full guaranteed by my firm for 10 years. Those interested in school piano in a good slightly used piano for the home should write me at once and will profit by it, and as ever I am always mindful of my patrons' protection and interests, as well as my own. Grateful of past patronage. Very respectfully,
 G. G. Freeman,
