You may expect them to be treated in a manner that will be exceedingly helpful to you. The State course of study is to be discussed by the man who prepared it, and probably no man in North Carolina so fully comprehends it as he does or can present it in a more helpful manner to the teachers than he can. Each teacher will be furnished with a copy of this course of study so that she may have it during the discussion and thereby fully acquaint herself with it in every detail and thereafter be able to use it with profit to herself and to her pupils. I do hope to see every teacher in the county present at this meeting. I believe you will be glad that you came.

W. H. Ragsdale,
Co. Supt. Schools.

Lamp in Moving Picture Machine Explodes—Several Injured.

New York, October 29.—A lamp used in a moving picture machine with which Rev. Adam C. Chambers, of the Harlem Baptist church, was illustrating a Bible lecture, exploded tonight setting the church afire and throwing the audience of 500 children in a panic.

Older ones made futile efforts to control the children who fell over and tramped on one another in their haste to reach exits.

The pastor was badly burned about the face and hands and Maud Engelhart, aged 6, and Annie Becker, seven, were severely injured.

The second floor of the building was burned out.

FOR SALE—Six room house on Dickinson avenue, near both depots, good water, and good neighborhood. For further information apply to A. F. Kennedy. 317d.

A Great Mother.

The mother of John Quincy Adams said in a letter to him when he was only twelve: "I would rather see you laid in your grave than grow up a profane and graceless boy."

Not long before his death a gentleman said to him: "I have found out who made you."

"What do you mean?" asked M. Adams.

"I have been reading the published letters of your mother."

"If," this gentleman relates, "I had spoken that name to some little boy who had been for weeks away from his mother, his eyes could not have flashed more brightly nor his face glow more quickly than did the eyes and face of that venerable old man when I pronounced the name of his mother. He stood up in his peculiar way and said:

"Yes, sir, all that is good in me I owe to my mother."—Selected.

Who Has The Longest Beard?

Washington, Oct. 31.—Congressman Champ Clark today writes a card to a Washington newspaper man in which he says that the story printed yesterday in New York papers that "S. G. Brinkley, of Magnetic City, N. C.," has the longest beard in the world, reaching to a floor when stands erect, is a mistake, that two men in Missouri in Pike county, Elijah Gates and Valentine Tapley, have beards that measure nine and twelve feet respectively.—Wilson Times.

Thought She Was a "Cullud" Lady.

The story printed in our news columns today from Luke Park, in Lowndes county, giving the almost tragic, yet in a way comic account of the journey of a young white woman all the way from the barren hills of Vermont to Southern Georgia to marry an unknown man, the engagement having been made through one of these infamous matrimonial bureaus, again calls attention to that nefarious business.

As the story goes, and it is well authenticated, the young woman came the long journey to marry Rev. J. J. Roberts, who turned out to be "Bird-Eyed-Jake," a one-eyed, buff-faced, but rather harmless negro, who, when confronted with the situation declared that he thought the coming "bride-to-be" was a "cullud lady."

If the prudence of single women does not put these so-called matrimonial bureaus out of business, the laws of the land ought to.

Ex-Gov. T. J. Jarvis will speak on the subject of prohibition in the Methodist church at Grifton Sunday night Nov. 3rd, at 7:30. Public cordially invited to attend.

Weather.

Fair tonight, except rain in western portion, warmer. Saturday rain, warmer in eastern portion.

The Reporters' Gallery.

It was my privilege once to witness statesmen absolutely refusing to allow the great machinery of parliament to be put in motion in the absence of the reporters. It was Dec. 2, 1902, when the education bill was before the house of lords. The Marquis of Londonderry, president of the council of education, refused to address the house until the reporters arrived. What an absolute change in the point of view of statesmen since William Woodfall sat in the strangers' gallery of the house of commons with closed eyes, endeavoring to fix on his memory the points of the discussion, and later still Charles Dickens stood for hours with tired feet among the crowd at the bar of the house of lords furtively reporting!—Macmillan's Magazine.

Air Hogs.

"Air hog is the epithet applied by the author of one of the typical growls the English send to the editor of the London Times. The correspondent was sitting reading in his garden, he says, when he noticed a balloon pass overhead and pretty soon after received a shower of the ballast that was nothing more or less than dirt. He goes on to work up indignation against the time when air travel becomes a fad of the vulgar rich. "Suppose I am peacefully tracking a snail to its lair and I am suddenly assailed with the tea slops and heel taps of a millionaire's tea party. Multiply the instance and you have a country oppressed as if under the domination of the Puritans."—Boston Transcript.

Fan Baths and Typhoid.

Fan baths are the latest remedy employed by the Boston City hospital physicians in the treatment of typhoid fever. Heretofore the ice plunge was used, and a patient whose temperature had reached the danger point was soured in a bathtub filled with broken ice until his teeth rattled. This treatment after a time was found to be too heroic, as the shock was too severe and pneumonia sometimes developed. Then ice water sponge baths were substituted, but the fan baths, the doctors declare, are just the thing. The patient is sponged off with ice water first, then a sheet that has been soaked in ice water is wrapped about the body and more ice water is sprinkled on the sheet. The current of an electric fan is then turned on him, so that he is chilled by the rapid evaporation caused by the breeze. Recent experiments have proved this measure highly successful.

NAVAL BUNTING.

Costly Dress Suit Flag Outfit of Our Warships.

Few realize the number of flags carried by a warship nor the cost of all the gay bunting which flutters from mast to mast at holiday time. In addition to fleet communication, necessary during all forms of maneuvers in home waters, the ship must be equipped with an extensive array of flags stored on board for various forms of ceremonial and official occasions. This "dress suit" outfit of bunting therefore consists of 250 different flags, the material and making of which cost just $2,500. Each ship is entitled to a new flag equipment every three years, though a flagship will often require a new set of signals, owing to their constant use and handling, in about a year.

A great deal more time and labor are required to finish certain of these flags than generally supposed. For instance, the president's flag requires the longest time of any to make, as it takes one woman nearly a whole month to complete it. The life sized eagle, with long outstretched wings, and other emblems are all hand sewed and involve the most patient work. The most difficult and likewise consuming the longest time to make are the foreign flags. This is especially true of the South and Central American ones. A half dozen specially skilled hand device sewers, each having acquired the knack of making certain of the center designs in these to perfection, are continually kept on these respective flags. Every battleship carries forty-three foreign flags, 25 feet long by 13 wide.

The most expensive ensign to make is the German, which, owing to the delicate scroll work of the large imperial eagle and royal crown, necessitating delicate, slow and careful sewing, costs $56.00. The dragon flag of China consists of 200 separate pieces. Twelve to fourteen days are ordinarily consumed in finishing this flag, which costs $51.75. The flag of Siam, with the huge white elephant, costs $38. The Mexican, with its center design of a large eagle holding a serpent in its bill, costs $39.50. The cheapest foreign flag made is the Moorish, which costs $21.—Army and Navy Life.

Wanted a Memento.

"Yes, sir. Hair cut, sir? Shave, sir?" asked the obsequious barber of the customer who entered.

"Shave, please," said the gentleman, seating himself in the chair.

"I pride myself on my quick methods," went on the assistant, lathering the customer's face and then bringing the razor into operation.

After a few lightning strokes he made a gash or two.

"Sorry, sir," he said, scraping away and drawing blood here and there. Another good cut or two, and the operation was nearly finished. "Want anything on your face, sir?" he asked.

"Well," said the customer, ruefully looking at his face in the glass, "I'd be obliged if you'd leave my nose."—London Tit-Bits.

Poor Wages.

John B. Lennon, treasurer of the American Federation of Labor, delivered recently in Bloomington an address on strikes.

Turning to the amusing features of the strike question, Mr. Lennon said:

"I remember a strike of bobbin boys. These boys conducted their fight well, even brilliantly. Thus the day they turned out they posted in the spinning room of their employer's mill a great placard inscribed with the words:

"The wages of sin is death, but the wages of the bobbin boys is worse."—New York Tribune.

A Famous Pitcher.

Elmer Stricklett, the "spit ball" pitcher, had been listening a long while in a New York club to the boasting of a rival.

"Well," he said, exhausted at last, "you are pretty good, Mike, but out in Mountain View there is a young fellow who can beat you. You'll hear from him next season. His specialty is the slow ball. This young fellow has such a slow ball that when he pitches it and sees that it is going to be hit he can run after it and fetch it back again."—Exchange.

FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 1st, 1907

November is always a good month for the merchants and with tobacco selling for a good price the outlook is fine.

With three prosperous banks and many flourishing stores Greenville should not be contented with her present poor streets.

The latest college news is that of the outlandish behavior of the A. & M. College students this week. This bears anything that has happened. Why a president of such an institution under any conditions should encourage such brutal behavior among the students is beyond the comprehension of some people.

Parents of Wilmington boys at the A. & M. College make no concealment of their indignation toward President Winston for his apparent sanction of the disgraceful scenes on the campus of that institution between Sophomores and Freshmen during the past two days as related in the press dispatches to the papers this morning.

There was diligent inquiry at the newspaper offices last night for reporters of the outrages which seem to have characterized life at the college for the twenty-four hours ended last night, and the information that Commandant Young and upper-class men are standing by cannot be reconciled with the statement that as a result of the series of encounters, there are broken noses and blacked eyes; neither do parents of the students here relish any such treatment of their sons with what seems official sanction.

The Hartwells were entertaining a distant relative, a man of ponderous physical attainments, who weighed nearly 300 pounds. On the morning after his arrival he came down to breakfast rather late and looking as if he had not had a good night's rest.

The wise old doctor was impressing upon his little patient the essentiality of mastication.

These boys are liable to hurt each other very seriously. Suppose one of them received a blow in a vital spot and death should ensue, or be should be sent home to his parents maimed or disabled for life, would that stop hazing? It smacks of the old days of the Roman Gladiator, and is not in keeping with the modern Christian spirit nowadays.

We are of the opinion that the college as a State institution and Prof. Winston at the head of it, would be liable in a suit for damages should one of the boys be seriously injured.

NOT A CRIMINAL.

He Was Only Serving Ten Years For Just "Quarreling."
The standard of morals is not the same all the world over. In Montenegro, for example, conduct is seen from another point of view than among ourselves.

Only three men were chained, and of these one remained moodily seated, staring on the ground before him. He formed such a contrast to his fellow prisoners' smiling faces that we observed him more closely and noticed that his clothes were such as the officials and better class wear.

"Who is he?" I asked. "A government clerk convicted of embezzlement," was the answer.

"And what have the other criminals done?" was our next query. "Oh, they have mostly quarreled among themselves. They are not criminals. We have very few thieves and robbers in Montenegro. This youth," went on our informant, pointing to a young man with a pleasant face and who grinned with joy as he noticed the attention with which we favored him, "has a ten years' sentence for quarreling."

"But, 'quarreling,'" we repeated, "is it punishable to quarrel?" "Yes. Too many lives are lost," was the laconic reply.

"Oh," we exclaimed, a light breaking in upon us, "you mean murder! They are all murderers?" "We have no murderers," came the indignant response.

"Our land is as safe from murder as any other in the world. No one kills to rob or steal in Montenegro. But we just quarrel among ourselves. We are hot blooded and shoot quickly, that is all."

The English Habit.

The man from London paused in front of the little shop and read and reread the mysterious sign that was suspended from the wall. It read: "Englishmen will please not stand over this grating while talking."

The more the Londoner read the sign the more he was mystified.

Finally he summoned up his courage and entered the shop.

"Good afternoon," he greeted politely. "Could you tell me why you have that sign out there which reads, 'Englishmen will please not stand over this grating while talking?'"

"I can, sir," replied the shopkeeper.

"And why, my good man?" "Well, you see, if they stood there talking they would drop their hats, and the porter would have to lose time going down in the basement looking for them."

And the man from London walked away after remarking that America was a "bloomin' queer country!" —Brooklyn Citizen.

It Did Not Fit Him.

The Hartwells were entertaining a distant relative, a man of ponderous physical attainments, who weighed nearly 300 pounds. On the morning after his arrival he came down to breakfast rather late and looking as if he had not had a good night's rest.

"You are not feeling well this morning, are you, Mr. Barnes?" asked his host, with some anxiety.

"Oh, it's nothing serious," said the guest. "I have caught a little cold, that is all."

"Papa," whispered Bobby, the youngest member of the family, loudly enough to be heard by the visitor, "how can a man as big as he is have a little cold?" — Youth's Companion.

It Wouldn't Work.

The wise old doctor was impressing upon his little patient the essentiality of mastication.

"My lad," he advised, "no matter what you eat, always chew each mouthful thirty times."

But Jimmy shook his head significantly. "That wouldn't do at our house, doctor."

"And why not, my son?" "Because I'd always be hungry. The rest of the kids would clean the table off before I got through with that one mouthful." —Kansas City Independent.

Harking Back.

Mrs. Acklins—I don't want to be impertinent, but how old are you anyway? Some of the ladies were discussing your age at the club the other day, and several of them claimed that you were at least thirty-five, but I insisted that you were not more than thirty-three.

Mrs. Biswick—I'm glad you were so kind. Of course you didn't mention the fact that you were ready to leave the grammar grade when I was in primary class at school.

Cough Caution

Never, positively never poison your lungs. If you cough—even from a simple cold only—you should always heal, soothe, and ease the irritated bronchial tubes. Don't blindly suppress it with a stupefying poison. It's strange how some things finally come about. For twenty years Dr. Shoop has constantly warned people not to take cough mixtures or prescriptions containing Opium, Chloroform, or similar poisons. And now—a little late though—Congress says "Put it on the label. If poisons are in your Cough Mixture." Good! Very good!!! Hereafter for every reason, mothers, and others, should insist on having Dr. Shoop's Cough Cure. No poison marks on Dr. Shoop's label—and none in the medicine, else it must by law be on the label. And it's not only safe, but it is said to be by those that know it best, a truly remarkable cough remedy. Take no chance, then, particularly with your children. Insist on having Dr. Shoop's Cough Cure. Compare carefully the Dr. Shoop package with others and note the difference. No poison marks there. You can always be on the safe side by demanding.

Deafness Cannot be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free. F. J. GHENEY & CO., Toledo, O. Sold by Druggists, 75c. Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

I will mail you free, to prove merit, samples of my Dr. Shoop's Restorative, and my Bock on either Dyspepsia, The Heart or The Kidneys. Troubles of the Stomach, Heart or Kidneys, are merely symptoms of a deeper ailment. Don't make the common error of treating symptoms only. Symptom treatment is treating the result of your ailment, and not the cause. Weak Stomach nerves—the inside nerves—mean Stomach weakness, always. And the Heart and Kidneys as well, have their controlling or inside nerves. Weaken these nerves, and you inevitably have weak vital organs. Here is where Dr. Shoop's Restorative has made its fame. No other remedy even claims to treat the "inside nerves". Also for bloating, biliousness, bad breath or complexion, use Dr. Shoop's Restorative. Write to-day for sample and free Book. Dr. Shoop, Racine, Wis. The Restorative is sold by Bryans Drug Store.

CHARITY NATURALLY PAINFUL

General Booth, the head of the Salvation Army, was discussing the antisuicide bureaus that his church has opened.

"Kindness and charity," he said, "are factors of these bureaus. The charity will be of the right kind, I trust. There are, you know, two kinds of charity, and too much of it is like the barber's."

"There was a poor deacon in Warwick who had no money and needed to be shaved, and he went from barber to barber, but none of them, despite his holy office, was willing to shave him for nothing."

"In the end, though, he found a barber who on hearing his tale said gruffly:

"Sit down there in that chair."

"And this barber shaved him. But the razor he used! Dear me! Its dull edge and the nicks in it! Under the operation the tears flowed in rivulets down the poor deacon's cheeks."

"Suddenly the barber's dog in the adjacent room set up a terrific howling."

"Be still, there!" cried the barber, and he muttered anxiously, "What can they be doing to him?"

"Alas," said the deacon, "I shouldn't wonder if some one was shaving him out of charity."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Lord Mayor a Drummer.

When the present lord mayor of London, Sir William Treloar, president of the London branch of the United Kingdom Commercial Travelers' association, attended the annual dinner of that organization he told a story of his early traveling life.

"Forty years ago," he said, "I called on an upholsterer in Southampton, whose daughter, a very nice looking girl, rang the bell for her father. As soon, however, as she recognized the visitor she gently called up the stairs:

"You need not come down, pa. It's only a drummer."

"When she returned to the shop the girl remarked, with a pleasant smile, 'I took you for a gentleman.'"

"I apologized," added the story teller, "and expressed my regret that my appearance should have deceived her, and so we became excellent friends."—London Strand.

CONDENSED STORIES.

Story of the New York Lobby and an Honest Legislator.

Gene Wood, chief of the Albany lobbyists, told the other day what he regarded as a good joke on "Honest Dan" Bradley, a former Brooklyn senator. Senator Bradley abhorred lobbyists and side stepped every bill that had any semblance of graft connected with it; hence his sobriquet. A corporation measure was up for vote in the senate, and rumor had it that $5,000 per vote was being paid to place it on the statute books. Bradley heard of the bribery and, meeting some of the corporation lobbyists in the corridor, shook his fist in their faces and shouted:

"YOU CANNOT GET MY VOTE!"

"I might have supported this bill, but you cannot get my vote now!"

"But the corporations opposing the bill are paying $5,000 to those who vote against it," said the lobbyists. "You'll get $5,000 either way."

"Then I'll stay out of the senate chamber when the bill comes up for action," snapped the senator as he strode away.

True to his word, Senator Bradley left the senate chamber, and during his absence the bill was beaten. Bradley congratulated himself on his escape from suspicion of having accepted a bribe. He went back to his desk and there found an envelope. It contained $500.

"What's this for?" he asked of his neighboring senators.

"That's what the corporations paid for those who stayed out while the vote was being taken on that bill."—New York American.

They Walked Back.

Admiral Schley was talking about war and peace at Port Deposit, Md.

"War must still go on," he said.

"Mankind is not yet highly enough developed to be peaceful. Yet I am in favor of peace societies and peace congresses, for these things help the cause of peace along. They bring the day of universal peace a little nearer."

The admiral mused a little; then he resumed:

"Yes, we will have universal peace some day, for we all love it in our hearts. The bravest fighters in their hearts love peace with incredible devotion—with devotion as incredible as that which the pigeons of Newark had for their home."

"There was a Newark man who kept pigeons. One day he sold a half dozen birds to a Philadelphian. But the pigeons loved their former home, and the first time they were let out they flew straight back to it, covering the fifty miles in no time."

"The Philadelphian got them again, and this time he clipped their wings so that they could not fly, but he left their hutch open, and they disappeared. Nothing was seen of them for some days. Then, thin and dusty and footsore, they limped slowly into the old home in Newark."

"They had walked the whole way back."

Tribute to the Ad.

The late William Johnson of Brooklyn, the owner of Printers' Ink, was for many years a leading light of the advertising business. An advertisement writer said of him the other day:

"Mr. Johnson had a stock of advertising stories on the tip of his tongue. He used to tell them to young solicitors. He claimed that they were useful in getting business. 'One of his favorite stories was about two little children. They came to their mother one evening and asked if they might play store.'"

"Yes," said the mother, "but you must remember that the baby is asleep. Play store if you like, but don't make a noise. Play quietly." "All right, mother," said the older child. "We'll pretend we don't advertise."

THE CAR OF JUGGERNAUT.

Fanatics Believe to Be Crushed Under It Is to Gain Heaven.

In the third week in June, following a custom established over a thousand years ago, Hindoos by tens of thousands flock to Pouri, in Orissa, India, for the religious festival of Juggernaut.

From the temple the famous car of Juggernaut is brought forth and dragged through the streets. It heads the annual procession of devotees of the god Vishnu, or Juggernaut, lord of the universe, whose image or statue, without legs and with stumps of arms, rests within the colossal car.

Hundreds of pilgrims harness themselves to the stout cables by which the car is drawn. As they pull the ponderous car on its clumsy wheels many work themselves up to a degree of religious fervor little short of madness. And fanatics attempt to throw themselves to destruction under the murderous wheels as a voluntary sacrifice to their idol. British civil officers prevent any act of suicide.

Hindooes believe that to gain the favor of Juggernaut opens for them the gates of heaven. Therefore in the days before the British occupation of India natives occasionally cast their bodies under the car to be crushed to a pulp, the belief being that self immolation thus would be speedily rewarded by entrance into paradise.

The car is forty-three feet high. Its wheels are each more than six feet high. A wooden cage around the top, an addition of recent years, keeps fanatics from jumping upon their idol within. Body and wheels are of wood beautifully sculptured and inlaid, and for the festival the car is draped with gold cloth.—Exchange.

Lucky Escape.

"Many years ago," says an Alabama congressman, "a son of Erin had the misfortune to be charged with stealing pork. Being without counsel, the court appointed a young sprig of the law to represent him. It was a poor effort made to defend the prisoner, and the members of the jury without leaving their seats returned a verdict of guilty. The court asked the prisoner if he had anything to say why sentence should not be pronounced. His reply was: 'Your honor, it is hard for a man to go to prison without a fair trial.'"

"You've had a fair trial," said the judge. "The court appointed counsel to defend you."

"The Irishman cast a glance at the young lawyer and muttered: 'Sure, an' if I'd had two such this jury would have hung me for murder.'"—Life.

TO MY FRIENDS.

Having been away for several months I wish to announce to my friends and patrons of the "empire" of Pitt that I am still connected with the firm of Chas. M. Stieff, and if bachelors are allowed to misuse the happy term home as a synonym for a "hanging out place" I still call Greenville my home, and while I intend to be away from Greenville a great deal of my time during this fall a postal care of box 325, Greenville, will reach me within a day or two. We now have a number of slightly used upright pianos, some of which have been rented during the summer months, others which were temporarily used by artists at the exposition and for orchestra work, at bargain prices.

We also offer a special school piano for $225 00 fully measuring up in standard to any $350 00 instrument. This piano is especially built for college and school work for the special price named above and is full guaranteed by my firm for 10 years. Those interested in a school piano or in a good slightly used piano for the home should write me at once and will profit by it, and as ever I am always mindful of my patrons' protection and interest as well as my firm's interest. Grateful of past patronage. Very respt.
