ADULTERATED COFFEE.

Notice to Grocery Men of North Carolina

Samples of "Luzianne Coffee" picked by Reilly, Taylor & Co. of New Orleans, have been examined under the State Food Law, and were found to be adulterated with chicory.

This brand of coffee has been largely advertised and sold in the state as pure coffee. In some cases, it has been labeled "Coffee and Chicory," but when so labeled the word "Chicory" was in very small type and would not be noticed by a casual observer, and therefore does not comply with the requirements of the Food Law.

Grocerymen are hereby notified that the product labeled "Luzianne Coffee" is a compound of coffee and chicory, and if sold, must be sold as such and not as pure coffee. Such violation, if detected, will be prosecuted under the Food Law.

The Happy Season.

Sunburned and with the strength of youth, this glorious country faces winter and another year. The account of 1907 has been made up. Nothing remains but to store the fruits. Is there anything melancholy in the approach of winter and frost weather in such a land? In the hard old days winter meant a living death to the farmer. Now it is the season of enjoyment, when thrift feeds on the fatness it stored up betimes. Social pleasure make the dark days bright, and the roaring fire makes delightful contrast to the sleet blast. In the cities there is no cause for mournfulness in the short days and long nights. They are most welcome to all men of open mind and cheerful soul. Especially in Washington, the nest of winter delights, does summer end joyfully and autumn unfold her husk of sweets. October comes to Washington as Robin Hood came to Sherwood Forest. This brown and jolly month dances in, his arm encircling the balmily and buxom waist of Ceres, and the wassail flows merrily as they whirl through the scarlet woods. Jack Frost the magician, is master of the revels. He hangs strange colors in the trees and conjures up a mysterious change in the sun's light. Common things begin to seem unreal in his Indian summer radiance. The astonished mortal, before he is aware, finds himself in a land of fairy, and must pinch himself to be certain he is not translated.—Washington Post.

Farmville, N. C. Oct. 23, 1907.

Mr. C. A. Fair, of Ayden, just settled the death claim of the late James R. Jefferson, who had policy in the Security, Life and Annuity Co., of Greensboro, N. C. He only carried the policy one year. The claim was paid just sixteen days after Mr. Jefferson's death. The manner in which Mr. Fair settled this claim, reflects great credit on him as well as the company. We can cheerfully commend all those who wish "the best insurance" for the least money, to Mr. C. A. Fair, with the Security Life and Annuity Co., which is purely a mutual, Southern company and stands second to none, in paying death claims promptly.

GREENVILLE SHOULD TURN OUT

To Greet the Raleigh Excursionists Monday.

On Monday a train from Raleigh bearing four hundred people including the governor and other State officers, the Raleigh Chamber of Commerce and Second Regiment band, will pass over the Norfolk & Southern railroad from Raleigh to Washington and return. The object of the trip is to attend a celebration in Washington in honor of the completion of the road between that town and the State capital. The train will leave Raleigh at 7:30 a. m. scheduled to reach Washington at 12:30. A stop of half an hour will be made at Greenville, reaching here somewhere about 11 o'clock. The Chamber of Commerce, business men, graded school, and as many of the people of the town generally as can do so, should assemble at the depot to greet the excursionists and have a short address by Governor Glenn. Greenville can and should make a good showing on this occasion.

With the Colored People

The biblical and musical cantata given last night at the G. S. and O. F. Hall, was indeed a grand affair. Subject Jephthah and His Daughter, under auspices of York's Temple, A. M. E. Zion church choir, with Mrs. S. J. Walter, as its instructor and manager. The play was given in the interest of the missionary department of the above named church, and there was a nice crowd in attendance to witness one of the richest treats of season. Each participant acted them part well, and deserves much credit. The pastor, Rev. R. Henry Sawyer, Jr., has only three Sundays here before his annual conference convenes in Kinston Nov. 27th. His rally to meet his local and general demands will be on the 3rd Sunday. He will preach his farewell sermon the fourth Sunday of this month. Tomorrow he will fill his regular appointment. Every member and friend is kindly asked to be present.

Funeral of Mr. Laughinghouse.

The funeral of Mr. J. J. Laughinghouse, Jr., who died suddenly Thursday night, was held this afternoon. Services were conducted by Rev. W. E. Cox at the residence of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Laughinghouse, on Pitt street, and the remains were then taken in charge by the Masons and Red Men, both lodges attending in a body, and borne to Cherry Hill cemetery for interment with the last honors of these fraternities. A large number of sorrowing friends followed and their esteem was expressed in many beautiful floral tributes. The pall bearers were Messrs. Frank Wilson, W. H. Dail, Jr.; O. L. Joyner, J. D. Garden, A. M. Moseley and T. M. Hooker, of Greenville, J. F. Taylor and F. H. Rollins of Washington.

"Jack," as his host of friends familiarly called him, will be sorely missed, and many hearts are deeply saddened at his death.

The water in the river is so low that even the gas boats can hardly run.

This was a pretty day and a large crowd came to town.

TO THE PUBLIC

GREENVILLE, N. C., November 6th, 1906.

We, the business men of Greenville, approve most heartily the action taken by the "Associated Banks" yesterday—viz: The issuance of cashiers' checks to take the place of currency.

That we realize that such a step is essential to the safety of all business interests, and we will accept said cashier's checks as readily as we would money for merchandise and the payment of all debts.

WINTERVILLE ITEMS.

Notes From Our Hauling Neighbor

Winterville, N. C. Nov. 9.

Miss Huldah Cox returned from the exposition last night.

Miss Blanche Cannon, of Ayden, came in Friday evening and spent the night with Misses Roberson and Bunting at the girls' dormitory.

The Free Will Baptist Conference has just closed its session at Piney Grove church in the country. There was quite a large number of delegates in attendance.

All the teachers of W. M. S. attended the teachers' association in Greenville today.

The Vance Literary society had a spirited debate last night. The query was, "Resolved, That the West will dominate the East." The discussion will be full of life from the very beginning.

R. T. Cox and W. A. McLawhorn went to Grifton to spend Sunday with relatives and friends.

Mrs. F. C. Nye went to Greenville this morning.

W. B. Wingate, Walter Nobles, G. E. Lineberry, A. G. Cox, Joe Kittrell and Miss Ethel Carroll have returned from the Neuse Baptist Association which convened at New Bern beginning Tuesday and continuing till Thursday. The Neuse and Atlantic associations united and the next session will meet in Kinston.

New pupils still continue to enter W. H. S. The enrollment now has nearly reached the two hundred mark.

To The Public.

We wish to inform the public that we will gladly take as cash the bank notes to be issued by the different banks of Pitt county. If you have not U. S. currency and wish to buy any of our goods come in with the bank notes. A. B. Ellington & Co.

THE TEACHERS' ASSOCIATION

The weather was ideal and the attendance of teachers and visitors was unusually large. The devotional exercises were conducted by Rev. C. O. Armstrong, of Ayden, after which the regular program of the day was taken up.

Supt. Cale, of Grifton, made an interesting talk on how to manage the idle boy in school. He laid down four principles:

1. Keep him busy. 2. Learn him by finding what things were interesting to him. 3. Speak to the sex separately. 4. Be strict. By thus doing you will command his respect.

Miss Randolph Archer, of Falkland, gave an excellent talk on the manner of marching pupils in and out of the school room.

Supt. C. L. Coon, of Wilson, was then introduced by Pres. Smith. Mr. Coon has his whole heart and soul in the educational work of North Carolina, and as he speaks of the great needs of the teachers of the State that earnestness in his countenance shows that it comes from a soul on fire for the work. Mr. Coon tells things as they are and does not sugar coat them. He drives the truths home to the hearts of his hearers. He outlined the course of study as adopted by the state for the public school system and spoke with that authority and familiarity as only the author of it could.

The program closed with a strong and convincing talk on the importance and value of drawing in our schools, by Mrs. D. W. Webb. She represents the Webb and Ware system of drawing adopted by the state. Thus closed one of the finest sessions in the history of the Teachers' Association.

NOTICE.

We have secured the agency of the Wilson steam laundry, and are prepared to do all kinds of laundry work. We will call at residences on Mondays for packages. If any are overlooked, phone 294B. Satisfaction guaranteed. Guy Lanier. Con Lanier.

The Ladies Aid Society of the Methodist church will meet with Mrs. Wiley Brown Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

Business went right on today, cashiers' checks going the same as cash with the merchants.

LAND SALE

Mr. Bryan did active campaigning for the Democratic ticket in Kentucky, and the State went Republican. Mr. Roosevelt took active interest in trying to get Burton elected mayor of Cleveland and his man was beaten by a large majority.

When government officials start out on a case they hate so much to fall down that the trial sometimes looks more like prosecution. That impression grew out of the recent Pitt county poeage case, and the same impression applies to the Fields brothers who are charged with extracting money from a registered mail package.

The folly of the telegraph operators' strike is emphasized in the termination of the matter. The strike proved a failure and was declared off, and many of the strikers applying for reinstatement find that their places have been filled.

GOT HIS REWARD.

The Duke, the Cow Driver and a Missing Sovereign.

The father of the present Duke of Buccleuch was not averse to a joke as regarded his identity, and an amusing anecdote, with a somewhat serious ending, is told about him.

"Hi, mon, come here an' gi' us a han' w' this beast?" The duke, greatly amazed, determined to have a joke.

"Come here, mon, an' help us, an' sure as anything I'll give ye half I get." This entreaty had the desired effect.

"Well, how much did you get?" "A shilling," said the boy, "an' there's the half of it to ye."

"No," said the boy earnestly, "that's all I got." "There must be some mistake," said the duke.

The boy consented, and back they went. The duke rang the bell and ordered all the servants to assemble.

SUCCESSFUL LITTLE MEN.

An Ambassador Who Was Only Sixteen Inches In Height.

Don't be ashamed of being small of stature. The finest brains are often found in the heads of little men. Alexander, Napoleon, Uladislaus, Cubitalis, the pygmy king of Poland; Characus, the wisest counselor that was about Saladin, the great conqueror of the east; Marius, Maximus, Marcus Tullius and, to drop down to this day and generation, Alexander H. Stephens, Stephen A. Douglas, Jay Gould, Samuel Spencer and a host of others, all were small men. Yet, as they say in the Bowery, they got there.

Allypius of Alexander, a most excellent logician and philosopher, was only one foot and five inches in height. Augustus Caesar exhibited in his plays one Lucius, a young man born of honest parents, who was only twenty-three inches high and weighed seventeen pounds. Yet he had a strong tenor voice and could sing like a nightingale. In the time of Theodosius there was a pygmy in Egypt so small of body that he resembled a partridge. Yet he exercised all the functions of a man and could sing merrily. He lived to be twenty-two. Julia, niece of Emperor Augustus, had a dwarfish fellow of the name of Canopus, to whom she was much devoted. He was twenty-eight inches high. Andromeda, a freed maid of Julia, was of the same height.

Just about 100 years ago in Wurttemberg at the nuptials of the Duke of Bavaria a great pie was set upon the table. On being opened out stepped a dwarf, armed cap-a-pie, girl with a sword and having a spear in his hand. He walked around the table in a swashbuckler style, sword drawn, and caused the greatest amusement and interest.

There was a little fellow in Italy who was carried around in a parrot's cage and exhibited for money, says the New York Press. He was only thirteen inches high. A Frenchman of Limesin, with a formal beard, was also shown in a cage for money. He was about fifteen inches high. At the end of the cage was a little hutch, into which he retired. When the house was full he stepped forth and played a tune on an instrument.

Going away back without sitting down, Jeffrey Hudson was the wonder of his age. His father was a butcher, stout and of good height, and his mother was a large woman. At the age of eight he was sixteen inches in height. The Duchess of Buckingham adopted him. She clothed him always in satin. At a royal feast he was served in a cold pie, walking forth in complete armor. Being presented to Queen Henrietta Maria, he afforded much amusement. The king had a gigantic porter, William Evans. In a masked ball at court Evans hauled out of one pocket a long loaf of bread and out of the other little Jeffrey. This dwarf was employed on a delicate mission to France as ambassador. On his way home he was captured by a Flemish pirate. His captivity is the subject of a poem by Sir William Davenport, entitled "Jeffredos." He lived to be sixty years of age.

A Swindle.

Richard Mansfield once hired a private secretary, but was compelled to discharge him because he could not spell and was otherwise rather lame in the matter of education. When the young man had received the notice of his dismissal he went to the actor and asked for an explanation. "The fact is," he was told, "your education is too meager for the requirements of the position." Greatly offended, the ex-secretary exclaimed, "Why, sir, my parents spent $5,000 on my education!" "Then, my dear boy," said the actor, "I would advise them to institute proceedings for the recovery of the money. They were swindled."—Boston Transcript.

Lightning and Thunder.

Lightning is kindled in the thunderstorm by raising tracks of material substance scattered along its path into a state of sparkling incandescence. The ordinary electric spark and the lightning are in this respect the same. The sound known as thunder is caused by the electric outburst of the cloud. The flash and the sound originate simultaneously, but the flash travels to the eye in an instant, while the sound is transmitted to the ear so sluggishly that it is some few seconds behind time.—New York American.

Not His Affinity.

The lank, long haired young man looked dreamily at the charming girl on whom he was endeavoring to make a favorable impression. "Did you ever long for death?" he asked in a low and moving tone. "Whose?" inquired the charming but practical young person.—Youth's Companion.

WIDOW WOMAN.

An Expression Which Has Existed For Centuries In Our Speech.

Numerous indeed are the motives which have led and still lead men to resort to epithets. Certain of those now in use contain little more than a repetition of the same idea expressed by two different words. A part of the compound has become obsolete or archaic; hence it needs or needed to have its meaning strengthened. Luke, for instance, meant "tepid." But as it came to be somewhat unfamiliar the sense was brought out with precision by adding to it "warm."

Different from this, though possibly allied to it, may be the attributive use of "widow" in the expression "widow woman." The second word of the combination is clearly unnecessary. But it may not have been always so. The difference of the final vowel in the original Anglo-Saxon words constituted the sole distinction between "widwa," a "widower," and "widuwa," a "widow." When the leveling processes that went on after the conquest gave to both these words the same ending, "e," a natural way to fix definitely the idea of femininity, before "er" was added to create the masculine form, would be to append "woman" to the common word. If this were so it would be almost inevitable that the combination would survive long after the necessity for it had disappeared.

However this may be, the expression has subsisted for centuries in our speech. When in our version of the Bible the woman of Tekoah tells King David, "I am indeed a widow woman, and mine husband is dead," we are supplied in the same short sentence with illustrations of two different sorts of epithets. For the one the original Hebrew is necessarily responsible and for the other the sixteenth century translators. The Wycliffe version of the fourteenth century had "woman widow."

But whatever the origin the expression has come down to the present time. Nor is it confined, as is often asserted, to colloquial speech. To cite one instance out of many, it is used in "Barnaby Rudge," by Dickens, when speaking in his own person. "To find this widow woman," he says, "linked mysteriously with an ill omened man, was a discovery that pained as much as startled him."—Thomas R. Lounsbury in Harper's.

A Student of Nature.

"Father," began Emily Louise, "does God make peaches?"

"Yes, sweetheart; God makes peaches and everything," replied the parent from behind his newspaper.

"Well, father, how does he put the stones inside?" insisted the family angel.

"Oh," said her father, "that's as easy for God to do as it is to make the peach. You see, God first makes the stone and then puts the peach on the outside. That's for our convenience. You see, we eat the peach and not the stone, and so God puts the peach on the outside."

Emily Louise was silent for a moment. Turning again to her father, she inquired:

"If God makes all things for our convenience, father, why does he put the nut inside the wooden shell?"—New York Times.

A Bismarck Romance.

Bismarck while still a raw university student was staying in the mountain region of the Tyrol near Ulenthal and fell deeply in love with a beautiful young peasant girl. He offered to make her his wife, and in order that his marriage should not take her from her beloved mountains he promised to give up his own country and stay in the Tyrol. The parents of the girl, simple peasant folk, objected, however, to their child, who had been brought up as a devout Catholic, being married to a Prussian junker, who was a Protestant to boot. So the romance, which threatened to lose a Bismarck for Prussia, came to a sudden end, and the hero of it returned to his alma mater at Berlin.—St. James' Gazette.

Cover During Sleep.

The object of warm covering during sleep is simply this: Nature takes the time when one is lying down to give the heart a rest, and that organ consequently makes ten strokes less a minute than when one is in an upright posture. Multiplying that by sixty minutes gives 600 strokes. Therefore in eight hours spent in lying down the heart is saved nearly 5,000 strokes, and as the heart pumps six ounces of blood with each stroke it lifts 30,000 ounces less of blood in a night of eight hours spent in bed than when one is in an upright position. As the blood flows so much more slowly through the veins while one is lying down extra coverings must then supply the warmth usually furnished by circulation.

All stomach trouble are quickly relieved by taking a little Kodol after each meal. Kodol goes directly to the seat of the trouble, strengthens the digestive organs, supplies the natural digestive juices and digests what you eat. It is a simple, clean, pure, harmless remedy. Don't neglect your stomach. Take a little Kodol after each meal and see how good it feels you feel. Money back if it fails. Sold by John L. Wooten.

A prompt, pleasant, good remedy for coughs and colds, is Kennedy's Laxative Cough Syrup. It is especially recommended for babies and children, but good for every member of the family. It contains no opiates and does not constipate. Contains honey and tar and tastes nearly as good as maple syrup. Children like it. Sold by J. L. Wooten's Drug Store.

Get a free sample of Dr. Shoop's "Health Coffee" at our store. If real coffee disturbs your stomach, your heart or kidneys, then try this clever Coffee imitation. Dr. Shoop has closely matched Old Java and Mocha Coffee in flavor and taste, yet it has not a single grain of real coffee in it. Dr. Shoop's Health Coffee Imitation is made from pure toasted grains or cereals, with Mat, Nuts, etc. Made in a minute. No tedious wait. You will surely like it. Sold by T. E. Hooker & Co.

Bert Barber, of Elton, Wis., says "I have only taken four doses of your Kidney and Bladder Pills and they have done for me more than any other medicine has ever done. I am still taking the pills as I want a perfect cure." Mr. Barber refers to DeWitt's Kidney and Bladder Pills, which are unequalled for Backache, weak kidneys, inflammation of the bladder and all urinary troubles. A week's treatment for 25c. Sold by J. L. Wooten's Drug Store.

When you feel the need of a pill take DeWitt's Little Early Riser. Small, safe pill, sure pill. Easy to take, pleasant and effective. Drives away headaches. Sold by John L. Wooten's Drug Store.

Bad breath is a most offensive ailment. Irritates you as well as your friends; Hollister's Rocky Mountain Tea takes the bad taste from the mouth, removes the cause, purifies the breath. 35 cents, Tea or Tablets.

J. L. GUINN & CO LEADING FLORISTS, OF NORTH CAROLINA.

All kinds of all kinds of choice cut flowers in season. Special attention given to Wedding and Funeral Decorations. Bulb stock, Pot plants for Winter blooming, Rosebushes, Shrubberies, Hedge and planter greens and Shade trees, etc.

FOR THE LITTLE ONES.

Matching Colors is an Amusing Game For Small Folks.

For this game each guest is presented with a wee strip of bebe ribbon, each of a different color, and instructed that it is to be his color. A curtain or sheet is suspended in the space between folding doors as if for a donkey contest.

On the sheet are painted circles or squares of the various colors worn which distinguish the little guests. Each child is then given a rosette of his or her own color, which he or she is required to pin upon the appropriate spot on the curtain.

The feat is, of course, performed after being blindfolded. All children who succeed in pinning the ribbons on spots of the same color are allowed to draw for the prizes given at the conclusion of the game. Should none succeed wholly those coming nearest to it can draw.

How Crows Open Clams.

"Caw, caw, caw!" called Mr. Crow from his nest in the high tree.

"What is that?" asked Abner as he and papa were strolling along the edge of the woods near the seashore.

"It's a crow," answered papa, pointing to the tree where perched the great black bird. "Look! There are some more crows on the flats! Be quiet, and we will watch them."

"It looks very much as if they were digging clams in the same way the fishermen do," observed Abner.

"I believe that is just what they are doing," answered papa, somewhat surprised. "Just watch."

The crows dug the clams. Then each would take one in his bill and fly to the shore, where there was a ledge, letting it fall and thus breaking the shell. Then he would fly down, pick up the clam and eat it.

"Rather a novel way of opening clams," observed papa.

A Pig Book.

If you would like to have a perfect treasure house of amusement to show to your friends get up a "pig book." But what in the world is a pig book? Get a book made up of forty or fifty pages of blank paper, and then ask forty or fifty different persons each to draw, with his or her eyes shut, a picture of a pig on one of the pages. The amateur artist will probably succeed pretty well until he comes to putting on the pig's tail. That appendage is sometimes drawn in the most impossible place, and the result is very amusing. You have no conception of the fun you may have out of a pig book until you get one. Try it.—Chicago News.

TO MY FRIENDS.

Having been away for several months I wish to announce to my friends and patrons of the "empire" of Pitt that I am still connected with the firm of Chas.
M. Stieff, and if bachelors are allowed to misuse the happy term home as a synonym for a
"hanging out place" I still call Greenville my home, and while I intend to be away from Greenville a great deal of my time during this fall a postal care of box 325, Greenville, will reach me within a day or two. We now have a number of slightly used upright pianos, some of which have been rented during the summer months, others which were temporarily used by artists at the exposition and for orchestra work, at bargain prices.

We also offer a special school piano for $225 00 fully measuring up in standard to any $350 00 instrument. This piano is especially built for college and school work for the special price named above and is full guaranteed by my firm for 10 years.
Those interested in a school piano or in a good slightly used piano for the home should write me at once and will profit by it, and as ever I am always mindful of my patrons' protection and interest as well as my firm's interest. Grateful of past patronage. Very respt.,
G. G. Fineman,
Box 325, Greenville, N. C.

Bath Room Beauty

The secret of making your bath room beautiful is the installing of high-grade, modern plumbing fixtures. If your fixtures are old and unsanitary, a new "Standard" Porcelain Enameled bath or lavatory will work wonders in the appearance and sanitation of your bath room.

Decide now to change from the old to the new and let us quote you prices on these fixtures. They cost less than you imagine. We estimate at any time and guarantee all work to satisfy you. Repair jobs given prompt attention.
