GOVERNOR GLENN IN GREENVILLE

Delivers Two Great Discourses to Large Audiences.

Governor R. B. Glenn has been criticised by some people because he goes about making so many speeches. As the governor well says in answer to these criticisms, when he took the oath of office he pledged himself to do what he could to advance the moral, the educational and the industrial interests of North Carolina, and in no way can he do this more effectively than by going among the people and talking with them face to face. That he is making good his pledge cannot be denied, for there is not another man in North Carolina going as much as Governor Glenn to advance the State and lift her people to higher ideals of life. Wherever he goes he makes an impress for good, for he instills higher ideals into the hearts of his hearers and gives them something ennobling to think over.

Surely his coming to Greenville on this noble mission has done good to this community that cannot be measured through ages to come. When it was announced that he was to speak twice on Sunday in Jarvis Memorial Methodist church our people were glad, and their appreciation was shown in the immense audiences that filled the large edifice, both morning and evening, from the town and surrounding country.

We cannot attempt in limited space a synopsis of Governor Glenn's two addresses here, and can only speak of them in a general way. Every sentence he uttered breathed of the Christ spirit, the spirit of higher life, higher ideals, higher ambitions and awakened in his hearers more love for Christ, more love for humanity, and more love for the State.

The subject of his morning address was "Is the Young Man Safe?" First reciting briefly the story of David and Absalom, and the anxiety of the king for the welfare of his wayward son, he brought the lesson home to every father and mother by asking is your son safe? is your daughter safe? Many times did he repeat these questions with emphasis as he pointed out temptations and dangers to which the young are subjected and warned parents of their duty in saving their children from these. Some of the dangers mentioned were impure literature, the saloons, the dissipation, the gambling den, frequenting questionable places, taking short cuts in business, living too fast and going beyond the income trying to keep up appearance, and so on.

Two great dangers to the nation he mentioned were Sabbath desecration, and the warfare between capital and labor. He pointed out how France was once disrupted by trying to change the Sabbath and said any nation that disregards God's law in this particular is in danger. As to the other he said if men would observe the Golden Rule and do unto others as you would have them do unto you, strife between capital and labor would be unknown.

"Example is better than precept," Governor Glenn declared. You cannot impress your children that the Sunday school is a good place for them, if you tell them to go while you stay at home reading trash or loaf about the streets. The thing to do is to take the children with you to Sunday school. Neither a mother nor a father can be safe when left at home with the cook while mothers are spending their time running to whist and bridge parties. The children get their most lasting impressions from the parents in the home. Home should be made attractive for them and the principles of character and right living should be taught them there.

Sunday night Governor Glenn's subject was "North Carolina's Need of Strong Young Christian Men and Women." "There are men" he said, "who are not Christians yet have become great and achieved much in their day. Yet they soon pass away and are forgotten, leaving nothing enduring behind them. On the other hand the strong Christian character that is imbued with the spirit of Christ leaves an influence that extends through time and eternity." He held up Christ as the greatest example the world has ever known, or ever will know. He pointed out different places in which the State especially needs Christian men and women, that our future progress and development depends largely upon how well these places are filled. While he mentioned many, one particularly emphasized was the editorial chair, as the press is second only to the pulpit in the power it wields.

At both services the choir rendered excellent music with Prof. H. H. Freeman, of Washington City, presiding at the organ.

While here Governor Glenn was the guest of ex-Gov. and Mrs. T. J. Jarvis. He drove from here over to Winterville this morning to deliver an address at Winterville High School, and from that town took the noon train to Grifton where he made a temperance speech this afternoon.

Safe Cracked.

Today Mr. W. C. Hines received a message asking him to look out for suspicious parties who cracked and robbed the safe of Moore & Cortet, merchants at Maclefield, Sunday night. While the exact amount was not stated, the message said the robbers got away with several hundred dollars.

Important Meeting.

The End of the Century Club will meet at the residence of Mrs. R. Williams at 3 o'clock tomorrow (Tuesday) afternoon. This meeting is of very great importance and every member of the club is earnestly requested to attend.

Special Meeting.

All those who have agreed to become members of the proposed band are urgently requested to be present at the regular place of meeting at 7 o'clock sharp tonight. The meeting is of a private nature and effective work must be done.

Notice is hereby given to all persons indebted to the said estate to make immediate payment to the undersigned, and to all creditors of the estate to present their claims, properly authenticated, to the undersigned or to Skinner & Wheeler her attorneys, within twelve months after the date of this notice, or this notice will be placed in bar of their recovery. This the 25th day of November 1907. Sallie L. Owens, Administratrix to the estate of Wade W. Owens, deceased.

LOST HIS LEG

Escaping Negro Shot by Officer Clark.

W. H. Walker, colored fireman at Higgon's gin, was shot Sunday morning while trying to escape from Officer George Clark, and as a consequence of his dash for liberty is now minus his right leg. The causes leading up to the shooting are as follows:

Walker was jealous of the attentions paid to a woman by another negro and the two had trouble Saturday night, no blows being passed as we can learn. Sunday morning, however, Walker found his rival in the woman's house and proceeded at once to business, striking him several times over the head with a bottle. The affray was reported to the police and Officer Clark arrested Walker about 10 o'clock.

While on the way to the station house the gin was passed and Walker asked to be allowed to go in the engine room and turn the water out of the boiler. Suspecting no trick Officer Clark consented and Walker went into the building, picked up a wrench and walked beyond the boiler out of sight. Once out of view he dropped the wrench, crawled through a hole in the room from which a plank had been removed and went off at a spanking gait.

Meanwhile Officer Clark thought his prisoner had been long enough in turning off the water and called to him to come out. Receiving no response he made an investigation and found the hole, but no man was in sight. Hurrying to the stable of Smith & Hooker, Mr. Clark took the first horse he came to—a pony—and started in pursuit. Walker was seen climbing the hill to reach the woods on Sheriff Harrington's place and vaulted the wire fence before Mr. Clark was near enough to stop him. Cealizing the impossibility of getting the pony over the fence the officer twice called upon the fleeing negro to stop. He kept on running and Mr. Clark fired at him, aiming at the legs. The bullet went true, striking Walker in the calf of the right leg just below the knee and bringing him to the ground. He was taken in custody, carried to the station and medical aid summoned.

An examination showed that the limb was so badly broken as to make amputation necessary. The operation was successfully performed by Drs. Laughinghouse & Moye Sunday afternoon the leg being taken off at the knee.

Walker will soon recover, but hereafter go about maimed as a result of his jealous anger and his foolhardy attempt to escape from the hands of an officer. We hear that he is a negro of quarrelsome disposition and bad character and that he had to leave Washington because of some trouble he had gotten into there.

Organ Recital Tonight.

Yesterday was a great day for Greenville. Let's make the recital tonight at the Methodist church a great evening. The merchants have kindly agreed to close up at 7.30 o'clock and give their employees an opportunity to attend this Recital, which begins at eight o'clock. It will be enjoyable and helpful.

Pity poor Wall street! Unable to trust any longer in stocks, bonds, banks and trust companies, a wicked president declines to let it trust in God.

STOKES ITEMS.

Stokes, N., Nov. 24th, 1907.

Thanksgiving will soon be here, and oh, how we are going to enjoy it.

Several people from here attended the apron party at Mill Hill school Friday night. All enjoyed a very nice time.

Two young men while on their way to the party happened to a bad accident and landed themselves in the bottom of an old ditch. One of them got his face a little bruised. We are not going to tell their names.

C. F. Page and wife were in town yesterday evening. We are always glad to see our friends out.

We are glad to know that Mrs. E. C. House, who has been very sick for a long time, is able to be getting around once more.

Z. V. Whichard made a business call near Robersonville this afternoon.

While J. E. Overton was out calling last Sunday night, his horse ran away, tearing his buggy to smash. Hope he will be able to call again.

S. C. Whichard went to Greenville Friday.

Miss Susie Ross still remains at Robersonville, but hope she will return home.

We are sorry that Miss Mollie Cherry has fever.

Guess we had better end on this; will tell more next time.

But there is one thing press on our mind. There is going to be a wedding soon, but we will not tell names.

We are having lots of wet weather.

The cash offering at Jarvis Memorial Methodist church yesterday amounted to $73.28, which will be sent to the Methodist orphanage at Raleigh as a special Thanksgiving donation. In addition to this cash donation the children of the Sunday school have been busy for several days gathering contributions of groceries, fruits and other things, to be sent in their name. The value of this collection is placed at fully $50.00. It will be shipped today in order that it may reach Raleigh in time to give the orphanage children a real Thanksgiving treat.

Be sure and attend the sale of the valuable piece of property in the town of Greenville, at the court house door at 12.30 o'clock tomorrow, and purchase you a home.

R. J. Cobb, Trustee.

Weather.

Fair tonight, Tuesday fair warmer.

For Sale.

Corn meal, cracked corn, hay, cotton seed meal and hulls, at the gin on corner of Fifth and Cotanch streets, near market house.

W. B. Higgon.

For Rent.

The store and one warehouse at present occupied by F. V. Johnston will be for rent Jan. 1st.

J. A. Andrews.

Warning.

All persons are hereby warned under penalty of the law, not to hunt or in any way trespass upon my lands known as the Wilson and Perkins farms, north of the river. C. T. Munford 30 dt

MOVEMENTS OF THE PEOPLE.

Those Who Come and Go—Some You Know Some Know You

Miss Ruth Cobb is quite sick with fever.

C. W. Hearne returned today from Beaufort.

Miss Bettie Warren returned today from a visit to Washington.

Col. Harry Skinner went to Raleigh last night.

Mr. and Mrs. C. T. Munford returned last night from Norfolk.

Prof. F. C. Nye, of Winterville, was a visitor here yesterday.

Mrs. Alice Johnson, of Danville, Va., is visiting her daughter, Mrs. Tacker.

$5.00 Reward.

I will give the above reward for information leading to the conviction of the party or parties who secured without my knowledge or consent a quantity of envelopes bearing the address of J. M. Moore & Bro. and used the same for the purpose of circulating an anonymous pamphlet. As the father of J. M. Moore, deceased, I denounce the party who stole these envelopes, and take this method of informing the public that neither I nor any member of my family knew of the use of the envelopes for the infamous purpose of circulating an anonymous communication.

J. P. Moore.

The westbound Norfolk & Southern train had a considerable shake up this morning. At Chieco creek a coal car jumped the track, drawing with it four or five freight cars, which were smashed. The passenger cars, in which were several persons, fortunately remained on the track, and while all were shaken up and rather badly frightened, only one passenger, a colored woman, was hurt. It is said that her hip was dislocated. The conductor was the only other person injured, his face and nose being right badly mashed.

The chief engineer's special train was on the siding at the time of the accident and brought the passenger cars on without much delay.

ONEY SAFEST ON DEPOSIT.

The Atlanta Journal says that alarmed by the financial stringency, a citizen of Georgia whose daily receipts in business amount to a tidy sum, ceased to make deposits in the bank, preferring to keep the money with him in his home.

Fire destroyed his home when no one was present, and, as no one knew of the money hoarded away, something like three thousand dollars was destroyed in the flames.

We have no desire to dwell upon this citizen's misfortune further than to point to the lesson that if he had continued to make his daily deposits in the bank, his money would now be intact. Alarmed by conditions in financial circles, where everything, in reality, was entirely sound, he took a still greater risk and became the loser.

There is but one way to put an end effectively to the prevailing stringency, and that is to bring the money from its hiding place and put it back into circulation, through the banks. The New York banks primarily hold the situation in their hands. They are doing most of the hoarding, so far as their relation to the country at large is concerned. But there are thousands of individuals throughout the United States—and the South has its due proportion—who are hesitating about depositing again the money they withdrew when the flurry came.

They cannot serve the country better, and incidentally their own interests, than by hastening to deposit this money.

We will begin to feel the effect immediately, and soon the flurry will have been a thing of the past.

Pay farmers what their cotton is worth and money will not be long getting in circulation.

These papers which are wondering who Mr. Roosevelt favors for president, could give their anxiety a rest by coming down to the fact that he is for himself.

Secretary Cortelyou in relieving the money stringency will, it is stated, cut out red tape and distribute the new treasury certificates as promptly as possible where they will do the most good, the money proceeds to go to the relief of those sections which stand most in need of currency.

In Saturday's Reflector we gave the estimate of the Southern States Commissioners of Agriculture of the cotton crop of this year. The Census Bureau report, made at Washington City by government experts from all over the South, places the size of the crop at 11,500,000 bales, about 87,000 bales in excess of the other estimate. There is no longer any reason to doubt the fact that the crop is very short.

The Cunard Line steamship Mauretania, the largest and most luxurious vessel ever launched, arrived in New York Saturday on her bridal trip. The trip across the Atlantic from Queenstown was a remarkable one in that the entire 3,000 miles of the way was made through storms. The time required to cross in spite of the adverse weather conditions, was five days, five hours and ten minutes. The world's record for a single day's run was broken by the Mauretania on Thursday, when 671 miles were made. The big ship brought over $12,500,000 in gold to be sent to the money markets of the west.

North Carolina's Marvelous Advance.
The advance which North Carolina has made within the past twenty years is marvelous. Her cotton industry has grown from forty-nine mills in 1890, with capital of $10,000,000 to 318 in 1907, with a capital of $60,000,000, employing more than 50,000 hands.

In 1890 the capital invested in the tobacco industry was less than $5,000,000; today it is $96,000,000, with a yearly output valued at $28,000,000.

There has been similar advance in other branches of trade and industry, North Carolina has no large cities, but it has what is better—an unusually large number of towns, each of which is a trade centre for a rich farming community. She has many natural advantages, but her progress is due to the enterprise, industry and ability of her sons, whose patriotic devotion is her most valuable asset and her crowning glory.—Richmond Times Dispatch.

The Charlotte Chronicle says it is reported that the Southern Railway will resume the double tracking of its line, the work to be commenced north of Danville, Va.

The woman turned cold all over. "Give it here, quick," she said. "I want to see." Words were not required to tell what it was she wanted to see. The pause was filled up eloquently by her actions. Rapidly she turned the leaves till she came to a kind of pocket fastened between the pages at the back.

Where Opium Is Used. The smoking of opium began in China and is peculiar to the Chinese. The Hindus and Malays eat it. Complicated and widespread as the smoking habit is today, it is a modern custom as time runs in China.

Dry Rot in Men. The first strong external revelation of the dry rot in men is a tendency to lurk and lounge, to be at street corners without intelligible reason, to be going anywhere when asked to be about many places rather than at any, to do nothing tangible, but to have an intention of performing a variety of intangible duties tomorrow or the day after.

A Knotty Problem. "Why, Ethel, what are you doing with that big medical work in your lap?" "Well, Arabella, you'd never guess, I am quite sure." "You are not going to make a doctor of yourself, are you?"

Called For Blood. The two eminent scientists had differed in opinion concerning the morphology of certain gasteropod mollusks, and the dispute had become bitter. They began to indulge in personalities.

His English. He was a Frenchman, dining with an English family. He was anxious to make a good impression, but had little "of the English." So he beamed politely on his neighbors, and even the attendant servants basked in the general radiance.

IN THE WINDPIPE.

What You Should Do if a Foreign Body Enters There. A most alarming accident and one which is often as serious as it looks is the sucking into the windpipe of a morsel of food or some other substance.

Sometimes it is, if the coughing has expelled the intruder, but if this has fallen below the larynx the condition is very serious. The body may be expelled during another violent fit of coughing, but often it can be removed only by the operation of opening the windpipe, known as tracheotomy.

Absolute Surrender. A little child was one day playing with a very valuable vase when he put his hand into it and could not withdraw it. His father, too, tried his best to get it out, but all in vain. They were talking of breaking the vase when the father said:

A DARING MOVEMENT.

Executed in a Notable Battle of the Mexican War. Long odds mean little to the average United States soldier. Zachary Taylor and his little "army of occupation," after marching into the heart of Mexico against overwhelming superior numbers, achieved the apparently impossible time after time and scored victory after victory.

Orders had been issued that the strictest silence should be observed, and without a whisper the men began the difficult ascent, no man seeing his fellows, so dense was the blackness of the night. Over half the ascent had been accomplished when the ears of the watchful sentinels at the summit caught the sound of tin canteens rattling against the harness of laboring regulars.

When a wedding guest fails to respond to his invitation, who should regret it, the guest or the givers of the invitation? When the Knapp-Hoover matrimonial alliance was in the making this question proved a disturbing one in the "best circles" of Caseville. Decision could not go far wrong in such a matter. Simple politeness seemed to require that the host should regret the failure of his company to come.

Going to Be Fined. When George Ade was a newspaper reporter he was sent to "write up" an Irish laborer who had fallen from a building. When Mr. Ade arrived on the scene several officers and others were helping the injured man into the ambulance. Mr. Ade pulled out his pad and pencil. "What's his name?" he asked one of the policemen.

His Good Advice. Excited Individual—See here, Mr. Bangs, you're a scoundrel of the first water. When I bought that horse I supposed I was getting a good, sound animal, but he's spavined and blind and got the staggers. Now, I want to know what you're going to do about it?

Excited Individual—Well, I should say that's all right. Bangs—Well, I'll give you the name of a good veterinary surgeon. It's a shame to allow the horse to suffer in that way.—London Mail.

TO FRIENDS.

Having been away for several months I wish to announce to my friends and patrons of the "empire" of Pitt that I am still connected with the firm of Chas.
M. Stieff, and if bachelors are allowed to misuse the happy term home as a synonym for a
"hanging out place" I still call Greenville my home, and while I intend to be away from Greenville a great deal of my time during this fall a postal care of box 325, Greenville, will reach me within a day or two. We now have a number of slightly used upright pianos, some of which have been rented during the summer months, others which were temporarily used by artists at the exposition and for orchestra work, at bargain prices.

We also offer a special school piano for $225.00 fully measuring up in standard to any $350.00 instrument. This piano is especially built for college and school work for the special price named above and is full guaranteed by my firm for 10 years.
Those interested in a school piano or in a good slightly used piano for the home should write me at once and will profit by it, and as ever I am always mindful of my patrons' protection and interest as well as my firm's interest. Grateful of past patronage. Very resp't.
