TOWN MATTERS.

Proceedings of the Aldermen

The board of aldermen were in regular monthly session Thursday night, with all the members present.

The street committee was the only one of the standing committees that had a report to make. This committee reported that Eleventh street had been opened and in good condition; also that tiling had been placed across the driveway leading into the lot of J. B. White, on Greene street, about which complaint was made at last meeting.

The special committee appointed at last meeting to investigate title looking into the matter of opening a street through Sutton proper from Dickinson avenue to Eighth street, not being ready to report was continued.

The special committee appointed to purchase additional fire hose for the fire department reported that samples of hose had been received but no selection yet made. The committee was given further time to complete its work.

The special committee appointed to look into the matter of consolidating the two white fire companies into one company reported that they had accomplished nothing in that particular. The members of all the fire companies, white and colored, whose names were reported to the board, were exempted from poll tax for the year 1907.

D. E. House was elected alderman for the first ward to succeed J. S. Mooring, resigned.

The officers made their reports for the past month which were approved.

An ordinance was passed requiring plumbers to get a permit and give bond protecting the town from harm before doing any excavating on streets for the purpose of making sewerage or water connection, or other work in their line.

The report of the dispensary was referred back to the commissioners for more definite information.

Sallie Hopkins, through Skinner & Whedbee, attorneys, presented a claim for damage to team and vehicle from driving into a ditch on Dickinson avenue which had been left open at night without danger signals while water pipes were being extended. The matter was referred to a committee consisting of Mayor Wooten and Aldermen Moore and Flanagan.

Accounts amounting to $1,369.58 were allowed and ordered paid.

Depot Completed.

Mr. H. G. Rogers, of Charlotte, who has been here seven months superintending for the Central Carolina Construction Company the building of the freight and passenger depots of the Norfolk & Southern railroad, has completed the work and turned the buildings over to the railway company.

The passenger depot is an especially pretty building of brick with tile roof. It is admirably arranged, the waiting rooms being large and provided with every needed comfort. The building is creditable, both to the contractors and the railroad and is an ornament to the town.

Mr. Rogers has made many friends during his stay in Greenville, and says he was never in a town whose people were more clever than are found here.

WINTERVILLE ITEMS.

Notes From Our Hauling Neighbor

Winterville, N. C. Dec. 7 1907.

A. G. Cox returned from New-Bern and Morehead Thursday. Miss Kate Gold Warren, of Tarboro, spent some time last week with the girls at the dormitory. She is an old pupil and we are always glad to see them.

The Vance Literary Society gave the best debate of the season last night. The query was "Resolved, that North Carolina should have a compulsory educational law." The affirmative was ably represented by Messrs. Joe Tyson, J. D. Rodgers, Hassell House and Paul Taylor; the negative equally as well by Messrs. Walter Smith, Roy Cox, F. G. Dixon and N. C. Duncan. The girls of the Philo Aitean were present to cheer and encourage the speakers. If there is any eloquence in a fellow cheers from a crowd of school girls will bring it out. The boys were eloquent and logical as well. J. D. Cox, one of our best honorary members, was present also, and made an excellent little talk encouraging the boys to do their best.

The school is now equipped with an excellent library and one of the best reading rooms of any high school in the State. This is having a wonderful effect on the Literay Society work. When a boy is assigned a place on a query and has no literature whatever on it, not much work may be expected from him. If he has something to read on the subject, this puts him to thinking and then his mind is developed.

The need for men who can speak is as great now as at any time in our history. Realizing this Winterville High School puts special emphasis on this part of a boy's training while under its care.

Misses Alice Carroway, of Pamlico county, and Eva Woolard, of Stokes, are visiting at the girls' dormitory.

P. H. Kittrell and Luther Wingate went to Greenville today.

S. D. Chapman, of Greenville, spent last night with his parents and returned this morning.

HOPEFUL TIMES.

The announcement comes from New York that the leading savings banks of that city which makes deposits in the larger banks and trust companies, are beginning to restore the balances which were withdrawn temporarily, when the financial stringency began, says the Atlanta Journal.

This is accepted as one of the most concrete and convincing evidences that the demoralization which has tied up the country is at an end and that business is about to resume its normal operations. Many of the savings banks which withdrew deposits from the larger banks have restored one-third of the amount and others are re-depositing ten, fifteen and twenty-five per cent of the savings they have on hand.

In addition to this they have modified their order requiring sixty or ninety days' notice before deposits can be withdrawn. They now ask only thirty days, and this, in reality, is only technical. When they are convinced that the money is not withdrawn to be hoarded or sold for the premium on currency, depositors have no trouble in getting their money.

The general business of the country is also showing a decided improvement. These reports of a resumption of productive activity are piling up steadily, and although the movement is necessarily a gradual one it offers unmistakable evidence that the late depression and curtailment of production are passing and that business confidence is returning with a rush.

In the east the most significant news comes from the New England mills, where many plants were closed down recently, and the remaining mills had almost curtailed production. The three shoe factories of the Rice & Hutchins company, at Marlboro, Mass., which have been running on half-time for three weeks, open up at full blast today, with their entire force of two thousand and two hundred hands at work. The American Woolen company in Moosup, Conn., also resumes full time, as do also the Madison Woolen company at Madison, Me., the Apsley Rubber Works at Hudson, Mass., and the E. & T. Fairbanks company at St. Johnsbury, Vt.

The cotton mills at Dover, N. H., at Biddeford, Me., at North Adams, Mass., Anthony, R. I., and Manville, R. I., which have been closed for several days, open up Monday. The New England Cotton company's mills at Fall River also resume work. In many sections of New England, notably at Pawtucket, R. I., and in the Blackstone Valley section, between Worcester, Mass., and Pawtucket, there has been no curtailment of output whatever. The operatives at these places, numbering between twenty thousand and thirty thousand, have all been working at full time and it is said any possibility of curtailment which has been threatening has now been removed.

Outside of New England there is also abundant evidence of steadily returning confidence and a general revival of business. The Valley Iron Works and the Brown Bonnell mill, at Youngstown, Pa., which are properties of the Republic Iron and Steel company, have already reopened with their full working force. A general resumption of work at the other Youngstown plants is announced to take place in the course of the week. From Baltimore, Md., Cohoes, N. Y., and Rochester, N. Y., also come reassuring reports. The Standard Steel Car company, at Newcastle, Pa., has reopened, as have also certain of the plants of the Illinois Steel company and the plant of the National Tube company, at Syracuse, N. Y.

The Journal has already enumerated the number of industrial undertakings which are to go forward in the immediate future, showing that the south is keeping pace with the rest of the country.

Confidence is being restored and the end is in sight.

The average small boy will not be at all deterred from the pantry by Dr. Wiley's report that jam is a mixture of hayseed and cal tar.

A South Carolina man is displaying a wooden legged chicken. This is an effort of nature to furnish toothpicks to go with a tough fowl.

In being thankful that we are still in the land of the living we do not mean to say that we are glad we are in the land of the high living.

A Missouri woman wants a divorce because her husband always makes merry after a funeral. She wants to be sure that he will not treat her that way.

In looking over the list of congressmen who were left at home last time, it would seem that a good many people decided that they wanted $7,500 men to represent them.

The Cunard liner, Mauritania, passed Daunts Rock at 5.49 p. m., Thursday, establishing a new east bound trans-Atlantic record. Her time for the trip from Sandy Hook, 4 days, 22 hours, 29 minutes, beats the best time of the Lusitania, her sister ship, by 21 minutes. The distance traveled was 2,807 nautical miles.

President Roosevelt entertained at dinner last night a number of gentlemen who have hunted bear with him in various places. Harvey and Clive Metcalf, of Greenville, Miss., arrived at the White House Thursday. Among the other guests were Dr. Alexander Lambert, of New York, John F. Parker, of New Orleans, Surgeon General Rixey, and John McHenry, Civil Service Commissioner.

Probably the most fatal explosion in the history of bituminous coal mining in America occurred at Monongah, West Virginia, yesterday morning shortly after 10 o'clock. Between 450 and 500 men were in the two mines affected by the explosion, and of these only seven, three dead and the others thought to be mortally wounded, have been taken out. While a large rescuing force is at work, it is feared that none of the entombed men will be rescued alive. The explosion is believed to have been caused by black damp.

How to Do It.

An Irishman out of work applied to the "boss" of a large shop in Detroit. When the Celt had stated his sundry and divers qualifications for a job the superintendent began questioning him a bit. Starting quite at random, he asked: "Do you know anything about carpentry?" "Shure!" "Do you know how to make a Venetian blind?" "Shure!" "How would you do it?" "Shure, I'd poke me finger in his eye!"

Funeral of Mr. White.

The funeral of Mr. W. H. White, who died Thursday afternoon, took place at 12.30 o'clock today. Services were held at the residence by Rev. J. E. Ayscue, and at the grave in Cherry Hill cemetery by the Masonic fraternity, the burial being with Masonic honors.

The pall bearers were Messrs. R. C. Fianagan, R. J. Cobb, N. W. Jackson, John F. Evans, J. L. Starkey, D. C. Dudley, R. L. Carr, D. E. House, D. J. Whichard, A. J. Griffin, J. L. Wooten and T. R. Moore.

There was a very large attendance at the funeral.

Col. William Elliott, who was appointed by President Roosevelt to take charge of the marking of the Confederate graves north, died suddenly at Beaufort, S. C., Thursday, where he was with a hunting party.

United States troops have been ordered from San Francisco to Goldfield, Nevada, to preserve peace between the union and non-union miners. Goldfield is in the heart of the new mining country and has been in an almost continual upsurge for the past two years. A number of outbreaks have occurred and several persons killed.

The National Bank of Commerce, of Kansas City, Mo., one of the largest banking institutions of the west, with deposits of over $16,000,000, closed its doors Thursday and is in the hands of the National bank examiner. The failure was caused by heavy withdrawal of deposits since August 22, since which time nearly $19,000,000 has been taken out of its vaults. It is stated that business will be resumed in a few days and that depositors will be paid in full.

TO MY FRIENDS.

Having been away for several months I wish to announce to my friends and patrons of the "empire" of Pitt that I am still connected with the firm of Chas. M. Steff, and if bachelors are allowed to misuse the happy term home as a synonym for a "hanging out place" I still call Greenville my home, and while I intend to be away from Greenville a great deal of my time during this fall a postal care of box 325, Greenville, will reach me within a day or two. We now have a number of slightly used upright pianos, some of which have been rented during the summer months, others which were temporarily used by artists at the exposition and for orchestra work, at bargain prices.

We also offer a special school piano for $225.00 fully measuring up in standard to any $350.00 instrument. This piano is especially built for college and school work for the special price named above and is full guaranteed by my firm for 10 years. Those interested in a school piano or in a good slightly used piano for the home should write me at once and will profit by it, and as ever I am always mindful of my patrons' protection and interest as well as my firm's interest. Grateful of past patronage. Very respt.

MENTAL PHOTOGRAPHS.

How Do You Remember People With Whom You Are Acquainted?

"How do you remember people?" asked the professor.

It is always safe to answer the professor guardedly. "Remember people?" his vis-a-vis replied. "Why, I don't know that I can say exactly. I suppose I remember them for what they've been to me—friends or foes. Sometimes," he added, "I remember them for what I've been to them."

"So do I," rejoined the professor; "so do I. But that isn't just what I mean. I'm referring to the way in which you remember them, the characteristics that come to mind when you think of a person you haven't seen for—well, we'll say a year."

"Characteristics? I don't believe I think of any characteristics, at least not till later. I picture the person as a whole, of course, to begin with."

The professor's smile showed that he really was about to begin to talk. "That is precisely what you do not do," he said. "It's just the other way around. You think of the characteristics, or rather of one dominant characteristic first, then of another which doesn't appeal to you quite so much, and you end up by getting what you speak of loosely as the 'whole.' Take me, for example. Close your eyes and tell me what, if you were trying to recall me to your thoughts, would come before your mental vision first."

"I think," the answer came slowly, "it would be the way that you sit in your chair when you are talking to me, with your legs crossed and your hands folded and the twinkle in your eye as you show me where I'm wrong in an opinion."

"Exactly," returned the professor in high good humor. "That proves what I've been saying. You piece me out, as it were. And that's the way you'd do with anybody. It's the little things about a man or woman that stick in the memory. When you put enough of the little things together you get your general notion. It's because personality, individuality—call it what you want—expresses itself, as a rule, through the little things. It is with no disrespect to my father—peace be to him—that I say my thoughts concerning his appearance center about his beaver hat. I see that beaver hat the first thing when I remember him, and, as you might say, he groups himself under it. In thinking of you, if you will pardon my making the remark, you arrange yourself around your omnipresent pipe."—New York Press.

Speaking Proposals.

They were a crowd of married men, reminiscent of the days of their courtship.

"Jim, I don't see how you ever plucked up courage enough to ask your wife to marry you. You were always such a bashful sort."

"Well," replied Jim, "she made it pretty easy for me. You know I shined up to her a long time, and of course she must have known I meant business. But the only time we ever made reference to it was one night we were sitting on the porch. I said to her rather casually, so she wouldn't think I meant anything definite:

"Do you think you'll ever marry?"

"She said she thought she might, so I said, 'When?'"

"'Whenever you do,' was her quick retort, and I said, 'All right. So we fixed it up.'—Youngstown Telegram.

Posters in France.

French law gives the authorities of every village and commune complete control over posters. No one is permitted in France to deface streets and public places with crude, ostentatious announcements of his business or other subject. Billboards are infrequent in Paris and are generally built permanently into a wall, where they are taxed according to their superficial area. When a building is in construction and board screens are erected to shield the public from dust and other annoyance such temporary screens will soon be covered with posters, but each poster so displayed has been previously submitted to the authorities, a license obtained, and each sheet bears the canceled revenue stamp, according to its size.

Unconvinced.

In a certain school of Washington there was one lad who would persist in saying "have went."

One day the teacher "kept him in," saying:

"While I am out of the room you may write 'have gone' fifty times."

When the pedagogue returned he found that the boy had dutifully performed the task, having written "have gone" fifty times. On the other side of the paper, however, was this message from the absent one:

I have went. JOHN WHITE.

Steel Skyscrapers.
It might be possible to build skyscrapers of stone or brick to the same height as the steel structures, but such buildings would be no safer. They would be vastly more expensive and would take very much longer to put up. Then, again, the lower walls of a stone structure would have to be so very thick that there would be but little room left on the lower floors or space for windows. The only question which remains is how long these buildings of steel will stand. The walls do not matter, for even if they should crack or fall away they could readily be replaced, for it is the steel frame that carries the weight of the floors and their contents. And it chances, that even this question has been answered, if at frightful cost, by the skyscrapers which survived the great fire in Baltimore and the earthquake at San Francisco.—Frances Arnold Collins in St. Nicholas.

Painting the Eiffel Tower.
A contract for painting the Eiffel tower in Paris has been given out. This is the fourth time since its erection in 1889 that this huge mass of steel has been painted. The work will occupy forty painters for three months, and the cost is estimated at $15,000. The tower will once again change its color. When first erected it was painted orange, then red, and now it is yellow. This year it will be partly colored. From the third platform to the summit it will be white and the lower part yellow. The fact that so much money is to be spent in painting the tower would go to show that the owners have no intention of pulling it down. Last year it was reported that the tower had ceased to be an attraction to the public and that the shareholders had decided to remove it altogether, as the cost of its maintenance was heavy.

TO THE PUBLIC.

On Monday night some one tampered with one of the arc lights on Bonner's lane, causing the light and wire to drop to the ground. It would be certain death to any person or animal to come in contact with one of these wires. While this is very dangerous from this standpoint, it also caused damage to the light plant to the amount in dollars and cents somewhere between $50.00 and $100.00. We hereby offer a reward of $25.00, to any person or persons who will report us the persons who pering with the lights of the town with sufficient evidence to convict the same. We wish to give fair warning that we have several parties acting as private detectives and we hope the next occurrence will be seen by some of our employers.
