To Delinquent Subscribers.

Under the ruling of the post-office department of the government, newspapers cannot carry on their mail lists persons who are long in arrears on subscription. Newspapers are given second class rates of postage to legitimate subscribers, and as the postoffice department does not want to handle any more papers than necessary at this rate, the ruling is to prevent newspapers from carrying dead heads or padding their subscription lists. The postoffice department construes that a man who will not pay for his newspaper in a reasonable time is not a legitimate subscriber of the paper and his name must be dropped or a higher rate of postage charged for mailing the paper to him.

Under this ruling newspapers will be compelled to drop the names of delinquent subscribers, as they cannot afford to pay the additional postage to send papers to them. It is not a matter of choice with the newspapers, but they must act in accordance with the ruling.

In order to comply with this rule The Reflector will begin early revising its subscription lists and cutting off the names of those far enough in arrears to come under the ruling. Before dropping such names notice will be given by placing a blue cross mark on the paper. Those who see the blue mark should pay promptly in order to keep their names on the list.

We shall print this article a few times so as to be sure that none fail to see it. In the meantime if you see the blue cross mark on your paper do not delay to act on it. If it is not convenient for you to call at the office, send a remittance by mail and receipt will be promptly returned.

Tobacco Seed Free.

The Greenville Tobacco Board of Trade has ordered a quantity of the best varieties of bright Tobacco Seed. White Stem, Orinoco and other sorts, which they will put in the hands of the Greenville Warehousemen and drug stores to be given to all farmers who may ask for them who have been raising what is known as the Cobb Tobacco as well as other kinds. None of the buyers like to buy Cobb Tobacco and the Tobacco Board of Trade has ordered seed to give away to farmers in order to induce them not to raise any more Cobb Tobacco. So when you get ready to sow your plant bed, do not use the Cobb seed, but come to Greenville and get free of cost a better kind.

Such Bad Roads

One man in town Wednesday, whose home is about ten miles distant, remarked as he was leaving "It is twenty five miles from here to my house now. The roads are so bad I have to travel up and down more than I do straight ahead." This is a good illustration of the loss bad roads bring to the people who have to travel over them.

More Pretty Calendars.

Some more pretty 1908 calendars have been added to The Reflector's collection. Since the list published a few days ago we have received others from Frank Wilson, Taft & Boyd and C. S. Forbes.

TO COTTON GROWERS.

Charlotte, N. C., Dec. 28th, 1907.
Editor Reflector:

Our executive committee cannot understand why the cotton growers of your county are not interested in selling the crop at a fair price. The committee would ask the cotton growers, what would you have sold your cotton for, if all the cotton growers in the South had been as silent in this matter as you have?

The speculators say that the cotton association prevented an 8 cent price this season.

Many farmers being pressed for money have sold their 1907 cotton. These may think they are not now concerned about the price, but how about the next crop, do you want a good price for that?

Yes you do, and now I urge you to attend the monthly meeting at your court house on Jan. 4th and join the fight right now, for profitable prices for the next crop. The price you received this season was due to the fight others made for you, you can not afford to let the other fellow fight alone.

At the monthly meeting, be sure to elect delegates to attend the State Cotton Convention at Charlotte Jan 21st. This will be the largest gathering of farmers ever assembled in North Carolina.

What about debts for next year? Go slow in that line, and if a debt of any kind must be made, make it payable after Jan. 1909. "A burned child dreads the fire." C. C. Moore, Pres. N. C. Cotton Association

Reward for Arrest.

Governor Glenn has offered a reward of $50 for the arrest of Major Barnhill, colored, wanted for the murder of Ezelle Chance, in this county. The murder was committed early last fall. The governor's proclamation offering the reward is published elsewhere in this paper.

Reward for Convict.

I will give a reward of $25 for the capture of Ernest Young, colored, near sighted, weighs about 150 pounds, 25 years old, who escaped from the county convict camp Wednesday night. There are also other rewards offered for this same negro.

Joseph McLawhorn, Superintendent.

Died.

Mrs. Mary Hines, wife of Mr. Lovit Hines, of Kinston, died Tuesday night in a hospital at Richmond where she had been sometime for treatment. The remains were brought to Kinston for interment. There are many friends in Greenville, where Mrs. Hines once lived who learn with regret of her death, and who sympathize with Mr. Hines in his bereavement.

WORK OF GHOULS.

Destroy Grave in Search of Treasure.

Wednesday afternoon The Reflector received a telephone message from Grimesland asking that the jewelers here be requested to keep a lookout for any old jewelry that may be brought to them and offered for sale, or to be repaired or cleaned. The reason for this request and precaution is that some ghouls have been carrying on their work in that vicinity.

There is an old grave yard near Boyd's Ferry in which in the years long gone some people of prominence and wealth were buried. In the year 1803 a Mrs. Susan White was buried there, the grave being so carefully bricked up as to be well preserved through the more than a hundred years that have elapsed. A few nights ago the masonry of the grave was torn away and the interior dug out as if hidden treasure was being searched for.

There has been an old belief that the noted pirate, Teach, who plied his trade in the waters of Eastern Carolina, in some of his trips up Tar river buried treasure about this grave yard near Boyd's Ferry, and there have been occasional periods when some persons seized with the idea of finding the treasure have secretly done much digging there. It may have been a new outbreak of this treasure hunting craze that led to the demolition of Mrs. White's grave.

The Pactolus Shooting.

Pactolus, N. C., Jan. 1st 1908.
Editor of Daily Reflector:

Will you be kind enough to publish the following in answer to article in your paper, coming from Maupin, dated Dec. 27th 1907, and the without signature.

You remember that the writer started out by stating "in a drunken row near that hell hole of a barroom in Pactolus" and no police protection

This writer is unfortunately the keeper of that barroom referred to, and I beg to state that any man that makes any such untruthful statement to lead the public to believe that Pactolus is outlawed, and has not manhood enough to sign his name to it. The public ought to be entitled to know who he is. His name is J. J. Satterthwaite from Maupin, an ex-barroom keeper and well skilled in attending to other people's business.

The negro shooting match was three hundred yards from the bar-room and I never saw a drunken man that day. The negro that did the shooting run at once. As to the police and town government, I am a commissioner of the town and I know that there is no better government to be had in the State.

Respectfully,

W. O. Cherry.

Chamber of Commerce.

Monday night of next week, Jan. 6th, is the time for the regular meeting of the chamber of commerce, and it is important that every member arrange to be present then. The aldermen desire to meet with the chamber and discuss together the matter of beginning the work of street paving. Surely this is something in which every one is interested, and there should be a large attendance Monday night. If we start right this can be made a great year in Greenville's progress.

SIX O'CLOCK DINNER.

Miss Lillian Carr Entertains

Miss Lillian Carr gave a 6 o'clock dinner, Wednesday evening, in honor of the college girls who are at home for the holidays. There were six courses and covers were laid for nine.

The college girls present were Miss Nellie Pender (Greensboro Female College) and Miss Mae Schultz (Richmond College.), out of town guest Miss Maggie Dixon of Rocky Mount.

The dining room was darkened and indoor electric fireworks were displayed between the courses, making a scene of great beauty.

The loving cup was passed, the home girls giving toasts to the college girls to which the latter responded. The souvenirs were pretty new year calendars.

After dinner several young men, college students, were invited to spend the evening: Burney Warren, Bascom Wilson, Ames Brown and Thurman Moore (University), Willie Wilson (Bingham), out of town guest George Midgette, of Kinston.

At a late hour dainty refreshments were served during which the boys offered toasts to both the home and the college girls.

It was a merry gathering and they had much fun with college pranks, but the representatives of the home graded school were not at all behind in winning honors in the witty contests.

Miss Carr proved herself a most delightful hostess.

London Is Overbuilt.

Real estate owners in London are suffering because of the poor demand for houses. Building operations are practically at a standstill because of the overbuilding that has been going on for a number of years. There are districts in south, southwest and southeast London where there are whole streets of empty houses. In the west end also millions of dollars are standing idle in the form of untenanted houses. Under the circumstances there is much suffering among the building laborers, for whom there is practically no work.

New Breed of Pheasants.

Karl Hagenbeck, the animal king, says that he has produced a new breed of pheasants. By cross breeding between the European and Asiatic pheasants and a careful process of selection he has produced a stock that weighs three to four pounds heavier than the present European bird. More than 300 birds of the new breed have already been sent to Walter Rothschild at Tring, and more are to follow. Hagenbeck declares that in a few years the game of Europe will be entirely changed if his ideas are carried out.

Strawberry Tooth Wash.

"Perhaps it is your sunburn that deceives me, but I really believe," said the first girl, "that your teeth have turned three shades lighter."

The second girl laughed and replied: "It is the truth. They really are white. It is a new wash I use. Take two or three fresh strawberries, crush them and rub your teeth with them for five or six minutes a day. The improvement begins at once, and in a short time the yellowest teeth are as white and lustrous as pearls."—New York Press.

Rhymes For Arkansas.

Alexander Posey of Muskogee, I. T., known as the "Creek bard," refuses as follows an old saying that nothing will rhyme with Arkansas:

No rhyme for Arkansas?
What's wrong with mother.
In fact,
Or what?
Or what?
Or what?
Or what?
Or what?
Or what?
Or what?

MOVEMENTS OF THE PEOPLE.

Those Who Come and Go—Some You Know Some Know You

Prof. H. P. Smith has returned from Greensboro

H. T. King went to Kinston today.

Prohibition Election Petition.

The petition for a prohibition against dispensary election in Greenville will be presented to the board of aldermen tonight. The Reflector has obtained these facts regarding it: There are 344 names of voters on the registration books of the town as they now stand. Of this number about 25 are known to be dead or moved away, leaving about 320 qualified voters registered. Out of these qualified voters 162 have signed the petition up to noon today. In all there are about 400 voters in the town, including those who have not registered. Among those not registered there have enough signed the petition to bring the total up to 223, and there are about 75 who because of absence or inability to see them have not had an opportunity to sign the petition.

It will be seen from the foregoing figures that there can be no question about the election being called, as it requires only one third of the registered voters to sign the petition, and in this instance more than half have signed. The sentiment is largely in favor of prohibition.

When Smith Came Home.

Between acts two and three of "When Smith Came Home" which comes to the opera house on Tuesday night, 7th, Mr. J. Early Hughes, the principal comedian and star—will take the audience on a short trip through coon town. The act is one long laugh, and affords Mr. Hughes the opportunity of introducing two songs that are the best of their kind ever written. They are "That Welcome on the Mat Ain't Ment for Me" and "The Peach That Taste the Sweetest Hangs the Highest on the Tree". Mr. Hughes sings them in his own inimitable way, and keeps the audience applauding from start to finish of his act.

It is to be hoped that 1908 will not make such a record of fatal disasters as did 1907.

That figure eight is a nuisance for getting out of place, but you will soon learn how to make it.

The new year is now buckling down to business. Let's all put forth our best efforts to make it a busy year, sure enough.

Reports say that the Atlantic Coast Line is about to fall in with other roads in coming to Governor Glenn's terms on a compromise of the rate matter. If this is true an early extra session of the legislature may be expected, and we hope it will settle the rate agitation for all time.

The old year, already full of horrible fatalities, gave a parting disaster Tuesday afternoon, when in a mine explosion in New Mexico thirty men were entombed and none are expected to be taken out alive.

Kinston is also moving to close the dispensary in that town and have prohibition. The death knell of "old booze" is being sounded everywhere, and we yet expect to see state and national prohibition.

Make a good start for the new year by pulling out that money you have hid away and deposit it in a bank where it can be safe and draw interest. Hid money does nobody any good, not even the owner.

If you can't talk up your town this year keep your mouth shut. Growlers and kickers should not be countenanced and are entitled to no quarter. We want folks now that will get in the procession of hustlers and make things come to pass.

Did you ever think that you are twice as good a citizen if you own your home than you are if only a tenant? And to own your home will give you five times more respect for yourself than to live in a rented house. Get in the building and loan association and pay for a home with rent money. You will be the gainer by doing so.

Aside from what may be done by individual enterprises, there are public works in contemplation that call for a large outlay of money and materially help business in Pitt county during this year. The county commissioners some time ago made contracts for steel bridges at Greenville and at Grifton, and in addition to this the buildings for the Eastern Carolina Teachers Training School are to go up this year and should be completed in time for the school to open next fall. Let everybody get busy and push other improvements accordingly.

WHO'S WHO AND WHY

Who made the best crop in Pitt County during the year 1907

EVERYBODY admits that this has been a bad crop year and as a whole it has been, but some planters had bounteous yields in return for their labours. Did you?

WHY because they used Cotton Seed Meal as a Fertilizer.

DR. BONSTEEL of the Bureau of Soils of the U. S. Department of Agriculture in his address to the planters of Pitt county strongly advised its use, stating that as a fertilizer stable manure was the best adapted to our soil and the next best was cotton seed meal.

WINTERVILLE MEAL IS THE BEST OF THE NEXT BEST

IF you did not use it last year inquire of someone who did and you will try it in 1908.

WE will buy your cotton seed and sell you meal at reasonable prices, or we will exchange Meal for Seed on a liberal basis, delivering the meal at any railroad station in the county.

SACKS furnished to seed shippers upon request.

WRITE or telephone us at once how many seed you have, what station you can ship from and whether you wish to sell for cash or exchange for meal. All enquiries will have prompt attention

Rheumatism

I have found a tried and tested cure for Rheumatism! Not a remedy that will straighten the distorted limbs of chronic cripples, nor turn bony growths back to flesh again. That is impossible. But I can now surely kill the pains and pangs of this deplorable disease. In Germany—a Chemist in the City of Darmstadt—I found the last ingredient with which Dr. Shoop's Rheumatic Remedy was made a perfected, dependable prescription. Without that last ingredient, I successfully treated many, many cases of Rheumatism; but now, at last, it is fully cured all curable cases of this heretofore much dreaded disease. Those sand-like granular wastes, found in Rheumatic Blood, seem to dissolve and pass away under the action of this remedy as freely as does sugar when added to pure water. And then, when dissolved, these poisonous wastes freely pass from the system, and the cause of Rheumatism is gone forever. There is now no real need—no actual excuse to suffer longer without help. MIGHT END ILLUSIONS.

If Every One Might Do Only the Work He Liked Best.

"I wonder," said the professor, "how things would work out if a magic wand should be waved over the world, permitting every Tom, Dick and Harry of us to engage in the occupation he especially likes. Pretty nearly everybody would hasten to make a change, I fancy. It would be interesting to note both general and individual results.

"I have a friend who is a broker—a successful broker, I should imagine, because by his advice I have been able to increase my modest capital—but, bless you, is he satisfied with being a broker? Far from it. If he could do just what he wanted he would follow the sea. I am not sure in just what capacity, but probably as the captain of a transatlantic liner. Conversely, I know a seafaring man the height of whose ambition is to establish himself on shore, the master of a little farm. A woman acquaintance of mine who is making quite a name for herself as a writer cherishes the longing to go into settlement work. And so it goes. Speaking for myself, I can say that, while I have been happy as an instructor of youth, I feel that what talents I possess might have been more profitably employed in exploring. Yes, you may smile, but in my earlier days I had the 'wanderlust,' and even now my favorite reading is of the exploits of men who have been able to get beyond the confines of civilization and report what they have found.

"It seems as if most of us had what I may call second selves, whose imaginary careers are far different from those that, as a matter of fact, are the ones experienced. Would there be more happiness if the imaginary achievements were the real ones? We are apt to think so. The chances are that disillusionment would come as it does frequently in our actual callings. At any rate, we can now think of the joy of the might have been—and that is something."—New York Press.

An Eye to Business.

Admiral Dewey praised a certain successful business man.

"Part of his success," said Dewey, "comes from his neat way of getting people to do what he wants them to. They say that when as a young fellow of twenty-two he first opened a little trimming store he showed this trait. Thus if you went into his tiny emporium and asked him if he would change a quarter or a half dollar for you he would reply, with a courteous smile:

"Certainly, madam. And how will you have it? Buttons, ribbon, lace or insertion?"—Philadelphia Record.

TENDRILS.

Moving Parts Which Are the "Brains of Plant Life."

There are two classes of plants which are incited by man's presence to describe certain definite movements. One class, the sensitive plants, retract their leaflets as we approach them, as if they resented any attempt at closer intimacy, while the other class, comprising all those vines which develop climbing organs called tendrils, will reach out toward us if we place our hands in contact with them and will even use a finger as a support to climb upon. We know that these tendrils will wind just as readily about a twig or a grass stem, but as one feels these sensitive strands multiply their encircling coils about one's fingers there almost seems to be established between us and the vegetable world a more intimate relationship than has ever existed before.

Tendrils are indeed capable of exhibiting faculties and going through evolutions more wonderful perhaps than many of us realize. It is only after we have seen them at work, testing with their sensitive tips the objects they come in contact with, apparently considering their suitability as a support and then accepting or rejecting them, as the case may be—it is only then that we realize how justly they have been called the "brains of plant life."

The thoroughness with which these wandering tips explore their surroundings is illustrated by an instance I observed in a grapevine tendril. A cherry branch whose leaves had been variously punctured and scalloped by insects hung near the tendril, and a particular leaf had just one small hole in its blade, not over three-sixteenths of an inch in diameter. So careful had been the exploration of the leaf's surface that this one small hole had been discovered by the tendril, which had thrust itself nearly three inches through the opening. — Harper's Magazine.

Stains on the Neck.

A lotion which will remove the yellow stains on the neck caused by tight or high collars is made as follows: Alcohol, four ounces; rose-water, two ounces; tincture of benzoin, fifteen drops. Apply several times a day with a little sponge.

According to a Washington medical journal, the following rays were recently used upon a boy five years old, who was treated in hospital for a disease of the brain. After twenty-five applications of the rays the lad was sent home cured. But whereas his nature had previously been bright and intelligent, now he became absentminded and unreliable and was sent back to the hospital. He has been for some time since under medical observation, and the pronouncement of the doctors attending the case is that the Roentgen rays can easily penetrate the thin scalp of a child and have an undesirable influence on the brain.

TO MY FRIENDS.

Having been away for several months I wish to announce to my friends and patrons of the "empire" of Pitt that I am still connected with the firm of Chas. M. Stieff, and if bachelors are allowed to misuse the happy term home as a synonym for a "hanging out place" I still call Greenville my home, and while I intend to be away from Greenville a great deal of my time during this fall a postal care of box 325, Greenville, will reach me within a day or two. We now have a number of slightly used upright pianos, some of which have been rented during the summer months, others which were temporarily used by artists at the exposition and for orchestra work, at bargain prices.

We also offer a special school piano for $225 00 fully measuring up in standard to any $350 00 instrument. This piano is especially built for college and school work for the special price named above and is full guaranteed by my firm for 10 years. Those interested in a school piano or in a good slightly used piano for the home should write me at once and will profit by it, and as ever I am always mindful of my patrons' protection and interest as well as my firm's interest. Grateful of past patronage. Very respt.,
G. G. Fineman,
Box 325 Greenville, N. C.

What About Christmas?

With the compliments of the season to all our readers we ask you the question of the hour

WHAT ABOUT CHRISTMAS

The children are asking it with wondering and hopeful expectations of what Santa Claus is likely to bring them.

The older people are asking it, not so much in speculation regarding the remences that Christmas will bring to them, but rather as an inquiry as to how they are to provide suitable and satisfactory presents for relatives and friends without too heavy a drain upon their time and purse.

May we help you to solve the problem and put you in the way of doing your Christmas shopping with pleasure satisfaction and economy?

We offer the advantage of selection that can only be found in a very extensive showing of first class goods. We take pleasure in pleasing customers and will do all in our power to help you to just the right article at the right price, so that you may leave our store glad that you came, and perfectly satisfied with your purchases in every respect.

FOR THE LITTLE ONES.

Blind Man's Wand, a New Way to Play an Old Game.

This is another way of playing blind man's buff and is thought by many to be an improvement on that game.

The player who is blindfolded stands in the center of the room with a long paper wand, which can be made of a newspaper folded up lengthways and tied at each end with string. The other players then join hands and stand him in a circle.

Some one then plays a merry tune on the piano, and the players dance round and round the blind man until suddenly the music stops. The blind man then takes the opportunity of lowering his wand upon one of the circle, and the player upon whom it has fallen has to take hold of it.

The blind man then makes a noise, such as, for instance, the barking of a dog, a street cry or anything he thinks will cause the player he has caught to betray himself, as the captive must imitate whatever noise the blind man likes to make.

Should the blind man detect who holds the stick, the one who is caught has to be blind man; if not, the game goes on until he succeeds.

Roy and His Mistress.

Roy was one of the noblest dogs that ever lived, so everybody agreed who knew about his once saving his little mistress' life. On the shore close to where he lived was a high bluff of some twenty or more feet, very steep and composed mostly of sand and gravel. One afternoon Viola was missed from the porch where she was playing with Roy. Her mother and nurse looked all over for her, but could not find her. Mrs. Vanderver, Viola's mother, went to the barn and told the hands to look for her over the farm. When Bob, the watchman, came to the bluff he heard Viola's voice: "Try a little harder, Roy, darling. Pull hard, and I will hold on tight." Bob, leaning over the rock, saw Roy and Viola. The little girl was hanging on to Roy's tail, and he was trying to pull her up to safety.

Light Producing Trees.

Several well known trees furnish good materials for light. There is the Japanese wax tree, for example, which bears bunches of fruit, growing like grapes, and containing a kind of wax out of which candles are made. Another tree, found in the Pacific islands and known as the candle nut tree, bears a fruit that is full of oil. The nuts themselves are used as candles and will burn for some time. Still another is the candle tree, the fruit of which is three or four feet in length and about an inch in diameter. The fruit hangs from the tree so as to present the appearance of yellowish white candles in a chandler's shop. —Chicago News.

Strong sage tea, one-half pint; strained honey, common salt and strong vinegar, of each two table-spoonfuls; cayenne, pulverized, one rounding teaspoonful. Steep the cayenne with the sage, strain, mix and bottle for use. Gargle from four to a dozen times daily, according to the severity of the case.

Washing Glasses.

Always use cold water for washing glasses. The cold water not only helps to produce a higher polish than warm water does, but it is a safeguard against unnecessary breakages.

ALL OVER THE HOUSE.

Instructions For Fumigating a Room. Domestic Notes.

Nearly every housekeeper finds it necessary at some stage in her housekeeping experience to fumigate a room. The old fashioned method, which still is as effective as any, was used for sickness and for ridding the house of bugs as well as germs. The rooms must first of all be sealed. Strips of newspapers, six layers thick, are pasted together with gum arabic solution and pasted over the doors and windows of the room with the same gum arabic. The paper is removed easily afterward with soap and water. In a large kettle of boiling water place a smaller vessel, which is sufficiently deep to come well up over the water line in the large kettle and containing a handful of sulphur. On the sulphur pour wood alcohol and light. The room should be left shut for twenty-four hours, and at the end of that time neither bugs nor disease germs will remain alive.

MAYBE

you'll realize the business value of being well dressed; everybody doesn't. It grows out of the fact that people have to judge your ability and standing by the way you look, until you give them something else to judge by.

That Means
