

AYDEN ITEMS.

Newsp Notes From a Hustling Town Briefly Told

Ayden, N. C. Jan. 10.

There will be quarterly meeting in the Missionary Baptist church here next Sunday.

Wednesday evening at 8:30 p. m. at the home of the mother of the bride, Mrs. Sack Smith, on Third street Mr. W. L. Browning and Miss Lula Smith were united in marriage, Rev. Mr. Anolis, of Greenville, officiating. Miss Lula was one of our most popular and charming young ladies. Mr. Browning is the efficient book-keeper of the J. R. Smith Co. We tender congratulations to the happy pair.

L. F. Worthington and family have moved to one of his farms in the country.

Mrs. Sack Smith left yesterday for a visit to Hobgood.

Mrs. W. J. Jackson, from the country, has been visiting her son, W. C. Jackson, this week.

W. C. Jackson and J. T. Smith returned from Middlesex Tuesday night.

W. O. Bilbro went to Kinston Thursday on business.

C. L. Tyson, one of our oldest business men, has sold out to his partner, R. C. Cannon, and moved to the country. He was one of our best citizens.

The directors of the Free Will Baptist Publishing Co. held a meeting here yesterday and decided to erect a large brick building in which to publish their paper, and also to enlarge same. There were several of the board here from out of town and they transacted much business pertaining to their plant.

Slade Chapman, of Swift Creek township, died Tuesday. Mr. Chapman represented Pitt county in the legislature several years ago. He was a successful and prominent farmer of his neighborhood and was held in high esteem by all.

Harry Skinner, Jr., of Greenville, was here Tuesday on professional business in a J. P. court.

TO MY FRIENDS.

Having been away for several months I wish to announce to my friends and patrons of the "empire" of Pitt that I am still connected with the firm of Chas. M. Stieff, and if bachelors are allowed to misuse the happy term home as a synonym for a "hanging out place" I still call Greenville my home, and while I intend to be away from Greenville a great deal of my time during this fall a postal care of box 325, Greenville, will reach me within a day or two. We now have a number of slightly used upright pianos, some of which have been rented during the summer months, others which were temporarily used by artists at the exposition and for orchestra work, at bargain prices.

We also offer a special school piano for $225.00 fully measuring up in standard to any $350.00 instrument. This piano is especially built for college and school work for the special price named above and is full guaranteed by my firm for 10 years. Those interested in a school piano or in a good slightly used piano for the home should write me at once and will profit by it, and as ever I am always mindful of my patrons' protection and interest as well as my firm's interest. Grateful of past patronage. Very respt.,

G. G. Fineman,

To The People of North Carolina.

In another place will be seen my proclamation convening the General Assembly of the State, to meet at the Capitol in Raleigh on Tuesday, the 21st day of January, 1908 at eleven o'clock a. m., but I deem it best to issue this statement to the public, explaining more at length why at this time an extra session of the General Assembly is deemed necessary.

The specific and only purpose for which the Legislature is convened is, to consider the terms of agreement offered by me to the various railroads, and accepted by all of them save one, which one accepts all of the terms except the proposition of an interstate rate, concerning which it says it has no power to act, but doubtless circumstances will regulate the rate as requested.

The terms are as follows.

The Legislature will be asked to increase the flat rate of 2 1/2 cents now in force to a flat rate of 2 3/4 cents; to allow a charge of 15 cents when persons board a train without a ticket, when such ticket could have been procured at station; also to repeal the present law, with penalties, etc.

If this is done the railroads agree on their part, to

1st. At flat rate of 2 1/2 cents per mile for intrastate passenger travel with an extra charge of fifteen cents each against persons boarding a train without a ticket except at stations where there are no agents.

2nd. Two thousand mile books, intrastate, interchangeable with such of the solvent roads of the State as will consent, at two cents per mile, good for heads of firms and employes, not exceeding a total number of five, the names to be furnished at the time of purchase of mileage books, and entered thereon.

3rd. One thousand mile books, intrastate, and interchangeable with such of the solvent roads of the State as will consent, limited to one individual, at two cents per mile, and good to one year from date of purchase, the name of the purchaser to be furnished at the time of the purchase of the book and entered thereon.

4. Five hundred mile books at two and one-quarter cents per mile, good for heads of families and dependent members thereof, intrastate, and noninterchangeable, the names of the families to be furnished at the time of purchase and entered thereon.

5th. All of the above mentioned rates, except the five hundred mile book, to apply also to interstate travel to points on the line of this company in the States of Virginia, Tennessee, North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia and Alabama, and to points on such of the other lines in these States as will consent thereto.

All of these mileage books, whether intrastate or interstate, to be limited to one year from date of purchase, and redeemable, charging for the part used at two and one-half cents per mile.

In my judgment it would be better for the State to adopt these rates, which give mileage books and an interstate rate, in preference to letting the flat rate of 2 1/4 cents remain in force.

It is further agreed that these rates are to be tried for a year, and then if found objectionable, application to be made for modification of the same to the Corporation Commission, with power in them to modify same subject to appeal as at present.

In my judgment and in the judgment of all whom I have consulted, the terms made are just and equitable and I sincerely trust that the Legislature, when it assembles, will ratify what has been done.

I tried to get the family mileage books fixed at two cents, but the railroads contended with some force, that this would virtually put a rate of two cents in vogue in the State, which was too low, so the State agreed to the 2 1/4 cent rate—the railroads on their part agreeing to pay $17,500 towards liquidating the expenses of the State in convening the Legislature, and for court costs.

South Carolina, Georgia, Alabama, Tennessee, and probably Virginia, will have the same rates,—thus giving a uniform system throughout the entire South, which is a thing very much to be desired.

I have given these facts to the public so that they will thoroughly understand the object of the convening of the Legislature.

R. B. GLENN,
Governor.

Fire in Snow Hill.

Quite a serious fire occurred in Snow Hill Monday night, when the store of the Snow Hill Millinery Co. was entirely consumed by the flames and the home of Mr. J. T. Harper partially destroyed. Had it not been for the heavy rains keeping the neighboring houses thoroughly drenched the fire would probably have resulted disastrously for the town, as an unusually heavy wind was blowing. The fire originated in the millinery store, the flames soon spreading to Mr. Harper's residence. By heroic efforts, it was confined to these two places. Only the rear of Mr. Harper's home was destroyed. The loss of the store, which was owned by Miss Emily Pater amounts to about $800. The loss of goods was $1800, with $200 insurance. Mr. Harper's loss was estimated at about $500 to furniture and $800 to the house. Insurance only covered his residence. — Kinston Free Press.

Another Call for Blood Hounds.

Mr. W. C. Hines returned this morning from Kinston, to which place he was summoned Thursday with his blood hounds. A store had been robbed at Falling Creek, and when Mr. Hines reached the scene such a crowd had gathered there and been all over it that it was deemed useless to try to do anything with the dogs.

This morning he had another call to a point eight miles below Vanceboro. The telephone message stated that the barn and stables and several heads of team belonging to a Mr. Wiggins were burned last night by an incendiary.

OF PERSONAL NATURE.

Those Who Come and Go—Some You Know some know you.

J. L. Bunting went to Norfolk today.

Mayor F. M. Wooten went to Kinston today.

Miss Ruth Shelburn, of Durham, came in Friday evening to visit Miss Mary Shelburn.

J. L. Barnhill and family, of Hickory, Va., came in Friday evening to visit relatives.

Misses Margaret and Rue Clark, of Beaufort, who have been here to attend the funeral of their uncle, Mr. J. E. Langly, returned home this afternoon.

Rocked the Train.

As the midday, A. C. L. passenger train, in charge of Capt. J. S. Barr, was nearing Graingers station, Thursday, a rock came crashing through a window of one of the coaches. The train was stopped as quickly as possible for an investigation. Mr. W. C. Hines was on board with his blood hounds going to Kinston, and he at once took the dogs to the vicinity from which the rock was thrown. The dogs took a trail and in a few minutes had run down a small negro boy about 12 years old. The boy was badly frightened and confessed having thrown the brick, but did not seem to realize the nature of his act.

Our Nurse.

Aunt Frances Cobb died December the twenty-first. She was taken Saturday morning with paralysis and died about four o'clock. We expected to have her with us Christmas. We children had our presents put away for her.

Oh, we all miss her so much. It was the saddest Christmas I ever spent. My little brother, M. T. Horton, Jr., lost a very good friend, but he is too young to realize that she is gone forever. He keeps looking for her now when he hears her name called.

We hope she has gone to rest, for she was so kind to us.

Written by one who thought so much of her.

Madeline Horton.

ESCAPES ON TECHNICALITY.

C. H. James Released by Magistrate Because Evidence Didn't Prove Wrongdoing in This State

Manteo, Jan. 8.—C. H. James, arrested in Virginia on various charges held for North Carolina authorities and brought here on a requisition from the governor of Virginia on a charge of fornication and adultery and whose doings have been the subject of much newspaper comment for the last few weeks, was last night set free in the court of B. L. Daniels, justice of peace, B. M. Springfield, James' attorney, contended that there was no evidence of the crime having been committed in this state sufficient to hold James. And that if there was a crime it was committed in Virginia, of whose offenses our courts have no jurisdiction. James was afterwards arrested on some minor charges.

STRAY TAKEN UP.

I have taken up a male (barrowed) hog, weight about 125 lbs, color black and white spotted, marked swallow fork in left ear. Owner can get same by proving property and paying charges. C. D. Harrington, R. F. D. No. 5, Greenville, N. C.

"YOU ALL" IN THE SOUTH.

What Makes This Popular Phrase a Provincialism.

Philologists claim that some of the most interesting phases of a language may be traced through the medium of so called colloquialisms and idioms, and a consideration of the phrase "you all," as used throughout the south, would certainly seem to make good this assertion. The subject is treated in Uncle Remus' Magazine in an article by C. Alphonso Smith of the University of North Carolina. He says in part:

"In almost every discussion of this idiom the disputants have confined themselves to the question, 'Is it used in the south as a singular?' Northern writers have generally supported the affirmative, while southern writers have defended the negative. In fact, Mason and Dixon's line will have to be retraced and made to mark not a political but an idiomatic distinction. The shibboleth is no longer, 'What do you think of slavery or secession or state rights?' but, 'On the contested use of you all are you for the singular or for the plural?'"

"Southern people undoubtedly use you all in a sense particularly their own and not as the equivalent of all of you.

"What, then, is the distinctive meaning attached to this idiom in the south? What makes the phrase a provincialism as used in the south, but not a provincialism as used elsewhere? The following sentences will illustrate:

"First.—A mother to her children, 'If you all (you children) don't make less noise, I'll send you to bed.'"

"Second.—A teacher to his pupils, 'You all (you pupils) haven't half studied this lesson.'"

"In not one of these characteristic sentences would a southerner ever think of substituting all of you for you all. Both idioms are plural, but the distinctive thing about southern you all is not its plural sense, but its representative sense, together with the accent on you.

"You all, therefore, with the accent on you, is not an error for you all, with the accent on all, or for all of you.

"It is something entirely different. The standard you all and all of you are employed as frequently in the south as elsewhere, the distinctive you all supplying a desideratum not furnished by either of the other two phrases. Joel Chandler Harris writes as follows:

"You may say without any hesitation whatever that 'you all' and 'we all,' 'you uns' and 'we uns' invariably refer to more than one individual. These locutions sometimes refer to a partner, to a family, to a settlement and to a whole community, but never to one individual. I have seen assertions to the contrary, but you may put them down as gross mistakes."

The name of Applecross, the old Ross-shire seat of the Mackenzies, is a modern corruption of Abercrosan, meaning "at the mouth of the Crossan," the little river which there flows into the Atlantic. The names of many places in Scotland have undergone changes as curious and confusing. The thousands of travelers who weekly alight at the fine station of St. Enoch, in Glasgow (called after the neighboring church), no doubt identify the name in some vague way with the patriarch Enoch, mentioned in an early chapter of Genesis. It is really a corrupted form of St. Thengor, or Thengaw, who was the mother of Kentigern, Glasgow's first bishop and patron saint and who is the subject of as quaint a legend as any to be found in mediaeval sacred history. —Modern Society.

What About Christmas?

With the compliments of the season to all our readers we ask you the question of the hour

WHAT ABOUT CHRISTMAS

The children are asking it with wondering and hopeful expectations of what Santa Claus is likely to bring them.

The older people are asking it, not so much in speculation regarding the remembrance that Christmas will bring to them, but rather as an inquiry as to how they are to provide suitable and satisfactory presents for relatives and friends without too heavy a drain upon their time and purse.

May we help you to solve the problem and put you in the way of doing your Christmas shopping with pleasure satisfaction and economy?

We offer the advantage of selection that can only be found in a very extensive showing of first class goods. We take pleasure in pleasing customers and will do all in our power to help you to just the right article at the right price, so that you may leave our store glad that you came, and perfectly satisfied with your purchases in every respect.

We extend to all a cordial invitation to call and see our line of

We will Make Things HOT OR YOU

or any one else who uses our new hot-air furnaces. Ask those who have had us install them. They'll tell a short story, and it will be

"The most Heat for the least Money."

You can save on coal bills enough in a year or so to pay for the furnace. See us about them as well as that fall plumbing that needs looking after.

MAYBE you'll realize the business value of being well dressed; everybody doesn't. It grows out of the fact that people have to judge your ability and standing by the way you look, until you give them something else to judge by.

That Means that we are in a position to increase the business value of every man in this town; we've got Hart, Schaffner & Marx clothes for you; and if you live up to your looks in these clothes, you'll be a sure success in Business.
