THE TEACHERS' ASSOCIATION.

Saturday's Session Full of Interest.

Notwithstanding the bad roads throughout the county at this season of the year, a large crowd of teachers was present Saturday and the meeting was one of the finest during the year.

On account of the sickness of the president, Prof. H. B. Smith, and the vice president, Prof. W. H. Cale, ex-president J. C. McArthur, Superintendent of Ayden graded schools, presided.

The devotional exercises were conducted by Rev. J. E. Ayscue in a most appropriate manner.

After the minutes had been read by the secretary, Miss Elizabeth Boushall, the program was taken up.

Prof. W. H. Ragsdale announced the subjects for the different essays as follows: Those competing for the Arthur medal, "The Schools of Pitt County in 1890 and now." Those competing for the Grimes medal, "Pitt County in North Carolina History from 1860 to 1870." Those competing for the Cox medal, "The Value of the Life of a True Teacher." The first two are open to the boys and girls of all the schools of the county. The last one to all the teachers of the county. The names of those competing must be sent in to Prof. W. H. Ragsdale by the first of March, and the essays by the first of April.

Next Miss Laura Cox, of the Ayden graded school, read a most excellent paper on "The importance of order." She outlined her paper under three heads: 1. The Importance of Order; (2) What it should be; (3) How to obtain it. Under the first head she suggested that order is heaven's first law and that in school character to a great extent is formed; under the second, that every pupil should be taught to respect another's rights; and under the third, control yourself first and be considerate of the child's rights.

The next subject, "How to Solve the Problems of School Life", was discussed by Prof. G. E. Lineberry who is easily one of the ablest instructors in the state. He laid special stress on securing attention and laid down three ways in which it may be secured as follows: (1) Prepare your text well before recitation; (2) Love the studies to be taught; (3) Plan out each recitation by firing the vital points to be brought out. Prof. Lineberry handled his subject in a masterly manner as only one who has worked out these problems by actual experience. We regret that space forbids giving a full synopsis of his address.

According to previous announcement, Prof. N. D. Walker, of the University of North Carolina, who is traveling in the interest of the State high schools, was present and was introduced by Prof. Ragsdale, who referred to him as doing a work second to none in the importance in the State for its educational advancement. Prof. Walker spoke on the place of the State high schools in our educational system and their importance. He said that the elementary schools failed to train the children for citizenship in that they did not extend their course high enough. The high school must take them at this point and prepare them for college or for useful citizenship. Nearly two thousand teachers of our State are falling out every year and to a great extent these must be replaced by those from the county high schools, because our colleges are inadequate to supply all these. He made a special plea for trained teachers.

At the close of this strong address, Prof. R. G. Kittrell, superintendent of public instruction and Tarboro graded schools, was introduced to the association and was extended a hearty welcome.

All the teachers present were inspired to go back to their respective schools and do better work than ever after hearing these powerful addresses.

Notice to the Public.

From information received by the undersigned it is apparent that great damage was done by the rain fall on Saturday night, to the roads, dams and bridges throughout the county, and I take the liberty of suggesting to the public that this damage amounts to considerable and will therefore, of course, require some time to repair.

I also desire herein to instruct those who have heretofore been authorized to look after certain bridges to go at once to making the proper reparation wherever there has been damage, and I also desire to request the public generally to notify me, or some other member of the Board of Commissioners, as soon as possible where the damage is that needs immediate attention, so that we may proceed to send some one to make the necessary repairs.

We hope the public will be patient with the Board of Commissioners and take into consideration the season of the year, the weather and the necessary hindrances and troubles that the Board of Commissioners will encounter in trying to repair these damages.

This the 13th day of Jan. 1908.

SUPERIOR COURT.

January Term in Session.

The January term of Pitt Superior court began today with Judge W. R. Allen presiding and Solicitor C. L. Abernethy representing the State.

The grand jury selected for the term is as follows: Jesse Cannon, foreman, J. H. Collins, L. H. Worthington, J. F. Harris, Job Moore, R. T. Evans, James Evans, Isaac Kilpatrick, Ashley Whichard, T. J. Cox, H. V. Staton, S. J. Brewer, R. C. Tripp, J. W. Martia, Jr., F. M. Davis, E. E. Dail, Josephus Moye, W. P. Clark.

C. E. Fleming was sworn as officer of the grand jury and L. W. Lawrence is court crier.

Judge Allen's charge to the grand jury was able and interesting. It was not a general rehearsal of the criminal code, for as the judge said, in this time when people have such opportunities for enlightenment a mark of sufficient intelligence to be a grand juror knows what crime is. Judge Allen gave a brief history of the jury system, and said there was no more important and honorable duty ever imposed upon a citizen. He said some men have a wrong conception of jury duty and invent all kinds of excuses to shirk this duty, and he had noticed that most of the criticisms of courts and juries come from the very men who shirk the duty.

In this age so many business men have their money invested in corporations, that they act against their own interests when they shirk jury duty. The line between accident and negligence where an injury occurs is so close that it is hard for a jury to distinguish it, and these men who evade the duty are first to criticize when they think justice has not been done.

Remove the cause of crime, said Judge Allen, and you at once lessen crime. It has been estimated that 75 to 90 percent of the crimes are caused by whiskey, gambling and lewdness. The immoral house and the illicit distillery are close companions, and where these are allowed to exist in a community all the good men and women who live there cannot raise the moral tone of such a community.

In many counties the punishment for gambling seems to apply only to negroes caught "shooting craps" but the dealer in margins on cotton and stocks is more harmful to a community than the negro crap shooter.

No county ever erected a better monument or greater educational institution than its county home and he urged the jurors to see that the home in this wealthy county of Pitt was what it should be. No county will prosper that neglects to properly care for its poor.

These and other good things were mentioned by Judge Allen in his charge, and his remarks made an impression on the audience that should mean future good to the county.

Note of Thanks.

Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Ayscue desire to thank the people for the generous pounding Friday night. Both the gifts and the visits were heartily appreciated, and a well supplied pantry will serve as a pleasant reminder of the occasion.

SAMUEL WARREN.

Vanity of the Creator of Tittlebat Titmouse and Oily Gammon.

Nothing can be more diverting than the revelation in their correspondence of the characteristics of authors. Samuel Warren, who attained immense popularity by his "Ten Thousand a Year," which appeared first in Maga, is delightfully naive sometimes and describes himself in a letter dated 1842 as "an honorable and fearless rival of Dickens," then at the height of his popularity. He offers to review Dickens' "American Notes" and sketches out his line of criticism:

"There is palpable genius, subtle and vivid perception, exquisite felicity of illustration and feeling and natural circumstances, real humor, mannerism, exaggeration, glaring but unconscious egotism and vanity, glimpses of underbreeding. These last I should touch on in a manly and delicate and generous spirit. Rely on Sam Warren. Dickens seems to have been incapable and indisposed to look beyond the surface of American manners and society. Oh, what a book I could have written! I mean I who have not only observed but reflected so much on the characters of the people of England and America."

Poor Sam Warren! It seems almost unhandsome to show up his little weaknesses, seeing that "Ten Thousand a Year" is nearly forgotten and Dickens is still Dickens. His talents never dazzled his publishers, but he was fiercely intolerant of criticism or editor's interference. "I hate his beastly names," wrote Alexander Blackwood to his brother, referring to the trick Warren had of naming his characters in allusion either to their originals or to their imaginary qualities—Lord Bulfinch (Lord Russell), O'Gibbet (O'Connell), Rev. Morphine Velvet (fashionable preacher), and so on, but he refrained from telling the author so. Warren's own portrait is given in a single sly sentence by the Rev. James White, a frequent and entertaining correspondent of the Blackwoods from the Isle of Wight. "Warren was in the island for a week and dined here one day. Oh, Tittlebat! Himself the wondrous hero of his song!"—English Magazine.

Helping Out Cabby.

A cabman once drove a lady and her little girl from Euston to Charing Cross.

On the way a particle of dust entered the eye of the driver, causing him considerable annoyance.

On arriving at their destination the lady gave the cabby just the bare fare, and then, this being the first opportunity the cabman had, he took out his handkerchief and attempted to extract the cause of his pain.

The little girl, perceiving this, spoke a few words to her mother and then ran back to the jehu, saying:

"Please, cabby, mother says you are not to cry. Here is another sixpence."—London Tit-Bits.

Grieg the Conductor.

As a conductor of orchestra Grieg, the noted composer, was all fire, and his concentrated energy transfused itself to such an extent into the members of the orchestra that the whole band became merely an incidental part of its leader, who filled the concert hall with his personality. One would think that such intense vital energy would, so to speak, be burned out by its own flame; but, slight and small though he was, Grieg lived for forty-five years with only one lung, and even if he had to husband his strength and sometimes to interrupt a tour of concerts he still infused his fiery soul into orchestras and audiences. —William Peters' "Grieg the Man" in Century.

Reason Enough.

Even a lunatic may not wholly lack the power of reason. This truth appears in a story Life tells of the inspection of an asylum by the trustees:

Walking through the grounds, they came upon a party of workmen who were repairing a wall. One of the lunatics, apparently assisting in the work, was pushing a wheelbarrow along upside down.

"My friend," said a kind hearted trustee, "you should turn your wheelbarrow over."

"Not on your life!" replied the lunatic, "I turned it over yesterday and it got stuck in it!"

It will be a mighty good start for the new year to get the boat line established on the river,

If the prohibitionists want the special legislature to pass a State prohibition law no harm can come of letting it be known.

It took a week for a jury to be selected in the Thaw case. Now we will see how long the trial itself takes.

The town of Morganton has adopted a curfew law which forbids boys under 15 years of age being on the streets after 8 o'clock at night. An instance of the law doing what parents have neglected to do.

We see a news item that there are 500 vacant residences in Greensboro. If that is true the city had better send for the directory maker to come back and see what has gone with the 42,000 population.

The town of Wadesboro is planning a celebration of Washington's birthday, and proposes to invite the three leading candidates for governor to be present and make speeches. After the speaking the folks can decide which of the three will make the best governor.

Congressman Webb, of the ninth North Carolina district, has introduced a bill in congress that if enacted will go a long way toward making prohibition prohibit. The bill reads:

"Be it enacted that it shall be unlawful for any railroad company, express company or other common carriers to transport any spirituous liquors from one State to another and deliver same in territory of the latter State, where the sale and manufacture of such liquors is prohibited in said territory by the laws of the State wherein said territory is.

"Any common carrier violating the provisions of this act shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction therefor shall be fined not less than $100 nor more than $5,000 in the jurisdiction of the court."

Subscribers to newspapers should bear in mind that the recent ruling of the postoffice department, that goes into effect April 1st, will forbid papers being sent to persons who are long in arrears. The limit specified in the order is one year on weekly papers and three months on daily papers. Papers sent after these limits will require postage of one cent each, and no publisher can afford to pay this. The Reflector has endeavored to notify its delinquent subscribers by putting a blue cross mark on their paper and also by sending statements as fast as they can be made out. Whether you get a statement or not, if you owe for the paper you should settle promptly. We shall regret the necessity of dropping any names from the list, but we will have to comply with the law. Do not put off payment until your name is dropped.

WHO'S WHO AND WHY

Who made the best crop in Pitt County during the year 1907

EVERYBODY admits that this has been a bad crop year and as a whole it has been, but some planters had bounteous yields in return for their labours.

Why because they used Cotton Seed Meal as a Fertilizer.

DR. BONST FL. of the Bureau of Soils of the U. S. Department of Agriculture in his address to the planters of Pitt county strongly advised its use, stating that as a fertilizer stable manure was the best adapted to our soil and the next best was cotton seed meal.

WINTERVILLE MEAL IS THE BEST OF THE "NEXT BEST"

IF you did not use it last year inquire of someone who did and you will try it in 1908.

WE will buy your cotton seed and sell you meal at reasonable prices, or we will exchange Meal for Seed on a liberal basis delivering the meal at any railroad station in the county.

SACKS furnished to seed shippers upon request.

WRITE or telephone us at once how many seed you have, what station you can ship from and whether you wish to sell for cash or exchange for meal. All enquiries will have prompt attention

Rheumatism

I have found a tried and tested cure for Rheumatism! Not a remedy that will straighten the distorted limbs of chronic cripples, nor turn bony growths back to flesh again. That is impossible. But I can now surely kill the pains and pangs of this deplorable disease.

In Germany—with a Chemist in the City of Darmstadt—I found the last ingredient with which Dr. Shoop's Rheumatic Remedy was made a perfected, dependable prescription. Without that last ingredient, I successfully treated many, many cases of Rheumatism; but now, at last, it uniformly cures all curable cases of this heretofore much dreaded disease. These sand-like granular wastes, found in Rheumatic Blood, seem to dissolve and pass away under the action of this remedy as freely as does sugar when added to pure water. And then, when dissolved, these poisonous wastes freely pass from the system, and the cause of Rheumatism is gone forever. There is now no real need—no actual excuse to suffer longer without help. What About Christmas?

With the compliments of the season to all our readers we ask you the question of the hour

WHAT ABOUT CHRISTMAS

The children are asking it with wondering and hopeful expectations of what Santa Claus is likely to bring them.

The older people are asking it, not so much in speculation regarding the remembrance that Christmas will bring to them, but rather as an inquiry as to how they are to provide suitable and satisfactory presents for relatives and friends without too heavy a drain upon their time and purse.

May we help you to solve the problem and put you in the way of doing your Christmas shopping with pleasure satisfaction and economy?

We offer the advantage of selection that can only be found in a very extensive showing of first class goods. We take pleasure in pleasing customers and will do all in our power to help you to just the right article at the right price, so that you may leave our store glad that you came, and perfectly satisfied with your purchases in every respect.

We extend to all a cordial invitation to call and see our line of

HOLIDAY - GOODS

Hoping to see every reader at our store at an early date, and wishing one and all a very Merry Christmas, we remain,

Yours truly

A tickling cough, from any cause, is quickly stopped by Dr. Shoop's Cough Cure. And it is so thoroughly harmless and safe, that Dr. Shoop tells mothers everywhere to give it without hesitation, even to very young babes. The wholesome green leaves and tender stems of a lunghealing mountainous shrub, furnish the curative properties to Dr. Shoop's cough cure. It calms the cough, and heals the sore and sensitive bronchial membranes. No opium, snorchloroform, nothing harsh used to injure or suppress. Simply a resinous plant extract, that helps to heal aching lungs. The Spaniards call this shrub which the Doctor uses, "The Sacred Herb". Always demand Dr. Shoop's cough cure. Bryans Drug Store.

MAYBE you'll realize the business value of being well dressed; everybody doesn't. It grows out of the fact that people have to judge your ability and standing by the way you look, until you give them something else to judge by.

That Means that we are in a position to increase the business value of every man in this town; we've got Hart, Schaffner & Marx clothes for you; and if you live up to your looks in these clothes, you'll be a sure success in
