NEW PASSENGER TRAIN.

Norfolk & Southern Will Put On Through Service.

On Monday, 27th, the Norfolk & Southern railroad will inaugurate through passenger train service between Norfolk and Raleigh. There will be daily trains each way, one leaving Norfolk at 11.55 a. m., passing Greenville at 6.40 p. m., reaching Raleigh at 10 p. m. the other leaving Raleigh at 6.35 a. m., passing Greenville at 9.55 a. m., reaching Norfolk at 4.45 p. m. This is a convenient schedule and puts Greenville several hours nearer Raleigh than by any other route.

The old schedule between Raleigh and Beaufort via Greenville will remain as it is, east bound leaving Raleigh at 9.10 a. m., passing Greenville at 4.50 p. m., reaching Beaufort at 9.10 p. m., west bound leaving Beaufort at 7.25 a. m., passing Greenville at 12.20 p. m., reaching Raleigh at 6.35 p. m.

With the beginning of the new schedule there will be two passenger trains each way, daily except Sunday, passing Greenville over this road, and with the four on the Atlantic Coast Line gives us eight passenger trains a day.

No Capacity For Governing.

News comes from republic of Liberia, in Africa, a country inhabited, owned and governed by negroes, that affairs are in such a shape that some of the powers of the world (presumably some of the white powers), will have to take charge of the country in its own interest and that of the world at large. Every experiment tried so far has shown conclusively that the negro left to himself is incapable of self-government. The only negro governments that have stood for any considerable length of time are those where the rule is the worst and most oppressive form of despotism; where the subjects are really slaves, their property and lives being at the command of the ruler. Wherever popular government has been tried by negroes it has invariably ended in failure. They have not yet reached the stage of development where the mass can be trusted with its own interest, and some writers claim they will never reach it.—Fort Payne Journal.

A Year's Trade.

Not only was the year just ended the most successful for the American farmer of any in the history of the country, but in the record of imports and exports it also established a precedent.

The growth of the foreign commerce was chiefly in manufactured goods and in manufacturers' supplies. In imports, raw materials show an increase of about forty million dollars for the ten months for which figures are available; and in exports an increase of forty-eight millions. There was a slight increase in the import of foodstuffs, but a decrease in exports.

The raw materials imported in which the greatest increase appears were those which enter into the important manufactures of the United States, such as Manila hemp, sisal, jute, india rubber, raw silk, iron ore, copper ore and Egyptian cotton. Of the foodstuffs, which showed an increase, the most important are coffee, sugar and cocoa.

On the export side, among the articles which pertain to manufacture, raw cotton is by far the most important. The value of the amount sent abroad during the ten months ending in October was more than three hundred and sixteen million dollars, an increase of forty-five millions over the corresponding period of the year before. There was a large increase in the export of petroleum and its products, copper, lumber, manufactures of iron and steel, cotton seed-oil, carriages and agricultural implements.

The gain in trade which marked the year was not confined to any one country or group of countries, but covers the whole world. Africa is the only exception. The trade with that continent showed a decrease rather than a gain.

The total trade figures for the year estimate the imports at one billion four hundred million dollars, and the exports at one billion nine hundred millions—a favorable balance of five hundred millions.—Youths' Companion.

Greenville in Congress.

The Washington City correspondent of the Charlotte Observer sends that paper the following, which is further evidence that Congressman John H. Small has an eye open to those things that pertain to the betterment of his district.

"Mr. Small today referred to the movement just initiated in Greenville, North Carolina, for the purpose of securing steamboat service between Greenville and Baltimore. He stated that this was a most appropriate illustration of the importance which would accrue to the State from the completion of the waterways. At present such steamers would have to pay toll through the canal owned by private corporations. With the completion of the waterway of course all tolls will be eliminated and the movement of steamers will be free, thus cheapening the cost of transportation. Under such conditions there is no reason why Greenville should not be put upon a water competitive basis as to freight rates. There are many other towns and sections in North Carolina which would receive similar benefit."

Capt. Lewis is here again with a load of fine oysters. Send your orders to the wharf. 21 4 t d.

OF PERSONAL NATURE.

Those Who Come and Go—Some You Know some know you.

Ex-Gov. T. J. Jarvis is cut again after his recent sickness.

Rev. M. T. Plyler returned Wednesday evening from Raleigh.

Mrs. L. D. Stainbach, of Henderson, is visiting Mrs. C. T. Mapford.

Capt. W. H. Gaskill is at the wharf with another load of extra fine oysters. Send down your orders. 23 3 td

Mrs. W. W. Perkins left Wednesday evening for her former home in Virginia, in response to a telegram announcing the critical illness of her brother.

J. W. Ferrell has quit house-keeping and moved his family to Hotel Macon. Mrs. Maida Burch will occupy the house on Greene street vacated by Mr. Ferrell.

Band Notes.

John Shelburn has learned to play, "Why don't you try?"

Jimmie—"Whats the difference in a half note and a half tone?"

Tige says "If they were only voting for trained nurses he'd vote the price of an Oliver typewriter."

Ned Laughinghouse wants the band to learn to play "Mary is a Grand Old Name."

Kinchen Cobb suggests that we order "Good Bye Booze" at once.

Stokes the tenor is also a fine tinner.

Seed Corn.

Advertising is not only a manufacturer's seed corn, but it is his harvester, his mill for grinding the grain, cook stove and his cook.

Any large concern who has had much experience with newspaper printers' ink will tell you that this is a true statement of facts.

And so this little fable applies to any business, no matter what—retailer, jobber or manufacturer.

You apply a sufficient amount of newspaper advertising—use it in proportion to the size of your business—do it judiciously and persistently, and you will concur, too, in the statement made above.

Try it and see—the other man knows it now—you will then.—Durham Sun.

TEACHERS CONTEST NOTES.

When you vote, you help the band. Lets have another good band, we have lots of talent around here. You can vote at Coward & Wooten's drug store for the most popular teacher in the county.

Don't forget to vote when you come to Greenville for your teacher.

Has your best fellow voted for you yet?

Get wise Bethel and send in a few votes for some of those good looking teachers over there.

Ginner's Report.

The government ginner's report issued today gives the number of bales of cotton of the 1907 crop ginned up to Jan. 16th at 10,337,000.

Weather.

Fair, warmer tonight, Friday fair, much colder.

Leap Year Dance.

The young ladies will give a leap year dance in Perkins hall tonight, and the boys are all expectation. If any of them get left without a "date" they will know how it feels.

Friday Night.

Remember that charming drama "Young Mrs. Winthrope," that was so successfully presented by home talent under the direction of Mrs. T. J. Jarvis on Thanksgiving night, will be repeated by request in the opera house tomorrow night. Seats are now on sale at Reflector Book Store. The audience should be large.

Better Times.

Washington, D. C. Jan. 22.—

The Secretary of the Treasury late today announced that owing to the great improvement in financial conditions throughout the country he had begun the gradual withdrawal of deposits of public moneys in moderate amounts from the national banks. The first call has been made upon New York banks and amounts to approximately ten million dollars. This is in addition to about ten million dollars returned by the New York banks since December 26th.

The Secretary also announced that a general call for a moderate amount will be made upon banks in other cities at an early date.

Many a man has discovered that the ladder of fame is very much on the order of a greased pole.

The small boy may love his neighbor even better than he loves himself—if she gives him a generous hunk of pie.

To Strengthen the Eyes.

Unless one has unusually strong eyes one must not read when one is extremely weary. Exhaustion and fatigue affect all the nerves of the body, and the optic nerve is so sensitive that it should receive particular consideration. Nor should one ever be guilty of the carelessness of reading or writing facing a window. This, too, is a cruel strain on the sight. Washing the eyes morning and night in water as hot as it can be borne is a wonderful tonic for those useful servants which are so easily injured. When we consider how we neglect their welfare by using them by fading daylight and insufficient artificial light, by forcing them to do work when they are weary and by denying them the rest for which they long, we have cause to wonder not that they sometimes become mutinous and refuse to fulfill our demands, but that they are ever faithful in our service. They will, as a rule, be as good to us as we are to them.

Gathering Knowledge.

"It seems to me," said Mrs. Wakeman, pausing on the sidewalk to let the grade pupils, just released from bondage, rush by, "that school must be more interesting than it was in my time. The children acquire so much general knowledge nowadays—so much that is useful."

"They do," agreed Mrs. Northrop promptly. "Now, here comes little Johnny Greenfield. We'll ask what he learned. Here, Johnny! Tell us what your lesson was about today."

"About octagons," replied blushing Johnny.

"And what," pursued Mrs. Wakeman, "is an octagon?"

"It's a many sided animal," piped the lad, "that grabs you when you go in swimming." — Youths' Companion.

Work With Pile Driver.

A gang of workmen were engaged in driving in some piles, and a crowd was watching the heavy block raised to the top of the machine, released and allowed to fall upon the pile. Among the onlookers was an old woman from the country who had never seen such an apparatus before and was evidently at some pains to discover its object. She watched patiently while the ram made its laborious ascent and sudden descent for about twenty times in succession, and then she turned away.

"Ach," said she in disgusted tones, "sure, they'll never get it to stay up!" — London Bystander.

The Real Target.

Lawyer—So you want a divorce from your wife because she throws things at you, eh?

Client—Nothing of the kind. She's too smart to throw things at me.

Lawyer—But I thought— Client (interrupting)—She invariably throws at the dog, but she always manages to hit me.—Chicago News.

THE LEGISLATURE.

What the Special Session is Doing.

Governor Glenn in a special message to the legislature yesterday, submitted a bill, recommending action upon it, which would prevent the merger of parallel or competing railroad companies. It was said that the object of such a law would be to defeat any attempt upon the part of the Southern Railway or the Atlantic Coast Line Railway to swallow up the Seaboard Air Line Railway and the Norfolk and Southern Railway.

In the Senate a resolution to confine legislation to those matters embraced in the proclamation of Governor Glenn stating for what purpose the Legislature is convened; and the subsequent messages from the governor to the general assembly, raised the question of the power of the legislature in extraordinary session to consider matters extraneous to the proclamation calling the legislature together. It was the desire of most of those who discussed the resolution that the extra session be brief.

Still there were several bills introduced in both branches of the Legislature, with a view to local legislation, and members have signified their intent to introduce bills requiring three readings, which means six days for passage.

In the House Mr. Douglas, of Wake, introduced a prohibition bill, prohibiting "the manufacture, sale, barter, exchange, giving away to induce trade, to furnish at public places or otherwise of disposing of any alcoholic, spirituous, vinous or malt liquors, intoxicating bitters or beverages or other liquors or beverages by whatever name called, which will produce intoxication.

Another prohibition bill will be introduced in the Senate this morning by Mr. Long of Iredell.—Raleigh News and Observer.

If a woman doesn't want to be popular with the other women in her neighborhood all she has to do is wear better clothes than they can afford.

Trade Report

Richmond, Va., Jan. 23, 1908. Bradstreet's Saturday will say for Richmond, Va., and vicinity:

Trade in most lines is quiet. Dry goods and shoe dealers are receiving moderate orders for future shipments, produce is in fair demand at satisfactory prices. Tobacco is being marketed in larger amounts and prices continue good, as anticipated the crop is not an average one, lumber continues in little demand. Labor is plentiful. In North Carolina the majority of cotton has been ginned, but much of the crop is still in the hands of the planters. Money is more readily obtained at bank and dealers anticipate better conditions. Collections are not good.

THURSDAY JAN. 23rd, 1908.

And the next is Washington's birthday.

This is one time when a large number of people would like to lose their grip.

The Raleigh Times changes editors often enough to keep up a scrap with the News and Observer.

Raleigh is getting something out of it, as that town is never happier than when it is full of people.

It is usually the case that cotton reaches its highest figure after most of it has left the farmers' hands.

The judge did not shut the newspaper men out of the Thaw trial and the public goes right on reading it.

The Statesville Landmark gives a good illustration of the value of advertising. A man advertised for a lost dog, and not only got his own dog back but five other dogs also.

Two former Statesville negroes were waiters in a hotel at Wheeling, W. Va. One of them killed a man in Statesville seven years ago and fled the State. Recently the other one professed religion and conceived it to be his duty to tell of the crime his brother committed. As a result of this the murderer has been brought back to North Carolina for trial.

The Reflector is disappointed at the action of the Democratic caucus of the present legislature in deciding to pass a prohibition measure to be submitted to a vote of the people for ratification or rejection. This action will unnecessarily cost the State many thousands of dollars to hold an election for this purpose, when the legislature, already in session, could have saved all this expense by passing a prohibition law. However, this much can be said of the election; if the people settle the question by voting to put the State under prohibition, as they doubtless will do, that settles the question for good.

Upon first impulse The Reflector said Wednesday, in noting that the caucus of the legislature had decided to submit the question of State prohibition to a vote of the people, that Greenville should go on and hold a local election on the question in accordance with the petition pending before the aldermen. After thinking further over the matter there seems to be an obstacle in the way of such a local election being held. Under the law no town can hold a special election within three months of any other election, and the legislature

WHO'S WHO AND WHY

Who made the best crop in Pitt County during the year 1907

EVERYBODY admits that this has been a bad crop year and as a whole it has been, but some planters had bounteous yields in return for their labours.

Why because they used Cotton Seed Meal as a Fertilizer.

DR. BONSTEEL of the Bureau of Soils of the U. S. Department of Agriculture in his address to the planters of Pitt county strongly advised its use, stating that as a fertilizer stable manure was the best adapted to our soil and the next best was cotton seed meal.

WINTERVILLE MEAL IS THE BEST OF THE "NEXT BEST"

IF you did not use it last year inquire of someone who did and you will try it in 1908.

WE will buy your cotton seed and sell you meal at reasonable prices, or we will exchange Meal for Seed on a liberal basis delivering the meal at any railroad station in the county.

SACKS furnished to seed shippers upon request.

selects May as the time for holding the State election, Greenville cannot legally hold an election before that time. It is a knotty problem that we do not know how to solve, but it is useless for the town to hold an election that will not be legal.

Whenever you feel that your stomach has gone a little wrong, or when you feel that it is not in good order as is evidenced by mean headaches nervousness, bad breath, and belching, take something at times, and especially after your meals until relief is afforded. There is nothing better offered the public today for stomach troubles, dyspepsia, indigestion, etc than Kodol. This is a scientific preparation of natural digestions, combined with vegetable acids and it contains the same juices found in every healthy stomach. Kodol is guaranteed to give relief. It is pleasant to take; it will make you feel fine by digesting what you eat. Sold by John L. Wooten, druggist.

Indigestion

Stomach trouble is but a symptom of, and not itself a true disease. We think of Dyspepsia, Heartburn, and Indigestion as real diseases, yet they are symptoms only of a certain specific Nerve sickness—nothing else.
It was this fact that first correctly led Dr. Shoop in the creation of that now very popular Stomach Remedy—Dr. Shoop's Restorative. Going direct to the stomach nerves, alone brought that success and favor to Dr. Shoop and his Restorative. Without that original and highly vital principle, no such lasting accomplishments were ever to be had.
For stomach distress, bloating, biliousness, bad breath and sallow complexion, try Dr. Shoop's Restorative—Tablets or Liquid—and see for yourself what it can and will do. We sell and cheerfully recommend

Are You a Trust Buster?

Hey—You! Yes, YOU'RE the man we mean. You're always talking about the harm the trusts are doing. The country's going to the demnition bowwows, you say, because of the uncurbed trusts. Rich growing richer, poor getting poorer. Used to be that a poor man could go into business for himself in a modest way and make a good living. Now he must become a clerk or a roustabout or a hodcarrier for some corporation—some combination that has grown to be a Goliath of bigness, that has devoured the fat of the land and is still gourmandizing upon it, till there's not a scrap of bone left for the under dog.

That's your line of talk. You're still handing it out, and you're proud of it.

Well, now, let's see: Are YOU a trust buster YOURSELF?

Didn't we see you stalk up to the postoffice just now and mail a letter with the address of a city Mail Order Store on the envelope? Hey? Didn't we?

Don't you know that the Mail Order Store is a trust—one of the most dangerous in the crowd? Don't you know that it is secretly and silently and slyly closing the doors of opportunity to the young men in country towns and small cities like ours? Don't you know that the Mail Order Trust is collecting the patronage of town and country people by the mail route, thereby cutting down the patronage of the smaller merchant, the local man who is trying to build up a modest, independent, antitrust business?

Hey?

Didn't that ever occur to you?

N. B. (which means note well): Why don't you trade at home instead of helping to build up a trust that hurts your home place?

ART OF DENTISTRY.

It Was Practiced by the Ancients
Thousands of Years Ago.

It will surprise many persons to learn that false teeth, gold caps and fillings and dental bridges are by no means modern creations. Six thousand years ago and probably long before the dawn of Greek civilization the skill of the dentist had reached a high degree of perfection. Cicero in his treatise "De Natura Deorum" ascribes the invention of tooth drawing to Aesculapius, third of that name. The first mention of dentistry, according to the British Medical Journal, is found in Hippocrates, who in several parts of his writings has a good deal to say about toothache. From the Phoenicians the art found its way to the Etruscans. At the international congress held in Rome in 1900 Professor Guerini exhibited several specimens of dental art which proved that something very much akin to bridge work was practiced in ancient Italy so efficiently that it has lasted thirty centuries.

Artificial crowns have also been found in Etruscan tombs. Artificial dentures go back to a remote antiquity. Dr. Deneffe states that in the museum of the University of Ghent there is a set of artificial teeth found in a tomb at Orvieto with jewels and Etruscan vases. He gives their date as from five to six thousand years before Christ.

In a collection of antique surgical apparatus made by Dr. Lambros there is an artificial denture found in a tomb at Tanagra, near Thebes, which is believed to belong to the third or fourth century before the Christian era. Teeth stopped with gold have been found in Greek tombs. In the temple of Apollo at Delphi there was, according to Erasistratus, a nephew of Aristotle and physician to Seleucus Nicator, king of Syria, 354 B. C., a leaden instrument which was used in the extraction of teeth. Obviously an instrument of lead could have been used only for loose teeth.

In the laws of the twelve tables made by the Roman decemvirs in 450 B. C. it was expressly forbidden to bury or burn gold with dead bodies except when used for wiring the teeth. In the construction of false teeth recourse was had by the ancients to bone and horn. Sometimes human teeth were employed. Benzoni found in some mummies artificial teeth made of sycamore. In the first century of our era false teeth were very common among the Romans.

Dentistry shared in the decay of the arts during the middle ages, and we read that when St. Louis died in 1270, although he was only fifty-five, he had but one tooth in the upper jaw. French surgeons, notably Ambroise Pare, took a leading part in the revival of dentistry. Louis XIV's dentist used only instruments of gold in operating on the teeth of his august patient. From the time of Pare onward the highest dentistry was in the hands of surgeons, extraction being left to barbers and quacks.

Bank of England Notes.

When a Bank of England note returns to the bank it is never re-issued, says Tit-Bits. It is canceled by having the signature of the chief cashier torn off. A day's signatures thus detached often amount to a weight of twenty pounds, so some idea may be gathered of the enormous quantity of notes dealt with in a day's business. After the signatures are torn off the notes are pricked off in the register and sorted into the dates of issue. They are then placed in boxes in the vaults, where they are kept for five years, after which they are burned in a furnace placed in a courtyard. Every morning at 7 o'clock this fire is lighted, and the notes which were received at the bank five years previously are consigned to the flames, 420,000 notes being consumed in this manner every week.

Fine Taste In Words.

Dinah came in to ask her mistress to write a letter. Name and address being furnished, Mrs. Ross waited for dictation, which was not forthcoming. Dinah, being urged, insisted that she didn't care what went in the letter, "she jes' wanted a letter writ to him."

"But," said Mrs. Ross, "you must tell me something to say."

"Well," answered Dinah after a long pause, "I allus did think 'nevertheless' was a mighty pretty word."—New York Times.

When He Couldn't Sleep.

The lecturer on health had finished his discourse and invited his auditors to ask any questions they chose concerning points that might seem to need clearing up when a lean, skinny man rose up and asked: "Professor, what do you do when you can't sleep at night?"

"I usually stay awake," replied the lecturer, "although, of course, every one should feel at liberty to do otherwise if he chooses. Are there any other questions?"

PROFANITY.

Growth of Refinement Will End Its Now Declining Use.

Words and phrases which are amply sufficient for the understanding are often altogether inadequate for the expression of the feelings. The result of this mental dissatisfaction with the communication of mere knowledge is most conspicuously illustrated in the wide prevalence of profanity.

Into the discussion of this practice its moral and religious aspect does not enter at all. It is purely from the linguistic side that it is here to be considered.

So looked at, its existence and the extent of the indulgence in it bear out the truth of the principle just announced. Whatever intellectual justification there may be for profanity is based upon the fact that men are aiming to state strongly what they feel strongly.

The habit is in consequence subject to the general law governing intensives. To a very great extent the practice of swearing is specially characteristic of a rude and imperfect civilization. With the advance of culture profanity declines.

It declines not so much because men become peculiarly sensitive to its viciousness, but they do to its ineffectiveness. The growth of refinement both in the individual and in the community tends more to its disuse than all the exhortations of moralists or the rebukes of divines.

Much must always be allowed in the case of particular persons for the influence of early training and association. Exceptions are, therefore, too numerous to lay down any positive rule. Still it is safe to say in general that a man's intellectual development is largely determined by the extent of his indulgence in profanity.

No one, indeed, doubts its wide prevalence at the present time. But compared to the practice of the past it has been steadily, even if slowly, diminishing for centuries. This does not prove that men are better morally or intellectually than they were.

It does show, however, that there exists now a higher average of cultivation which renders the habit distasteful to increasingly large numbers.—Harper's.

Antonius Aurelius.

Antonius Aurelius, king of Aracania, the first and the last of his dynasty, had once his day of fame. He was the man who would be king, and for a short time he was one. Aurelius began life as an ambitious Frenchman; he ended it as a German under the name of Herr von Tonneins, dying in great poverty at Marseilles, but for a brief period in the fifties of the last century he was king over the Araucanian Indians in South America. When Von Tonneins founded his monarchy he found it necessary to have his court, so he traveled over to Europe and created his own orders and titles. Then he reigned till his court was broken up by the government of Chile, and Aurelius as a roi en exile returned to Marseilles.

A Poor Dog.

A man in Missouri recently sued a railway company for damages for the death of a hound killed on the track. The company defended itself upon the following points:

Said dog was chasing a rabbit upon defendant's track in violation of the game laws.

Said rabbit lived on defendant's right of way and was therefore the property of the defendant.

Plaintiff's dog was a trespasser and was hunting defendant's property without permission.

Said deceased was not much of a dog, anyhow, or it could easily have kept out of the way of defendant's trains.

And, having fully answered, defendant prays to be discharged.

It Goes Fast.

"My son," said an economical father, "an express train attains great speed, lightning is proverbial for its rapidity, comets are supposed to hurl themselves through space at the rate of millions of miles a day; but, comparatively speaking, all these things are snails, my boy—all snails."

"Why, father," replied the young man, lazily puffing a cigar, "what can possibly go faster than lightning?"

"A ten dollar bill after it is once broken, my son."

Why He Didn't Care.

"Mark my words," declared Mrs. Ferme, laying down the law to her long suffering husband, "by the end of the century woman will have the rights she is fighting for."

"I shan't care if she has," replied Ferme.

"Do you mean it?" cried his wife.

"Have I at last brought you round to my way of thinking? Won't you really care?"

"Not a bit, my dear," returned her husband resignedly. "I'll be dead then."—London Express.

The finest coffee Substitute ever made, has recently been produced by Dr. Hoop, of Racine, Wis. You don't have to boil twenty or thirty minutes. "Made in a minute," says the doctor. "Health coffee" is really the class coffee imitation ever yet produced. Not a grain of real coffee in it either. Health coffee imitation is made from pure toasted cereals or grains, with malt, nuts, etc. Ready to use, fool an expert—were he to unknowingly drink it for coffee. I. E. Hooker & Co.

TO MY FRIENDS.

Having been away for several months I wish to announce to my friends and patrons of the "empire" of Pitt that I am still connected with the firm of Chas. M. Steiff, and if bachelors are allowed to misuse the happy term home as a synonym for a "hanging out place" I still call Greenville my home, and while I intend to be away from Greenville a great deal of my time during this fall a postal care of box 325, Greenville, will reach me within a day or two. We now have a number of slightly used upright pianos, some of which have been rented during the summer months, others which were temporarily used by artists at the exposition and for orchestra work, at bargain prices.

We also offer a special school piano for $225.00 fully measuring up in standard to any $350.00 instrument. This piano is especially built for college and school work for the special price named above and is full guaranteed by my firm for 10 years. Those interested in a school piano or in a good slightly used piano for the home should write me at once and will profit by it, and as ever I am always mindful of my patrons' protection and interest as well as my firm's interest. Grateful of past patronage. Very respectfully,
G. G. Fineman,
Box 325 Greenville, N. C.

TO MY PATRONS.

Ladies and gentlemen, I wish to announce that I am now situated in new quarters, and am prepared to accommodate my customers with more neatness, and promptness, than heretofore being in a more convenient place and having better light. Thanking you for past patronage and wishing a liberal continuance of same, I am as ever, yours to serve.

What About Christmas?

With the compliments of the season to all our readers we ask you the question of the hour WHAT ABOUT CHRISTMAS

The children are asking it with wondering and hopeful expectations of what Santa Claus is likely to bring them.

The older people are asking it, not so much in speculation regarding the rememces that Christmas will bring to them, but rather as an inquiry as to how they are to provide suitable and satisfactory presents for relatives and friends without too heavy a drain upon their time and purse.

May we help you to solve the problem and put you in the way of doing your Christmas shopping with pleasure satisfaction and economy?

We offer the advantage of selection that can only be found in a very extensive showing of first class goods. We take pleasure in pleasing customers and will do all in our power to help you to just the right article at the right price, so that you may leave our store glad that you came, and perfectly satisfied with your purchases in every respect.

We extend to all a cordial invitation to call and see our line of

"This I inaugurated at the next meeting, and it was cheering to us all to see that when the long winded man rose to speak he held his open watch in his left hand.

"When the limit was all but reached he said, 'Finding, my dear friends, that I have only a few seconds left in which to speak and having much to say, I will throw the rest of my remarks into the form of a prayer.'"

Green Oysters.

In Europe green oysters, called groenbarden or marennes, are especially prized, and to meet the demand oysters are greened by placing them as soon as captured in sea water, where they are kept for months and fed on a species of seaweed which imparts the coloring matter to the gills.

From carefully conducted investigations it appears that in some cases green oysters owe their color to the presence of copper. Such oysters are not generally considered desirable as food.

Green oysters containing copper differ in appearance from those owing their green tint to vegetable coloring matter, being grass green and not dark green in color and having a verdigris-like slimy secretion on the folds of the mantle. It is said that after the addition of vinegar a steel fork stuck into such oysters becomes coated with copper and that if ammonia is added the oysters become dark blue.—New York Sun.

A tickling cough, from any cause, is quickly stopped by Dr. Shoop's Cough Cure. And it is so thoroughly harmless and safe, that Dr. Shoop tells mothers everywhere to give it without hesitation, even to very young babies. The wholesome green leaves and tender stems of a lunghealing mountainous shrub, furnish the curative properties to Dr. Shoop's cough-cure. It calms the cough, and heals the sore and sensitive bronchial membranes. No opium, no chloroform, nothing harsh used to injure or suppress. Simply a resinous plant extract, that helps to heal aching lungs. The Spaniards call this shrub which the Doctor uses, "The Sacred Herb". Always demand Dr. Shoop's cough cure. Bryans Drug Store.

Tremendous High-grade Stock of Fine Merchandise Having been brought to Greenville and Placed in C. T. MUNFORD'S big store for a quick sale.

CONSIDERATION! After considering what we and our Creditors think best, and they say the only wise thing to do with this combined gigantic stock of high-grade merchandise is to sell and satisfy our creditors, the best way possible, as we have no ready cash to keep them quiet, we must listen to them, have this sale, and throw this immense stock on the market. We must take their advice, mark it down like they say, so we can raise a few dollars to send them so that every time the train blows our color won't change, knowing that as soon as the mail is handed to us we will open a after where some house writes like this: "You must pay this bill at once."
