MR. MOORE'S HANDSOME RESIDENCE.

A Beautiful Home Which Adds Materially to New Bern's Reputation For Beautiful Homes.

The beautiful new residence of Mr. L. I. Moore, situated on a commanding knoll on East Front street, adds one more to the handsome edifices of New Bern of which our people may justly be proud. The house occupies the lot lately occupied by the Judge Seymour house, but is more centrally located.

It is of the colonial style, made on plans prepared by architect, H. W. Simpson. It comprises eight rooms with reception hall, kitchen and bathrooms. The reception hall and staircase are furnished in oak and the rich warm color natural to that wood establishes an air of hospitality that makes it especially pleasant. The house is heated by the hot water system. The outlook over the river is fine, giving to the house the more attractive beauty. A pleasing feature is the handsome verandah on which is placed four stately ornamental columns. The door to the vestibule is made of heavy art glass set in white metal.—New Bern Journal.

Thieves Raid Newspaper Office.

Thieves raided the cash drawer of The Orient, the first part of the week. They secured 16 cents in pennies, a pair of plaid socks, the property of the editor, a bright red necktie belonging to our foreman and some scraps of meat intended for our office cat's luncheon the following day. Expressions of sympathy from the newspaper fraternity are in order.—The Oriental Orient.

As long as the office towel escaped the thief the Orient should consider itself lucky.

Trustees of Relief Fund.

Hope Fire Company has elected Messrs. R. Williams and W. S. Moye as trustees of the firemen's relief fund on the part of the local fire department. Now when the State insurance commissioner names the remaining member the board will be complete.

ANOTHER WORD TO SUBSCRIBERS.

All Should Make Prompt Payment.

In the past two weeks The Reflector has mailed statements to all subscribers who owe a dollar or more for the paper. It has been quite a task to make out and mail all these statements and besides the labor it has cost a good bit of money. The amount due by each subscriber is not large, but the aggregate means a considerable sum to the paper. Now we hope no subscriber will think the statement was sent to him just to pass away the time. It represents an amount you owe for your paper and should be paid promptly. If it is not convenient to come in person and pay the bill, send it to us by mail. Do not keep us waiting for the amount.

One thing to bear in mind is that all who have received these statements and fail to pay in a short while will be dropped from the subscription list. The recent ruling of the postal authorities will compel us to do this. The law will not let us send the paper to subscribers who are long in arrears unless one cent postage is paid on each paper, and no publisher can afford to do this. We prefer keeping all the names on our list, but unless those who owe pay soon the paper will stop going to them.

If every man who owes for the Reflector would pay us at once, like he ought to do, it would help us make many improvements in the paper.

Ducks Slide on Ice.

Ezekiel Crawford, of Northport, L. I., has a flock of Muscovy ducks which quite accidentally have invented a new game. They were in the habit of flying from the barn to a duck pond upon Crawford's farm and entering the water with a resounding splash. When winter arrived and the pond was coated with ice the ducks flew from the barn as usual. Nearing the surface of the pond they extended their feet and quit flying, evidently expecting to splash into the water. They did nothing of the kind. Their feet slipped out from under them and they sat down hard and slid swiftly across the ice until they bumped against the frozen shore.

"Quack, quack," said the ducks, and hurried back to the barn to try it again. The result was the same. Again and again they are said to have tried the stunt. Now, it is said, they show signs of joy when, upon retiring at night, they note evidences of freezing before morning.—New York Times.

C. H. JAMES IS NOT WANTED.

Young School Teacher Held Now Merely as a Witness Locally.

Mayor Springer yesterday received a telegram from the chief of police of Manteo, Dare county, stating that young C. H. James, who is held here as a witness against Cumber and Pigford who are charged with robbing him, is not wanted there on any of the sensational charges upon which he was recently arrested in Virginia. The city attorney received a telegram stating that James is not wanted at Manteo and that so far as the authorities there are concerned he can be released. When the true identity of the stranger was ascertained a few days ago, believing that he was a fugitive from justice, the Mayor increased the bond of James to $100 as a witness in the case against Cumber and Pigford. Upon receipt of the telegrams yesterday, he decided to reduce the bond to the former sum of $50, which is to guarantee his appearance at the higher court to testify against the young men charged with robbing him. It is not believed that he will give the bond and will have to remain in the city prison until March 2nd when the case will be called.—Wilmington Star.

WILL SENATE ADOPT THE BILL?

Passenger Rate Debate is a Fight.

Will the Senate ratify the compromise effected by Governor Glenn with the railroads? Until last night's session the average answer would have been in the affirmative, and there was a general belief that no serious opposition to it would develop. Several powerful speeches in advocacy of it were delivered last night, making deep impression, and the passage of the Graham bill, with amendments making the bill to conform with the terms of the compromise was thought to be certain. The arguments of Senators Mason and Hicks, and the eloquence of Senator Mitchell seemed to be irresistible; they had risen to the height of the occasion and spoke their convictions with power.

Senator Reid began to speak admitting that he believed himself to be in the minority, but his first words caught the attention of the senate, and he appeared to have won their hearts before he concluded a profound argument in opposition to the proposed compromise in one of the ablest, most stirring and convincing speeches that were ever uttered in North Carolina's legislative halls. The speech was significant, charged with vital truths and cherished Southern doctrines and many who heard it declared that it would be remembered to the next generation. The all-consuming question is, what effect has it produced upon the minds, the judgment and consciences of the members of the senate? Today may reveal.

The debate was opened in a forceful speech against the compromise by Senator Greer.

The House held a lengthy session last night, after a long discussion passing the bill to appropriate $5,000 for the use of the Governor to employ counsel to represent North Carolina before the Interstate Commerce Commission in matters of freight discrimination against this State.—Raleigh News and Observer.

Fire in Newspaper Office.

Fayetteville, N. C., Jan. 28.—Fire started at one o'clock this morning in the office of the Fayetteville Observer and did considerable damage. Type cases and valuable records and papers on the second floor were destroyed, other material was badly damaged. The linotype, presses and engine of the first floor escaped serious injury. The building was only slightly burned. The loss is about $2,500, partially covered by insurance. The origin of the fire is unknown. The paper will be issued without interruption.

WINTERVILLE DOTS

Notes from our Hustling Neighbor.

Winterville, N. C., Jan. 29. Miss Leta Taylor, of Gold Point, spent Sunday here with Miss Vivian Roberson and returned home Monday morning.

Rev. T. H. King is teaching in the Ayden graded school this week in Miss Laura Cox's place, she being detained at home on account of sickness. We are glad to report that she is improving rapidly.

Mr. and Mrs. B. D. Forrest spent the evening at Mr. Charles Kittrell's in the country.

Prof. Lineberry and J. D. Cox went out in the country Sunday evening to deliver talks on Christian education.

Rev. T. H. King filled his regular appointment last Sunday at the Baptist church. His sermons were of a high order. On account of the great increase of work in the field, the State Board of Missions has deemed it necessary to increase the number of preaching services each month to two Sundays instead of one as heretofore. Beginning with the third Sunday in February there will be regular preaching services on the first and third Sunday mornings and nights. The church has greatly prospered under Brother King's ministry and now with double service and with the pastor living here we predict still greater prosperity.

There were regular services at the Episcopal church Sunday afternoon held by Rev. N. C. Duncan.

Mrs. A. W. Auge is spending some time with relatives in Martin county.

How Pitt Voted.

In the prohibition election of 1881 Pitt county cast 490 votes for prohibition and 3,058 against prohibition. The result in the prohibition election this year will be very different from what it was twenty seven years ago.

The new trains, and the old ones, too, were about on schedule time Tuesday.

The increased lengthening of the days is very noticeable.

Today is not like yesterday and tomorrow will not be like today.

Roanoke Trestle Burned.

About 4 o'clock this morning, the railroad trestle leading to the Roanoke bridge was discovered on fire. The fire had been burning sometime, six or seven bents or spans having been destroyed. All trains were forced to go around by Scotland Neck and Weldon.

It is expected to have the track open this afternoon.—Tarboro Southerner 27th.

A Bit of Good Advice.

Speaking of the grip, or colds, or influenza that are more or less prevalent just now, it is sensibly urged that a sufferer from either of the maladies should be extremely careful what drugs he takes for its relief. It is not always wise to take a potion simply because it has cured or seemed to cure ones neighbor of a similar ailment. The needs of one differ from those of another, and much harm may result if one doctors a cold unwisely. It is better to give a physician an opportunity to prescribe or to resort to only homely remedies.—Boston Transcript.

THE NORTH CAROLINA.

Sufficient Water Depth at Cape Lookout

Mr. H. E. C. Bryant, the Washington correspondent of the Charlotte Observer, writes that paper as follows:

Representative John H. Small, of the first district has received the following information from the chief constructor of the United States navy, concerning the silver service for the United States cruiser North Carolina:

"Referring to your communication of the 1st inst., requesting certain information in connection with the presentation of a silver service to the U. S. S. North Carolina * * * it is expected that the North Carolina will be delivered to the government at the navy yard, Norfolk, Va., about the 1st of April next, but will not be commissioned and ready for receiving the silver service until a later date. As the bureau of navigation is in a position to answer your inquiries as to a convenient date and place for the presentation and the ceremonies incident thereto, your letter has been referred to that bureau for reply to your inquiries as to date and place of presentation of silver service."

Mr. Charles S. Wallace, a well known merchant of Morehead City, has on the suggestion of Mr. Small had a pilot make soundings at Cape Lookout, with the best of results, Mr. Wallace writes:

"I enclose a statement from our best pilot, who I got personally to go and make soundings; he states in his letter to me that thirty feet can be carried with 500 yards of the beach. He tells me in person that there is one place that a ship can stick her nose on the sand, and have thirty feet at the stern, but does not care to make his official statement so strong. There is the best place at Cape Lookout for this presentation of any place I know, and I am sure the whole State will be delighted to have it made there. I trust you may be able to secure it. If I can be of further service to you in the matter, shall be very glad to have you command me."

The report of the pilot, Mr. Alfred Moore, reads:

"As per your request I have examined the water at Cape Lookout harbor, and find that there is a depth thirty feet easily, within 500 yards of the shore, and that the harbor is all that could be desired."

It is dangerous to take along a pistol when going to see your sweetheart. A Davie county fellow was badly shot by failing to observe this precaution. His girl was handling the pistol and "didn't know it was loaded." He was sent to the hospital for repairs and the wedding will not take place yet.

Reports say that the Illinois Central railroad has dropped from 3,000 to 4,000 employes on account of the financial stringency. Wonder if anybody will want to make the charge that rate legislation in North Carolina had anything to do with it.

Oil is made to burn, but the Standard people had rather not seen so much of it blazing at one time as in that half million gallons combustion at Baltimore. It will not take a very large advance in price, however, to recover the loss.

Winston-Salem is a "wet" town, and a man there sent the following telegram to the Forsythe county members of the legislature:

"Business interests here condemn prohibition bill as an act of cowardice and for political ambition purely. They contend that if 95 percent of North Carolina has already voted 'dry' it is unfair to allow them to participate in election; that it is like trying a case before a packed jury. They think further that it is the opportunity that Charlotte and Greensboro have been waiting for on account of jealousy of our prosperity. If this theory is made a law, it will injure interests here very materially. Try and get an amendment in to allow only 'wet' towns to vote on prohibition."

Don't that make you tired? It sounds like he almost thought they would stop the clock until the prohibition bill could be killed when that telegram was read. That proposition in his closing sentence beats getting the Republican party to reform the tariff.

WHO'S WHO AND WHY

Who made the best crop in Pitt County during the year 1907

EVERYBODY admits that this has been a bad crop year and as a whole it has been, but some planters had bounteous yields in return for their labours.

Why because they used Cotton Seed Meal as a Fertilizer.

DR. BONSTEFL of the Bureau of Soils of the U. S. Department of Agriculture in his address to the planters of Pitt county strongly advised its use, stating that as a fertilizer stable manure was the best adapted to our soil and the next best was cotton seed meal.

WINTERVILLE MEAL IS THE BEST OF THE "NEXT BEST"

IF you did not use it last year inquire of someone who did and you will try it in 1908.

WE will buy your cotton seed and sell you meal at reasonable prices, or we will exchange Meal for Seed on a liberal basis delivering the meal at any railroad station in the county.

SACKS furnished to seed shippers upon request.

WRITE or telephone us at once how many seed you have, what station you can ship from and whether you wish to sell for cash or exchange for meal. All enquiries will have prompt attention

"Health coffee" is really the closest coffee imitation ever yet produced. This, the finest coffee substitute ever made, has recently been produced by Dr. Shoop, of Racine, Wis. Weak Women
To weak and ailing women, there is at least one way to help. But with that way, two treatments, must be combined. One is local, one is constitutional, but both are important, both essential. Dr. Shoop's Restorative, the Constitutional. The former—Dr. Shoop's Night Cure—is a topical mucous membrane suppository remedy, while Dr. Shoop's Restorative is wholly an internal treatment. The Restorative reaches throughout the entire system, seeking the repair of all nerve, all tissue, and all blood ailments. The "Night Cure", as its name implies, does its work while you sleep. It soothes sore and inflamed mucous surfaces, heals local weaknesses and discharges, while the Restorative, cures nervous excitement, gives renewed vigor and ambition, builds up wasted tissues, bringing about renewed strength, vigor, and energy. Take Dr. Shoop's Restorative—Tablets or liquid—as a general tonic to the system. For positive local help, use as well

Are You a Trust Buster?

Hey—You!
Yes, YOU'RE the man we mean.

You're always talking about the harm the trusts are doing. The country's going to the demerit bowwows, you say, because of the uncurbed trusts. Rich growing richer, poor getting poorer. Used to be that a poor man could go into business for himself in a modest way and make a good living. Now he must become a clerk or a roustabout or a hodcarrier for some corporation—some combination that has grown to be a Goliath of bigness, that has devoured the fat of the land and is still gourmandizing upon it, till there's not a scrap of bone left for the under dog.

That's your line of talk. You're still handing it out, and you're proud of it.

Well, now, let's see: Are YOU a trust buster YOURSELF?

Didn't we see you stalk up to the postoffice just now and mail a letter with the address of a city Mail Order Store on the envelope? Hey? Didn't we?

Don't you know that the Mail Order Store is a trust—one of the most dangerous in the crowd? Don't you know that it is secretly and silently and slyly closing the doors of opportunity to the young men in country towns and small cities like ours? Don't you know that the Mail Order Trust is collecting the patronage of town and country people by the mail route, thereby cutting down the patronage of the smaller merchant, the local man who is trying to build up a modest, independent, antitrust business?

Hey?

Didn't that ever occur to you?

N. B. (which means note well): Why don't you trade at home instead of helping to build up a trust that hurts your home place?

TO CUT UP DIDOS.

Some Speculation as to the Origin of the Phrase.

The phrase "kick up didos"—for the plural is formed either with or without the "e"—is allowable. It occurs, for example, in Quiller Couch's "Delectable Duchy," but the more common form is "to cut" or "to cut up didos." The word is a dictionary one. Dr. Murray says that it is "United States slang." He defines it as a prank, a caper, a disturbance, a row, a shindy. He quotes, as the earliest use in English literature, this sentence from "Sam Slick in England" (1843-4): "Then Italian singers recitin' their jabber and cuttin' didoes at a private concert." He says that the origin of the word is uncertain.

But Haliburton used the term in "The Clockmaker" in 1835, and Professor Joseph Wright in his "English Dialect Dictionary" says that the term is known in Ireland, Kent, Isle of Wight, Cornwall and also in the United States. Haliburton used it with reference to a Nova Scotian: "I met a man this mornin' from Halifax, a real conceited lookin' critter, all shines and didoes." Professor Wright gives as the first definition a disturbance, noise, fuss, as in the speech heard on the Isle of Wight, "He kicked up a middlen dido about it;" then plural—tricks, antics, eccentric feats—as in Kent, "Dreckley ye be backturned, there he be, a-cutting all manner o' didos," and, lastly, a plaything; also used as a term to denote articles which do not give satisfaction to the owner, as trimming on a dress or bonnet.

Yet the learned Professor Wright does not venture to explain the derivation of the word; he does not suggest a possible derivation. Did the term come from the fuss made by Queen Dido after the pious Aneas left her? An obsolete word "dido"—a thrice told tale may have been originally "a tale of Dido." Tait in his "Quaternions" speaks of a Didonian curve, with reference to the story of Dido, who bargained for as much land as could be covered with a hide and then cut the hide into a long and narrow strip. Why not say glibly that "to cut up didos" is to cut up as Dido did? Let us honor the name of that noble dame in every way.—Boston Transcript.

One Kind of Economy.

"Some people have queer ideas of economy, don't they?" said a Wall street man. "The other day I was waiting with a man on an 'L' station to go downtown. He saw a friend on the opposite platform and called over to him to come across and go down with him to his office on a matter of business. The man said he would, and after asking the ticket chopper to pass the word over that his fare was paid he handed out a cigar to the chopper and came over to our side. He was greeted with a laugh by the man who had called to him and naturally asked what it was for. 'Didn't you give that ticket chopper a fifteen cent cigar?' asked the friend. The man admitted that he gave the kind he usually smoked. 'Well,' said the other, 'why didn't you just come across without saying anything about it, pay your fare and save a dime?' The man rubbed his chin and looked serious. He had become so accustomed to tipping everybody for any sort of favor that he never thought of the other plan."—New York Press.

On the Map.

Two women chanced to meet on a street car in Chicago. "Why, how do you do, Mrs. Thompson?" exclaimed one of them. "I called at your house one day last week, and there was nobody at home." "We've moved, Mrs. Giles," said the other. "Didn't you know that?" "No. When did you move?" "About two weeks ago. We got tired of living in all the noise and bustle, and we went away out in the suburbs." "What direction?" "Northwest." "And where are you located now?" "It's a new neighborhood, Mrs. Giles, and I can't describe it exactly, but if I had a map of the city here I could show you. We live just about half an inch outside of the city limits."—Exchange.

The Face and the Emotions.

Habitual worry shows itself in the action of the facial nerve—the nerve of expression, as anatomists call it—producing lines which in course of time become permanent. The same is true of many other emotions and states of mind, and those which are dominant in the life of the individual will ere long produce permanent changes in the face. The secret of the beauty which age cannot wither is to possess a beautiful mind. Chin straps and depilatories and electricity and massage and cosmetics are poor makeshifts compared with this.—Pall Mall Gazette.

PROFANITY.

Growth of Refinement Will End Its Now Declining Use.

Words and phrases which are amply sufficient for the understanding are often altogether inadequate for the expression of the feelings. The result of this mental dissatisfaction with the communication of mere knowledge is most conspicuously illustrated in the wide prevalence of profanity.

Into the discussion of this practice its moral and religious aspect does not enter at all. It is purely from the linguistic side that it is here to be considered.

So looked at, its existence and the extent of the indulgence in it bear out the truth of the principle just announced. Whatever intellectual justification there may be for profanity is based upon the fact that men are aiming to state strongly what they feel strongly.

The habit is in consequence subject to the general law governing intensives. To a very great extent the practice of swearing is especially characteristic of a rude and imperfect civilization. With the advance of culture profanity declines.

It declines not so much because men become peculiarly sensitive to its viciousness, but they do to its ineffectiveness. The growth of refinement both in the individual and in the community tends more to its disuse than all the exhortations of moralists or the rebukes of divines.

Much must always be allowed in the case of particular persons for the influence of early training and association. Exceptions are, therefore, too numerous to lay down any positive rule. Still it is safe to say in general that a man's intellectual development is largely determined by the extent of his indulgence in profanity.

No one, indeed, doubts its wide prevalence at the present time. But compared to the practice of the past it has been steadily, even if slowly, diminishing for centuries. This does not prove that men are better morally or intellectually than they were.

It does show, however, that there exists now a higher average of cultivation which renders the habit distasteful to increasingly large numbers.—Harper's.

TO MY FRIENDS.

Having been away for several months I wish to announce to my friends and patrons of the "empire" of Pitt that I am still connected with the firm of Chas. M. Steiff, and if bachelors are allowed to misuse the happy term home as a synonym for a "hanging out place" I still call Greenville my home, and while I intend to be away from Greenville a great deal of my time during this fall a postal care of box 325, Greenville, will reach me within a day or two. We now have a number of slightly used upright pianos, some of which have been rented during the summer months, others which were temporarily used by artists at the exposition and for orchestra work, at bargain prices.

We also offer a special school piano for $225 00 fully measuring up in standard to any $350 00 instrument. This piano is especially built for college and school work for the special price named above and is full guaranteed by my firm for 10 years. Those interested in a school piano or in a good slightly used piano for the home should write me at once and will profit by it, and as ever I am always mindful of my patrons' protection and interest as well as my firm's interest. Grateful of past patronage. * Very resp.,

All the Gold
IN GEORGIA
Could not Buy-

Roding, Ga. August 27, 1906.
Messrs. E. C. DeWitt & Co.,
Chicago, Ills.

Gentlemen:—
In 1897 I had a disease of the stomach and bowels. Some physicians told me it was Dyspepsia, some Consumption of the Lungs, others said consumption of the Bowels. One physician said I would not live until Spring, and for four long years I existed on a little boiled milk, soda biscuits, doctors' prescriptions and Dyspepsia remedies that flooded the market. I could not digest anything I ate, and in the Spring 1903 I picked up one of your Almanacs as a poor amateed Dyspepsia wreck will grasp at anything, and that Almanac happened to be my life savor. I bought a fifty cent bottle of KODOL DYSPEPSIA CURE and the benefit I received from that bottle ALL THE GOLD IN GEORGIA COULD NOT BUY. I kept on taking it and in two months I went back to my work, as a machinist, and in three months I was well and hearty. I still use a little occasionally as I find it a fine blood purifier and a good tonic.
May you live long and prosper.
Yours very truly,
G. N. CORNELL.

Tremendous High-grade Stock of Fine Merchandise Having been brought to Greenville and Placed in C. T. MUNFORD'S big store for a quick sale.

CONSIDERATION! After considering what we and our Creditors think best, and they say the only wise thing to do with this combined gigantic stock of high-grade merchandise is to sell and satisfy our creditors, the best way possible, as we have no ready cash to keep them quiet, we must listen to them, have this sale, and throw this immense stock on the market. We must take their advice, mark it down like they say, so we can raise a few dollars to send them so that every time the train blows our color won't change, knowing that as soon as the mail is handed to us we will open after where some house writes like this: "You must pay this bill at once."

Our Doors will be thrown open to the Public January the Twenty-fifth, 1908
